"GRAN'MA AL'AS DOES"

BY A. H. POE.

I wan' to mend my wagon,
And has to have some nail's;
Just' two, free will be plenty,
We're going to ham our rails,
The splendidest rail fences,
We're makin' ever was!
I wis' you'd help us to find 'em,
Gran'ma al'as does.

My horse's name is Betsey;
She jumped and broke her head,
I put her in the stable,
And fed her milk and bread.
The stable's is in the parlor;
We didn't make no muss,
I wis' you'd let it stay there,
Gran'ma al'as does.

I's goin' to the cornfield
To ride on Charlie's plow;
I sweet he'd like to have me;
I want to go right now,
Oh, won't I get up awful,
And when like Charlie wheels?
I wis' you wouldn't bozzer;
Gran'ma never does.

Jugglers in India.

One morning when I was in India I heard the beating of a drum and the squeaking of a flageonet under my window. It was not inspiring music. The drummer did not play with such spirit as some of the boys played who went into the army, and the flageolet had an unpleasant squeak to it. I was too weary with traveling and too tired of sight-seeing to look out and see what was going on. Besides, it was a very hot day, and the mercury in the thermometer was up to one hundred and ten in the shade. I had my coat, vest, stockings and shoes off, and was lying on a couch with a punka going backward and forward a few inches above my face. Do you ask what a punka is? It is a great fan. The punka was going over my head and the puller was was keeping time with the drummer, when my Hindoo landlord, with a great white turban on his head nearly as large as a bushel basket, looked into my room and said, "Don't you want to see the jugglers?" "Certainly." I had heard a great deal about them and wanted to see them very much, and went out and sat down upon the veranda while the jugglers went through their performances. There were three or four persons in the party, who made a low bow and then set down on the ground. They were snake-charmers as well as jugglers. They sat in a row, one beating the drum, another playing the flageolet, while the third had an anaconda wound around one arm and around his neck. The anaconda was about twelve feet long, and its wide, flat head was raised two or three feet above that of the Hindoo. It opened its mouth, ran out its tongue, and flashed its eyes and twisted its head in such a snakey way that I did not like the look of him at all. A fourth had a large, greenish snake wound round his arm. One of the charmers made a low, clucking sound, and the slimy creature unwound himself, crawled down to the ground and started for the veranda to make our acquaintance. When he was almost up to our feet, the charmer made a different cluck, and the snake, after giving a hiss and running out its red forked tongue, and flashing its fiery eyes, went back and coiled himself once more around the fellow's arm. There were two large earthen jars upon the ground, and now, as the charmer made another cluck, two cobras raised their heads above one of the vessels. The bite of the cobra is very deadly. The poison strikes instantly through the system, paralyzes it and brings on death very quickly.

The charmer made a whispering noise and they came creeping over the sides of the jar and wound themselves in coils upon the ground, just as a sailor coils a rope upon the deck of a ship. There they were with their heads nearly a foot above the center of the coil, waving them backward and forward with their mouths wide open, and the two sharp fangs in their upper jaws exposed, their eyes flashing and their tongues in motion. Cobra de Capella is a Portuguese word, meaning hooded snake, and it is sometimes called the "hooded snake," because it has a sort of hood upon its head. The charmer struck at them with his fingers and they struck back again. When they are enraged they show their anger by puffing up their hoods, hissing, flashing their eyes and striking at everything near them. As the charmer continued to plague them they became very wrathful. How their eyes flashed! How their tongues went! And what a hissing they made! They seemed angry enough to strike their tormentor dead. They are very slow-motioned, and, as there was no danger that they would get at us, we sat and watched them with composure; besides, we knew that the charmer had them under perfect control; for, when they were as angry as they could be, he gave a low whistle, which calmed them in a moment and sent them back into the jar. Then the charmer put his hand into another vessel and took out a dozen or more great scorpions. Their sting causes excruciating pain — far worse than that of hornets. These were as large as some of the crabs that live along our ocean shores, and were ugly looking creatures; but he handled them as calmly as if they were canary birds or white mice, or any other harmless thing. He hung them upon his ears, upon his arms as if they were bracelets, and the creatures never thought of harming him. It was wonderful to see the power of these charmers over such venemous creatures. There are some men in the world who are endowed by nature with remarkable power over the lower order of creation.

But these jugglers could do some very clever tricks—some that would puzzle you completely. They have one trick that the slight-of-hand performers in this country never have been able to imitate. It is called the mango trick. I did not see it, but other men have witnessed the performance, and I cannot doubt their word. The mango is a very delicious fruit, about the size of a Bartlett pear, with a flavor like that of a strawberry. It grows on a small tree. The juggler first smooths a place on the ground, places a basket over it and covers it with a cloth. Then he sits down beside it, reaches his arms under the basket, moves them slowly, as if working with his hands, singing a low song. After awhile he raises the basket, and you see a mango plant ten or twelve inches high, growing where only a few moments before you saw smooth ground! You think, perhaps, that he had the plant in the basket and set it out; but if you had examined the basket or the cloth you would have found no plant concealed. He puts the basket over the plant again, sits down once more and waits for the plant to grow. In a few moments he raises the covering a second time and you see a plant two feet high! Again he covers it, waits awhile to have it grow, and at the third raising you will see a ripe mango on the plant. He will present it to you, and you can assure yourself by eating it that it is not a make-believe, but genuine fruit!

Do you ask how it is done? I have not the least idea. Of course they do not make a plant grow there; it is only a trick; but the deception is so perfect that it seems to be a reality. If they could produce plants in that way they could beat nature; for it takes weeks and months for nature to grow a tomato plant or a cabbage, and years to produce a mango tree. If they could do it in reality, it would be worth while to employ a few of them to raise crops when the crops were likely to fail; but there is nothing real in what they do.—Carleton.

A FREAK OF FORTUNE.

Samuel Duhobret was a disciple of the famous engraver, Albert Durer, admitted into the art-school out of charity. He was employed in painting signs and the coarse tapestry then used in Germany. As he was about forty years of age, small, ugly, and hump-backed, he was the butt of all jokes among his fellow pupils, and selected as a special object of dislike by Madame Durer, who tormented the scholars and domestics, as well as the master, by her Xantippical temper. Poor Duhobret had not a spice of malice in his heart, and not only bore all his trials with patience, but eating, without complaint, the scanty crust given him for dinner, while his companions fared better; always showed himself ready to assist and serve those who scoff'd at him. His industry was indefatigable. He came to his studies each morning at daybreak, and worked until sunset. During three years he plodded thus, and said nothing of the paintings he had produced in his lonely chamber by the light of his lamp. His bodily energies wasted under the incessant toil. No one cared enough for him to notice the feverish color in his wrinkled cheek, or the increasing meagreness of his misshapen frame. No one observed that the poor pittance set aside for his mid-day meal remained untouched for several days. The poor artist made his appearance as usual, and as meekly bore the gibes of the students or the taunts of the lady; working with the same untiring assiduity, though his hands trembled and his eyes were often suffused with tears.

One morning he was missing from the scene of his labors, and though jokes were passed about his disappearance, no one thought of going to his lodgings to see if he were ill or dead. He was indeed prostrated by the low fever that had been lurking in his veins and slowly sapping his strength. He was half delirious and muttered wild and incoherent words, fancying his bed surrounded by mocking demons, taunting him with his inability to call a priest to administer the words of comfort that might soothe his passage to another world.

From exhausted slumbers he awoke faint and with parched lips; it was the fifth day he had lain in his cell neglected. Feebly he stretched out his hands toward the earthen pitcher, and found that it contained not a drop of water. Slowly and with difficulty he arose, for he knew that he must procure sustenance or die of want. He had not a kreutzer. He went to the other end of the room, took up the picture he had painted last, and resolved to carry it to a dealer, who might give him for it enough to furnish him necessaries for a week longer.

On his way he passed a house before which there was a great crowd. There was to be a sale, he learned, of many specimens of art collected during thirty years by an amateur. The wearied Duhobret thought he might here find a market for his picture. He worked his way through the crowd, dragged himself up the steps, and found the auctioneer, a busy little man, holding a handful of papers and inclined to be rough with the lean, sallow hunchback who so eagerly implored his attention.

"What do you call your picture?" he asked.

"It is a view of the Abbey of Newbourg, with the village and landscape," replied the trembling artist.

The auctioneer looked at him, hummed contemptuously, and asked the price of it.

"Whatever you please; whatever it will bring," was the anxious reply.

"Hem!"—with an unfavorable criticism—"I can promise you no more than three thalers."

Poor Duhobret had spent the nights of many months on that piece. But he was starving, and the pittance offered would buy him bread. He nodded to the auctioneer and retired to a corner.

After many paintings and engravings had been sold, Duhobret's was exhibited. "Who bids? Three thalers! Who bids? was the cry." The poor artist held his breath; no response was heard. Suppose it should not find a purchaser? He dared not look up; he thought everybody was laughing at the folly of offering so worthless a piece at public sale. "It is certainly my best work," he murmured piteously to himself. He ventured to glance at the picture as the auctioneer held it in a favorable light. There was certainly a beautiful freshness in the rich foliage, a transparency in the water, a freedom and life in the animals. The steeple, the trees, the whole landscape, showing the genius of an artist. Alas! he felt the last throb of an artist's vanity. The dead silence continued and, turning away, he buried his face in his hands.

"Twenty-one thalers!" a faint voice cried out. The stupified painter gave a start of joy, and looked to see who had uttered those blessed words. It was the picture dealer to whom he was first to go.

"Fifty thalers!" cried the sonorous voice of a tall man in black.

There was a moments silence. "One hundred thalers!" at length cried the picture dealer, evidently piqued and anxious.

"Two hundred!"

"Three hundred!"

"Four hundred!"

"One thousand thalers!"

Another profound silence; and the crowd pressed around the two opponents who stood opposite each other with flushed and angry faces.

The tall stranger bid fifteen hundred thalers.

"Two thousand thalers!" shouted the picture dealer looking around him triumphantly.

"Ten thousand!" vociferated the tall man, his face crimson with rage, and his hands clinched convulsively.

The dealer grew pale, his frame shook with agitation. His voice was suffocated; but after two or three efforts he cried out:

"Twenty thousand!"

His tall opponent bid forty thousand. The dealer hesitated. His adversary laughed a low laugh of insolent triumph, and the crowd gave a murmur of admiration. The picture dealer felt his reputation at stake, and called out in sheer desperation:

"Fifty thousand!"

The tall man hesitated; the crowd was breathless. At length, tossing his arms in defiance, he shouted:

"One hundred thousand!" adding an impatient execration against his adversary. The crest-fallen picture dealer withdrew. The tall victor bore away the prize. He passed through the wondering people, went out, and was going along the street, when a decrepid, lame, humpbacked wretch, totting along by the aid of a stick, presented himself before him. The stranger threw him a piece of money, and waved his hand as if dispensing with thanks.

"May it please your honor," persisted the supposed begger, "I am the painter of that picture." He rubbed his eyes, for he had hardly yet been able to convince himself that he had not been dreaming.

The tall man was Count Dunkelsbach, one of the richest noblemen in Germany. He stopped and questioned the bystanders. Being convinced of the truth of the statement, he took out his pocket book, tore out a leaf, and wrote on it a few lines.

"Take it, friend," he said. "It is the cheque for your money. Good morning."

Duhobret invested his money, and resolved to live luxuriously for the rest of his life, cultivating painting as a pastime. But though he had borne privation and toil, prosperity was too much for him. Indigestion carried him off. His picture had long an honored place in the cabinet of Count Dunkelsbach, and the curious incident of its purchase was often related. It afterward passed into the possession of the King of Bavaria.—Catholic World.

Refreshing.

A countryman at a New Orleans theatre, the other night, as the escort of some ladies, retired at an intermission and returned with a pound or two of peanuts wrapped in paper, and two huge bananas sticking from his pocket. Just then, however, and before he had time to take his seat, one of the actresses who had especially won his admiration, came to the footlights and warbled a beautiful melody. The full rich voice, exquisite intonation, and breathing strains almost divine, completed the conquest of the countryman's heart, and, unable to restrain his delight, he heaved on the stage his peanuts, bananas, and pocket handkerchief, as a tribute to the fair enchantress. There was a momentary astonishment visible upon the faces on the stage, a single interval of hesitation, which was removed by the countryman's voice, full and clear, "Take 'em, my gal, by jingo, you're welcome!" And then the house came down.

THE LAND OFFICE.

The following note from the newly appointed Receiver of this Land District explains itself:

A New Agricultural Paper.

The want of a first-class paper especially devoted to the peculiar agricultural interests of the Pacific coast has long been felt. To supply this need, Dewey & Co., of San Francisco, publishers of The Scientific Press, will commence on the 7th of the present month, the publication of a sixteen page weekly, to be called The Pacific Rural Press, a specimen copy of which we have received. We heartily welcome the new publication. The interests of our own county are about equally divided between mining and farming. Not a farmer in it, however well informed but may learn something of value, pertaining to his business, from an ably conducted paper, specially devoted to the consideration of the peculiar conditions of soil, climate and seasons of the Pacific coast. From the well-known ability and energy of the publishers, we doubt not that The Rural Press will fulfill all these conditions. Single copies, $4 00 per annum.

We have made arrangements with the publishers of The Rural Press so that we can furnish that paper to present subscribers of The Independent for $3 00 additional, in advance. NEW subscribers paying for both journals in advance, can have them for $7 00. We will make a still greater reduction to clubs of three or more.

General Lee wanted in France.

Among the correspondence of the State Department just published, is the following from Minister Motley, dated August 17th:

It is an authentic fact that the French Government telegraphed to London yesterday to know if General Lee is still there, or whether he is expected. The supposition is that a military command is to be offered him. I am not aware that General Lee is in London or that he is expected here. The fact, however, that the French Government should show such anxiety to obtain military talent from so distant a quarter, would seem to argue some want of confidence in the government of their armies.

'Tis Well.

An Ohio gentleman, interested in the reform dress movement, is willing to undertake the task of cutting loose the corset-strings of 15,000,000 of American women. He desires also, he says, "to free women from the bondage of petticoats." Building a Pacific railroad would be nothing to that contract.

The Pacific Law Reporter.

Members of the legal profession and others, desiring to keep properly posted in the current law cases of our own, as well as other States, can not do better than to subscribe for the above paper. Published weekly, by Wm. Ayres & Co., 312 Washington street, San Francisco. Terms: $2 00 per quarter.

Seven Sins

To be accounted for that were left out of the book, viz:

1—Refusing to take your local paper.

2—Taking a paper and then refusing to pay for it.

3—Not advertising.

4—Getting married and forgetting to hand in the notice along with a dollar, 'william' to the printer.

5—Asking newspapers to publish matter that is for your own benefit without remuneration.

6—Reading copy on a compositor's case.

7—Never paying your subscription until the publisher goes to the trouble of asking for it.

CHRISTMAS TIMES.

Among all civilized nations, and in every well regulated community during the last few days of the old and at the beginning of the new year custom has made it a sort of a duty for all to take a season of rest and recreation. It is a good custom, but in this hurly burly rushing, progressive age, we seriously fear the Christmas holiday enjoyments are fast losing zest and importance. The American people and notably we of the Pacific coast have no time to enjoy a holiday of any kind. As if purposely designed to detract from the possible enjoyments of this customary holiday week, a disagreeable, not to say mean habit has obtained in business circles of making the last of these days, the day for balancing material accounts. Of all the days in the year, why should this be selected for lugging in such affairs? Why would not the first day of March or June or September or the first of any other month do just as well as New Years? In fact come to think about it, it would suit the most of us in this community at least, much better, if the day selected for "squaring accounts" should be deferred until about September the first. Why should so many individuals for the first time in the year, on pleasure bent, be robbed of half their joys by such a pleasure-killing reminder? This, added to the trooping recollections of disappointed hopes—of opportunities lost—the melancholy scenes of real life crowding our memories in the experiences of the year past and forever gone—and more to make this period a time of sorrow and mourning, than of joy. As the Sabbath day is to the week, so should Christmas week be to the year—a time of rest free from worldly cares. But "business is business" and business has nearly rendered obsolete the pleasures of "Christmas Times" as practised in days of yore.

No time now, if opportunity and inclination prompted, to enjoy "corn shuckings, quiltings, country break-downs, shooting matches, etc." Such enjoyments exist only in tradition. The jolly old Christmas times are fading away, and after finally ceasing to exist, the verdict will read, "Killed by business and January balances."

THE WAR IN EUROPE.

The war in France is thus defined by the Sacramento Union:

Tours was captured by, or rather surrendered to the Germans on the 21st instant. The German force was but 10,000. This argues that the Army of the Loire has taken its departure for the far southwest. In a few weeks the scene of active operations is likely to be transferrd to the neighborhood of Bordeaux, the new capital. To the north and west of Paris there are no considerable French armies. Manteuffel is drawing his lines around Havre and Cherbourg, as if he knew the enemy to be weak in that quarter. In the direction of Lille and Soissons they are no stronger. The departments on the Moselle, Meuse and Rhine are all effectually conquered and all their fortresses in German hands. The army of Garibaldi has dissolved at Dijon, and General Werder has no formidable enemy nearer than Lyons. At Lyons the mob appears to be in the ascendent. They are murdering the officers of the National Guard. Yet the French must have a considerable force on the Rhone and Saone. When the Government gets established at Bordeaux with the Army of the Loire to cover its deliberations, the French situation will be somewhat improved in this. The armies of the Rhone and Garonne, (late of the Loire), will be in supporting distance of each other, and good generalship may be able to make something out of fact. But only good generalship can possibly mend matters permanently. Nothing short of a grand overthrow of Prince Frederick Charles, before the capitulation of Paris, which would uncover the besiegers, or the defeat of General Werder at Dijon, which would expose the Prussian provinces to a French invasion, can help the French cause to anything beyond a temporary advantage. Really, we can't see the least prospect for either of these disasters to the Germans. They are growing stronger every day by reason of their fortified positions, reinforcements and the disasters happening to the French in every quarter of France. Nor are the French gaining in any respect essential to success in war. The quick succession of commanders is a bad sign. The army is virtually wielded by Gambetta, a civilian, not of proved ability, and the people are dividing more and more upon the question of Republic and Empire, and hourly sickening of a war which brings no victory, no glory, nothing but disgraceful defeats, desolated towns, inexorable levies by friend and foe, starvation and ruin. At this moment, lacking only Paris which must capitulate within three months, the better and most populous half of France, from the Rhine to the British channel and from Belgium to the Loire, is conquered and at the mercy of the Germans.

—Some clever fellow has manufactured handkerchiefs upon which a map of the seat of war in Europe is stamped. They have proved an immense success, everybody wishing to poke his nose into the seat of conflict without personal danger.

LETTER FROM CERRO GORDO.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

CERRO GORDO, December 27, 1870.

MESSRS. EDITORS: A tragedy was enacted in this town on the morning of the 25th, instant. It seems that some three or four gentlemen were in Hughes saloon, enjoying themselves playing cards, drinking wine, and otherexhilerating beverages until a late hour on Christmas eve when some Cornishmen came in, and seemed to be determined such festivities should not go on unless they could have a hand in it. This was not allowed by the first party, and hard feelings were engendered. With these feelings existing between the two parties, and considerable whiskey drinking, about six o'clock in the morning it culminated in a fight between one of the Cornishmen and E. A. Reddy, an old citizen of this place. After several hard knocks with fists had been exchanged between them, Reddy floored his antagonist by a well directed blow which somewhat stunned him. Reddy turned to go away and had got nearly across the room, when the Cornishman came to his senses, and at the same time drew a revolver and cocking it told the bystanders to "scatter." A friend of Reddy's called to him to look out or he would be shot. Reddy wheeled, drawing his revolver at the same time and fired it instantaneously. The shot took effect in the right breast of the unfortunate Cornishman. He lived about five hours. I was not present at at the time the affray took place, but this is the version of an eye-witness. Mr. Reddy gave himself up to the Deputy Sheriff, who has taken him to Lone Pine, where I suppose he will have an examination, of which result I doubt not you will be duly posted.

THE MINES.

Mining in this camp is being prosecuted with energy. Hart & Whipple, White & Williams, and Mr. E. A. Reddy are the only parties that are taking out any galena of note. On the Belmont side the tunnels are being prosecuted with vigor. The Crowning Glory has changed hands. The Oceola and Friendship mines are being worked, but with what success I cannot say. The Wittekind miners have their tunnel in one hundred and eighty feet, but have struck very hard rock, being unable to make more than five inches on each shift of ten hours. The Belmont miners have passed the point with their tunnel at which they expected to strike their ledge, but have failed to see it as yet. Messrs. Harrington & Burns are still going ahead on the Sunburst, having a shaft sixty-eight feet deep, and a drift of nearly the same distance; they are taking out some rich ore, and have on the dump enough to nearly pay all the expenses of the above work—which I call very good for a starter. The furnaces have been running pretty steady for some time past, although water has been scarce—caused by the bursting of the water pipes. If the Asphaltum Piping Company of San Francisco has piping of the quality they advertise, here is a field for them, as the iron pipes do not answer the purpose as well as it was thought they would. The pressure has, in two instances, proved too great for them, although it cannot be more than two hundred and fifty feet perpendicular.

MERCURIO.

Coming Exodus from Paris.

The Paris correspondent of The New York World writes:

The most alarming symptom of the hour is the great exodus from Paris which is to take place the instant peace is signed. In going down town this morning I met about twenty people, and this was their language: "Here comes peace, thank Heaven. The instant I can quit Paris, I go. I have shouldered my musket and risked my life on the ramparts. My duty is done—for the rest they may fight it out. 'Twill be terrible civil war. The days of June, 1848, will be nothing to it; then they were unarmed, now they are well armed, have bombs in abundance and are desperate. I shall find Switzerland, or Belgium a comfortable home until the tempest has spent its fury." The same sentiments I hear expressed go where I may. Frightful distress reigns already in the Quartier Mouffetard, Faubourg St. Antoine, and its northern neighbor, Belleville.

Starvation in Alcase and Lorraine.

The war correspondent of The Boston Journal, Mr. Edward King, in his private letters, urges the inaugurntion of measures by which means can be provided for the immigration of the people of Alcase and Lorraine to this country. He agrees with Col. Mc Kaye whose letter we have published, that no pen can describe the sufferings of the people there. They are starving to death by hundreds. He has been among them and has been a witness of their sufferings. He says that as many as twenty five thousand families would gladly go away, and that it would be a holy, noble work to rescue them from the terrible sufferings which surround them. Some of the emigration agencies which are formed for the purpose of securing emigrants for the Southern and Western States, would find among these people a most desirable field for operations, and any organized aid which our own people could render would be most worthily bestowed.—Bulletin.

—There is said to be a large accumulation of nickel and copper cents in the postoffices throughout the country. In Louisville, for instance, the postmaster reports one hundred thousand of them. The whole number of such coin now held by the several postoffices will propably reach forty million cents.

Titles to Mill Sites.

Commissioner Wilson some time ago, made the following decision concerning mill sites. The matter is of considerable interest to miners:

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, GENERAL LAND OFFICE, Nov. 18, '70.

HENRY S. BLAKE, Esq., United States Attorney for Montana, Virginia City, Montana:

SIR:—In reply to your letter of the 28th of September last, I have to state that my understanding of the Act of July 26th, 1866, in reference to authorizing patents for mill sites, agrees with your own. The 9th section provides that the owners of water rights shall be maintained and protected in the same whenever they are recognized and acknowledged by the local customs, laws, and decisions of courts, but makes no provision for issuing patents for them.

The Act, however, enables claimants of mineral veins to include in their diagrams, and obtain patents, for such reasonable quantity of surface ground as may be necessary for the convenient working of the mines, as fixed by local rules.

Consequently, when a mill site is used in connection with a mine, and has reduction works erected upon it, I think a fair and liberal construction of the Mining Act will authorize us to treat such mill sites as a part of the mining claim, provided it is so held under the local mining laws or customs and to include it in the patent with the vein or lode.

But it is evident that in no other manner than as a part of a mining claim, does the Act of July 21st, 1866, authorize the issuing of patents for mill sites.

When they were used for the convenient working of mines, actual contiguity between such mill sites and the veins or lodes, is not deemed absolutely essential, and the former may be included in patents for mining claims although some distance may intervene between them and the lode.

Very respectfully, etc.,
JOS. S. WILSON,
Commissioner

Of Interest to Pre-emptors.

[From The Sacramento Union, December 24.]

On the 14th instant, Julian, Chairman of the House Committee of Public Lands, reported back from his committee a bill authorizing the transfer of valid pre-emption claims to actual settlers, and demanded a vote upon its passage. There was not a single objection in the House, and the bill after being engrossed and read a third time, was passed and sent to the Senate. It provides that where settlements have been or may be made in good faith on the unsurveyed public lands of the United States, under the pre-emption laws, and valid pre-emption rights acquired, it shall be lawful, before survey, and before filing the township plats in the local land office of the district for the pre-emptor to sell and transfer the land so settled upon, for a valuable consideration, to any person who is qualified to pre-empt land. The purchaser shall have the same rights as the original pre-emptor had, and is empowered to prove up his claim from the original date of settlement. But the purchaser must comply in good faith with all the requirements of the pre-emption laws. The law hitherto has prohibited the transfer of pre-emption rights from one person to another, until the survey shall have been made and a patent received. Julian's bill is now before the Senate and there is no reason to think it will not pass that body and so become a law.

If this bill does become a law, it will practically undo a late decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, of which the less said the better for the judgment displayed, whereby pre-emptors are regarded as having no rights on the public lands that ought to be respected or may not be taken away until they shall have complied with every requirement of the law and secured their patent. It is found in recent years, so rapid is the increase of the value of border lands that homestead settlers who have resided upon their claims for as much as four years, often prefer to pay the full Government price of the land rather than wait a year longer to perfect their title: because they can sell out at ten to to twenty times as much as the land office price. This law will enable sale to be made at any time, and operate as a mercantile convenience to the actual settler, and recognize his equity in the land before the patent is received.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

The Races.

The races over the Lone Pine Race Track were largely attended, passing off to the satisfaction of everybody, and a considerable amount of money changed hands. The event had been looked forward to with vast interest by sporting men, and the result will show that our racing stock, although termed "sage-brushers," will require racers of more than average fleetness to beat them.

On the first day's race, single dash of one-half mile, for purse of $100, the following entries were made:

C. Mulkey.....names blk s Billy Buffum
Hitchcock.....names s f Lucy Dale
A. J. Stukard.....names b g Coal Tar
P. W. Bennett.....names b g Sheep Driver
W. M. Donathan.....names b c Maneater

Won by Billy Buffum, time not given with the horses coming in in the following order: 1st, Billy Buffum; 2d, Maneater; 3d, Coal Tar; 4th, Sheep Driver.

SECOND DAY.

Single dash, one-fourth mile, for purse of $50, free for all horses, except those owned in Lone Pine. The following horses were entered:

Gill.....names b c Frank
Crumley.....names g h Pet
Stukard.....names b g Coal Tar

The first heat was decided as a "dead," or tie. On the second, Pet won by two feet.

SAME DAY—TROTTING RACE.

One mile, two best in three, for purse of $70. For this race were entered:

Mulkey.....names b m Nellie
Perrett.....names s b g Ebony
Stevens.....names b h Gopher

Won by Ebony, distancing others. Time, 3:32. In order to decide more bets as to the time Ebony would make in a race, he again shot beautifully around the track in 3:22½. This is within the time bet on that he would make in the race, but we believe the money was drawn because the heat was made after the race was decided.

THIRD DAY.

Running race, mile and repeat, best two in three, for purse of $150, with the following horses entered:

W. M. Donathan.....names b h Snipe
C. Mulkey.....names s m Lucy Dale
P. W. Bennet.....names b h Sheep Driver

After a fair send-off, the horses started off keen for the lead. When about half-way round Snipe was unfortunate enough to find a jack upon the track which he struck and fell over, but he manfully started again and came in to the score but a length or two behind Nellie. This heat was justly, we think, decided off. Time 1:52½.

In the next heat Mulkey's mare came in two lengths ahead, winning the heat in 1:54, with Snipe second.

Third heat was won with the mare in the same relative position at the out-come, Nellie winning in 1:49½.

The track was somewhat uneven, and rather dusty, but the horses were well handled, and all express themselves satified with the manner in which the whole races were conducted.

Some coin changed hands on races not in the programme, but our time and space forbids refering to them this week.

Semi-Weekly Mail.

We have the gratification of announcing that from this date we are to have two mails per week. Mr. Dexter has determined, as will be seen by reference to his advertisement, to put on another stage, thus giving us a semi-weekly mail. No appropriation has been made by Government for this purpose as yet, though presumably it soon will be. We doubt not that the largely increasing business requirements of this section will soon demand something more than a semi-weekly mail. By rights should even now, have a tri-weekly; but let us be thankful for this much, especially as it is due to private enterprise.

Fire.

Quite an extensive conflagration raged for a few hours yesterday, in the fields directly north of town. It originated from a camp fire at Glover's place; the wind blowing strong from the north, drove it directly for Judge Mathew's house and stacks. Our citizens were on the ground in force, and lent willing hands to stay the fiery monster, but all their exertions would have been unavailing in saving stacks and fences, had not the condition of the ground in the immediate vicinity been favorable. Towards the last the wind blew with great violence, but the fire was finally subdued without material loss.

The Gill-Ault Affair.

As public report has materially perverted the facts pertaining to this case, much to Mr. Gill's prejudice, we very willingly devote considerable space to his interesting account of the occurrence. Hoping to receive, in due time, the result of a legal investigation, we refrained from giving publicity to the rumors attending the shooting. Mislead by the report of the farcical investigation attempted before Justice Weyland, we made a statement last week inconsistent with the truth, and as far as possible wish to set the matter right. Without further comment we refer our readers to Gill's account of the affair.

The Firemen's Ball.

The ball given by Independence Engine Co., No. 1, is generally accorded to have been one of the most successful affairs of the kind ever enjoyed in the Valley. Until after supper, the numbers present could be better described as a "crush," but after a few of the more sedate couples retired, the floors were evenly filled and dancing kept up until late next morning; and all went away satisfied with the conduct of the "First Annual" of One's boys. We are gratified to state, in addition, that the net returns will amount to a considerable benefit to the Company's treasury.

Ignacio Mine.

By the failure of Mrs. Woodworth (who was in our county a few weeks ago), to pay the liabilities on said mine, the whole of the Woodworth's interest becomes the property of our fellow townsman, Mr. Davison, the redemption creditor. It was agreed, between Mrs. Woodworth and Mr. Davison, that the money should be paid in San Francisco on the 15th of last month, but by last advices, Mr. Davison has been notified of the failure of said payment. This is one of the leading mines of Cerro Gordo. Mr. Davison asks $10,000 for his interest.

Religious.

By some unaccountable arrangement we last week omitted to give the appointment of religious services in this neighborhood, by the Rev. A. Clark. From a note from that gentleman we learn a series of religious meetings have been commenced at the Chapel at Bishop Creek, which are awaking considerable religious interest. The Chapel has been newly furnished, painted, and made a comfortable meeting place.

Under Sheriff Talcott failed to arrest Ault, the latter probably in anticipation that a warrant would be sworn out, having left the country in time to avoid arrest.

Didn't Forget Us.

Josh Billings has put it on record that he is opposed to the use of ardent spirits as a common beverage, but for manufacturing purposes thinks a little of it taste good. So do we—and particularly Joe Fernbach's lager. A New Year's sample sent in to this office was pronounced No. 1, by all hands. We used it strictly for manufacturing purposes, let it be understood.

Ball at Lone Pine.

Want of space, and the necessity of getting the paper out in time for the Southern mail this morning, alone prevents us doing justice to the really enjoyable dance and supper given at Mrs. Barry's Hotel on the night of the 30th. Of the many who attended none could fail to express their satisfaction.

Homicide in Cerro Gordo.

E. A. Reddy, Christmas morning shot and killed a Cornishman in Cerro Gordo, an account of which will be found in our Cerro Gordo correspondence. We are informed Reddy was fully justified in the shooting, and has been acquitted. We expect to publish the evidence in full next week.

Religious Notice.

Rev. A. Clark requests us to give notice that Divine services will be held as follows: Big Pine, Saturday, at 7 o'clock P. M., January 6; Fort Independence, at the School House, January 7; Independence, on the Sabbath, at 11 o'clock A. M., January 8; George's Creek School House, same date, in the evening.

Fight.

A pretty severe fistic encounter occurred one night last week, in one of the saloons of this place, between a couple of parties well-known to our citizens, one of whom received considerable punishment.

His Condition.

Wm. Gill's wound is doing very well, we are told. It is a bad wound; the whole point of the left shoulder being blown away.

Will Practice.

E. H. Van DeCar, Esq., gives notice that he will practice law in any county embraced in the Sixteenth Judicial District.

INDEPENDENCE, Cal., December 30, '70.

MESSRS. EDITORS: Having noticed, in the last issue of your paper, an article too severely reflecting upon myself, and a statement uncalled for by the facts in the case, I would respectfully submit for the correct information of yourself and readers the following account of the affray between Ault and myself. In so doing, I feel justified, from the fact that the disappearance of Mr. Ault has placed it out of my power to give the matter the legal investigation which would make so complete an exoneration of myself, and bring him into the light which his entire course of action deserves. If in so doing, I shall have occasion to censure or call into question the manner in which the examination of Mr. Ault was conducted, your readers may consider me responsible, for I shall present what I know to be facts, and leave the public to judge of the merits of the case without reference to the flying reports, from which you doubtless obtained the information leading to the publication of the statements referred to.

In order to allow a fair conclusion to be drawn from the premises in the case, I shall commence my account of the affair from my first connection with Mr. Ault at his ranch on Bishop Creek:

On the 24 day of May last, I went to work with Mr. Ault, to work the ranch in partnership and derive therefrom equal profits. Up to sometime in August, all went agreeable, and each party was satisfied with all arrangements. During this month Ault and Jessie Spray went to Long Valley to take care of stock, and were gone about a week; Ault's wife, Mrs. Spray, John Sellers and myself were left on the ranch. The evening Ault returned we were at Owensville at a ball, Sellers going with Mrs. Spray, a friend by the name of Crawford went with Mrs. Ault, and myself with another party. A man by the name of John Dickenson, who came to the ranch subsequently, was left in charge. When Ault arrived, he desired to know of Dickenson if I went with Mrs. Ault to the party. Dickenson replied that he did not know, as he was not at home when we started. Ault then went to the ball, arriving about 11 o'clock; the first I knew of his being there was from a verbal message being brought to me that I must look out for myself for I was going to get killed before morning, and about five minutes afterwards Ault made his appearance in the ball room. I spoke to him; shook hands, and asked him to join in the dance. "No!" replied he, "this is not my crowd." Said I:

That is very strange, Mr. Ault, that this is not your crowd. It appears to me as though where your wife, family and friends are, that ought to be your crowd—if not why, bring your crowd into operation, there is nobody to holding you.

In a short time Mr. Ault, Crawford and party, went to the ranch. Ault and Dickenson remained at the store.

When I got ready to go home, I hitched up and went, arriving there, probably, two hours afterwards; when, placing my clothes away I noticed that where my knife and pistol always lay, that the pistol was missing. Becoming angry at this additional evidence of evil intentions on the part of some one, I took my knife and stood in the door and said: That the first man who entered there who did not like me I would cut him in two. By this time Ault and Dickenson had arrived home, and Ault and wife stood in the rear of the house talking; Jessie Spray came in and wanted to know "what was the matter?" Told him of my warning at the store, and told him that I believed it was true from the fact of my pistol having been taken, and added: That the one who had taken it had better not come near me.

During the few moments conversation I had with Spray he told me I would not be hurt, then I went to bed. On the following morning I enquired of Mrs. Ault what had become of my pistol?. She replied that she had "taken it to prevent Andy from shooting me with my own pistol." Ault was then working out in the corral—went to him and asked him what had been told him the night previous; he replied that he "would not tell me, but that he had came near committing a rash act." I asked him if he believed the reports which were being circulated? He replied that he had "come to the conclusion that they were false." If you had believed them, said I, I suppose you would have shot me down and run off. He said he "wouldn't say what he would have done." Told him all I wanted to get was what was due me from the ranch, and wanted no trouble with him. Said he, "that trouble you never will have, here's my hand, and I will listen to no more reports." All went smoothly from that time until within a day or two before the time I was shot.

Coming to settle up I saw that if I contended for what was my own I would have trouble—so I gave him all he asked in every instance, without question; although feeling bad about having to pay him more than was his due—I said nothing.

This occurred about the time that Ault's wife went away.

We then made arrangements to board together; he furnishing the house fixtures free to myself and men, with the agreement to furnish sufficient provisions to pay his way while he was there.

On the evening of Thursday, the 24th of of November, we finished shelling corn. Had a final settlement and division of produce, on the evening following. He desired to know as to how we were to settle our board arrangements. I answered: Anyway to make it satisfactory to both sides. I asked him the value of the provisions he had bought and brought to the house. He said he "couldn't tell without going after the bills." I now offered to make a proposition, never having made any before in our settlement. "What is it?" enquired he. I told him I would pay all hired help during the corn shelling, and call it square. He snarled out something, and said he "couldn't see how I calculated." I told him he needn't fix himself to rob me any further, you have robbed me of all you ever will—and at this time we passed some pretty rough words; when he said "you had better shut your mouth." Now you talk to suit—you have been boasting about your fighting, now name your fight, and I will bet you all I have that there will be only one left in two minutes after you have commenced. With a few more words he quieted down—without further threats than what I have noted.

Ault and Dickenson went to Sneden's store that evening; I went part of the way and stopped at Smith's; on the following morning went back to the ranch—Ault, Dickenson and Spray were there; all was quiet, and I inquired about a division of four sacks of corn, which was satisfactorily arranged. I started for Tim Lewis' sawmill, where I remained that night, loading a team. On Saturday, came within six miles of Ault's ranch with the team; then came on home; rode up to the gate; unsaddled my horse and turned him loose; John Dickenson meet me at the door and inquired about the teams. I answered him; Ault was sitting inside the door, writing at a stand; I went in and walked around him and went to the bed, where I laid my hat and gloves; went out past him and got a drink at the creek a few steps from the door; when I returned I found him still writing; I passed through into the kitchen and asked Dickenson if he had anything cooked, as I was very hungry; he followed me into the kitchen and said "Yes, I am just fixing dinner." I had not spoken to Ault; I went to the cupboard and got a piece of bread; John Dickenson sat down behind the stove and while handling the oven door I noticed he was looking directly through into the other room at Ault; I was sitting within six or eight feet of the door, between the kitchen and the room occupied by Ault; I heard Ault say to me, "You s—n of a b—h! you will never abuse me again." I turned my head to look and discovered him with a shotgun leveled upon me, and aimed so as to strike me in the left eye; I saw his finger touch the trigger, and instantly sprang up, receiving the charge of shot in my left shoulder; ran out at the door and had proceeded, perhaps, about twenty-five yards before he shot the second time. Of this charge, a couple of shot struck me in the back, doing me no injury. The next thing I saw of Ault he was in pursuit of me with a pistol; I ran to a house about one hundred yards distant, where a man named Chase was living; Ault made two or three starts to come on, but desisted, from what cause I know not. Chase and wife were returning home with wood; were probably one mile distant at the time I arrived at the house. Just before they arrived Dickenson came from Ault's house to see whether I had been killed or not, I suppose. When Chase came up, Dickenson told him to remove me to Smith's; Chase replied that he would; I wanted him to take his rifle along and prevent Ault from shooting me while in the wagon; he refused as he did not want to get himself into any trouble; asked Dickenson where Ault was; told me he had gone to give himself up. I requested that they would not start with me until Ault had gone off the ranch; I was watching and saw Ault get four or five hundred yards from the house, when I told them to start with me. We had proceeded as far as Ault's house when I asked them to stop, which they did; I raised up to look for Ault, saw him coming towards the house and asked Dickenson to give me his pistol. He said "No, he would not;" to which I replied, Oh, John, are you going to have him follow me up and kill me, without giving me any show in the world; he then said he would give the pistol to Chase; I told him "all right," and he did so. The party then started for Smith's; had driven about five hundred yards, when I saw Ault leave the house, following us up; I enquired if Ault had a shot-gun, and was answered that they thought he had; said I, if he comes up will you draw the pistol and not allow him to shoot me in the wagon? Chase said, "No, I will give you the pistol, tie the horses and get out in the cane." We were going fast and I begged of them to go slower; he drove up to Warnerfield's house and stopped when Ault came out of the cane and stopped, turned and took another road for Sneden's store. I told Chase to drive on, that the coward wouldn't come if he had a dozen shot-guns. We had gone about three hundred yards when we met a man, whom Chase asked to get in and go down with us, which he did; then the two took me down to Smith's house, arriving there, we found no one at home, except Mrs. Smith and daughter. I was lifted out of the wagon, carried into the house and placed on the bed, when both of the men left immediately, leaving none but the ladies to care for me for four or five hours. I know nothing of what took place for the next six or eight hours.

I employed a lawyer named Welsh to endeavor to postpone Ault's examination until my brother had returned from Independence with a physician, but he failed.

And in this connection I would make the statement that I was totally unrepresented and that the prosecution of Mr. Ault was altogether ignored. What kind of a farce took place in the preliminary examination, in the case of the People vs. Ault I know not, except what I hear; my simplest requests were not granted, and to say the least, the course of Justice Weyland was entirely at variance with the merits of the case. With just cause I felt aggrieved at this proceeding, and upon my arrival here swore out a warrant for Ault's arrest.

The Under Sheriff was dispatched from this place to effect his arrest; as to the result of his movements, I have received the following from Bishop Creek:

BISHOP CREEK, December 28, 1870.

MR. WM. GILL, INDEPENDENCE,

DEAR SIR:—News has just came in that the Deputy Sheriff left Sneden's in pursuit of Ault, while he (Ault) was yet in sight of the (Sneden's) store and rode on behind him until he saw Ault ride up to his own house, speak to John Dickenson, and both ride away together. He thought Ault was on a race horse, and so he came back to the store, and started home in the morning.

Yours, etc.,

L. SMITH.

A Bet Fairly Won.

Said Bill to Richard the other day, "Did you ever hear how tough hided I am?" "I never did," replied Dick. "Tougher than common folks?"

"I reckon 'tis a few. I'll bet you a drink, Dick, that you may take a cow-hide, and lay it upon my bare skin as hard and as long as you like, and I won't even flinch." "Done; I'll take that bet. If I don't make you squirm like a half-skinned eel the first cut, I'm sadly mistaken."

"You take the bet, then?" "I do."

"Well, wait till I go up stairs and get my bear-skin, and—" "Oh, ho! your bear-skin! No, no, I mean—"

"I don't care what you mean—its a fair bet fairly won. My bare skin is my bear-skin, and nothing else." "I'll give in," said Richard, looking foolish and flabbergasted. "Let's adjourn to the 'Pewter Mug,' and say no more about it."

The Female Poet

MEDICAL.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, August 15, 1868.

Allow me to call your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.

Buchu as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of profound confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience

(From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.)

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WIGHTMAN,
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

USE

Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu

In all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to effect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

PAYMENT OF PREMIUMS.

DIVIDENDS.

The Surplus of the Company is distributed annually among the policy-holders on the "Contribution Plan," each one receiving the full amount which his policy has contributed to the formation of the surplus.

On All Cash policies dividends apply annually after the second year, and may be used in one of the three following ways:

1st.—To reduce the third and all subsequent annual premiums.

2nd.—To purchase additional insurance, payable at the same time as the original policy.

3d.—To purchase additional insurance payable in case of death within one year.

These dividend additions may at any time be converted into cash for the payment of future premiums. They thus form a large and constantly increasing reserve fund, which may be availed of in time of misfortune and pecuniary embarassment.

In the case of policies paid up by a limited number of annual premiums, the dividends do not cease with the term of payment, but continue until maturity.

20,375 Members have been obtained since the Company organized, and notwithstanding the hard times so generally complained of all over the United States, the CONTINENTAL has issued 2,774 more policies in 1869 than in the year previous—being an increase of 46.25 per cent.

A ROAD STEAMER.

We take from The Kern County Courier a description of a road steamer contained in The Scientific American. The Courier is very sensibly agitating the feasibility of establishing these steam teams as a method of inter-communication, and as the description is as interesting to us of this valley as to them, we give it.

This remarkable traction engine has, during the past two years, attracted more notice among scientific men than any of the numerous road locomotives which have ever preceeded it. The use of steam on common roads has long excited the great interest of all engineers as well as those who would benefit by its practical introduction. Without discussing the special reasons of the failure of the Boydell system, with its cumbrous self-carrying tramway, or the Bray engine with its projecting and recinding claws operating through the periphery of its driving wheels, it may be briefly stated that no road engine has ever satisfied the demand for driving heavy trains of wagons on common roads, until the advent of Mr. Thompson's ingenious invention.

Adhesion, without too great weight; traction, without destroying the roads; gearing, which would not break when jolting over rough pavements, and steerage which would enable the engine to be easily turned, were some of the absolute requirements of a practical road locomotive. The enormous weight of friction engines, with rigid tires, now used in connection with steam plowing in England, proves its necessity for the purpose of gaining sufficient adhesion. Their provision for inserting teeth in the face of the wheels tells the story of their destruction of roads when drawing heavy loads. Their inability to use springs causes a wear and tear of gearing and working parts, which any mechanic will understand, and the time consumed in turning corners quite unfits them for high speed.

Many ingenious traction engines have been made in this country, but as they were not constructed for drawing heavy loads, there was no occasion to surmount the difficulties stated above.

In the elastic tire invented by R. W. Thompson, C. E., of Edinburgh, all these fatal objections have been overcome and new powers developed. The idea of using vulcanized rubber for gaining adhesion, traction, and simplicity of gearing, was as novel as valuable.

Even this useful and important discovery might have never been given to the world had not Mr. Thompson been a gentleman of large means as well as a thoroughly educated engineer. He was thus enabled to continue his experiments and complete his invention before it was brought before the public, and it is probably for this reason that it at once attracted the notice of the most eminent engineers of the Old and New World.

A brief description of the "Road Steamer" is all that is necessary in connection with the accompanying engraving (in Scientific American.) The driving wheels are about five feet in diameter with a broad iron tire having narrow flanges, upon which is placed a ring of soft vulcanized rubber twelve inches in width and five inches in thickness, which surrounds the iron tire, and is kept in place by the flanges. Over the rubber there is placed an endless chain of steel plates, three and a half inches wide, which series of steel plates is the portion of the wheel which comes in contact with the rough road. This reticulated chain is connected by what might be properly styled steel vertebræ, at each side of the wheel. The rubber tire and steel plates, have no rigid connection, but are at perfect liberty to move round independently of each other, or even without the concurrence of the inner ring of the wheel which they both inclose. This is a remarkable combination, and contributes to the great success of the wheel as a whole. Holes are made in the inner iron rim of the wheel to admit air under the rubber tire. This enables the rubber to creep clowly round the wheel, so that in going a mile with a heavy load in tow, the rubber tire will be found to have crept once round the iron tire. To this ingenious device is due the indestructible nature of the tire. An enormously heavy and sudden strain upon the soft tire might tear it, but the slip saves it. Nearly the whole weight of the engine is upon the drivers, the third wheel in front being only for steering. The rapidity and ease with which it guides the steamer must be seen to be realized. It will instantly spin around with its inner driving wheel, describing a circle of less than six feet in diameter. The weight upon the rubber tires causes them to collapse and conform to all the irregularities of the road for a space of twenty inches each, and thus is insured adhesion and traction, which cannot be obtained in the slight line of contact with smooth and rigid tires. To this fact is due the ability of the road steamer to draw enormous loads and to ascend steep hills.

Perhaps one of its most important features, as concerns it use in this country, is its ability to run over soft ground or muddy roads. The rigid-tired traction engines in England are able to slowly grind over their hard and magnificently macadamized roads but on our dirt roads they would be utterly useless. In this respect the road steamer has not been inaptly compared to the elephant and camel, whose elastic cushioned feet enable them to cross the soft, yielding sands of the desert. It is this same elastic cushion which prevents injury to the roads, and which, acting as springs or buffers between the rough road and the gearing saves the machinery from damage. The work done by the wheel in depressing the rubber in front, is again performed by the rear in urging the wheel forward, so that the one exactly balances the other, hence there is no loss.

The boiler used is of the vertical, tubular type, made entirely of steel, and constucted with special regard to simplicity and great strength. All the gearing and working parts are either of steel or malleable iron, and are entirely hidden from sight. An ingenious device in connection with the exhaust of of steam almost suppresses the noise caused by its escape. The coal bunkers hold a day's supply. There is a single gear for quick speed, and a douple gear for heavy loads. The engines are double cylinders with a reversing gear. Either of the driving wheels can be thrown in or out of gear, so that in turning sharp corners the inner wheel is out of gear, slipping freely while the outer wheel drives the machine around.

When attached to a loaded train of four wagons by a simple triangle coupling the whole can be turned in any road of ordinary width, each wagon following in the exact wake of the steamer. The loads drawn by the two sizes now made are from twelve, to twenty tons, up inclines of one in twelve, and twenty to thirty tons on a level road. The speed varies from two and a half to six miles an hour for freight steamers, and ten miles an hour for those specially constructed for passenger service. The consumption of coal averages about half a ton per day. About three times as much wood by weight is required to furnish the same steam power.

All the road steamers can be fitted with a fly wheel and governor, so as to run as stationary engines for driving any description of machinery.

The British Government appointed a commission of military men to examine these road steamers with a view of adopting them in the War Department. The examination was most severe and the report so favorable that a number have been ordered; among others one to carry stores up the Rock of Gibraltar, the inclines being one in six. Various other European governments have, after careful examination, ordered them for drawing heavy artillery and other purposes. Over seventy steamers are now in order at the works in Great Britain for India, Australia, and other countries.

With our vast country, so much of which will be for many years without railroads, they will be of great use for mines, transportation companies, feeders to railroads, for general carrying purposes, and for towing on canals. One steamer can draw six boats at double the speed of horses. And lastly, in plowing the grain fields of the Great West, as also the sugar and cotton plantations of the South, they will find a wide field of usefulness, and prove of great value. Harnessed to one of Williamson's gang plows, they turn over seven furrows of eight inches depth and twelve inches in width with perfect ease, as we can testify, having personally witnessed the performance of one of them, not long since, in plowing obstinate soil.

Mr. D. D. Williamson, of 23 Broadway, New York, is the exclusive manufacturer under Mr. Thompson's American patents. No better assurance can be given that the American engines will be fully equal, if not superior to the British; than the fact that the great Locomotive Works of Patterson, whose locomotives at the great Paris Exhibition, took the prize over all others, have contracted to build them for Mr. Williamson, and are now constructing a number for the American market.

—When Congress sat in Philadelphia, a certain Senator from New England, who was not considered exactly the wisest man in the House, had a frequent custom of shaking his head when another was speaking. This gave offence to a member from Virginia, who complained publicly of the affront, whereupon a waggish member assured the Senate that he had known the offender long, and that it was only an ill habit he had got into, for though he would oftentimes shake his head, yet there was nothing in it.

—A British livery-stable keeper presented the following bill for the use of a horse:

Anos	10s.	00d.
Atakynonymom . .	00	6
Toatolhofol . .	10s.	6d.

"which he meanter to say" that his charge was for "a horse" and for "taking of him home," the "total of all" being 10s. 6d.

Notable Beginnings.

California records for 1870 will include three memorable industrial events—the shipment of the first bale of home raised silk; the raising of the first successful crop of cotton, leading to the planting of several large tracts to that staple; and the first success in the manufacture of beet sugar. These are very interesting events, and, regarded as the beginnings of what are destined to be among the leading and most valuable industries of the State, and their importance can hardly be estimated. Either one of the products named is sufficient to support a community many times larger than our present population.

Silk is the staple industry in portions of the old world which counts thousands to our hundreds of people. In France and Italy it employs more people than we number in every field of labor west of the Rocky mountains, and heretofore the United States have drawn all supplies of it from those countries and Asia. Cotton was the main source of the wealth of our Southern States, and employed a population of millions. Beet sugar making, with the production of the beets, and improvement of lands and cattle contiguous to factories, has become in a comparatively few years the main support of numerous large districts in France and Germany, and the number of persons connected with and supported by it in those countries, directly and indirectly, equals, if it dose not exceed, the whole population of California.

Of course there is abundant room for profitable competition in the cultivation and manufacture of products in such general demand. Considering that the silk and sugar we import in the United States runs up to fifties and hundreds of millions in yearly value, and that the cotton fields of the South are decreasing in fertility, the opportunity to plant these industries in the virgin soil of California, where climate and soil are so pre-eminently favorable is a grand one. Rightly appreciated and improved, it can but lead to most important results at an early day. Here are openings for some of the surplus capital which burdens our city vaults. Here are fields for enterprise far more creditable and permanently remunerative than making corners in mining stock, or monopolizing land, wheat, quicksilver and coal. The day will come when the most wealthy and influential Californians will be those who embarked in these and other great products and manufactures, utilizing land and money and labor in the line of directly supplying staple wants of man. In that day the wrecks of speculation and inordinate grasping will be monuments of an era of misdirected energy and capital.—Bulletin.

Strasbourg Cathedral after the Siege.

The high steeple of the Minster was an extremely convenient look-out for the besieged, and in fact they could look from there into all the works of the Germans, and discover at once where laborers were employed. If the Prussian General had only to act as a General, his first order would have been to destroy this dangerous building; but as it was he took the utmost care to protect it as much as possible. The French had established on the Minster, in the building of the guard, a telegraph station, from where the batteries were informed of the points against which they had to direct their fire. The telegraph was plainly to be seen from outside, and to give them a hint, some shot were fired against it. One of them pierced the wall quite close to the telegraph. Instead of taking the hint, the French showed themselves always on the hight, and it was very natural that some of the artillerymen, who perhaps did not understand the value of that architectural monument, could not resist the temptation of sending up some balls to drive them away, notwithstanding all orders of the General. The large Gothic cross on the top of the Minster has been struck also at its foot, and is hanging over somewhat on one side. It is said that a gunner boasted that he could hit the cross, and an officer hearing it, and not believing it possible at such a great distance, and to shame the boaster, said, "I will give you a thaler if you hit it." Though soldiers only were permitted to ascend the tower on that day, our little company entered also. The beautiful towers containing the winding staircases were not much damaged; but some parts of the stone balustrades had suffered, and it was dangerous to pass. The whole roof of the nave is burned, but the vaults underneath fortunately resisted and kept the flames from the interior of the church. From that gallery one has a distinct view of all the parallels. As the whole Minster was crowded with soldiers, we had some difficulty in descending the narrow stairs. We entered the interior of the church and were glad to see that not much damage had been done. Some simple wooden chairs were burned; the upper part of the organ and some parts of stained windows were broken; but the celebrated clock was intact. I think, however, that the damage done will require 1,000,000 francs to repair it.—Temple Bar.

MONEY FOR THE STATE.

County Treasurer Harris left last week for Sacramento, to pay over to the State Treasurer the sum of $4,543.47, the proportion of taxes due the State from this county. This is almost double the amount paid last year, and is a good showing of the comparative increase of the wealth of the county. A report of the County Treasurer, to be published in a week or two, will give a fair basis upon which to calculate the county's advancement in wealth and financial condition.

Hunckton.

Such is the name of the new and highly interesting mining camp, formerly known as Cartle Peak, Dunderberg, etc., in Mono county. It is now known by that name in Washington, Mr James G. Thompson having secured the appointment as Postmaster. Mr. Thompson is also County Surveyor of Mono county. The place is increasing quite rapidly, and the rich and extensive Dunderberg is attracting much attention in mining circles.

For Water.

The parties sinking for water on the 40 mile desert, below Desert Springs, between this place and Los Angeles, have reached a depth of 180 feet, and have found no water. They say, however, that they have struck damp ground and the indications are good for a bountiful supply.

Gone and Done It.

The Los Angeles Star of December 19th, contains the following account of the fate of a former Cerro Gordoite:

Sunday evening at 6 o'clock in the Catholic Church, P. G. Gelcich, Esq, late of Cerro Gordo, and Miss Lola Serrano, daughter of Don Muriano Serrano, were united in the holy bonds of wedlock. A large number of persons witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Father Koll. After the happy couple had received a blessing from the Bishop an adjournment was had to the residence of the brides father, where the wedding cake was eaten and the health of the bride toasted in flowing bumpers of sparkling wine. Music and the dance were enjoyed in perfection, until an early hour Monday morning when the assemblage dispersed, unanimous in their opinion that the occasion had been one of the happiest in the lives of the unmarried present.

—One Samuel Allis, of Blackforth county, thought it would be amusing to play ghost. He appeared to a farmer who "strikes five hundred from the shoulder," and was carried home in a blanket.

—Mrs. Partington says she understands the pickle the Emperor has got into, but she would like to know what this neutrality is that Victoria is trying to preserve.

ASSUMING SHAPE.

We are pleased to state that the question of a railroad into this valley has assumed a tangible shape. A company was incorporated in San Francisco, December 22d, with the object of constructing and operating a railroad from Wilmington, Los Angeles county, to Wickenburg, Arizona, with a branch road from some convenient point on the main trunk to extend into this valley Capital stock, $5,000,000, divided into shares of $100 each. The length of the main trunk is 500 miles. Directors—P. Banning, D. M. Alexander, H. Van Valkenburg, Herman Jacoby and Ed. M. McDonald.

Notwithstanding the expressed opinions of certain parties that a railroad would be ruinous to certain interests, we think a moments reflection must convince any reasonable man that the future prosperity of all this vast inland region depends very materially on a quicker and cheaper system of communication with the business world, than the one now in use. Our farmers have no other markets for their productions than that offered by our mines. Unlike other agricultural countries, our merchants can make no use of the wheat, corn, and other products of the farm, in the way of paying for goods below. This places our business transactions on a cash basis. The necessary supply of money can, owing to the great distance of the world's market, only come from our mines. The supply is not equal to the requirements, a fact sufficiently manifest in the futile endeavors being made to effect yearly settlements. To suit this state of affairs, and afford the necessary extended credits, a large amount of capital is involved. Goods are now weeks in transit when they should be but so many days. The money invested must be accounted for at a heavy rate of interest. Taking these facts into consideration it is safe to say that it now requires $10,000 to do business equal to $1,000, under the possible advantage of a railroad. It would be a saving of at least one hundred per cent. in the cost of the goods to the consumer. It would reduce the cost of farming in the same ratio. Hundreds of mines immediately on the line of road, now untouched, would be made to yield their treasures Mines a hundred miles eastward would be made tributary. A certain cash market would be afforded for any article of farm produce, at but a slightly reduced rate. Farm lands, mines, and property of all kinds would be greatly enhanced in value, even in the certain anticipation of a railroad. Capital and population would be attracted—Inyo county would not be, as at present, a terra incognita, only to be visited by business men under compulsion. A railroad company interested in its development, would advertise our mines and other advantages to the world. With a railroad we have an encouraging future; without it, merely an existance.

The actuating spirit, in opposition to such improvements, is the same that has opposed every material improvement of the age—the same that caused the destruction of the first thrashing machine, because it was considered an innovation upon the rights of the flail-men. With all due deference to the opinions of others, regarding its advantages, we hope and trust a railroad into or near this valley may soon be an accomplished fact. A matter fraught with so much importance to our future interests and welfare, deserves every possible encouragement.

WAR NEWS.

Nothing decisive or especially important has transpired in the war operations about Paris. The Germans are obliged to keep an immense army to prevent a successful sortie. An unsuccessful attempt of this sort was made a few days ago by 100,000 French. Afterwards, and the latest, another sortie by 5,000 men, mostly of the Garde Mobele resulted in the defeat of the latter, after a temporary success. Following this attempt the Prussian forts (two of them) opened fire on the city defenses. None of the balls reached the city, nor was any noticeable damage done.

The whole French nation is armed or arming. They are determined to prolong the war until an honorable peace can be gained. They will never consent to give up an inch of territory. To do so would humiliate France into a third-rate power. Though badly generaled and almost uniformly unsuccessful in the field the spirit of the nation remains unbroken, and the hope is still entertained of driving the invaders from their soil.

A correspondent reports an interview at Bordeaux with Count de Chambourdy, Minister Delegate of Foreign Affairs, in regard to the chances of peace. The Minister said: At present peace seems distant. However lamentable this war is, peace would be dishonorable on terms so inadmissible. It would change France into a third-rate power. Prussia made a great mistake in not concluding peace with Favre at Ferriers. The civilized world will condemn her for her refusal to propose terms which might have been honorable to Prussia without being humiliating to France.

Rich and poor unite in the opinion that the only thing left is to fight out the war. If, in so doing, France is financially ruined, there will be the less for Prussia to take.

The Medical Properties of Vinegar.

The principal ingredient of vinegar, and that which gives it its strength, is acetic acid, of which strong vinegar contains about five per cent. In a pure state this acid is colorless, inflammable, exceedingly pungent, intensely sour and acid to the taste, volatile, and evaporates if exposed to the air. In experiments upon rabbits, it has been found that one ounce of acetic acid will kill a large healthy rabbit in seven minutes, and, on examining the intestines, they were found softened and highly inflamed. When applied to delicate, sensitive tissues in man, it is very irritating and almost a caustic. Galand was of the opinion that vinegar seriously injured the nervous system and impoverished the blood.

According to Margagin it occasions thickening of the walls of the stomach. Portal relates a case in The London Medical Gazette, of a young woman who was very stout and was advised to drink a small quantity of vinegar daily to reduce her size. It worked to a charm for this purpose, but in a month brought on cough, difficult breathing, fever, wasting away, and death by consumption.

German quacks are said to profess to cure obesity by means of daily doses of vinegar, and, if they sometimes fulfilled their promises, it was usually at the expense of their patient's lives. Sunderlin says that those who work in vinegar factories soon acquire a cachectic look and become consumptive. Orfila relates the case of a patient who swallowed a teaspoonful of acetic acid. He shrieked with pain, his mouth was whitened, there was a burning pain in his throat, chest and abdomen, profuse sweating; diarrhœa and vomiting occurred, and the pulse became small and quick. All these symptoms are those of poisoning.

All modern writers agree in this: that vinegar is to be avoided where the digestion is weak, or where there is a tendency to flatulence or diarrhœa. Chlorotic females are forbidden to use it, even though they long for it, and nursing mothers are advised to refrain from its use, as it oftens occasions fatal diarrhœa in infants by acidifying the milk, which otherwise would nourish. As an article of diet it is of doubtful utility, especially when other and better organic acids may be used in place of it, when acids are needful.

Completion of a Mighty Work.

[From The San Francisco Bulletin, Dec. 27th.]

The telegraphs brings information to-day, that the workmen in the tunnel of Mt. Cenis, toiling from opposite directions have met, and the perforation of the lofty Alpine summit is complete. A more daring work was never attempted by man, and its completion marks one of the grandest triumphs of the age. The project for a tunnel through Mt. Cenis was first suggested to the Sardinian Government in 1857, by Chevalier Henry Mans, and it received almost immediate sanction. The tunnel was to be twice as long as any other in the world, and was to pierce a mountain of flinty hardness, a distance of over seven miles and a half at an elevation of 4,092 feet above the level of the sea in the region of almost perpetual storms. In the face of difficulties such as men never had encountered before, the engineers and surveyors prosecuted their work, estimated the cost, and while the contract terms included 25 years for the completion of the work, these men predicted that it would be accomplished early in 1871. The telegram of to-day, more than confirms their prediction.

The northern entrance of the tunnel is at the French town of Fourneaux, the southern, near the town of Bardoneche, on the river Mardovine, in Italy. It pierces Mount Cenis 2,400 feet below the ancient pass or road over the summit, and at the deepest is 5,400 feet below the surface. In height it is 19 feet, and in breadth 25 feet, spacious enough to admit double railway trucks. The perforation was accomplished by means of ponderous drill machines, driven by compressed air engines with drill heads or borers weighing 600 lbs. each. The work has progressed steadily from November, 1860, to the present time, a temporary railroad having been used in the interim by which travelers were taken over the summit in cars drawn by stationary engines, and running on three tracks.

—Some years ago there lived in an Eastern town an old man who had a propensity for stealing small and portable articles that came in his way. As he was poor and past labor, and well known about town, no further notice was taken of his peculiarities than to keep a sharp lookout when he was around. A dealer had a quantity of dry fish landed on the wharf at an hour too late to get them into his store, and, as he was about covering them with an old sail-cloth, he espied old Brown, apparently reconnoitring. Selecting a couple of the fish he said: "Here, Brown, I must leave these fish out here to-night, and I will give you these two if you promise me that you will not steal any." "That is a fair offer, Mr. Allen, but—well—I don't know," with a glance at the offered fish, and then at the pile, "I think I can do better."

LETTER FROM CARSON.

[Lady Correspondent of The Inyo Independent.]

CARSON, December 27, 1870.

DEAR INDEPENDENT:—Carsonites rejoice in the beautiful weather vouchsafed, in comparative temporal prosperity, and the holiday festivals, introduced by the advent of Santa Claus, on Christmas Eve. The several churches gave satisfactory evidence of the industry and good taste of their respective members, in collecting and displaying the beautiful gifts prepared for the Sabbath School children. The Episcopalians used the New Hall, and made a fine display. The Methodists were so unfortunate in having their tree fall, to the injury of a chandilier, and, doubtless to the terror of the little ones, whose precious gifts had been entrusted to its arms. The general effect was good; but the tree was to low to be pleasing to the eye. The presents displayed there were good, one of which touched the ceiling, and were considered remarkable productions in their way. They were made by the artificial arrangement of the trunks, and carefully trimmed branches of natural trees. An Irishman looked upon their fine proportions, and said to the manufacturer: "Ye have done will, indade, but faith, an' it would take ye a long time to make 'em grow!" But few would have suspected their origin differed from "Topsy," who, we are creditably informed, "growed." Happy as the little ones, and childred of a larger growth were, I could not but feel, that little stockings, hung by the hearthstone, with sleepy visions of Santa Claus in tasseled cap, with golded chariot and reindeers, driving in some mysterious way down the chimney, in the hush of night, to fill the said little stockings with every imagined sweet—the better way, since it is productive of equal good and less evil.

Christmas day, I listened to an excellent sermon on, "The character of Christ." The Reverend gentleman remarked in its course, the inappropriateness of the present method of celebrating the anniversary of the Saviour's birth, urging that carnivalism should have no place in it. He exhorted his flock to greater energy and faithfulness in their attendance upon every means of grace, in view of the festivities about to be inaugurated, or as a reporter for the press paraphrases it: "Owing to the influx of the ungodly," regarding it a capital hit at the Legislature soon to convene.

The energetic and presistent Daily Appeal to our sympathies and purses will be made no more. Henceforth the ways and means, sins and follies of the Republicans are to be Registered in the peculiar types and colors in which all the acts of that party appear, when exhibited by the Democratic press. Well, this is another evidence of the compensation in nature as hinted at in these sublime lines:

"Every dog has his day,
And the cat his afternoons."

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Notable Arrivals and Departures.

As a matter of interest to our readers, we chronicle the following goings and comings of some of the gentlemen prominently interested in the mines of our county. Mr. A. H Dorr, formerly extensively interested in the mines of Kearsarge mountain, and present claimant of the famous Santa Marie mine, or "Dorr Ledge," in Cerro Gordo, arrived in Lone Pine by the last Southern stage. Also, by the same line, Mr. Tregallis, an English mining engineer, who comes to take the management of the Eclipse mine, in place of Captain Barratt, who has resigned his position. We understand that Captain Barratt leaves for London in a few weeks, and we venture to say that he will be missed by his many friends. John Patterson, N. C. Apple and W. A. Ford, who have recently disposed of their interest in the Crowning Glory mine, left Lone Pine last week, by private conveyance, for Los Angeles, intending to return to their former homes East. Kit Johnson, also, accompanys the party. Under Sheriff Tabor, of Lander county, Nevada, left by the last stage for Austin. James O'Donnol, of the Kearsarge mine, left for Virginia by the same stage, for the purpose of employing carpenters, miners, etc., to put in machinery and work the mine. Mr. J. B. Hiskey, for many years foreman of the extensive Washoe Valley Reduction Works, in Nevada, has been in town for a few days, making arrangements to start up the quartz mill at Deep Spring Valley, which property has come into his hands. He proposes to run the mill on custom work—a plan which will be appreciated by Deep Spring miners. Mr. Hiskey's success in working these ores, or any other which he takes hold of, we consider absolutely certain, and the rates should be placed as low as possible. The mill, however, is first to undergo a thorough refitting, and a return to principles known to be successful.

Released.

Manuel Moreno and Louis Manilo, arrested at Lone Pine on charge of being parties in the Austin stage robbery, and held in custody at this place, were last week released on a writ of habeas corpus, on the ground that they were held without due legal proceedure. They are the same parties who were so roughly handled by a mob on the night of December 16th, while being brought here to jail. They express themselves as satisfied at the treatment received at the hands of our officers, and, claiming innocence of course, only feel dissatisfied because of not being allowed to proceed immediately to Nevada for a hearing. If they are among the parties guilty of the robbery, the only thing to blame for their release is our lack of communication with the rest of the world.

Specimens.

We have received from Mr. Wm. Egan, several fine specimens of ore from the Inyo District, in the Inyo range of mountains, immediately opposite this place. The mines are represented as rich and extensive and easily reached by a good natural road Some four or five parties are now taking out ore for reduction at Swansea. From H. Jack, J. S. Broder and another gentleman, we have received a number of specimens of Deep Spring Valley ore, from numerous ledges, discovered by this prospecting party, among the rest, some fine looking ore from the "Printer," and a beautiful piece or two from the celebrated "Blue Belle." When time and space permits we shall be glad to give full accounts of their locations.

Thanks to Bentonites.

We acknowledge our indebtedness to Mr. J. O. Wheeler for a couple of the finest specimens we have seen in many a long day. They are of that description so peculiar to Hot Springs, being white and soft, tinged with blue, interveined with sheets of fine, native silver. We are not apprised of its assay value, but it must be high up in the hundreds. Friend Henry Desing, of the same place, will please accept our thanks for Eastern papers received.

More Races.

The racing excitement at Lone Pine continues, and several match races have been run, and more are talked of, all of which indicate "flush times" in that locality. We have heard a denizen or two of that place express their fears of the "horse whisters" "bunching" on them, but what this means is beyond our ken. Money changes hands pretty freely, and now and then a fight or two enlivens the scene.

Hot Spring Ore.

Two large loads of fine ore, from the Kearsarge mine, at Hot Springs, passed through town last week for the Swansea smelting works. The general advantage to our miners, of these works purchasing ore from all parts of the county cannot be overrated, and for the encouragement of this plan, moves should be made by Inyo county to place her roads in first-class condition, at whatever cost.

Merchandise.

Some five or six large "prairie schooners," propelled by ten and twelve animals each, arrived in town last Friday, loaded with goods for our merchants.

Warrants Payable.

Several parties are notified to call upon County Treasurer Harris and get the money for their warrants.

A Desperate Charge of the Prussians Landwehr Upon a Huge Catamount.

FISH SPRINGS, January 4, 1870.

MESSRS EDITORS:—Three Germans in the employ of Goodale & Curtis, at Fish Springs, becoming satisfied that some thief of the night was making away with all the chickens and eggs it could get hold off, concluded to use a little strategy to despoil the sly chap of his ill-gotten gains. Consequently, a trap door was made to the chicken-house, and a rope attached thereto, running from it to their bed room—one of the party remaining awake for developments. He had not long to wait, for 12 o'clock brought a squall among the feathered tribe. The rope was pulled, closing the door, and Mr. Cat was in his prison cell—probably for the first time. A general charge was then sounded by the whole party—the roof scaled, and a Colt's battery finished the bloody work, and the chicken gourmand threw up the sponge; causing much cheering by the party at the success of their strategy.

At least fifty chickens, and probably twenty dozen of eggs have been devoured by this animal. We hear of similar raids upon other farmers. It would be well for farmers to keep a look-out for these hen-roost robbers if they wish to live on chicken and eggs.

The boys, after a post mortem examination, pronounced the raider a catamount. Its weight is fifty pounds, and measurers, from tip of nose to end of tail, three and a half feet. Let us hear from the next farmer that gets a larger one.

CATAMOUNT.

Sudden and Horrible Death.

The even course of events with the people of Cerro Gordo has again been startled by the occurrence of an affair calculated to lead thinking people into moralizing, and furnishing the basis for an effective temperance lecture. From the imperfect account which we have received, it appears that a family by the name of Ormrod, consisting of a man and wife and a daughter of 18 months of age. On the morning of January 3d, the Deputy Sheriff for Cerro Gordo was passing the habitation (almost under ground) of the Ormrod's, his attention was attracted by the screams of the child. Passing into the place a most sickening sight met his gaze. The man was lying on the bed insensible, the woman on the floor dead, and the child had crept to the fire-place, from which issued the cries. Both were addicted to drink, and this seems to be the result of a continued holiday spree, and is probably the cause of death, although some think they were poisoned. To-day's Cerro Gordo stage will probably bring us the particulars of the post-mortem examination.

A Shocking Discovery—Probable Murder.

Last Monday morning as some teamsters were passing over the road between Bishop Creek and Hot Springs at a point within a few miles of Fish Slough, they discovered the bloody clothes and mutilated foot of a man The man's dress, as far as found, consisted of a short, black, and apparently new coat, lined with checked material two woolen shirts, and a pair of badly torn overhauls. All were scattered, and the ground tramped up as if done by coyotes. The foot is small, evidently that of a white man, encased in the right boot, which is broken on the inside, and a small patch on the outward side of the boot. Although most of the clothes were found, nothing of any description was discovered in the pockets. Parties have gone from Bishop Creek to thoroughly examine the ground and search for some means of identifying the unfortunate, and probably murdered man. As it is not known in which county the place is where the remains were found, it is possible that no official investigation, or coroner's inquest may be held, but we will endevour to obtain, and give all the facts developed.

Returned.

Our sanctum was invaded yesterday by the old Inyoan, so well known to many by the name of Dave Love, who returns to his old haunts, thinking this county will do. He is a little disposed to growl at some things, for while on his way from Los Angeles to Independence, he stopped at Lone Pine, and laying down his blankets and clothes for a few minutes, on the porch of a public house, some scroundrel, not having the fear of God or Dave Love, before his eyes, but being moved and instigated by the devil, did willfully, maliciously, and feloniously pick up the said blankets and clothes and appropriate the same to his own use, to the great damage of the said Dave Love, to wit: In the sum of about $40 00. Dave took the matter cool. He had to because the nights are cool and his bed was gone, but he vented himself in our presence about in this manner: "I don't want the chap who stole those articles to have any luck. I wish he would have to live in Los Angeles the hottest part of the year and never see a pound of ice. I want him to go to Wilmington and get those blankets full of fleas. May he be compelled to drink whisky at every station between Lone Pine and San Diego; be elected to the Legislature, or to Congress, and thus disgrace himself forever. If any say he is not overflowing with absolute "cussedness," "let him be anathema."

Practicing.

The official law card of Judge J. G. McClinton, of Aurora, will be found in another column. He proposes to pay especial attention to conducting business in the Land Office.

The Board of Supervisors.

The Board of County Supervisors will meet next Monday, January 9. Another member of the Board is to be elected to fill the vacancy of John Sheppard, who has resigned. Some person from Lone Pine will probably be selected.

The Evidence

Adduced in the case of E. A. Reddy, for the killing of a Cornishman (whose name we have not learned) at Cerro Gordo, did not come to hand in time for this week's paper. As the matter is of considerable interest to all, we will give it next week.

Secretary.

At a regular meeting of Independence Engine Co. No. 1, held last Tuesday evening, Mr. A. J. Close was elected Secretary of the company, vice Wm. J. Fennell, who has resigned and gone to Los Angeles.

Dissolved.

The well known old settlers, Charley Begole and "Dad" Moore, have dissolved co-partnership in their business at Lone Pine, and invite all indebted to them to step up and settle.

Postmaster.

J. B. Rowley, Esq., has received the appointment of Postmaster of this place to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of J. G. Payne.

The Great Medical Discovery!
Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands
Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the peculiar quality of acting as a powerful remedy in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE
FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.
Headache Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

A song and a cheer for the lager bier,

MEDICAL.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, August 15, 1868.

Allow me to call your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.

Buchu as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of profound confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

(From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.)

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WIGHTMAN,
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S

FLUID EXTRACT

BUCHU

For weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Natures which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forbodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

THE CONSTITUTION

Once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity ensues.

Helmbold's Fluid Extract of Buchu

In affections peculiar to Females, is unequaled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incidental to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu

—AND—

IMPROVED ROSE WASH

Will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superceding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copavia and Mercury, in all these diseases.

USE

Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu

In all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to effect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere Price $1 25 per Bottle, or 6 Bottles for $6 50. Delivered to any address. Describe Symptoms in all communications.

SPECIAL FEATURES.

Pure Mutuality, as the entire surplus of the Company belongs to the Policy-holders.

Annual Distribution of Surplus, on the "Contribution Plan."

Economy of Management: only one other New York Company showing as low a ratio of expense to income, during the years 1868 and 1869, according to the official returns to the Massachusetts Insurance Department.

Careful Selection of Risks, as indicated by the exceedingly small mortality among its members.

All Policies Non-forfeitable, in accordance with the explicit terms which are embodied in the written Policy.

Thirty Days' Grace.—Should the due date of the premium accidentally, or otherwise, be allowed to pass without payment of the same, the Policy-holder has the privilege of paying it any time within thirty days thereafter, the Policy being held in force during that time.

No Extra Premium for Travel or Foreign Residence.—Persons insured in this Company are permitted, without extra charge of premium, to go to or return from any part of the world, and to reside anywhere excepting between Latitude 34° North and the Tropic of Capricorn.

Policies Incontestable for the customary reasons.

Policy-holders have a voice in the elections and management of the Company.

No Charge is made for policy or medical examination.

By the Laws of the State of New York, Life Insurance Companies are made specially secure.

The "Continental" has deposited with the State Superintendent of Insurance the sum of $100,000, required by law, which remains in his custody as a permanent guarantee fund.

POLICIES.

The Continental issues policies upon all APPROVED PLANS.

PAYMENT OF PREMIUMS.

Premiums may be paid entirely in cash, annually, semi-annually, or quarterly; or, if desired, one-third may be allowed to remain as a loan on the policy, at interest, until canceled by dividends, or otherwise. The remaining two thirds may be paid annually, semi-annually, or tri-annually.

DIVIDENDS.

The Surplus of the Company is distributed annually among the policy-holders on the "Contribution Plan," each one receiving the full amount which his policy has contributed to the formation of the surplus.

On All Cash policies dividends apply annually after the second year, and may be used in one of the three following ways:

1st.—To reduce the third and all subsequent annual premiums.

2nd.—To purchase additional insurance, payable at the same time as the original policy.

3d.—To purchase additional insurance payable in case of death within one year.

These dividend additions may at any time be converted into cash for the payment of future premiums. They thus form a large and constantly increasing reserve fund, which may be availed of in time of misfortune and pecuniary embarassment.

In the case of policies paid up by a limited number of annual premiums, the dividends do not cease with the term of payment, but continue until maturity.

20,375 Members have been obtained since the Company organized, and notwithstanding the hard times so generally complained of all over the United States, the CONTINENTAL has issued 2,774 more policies in 1869 than in the year previous—being an increase of 46 14 per cent.

THE AGED STRANGER.

AN INCIDENT OF THE WAR.

"I was with Grant"—the stranger said;
Said the farmer: "Say no more,
But rest thee here at my cottage porch,
For thy feet are weary and sore."

"I was with Grant"—the stranger said;
Said the farmer: "Nay, no more—
I prithee sit at my frugal board,
And eat of my humble store."

"How fares my boy—my soldier boy,
Of the old Ninth Army Corps?—
I warrant he bore him gallantry
In the smoke and the battle's roar."

"I know him not," said the aged man,
"And, as I remarked before,
I was with Grant"—"Nay, nay, I know,"
Said the farmer, "Say no more;

"He fell in battle—I see, alas!
Thou didst smooth these tidings o'er—
Nay, speak the truth, whatever it be,
Though it rend my bosom's core.

"How fell he—with his face to the foe,
Upholding the flag he bore?
Oh! say not that my boy disgraced
The uniform that he wore."

"I cannot tell," said the aged man,
"And should have remarked before,
That I was with Grant—in Illinois—
Some three years before the war."

Then the farmer spake him never a word,
But beat with his fist full sore,
That aged man, who had worked for Grant
Some three years before the war.

The Gold Discovery in California.

The Bulletin has received from Henry W. Bigler, one of the men working at Sutter's mill, in 1848, when gold was discovered there, the following interesting letter, which is full of character and bears internal evidence of perfect truth:

FARMINGTON, Davis Co., Utah, December 28th, 1870.

LIFE AND ADVENTURES OF JAMES W. MARSHALL.

The above notice I saw about three months since in the 23d number and 15th volume of your paper, and as I am there referred to as being one of the mill hands, who, if alive, could substantiate the accuracy of the narrative, I cheerfully give my testimony, although it is at a very late hour, because I feel that it is a duty that I owe to Marshall, and perhaps to the public. I have not seen the work referred to, neither have I seen any person who said they had. I should be exceedingly glad to obtain a copy, and if I had Marshall's address I should open a correspondence with him. I was one of the men at work at Coloma at the time the gold was found by Marshall. I well remember when he sent a young Indian for James Brown to send him a plate. Brown was on top of a saw pit; he jumped down saying: "I wonder what Marshall wants with a tin plate?" After we had quit our day's work, Marshall came into our shanty and told us he believed he had found gold, and directed Brown and myself to shut down the head gate early in the morning and throw in dirt and leaves so as to completely shut off the water, which we did, while Marshall went alone down into the tail race. In a few minutes he came back with a most pleasing smile on his face, carrying his old white hat in his arms, saying: "Boys, by G—d, I believe I have found a gold mine." At this he sat his hat on the work bench that stood in the mill yard, and the mill hands all gathered around in an instant; and there, sure enough, in the top of his hat crown (the top knocked in a little) was the pure metal; how much I do not know, perhaps an ounce. One of the company, by the name of Azariah Smith, pulled out a five dollar gold piece and compared the coin with the particles. There was a difference in the looks, but this was accounted for on account of the alloy in the coin. Any of us would have been willing to have sworn and testified that what James W. Marshall had lying on the top of his old hat crown was gold, although none of us had ever seen gold dust before. Some three or four days after this, Marshall went down to Sutter's Fort to see about grub and to have the mineral tested, he was gone four days. When he returned and was asked what he had made out of the metal, his reply was: "O, boys, by G—d, it is the pure stuff. I and the old Captain locked ourselves up and was half a day trying it; and the outsiders wondered what in hell was up, and surmised that I had found a quicksilver mine, for you see there is a quicksilver mine found by a woman down toward Monterey; but we let them sweat. We found that it agreed with the encylopedia, and we applied aquafortis, and it has nothing to do with it. We then weighed it in water by balancing the dust against silver on a pair of scales, in the air, having a basin of water. We let the scales down, and when it came in contact with the water, by G—d, the gold went down and the silver up (motioned it out with his hands), and that told the story that it was the clear stuff." He then said Sutter would be up in a few days to look at and examine the race, etc. In a few evenings afterwards Marshall came into our shanty and told us that Sutter had come; that he was up to the other house; "and, now boys," said he, "we have all got a little gold dust. I motion that we all give Henry (myself) some, and in the morning, when you shut off the water, let him (Henry) take it down and sprinkle it all over the base rock. Not let on to the old gentleman (Sutter), and it will so excite him that he will set out his bottle and treat, for he always carries his bottle with him." So next morning early, before the old gentleman come down, we did as Marshall proposed. Just as the mill hands were finishing breakfast, we saw the old gentleman coming, stubbing along with his cane in his hand (a well dressed old gentleman too), Marshall on one side and Wimer on the other and Sutter in the middle. As they neared our shanty we went out and met them. After shaking hands and passing the common salutations, we were all invited by Sutter and Marshall to go along and have a general time prospecting in the race. Just at this time one of Wimer's little boys, not knowing what was up, ran on ahead and picked up nearly every particle, and came running back, nearly out of breath, meeting us and exclaiming, "See here how much I have found!" having, perhaps, $50 worth in his hands, and we dare not say a word least the joke would be found out and we lose our liquor. The old gentleman, as soon as he saw what the boy had, thrust his cane into the ground, saying, "By Jo, it is rich!" However, we all went into the race and found a number of particles, and from that day forward gold began to be found in other places besides the tail race. I advised Marshall to marry that girl who found the quicksilver mine, if she was single or not married, for, said I, if this is what the tail turns out to be I wonder what the head will be? The life and adventures of James W. Marshall, so far as being the first discoverer of the California gold, is all true, and he found it as you represented in your paper. If what I have written is of any use to either you or Marshall, you are at liberty to make use of it.

A Camel's Revenge.

Everybody knows that the camel possesses the faculty of ruminating the food, already stored in one of his stomachs, and that he willingly enough grants himself this pleasure when he has nothing to eat; but it is not generally known, perhaps, that he possesses sufficient malice to make, when an opportunity arises, this prerogative a means of vengence.

I had noticed in the morning that one of our camel drivers appeard on bad terms with his beast. He vainly tried to master him by punishment pulling with all his might the cord which passed through the animal's nostril; the latter was obstinate, and threw himself every moment on the ground, a proof of rebellion. The Kalmuck, irritated by the struggle, profited by a halt to dismount, and inflict severe chastisement on the recalcitrant; but the camel, disdainfully raising his long neck, followed with so malicious an eye all his tyrant's movements, that without doubt he was revolving some project of revenge in his head. And so it happened that he quietly waited until the Kalmuck stood opposite to him; then opening his great mouth, he ejected full in the camel-driver's face a double volley of masticated herbs, mixed with salver and all sorts of filthiness. It would be impossible to describe the air of satisfied vengence with which the camel raised his neck, and moved his head from one side to another, as if in quest of applause. What astonished me the most in this affair was his master's moderation after undergoing such an outrage. He wiped himself coolly, remounted his saddle, and caressed the neck of the ill-bred animal, as if he had received the most flattering compliment. A good understanding being thus strangely re-established, they went on their way peaceably, without giving another thought to what had taken place.—Madame de Hell.

Bavarian Bravery.

A correspondent at the seat of war writes: "In one of the recent engagements in France, a Bavarian battery, in a very hot place, ran out of ammunition; but instead of withdrawing, Lieutenant Peter Widman, commanding, shouted: "Lads, if we retire to fetch ammunition, these Frenchmen will think we are running away. We can't shoot at them that's true, but we can show them that we don't care for them. Stand before the guns, all of you, and sing them the "Wacht am Rhein," in stout German chorus. No sooner said than done; the men formed up with perfect steadiness, and gave the French the musical counterpart of the "Marseillaise" in their best style, from beginning to end, under a rattling fire.

About Oysters.

Persons who prefer oysters cooked in their own liquor may be interested in knowing what the fluid contains. The Journal of Microscopy says:

Open an oyster, retain the liquor in the lower or deep shell, and, if viewed through a microscope, it will be found to contain multitudes of small oysters, covered with shells and swimming nimbly about—120 of which extend but one inch. Besides these young oysters, the liquor contains a variety of animalculæ and myriads of three distinct species of worms. Sometimes their light represents a bluish star about the center of the shell, which will be beautifully luminous in a dark room.

The Use of Gold and Silver

Was not unknown to the Welsh in 842, when the laws, in early times, were collected. The man who dared to insult the King of Aberffraw, was to pay (besides certain cows and a silver rod) a cup, which would hold as much wine as his majesty could swallow at a draught; its cover was to be as broad as the king's face; and the whole as thick as a goose's egg, or a ploughman's thumb-nail.

—The new Court House in Chicago has, thus far, cost $416,767,56.

The Lost Races of America.

The Cincinnati Chronicle publishes a long account of the famous Indian mounds near St. Louis, Mo., many of which are being leveled in building a new railroad. The following extracts open up a world of speculation:

A most remarkable variety of earthworks are those in Wisconsin and Iowa, which bear the outlines of men and animals, constituting huge bassorelievos on the surface of the earth, and challenging our wonder by their number, variety and extent. One of these, on Bush creek, Ohio, is in the form of a serpent, over one thousand feet in length, extended in graceful curves, and terminated in a triple coil at the tail. The embankment constituting the effigy is near five feet high by thirty feet at the center of the body. The neck of the figure is stretched out and slightly curved, and its mouth is opened wide, as if in the act of swallowing or ejecting an oval figure which rests partly within the distended jaws. The combined figure has been regarded as a symbolical illustration of the Oriental cosmological idea of the serpant and the egg. From this and other facts, it is estimated that these mounds were formed not less than 2,000 years ago. By whom built, and whether their authors migrated to remote lands under the combined attractions of a more fertile soil and more congenial climate, or whether they disappeared before the victorious arms of an alien race, or were swept out of existence by some direful epidemic or universal famine, are questiones probably beyond the power of human investigation to answer. History is silent concerning them, and their very name is lost even to tradition.

Folly.

The love of display which characterizes American society, and especially New York society, is in no instance more clearly shown than at the bridal altar. It is the aim of many a young girl's life not only to be married but to have a "fashionable wedding." She does not wish to be maried in the old humdrum style. Love—a solemn ceremoney; an unostentatious union; are voted absurd. Diamonds, point lace, a carriage and four, an envious multitude of lookers-on—that is the maiden's dream, the father's dread and the groom's bugbear. The father thinks: "Well, it can only occur once; she is off my hands now. Its a pretty heavy expense, but its the fashion; I suppose I've got to do it." The prospective husband, perhaps with a salary of $2,500 a year, says to himself: "If she thinks I can keep her in this luxurious style, she is mistaken." Frequently the bride's trousseau costs more than a husband can earn in a year. But Mrs. Grundy must be consulted and the domestic comfort sacrificed to display. What man but would sooner be quietly united to the girl he loves and put the cost of ostentatious display into his business, or use it to make his home happier? What father willingly throws his money away upon a costly display at his daughter's wedding? It is money sacrificed upon the altar of fashion—a sacrifice soon regretted as useless and foolish, and bringing unpleasant memories of an event that should be recollected with pleasure.—New York Sun.

Answer to an Inquiry from The Coming Man.

[Mark Twain in The January Galaxy.]

"Young Author."—Yes, Agassiz does recommend authors to eat fish, because the phosphorus in it makes brains. So far you are correct. But I cannot help you to a decision about the amount you need to eat, at least, not with certainty. If the specimen composition you send is about your fair usual average, I should judge that perhaps, a couple of whales would be all you would want for the present. Not the largest kind, simply good middling sized whales.

Good Coal in Arizona.

The Prescott Miner says: "The extensive coal ledge recently found near Camp Thomas, in the eastern part of this country, has been thoroughly tested and pronounced first-rate. Government is now using it in its forges. Besides our mines of gold, silver, copper and salt, we can now congratulate ourselves upon having good coal beds throughout northern Arizona.

Limitations.

A late decision of the Supreme Court of this State fully sustains the Statute of Limitations. Therefore two years quiet possession of a mining claim or five years of landed property gives a good title as against all adverse claimants.

Closed.

The Eureka quartz mine at Grass Valley has been closed temporarily, because it is said some of the miners were discovered stealing specimens, and the superintendent wants time to devise means to prevent ana more theft of that kind.

WAR NEWS.

Remarkable activity is being displayed in the military operations, on all sides of Paris. The spirit of the French seems to rise with the exigency, and their new system of constantly attacking the Germans in detail is giving the latter serious annoyance. Near Bapaume, on the 2d instant, a battle lasting ten hours was fought. Both sides sustained heavy losses, and the French claim a victory. The Army of the Loire is preparing for a forward movement from the South, and the Parisians are anxious for another grand sortie. The news through German sources amounts to but little, except from the neighborhood of the capital, where the besiegers are beginninng to show the superior range of their heavy guns and boast of effectual firing on the eastern defences The inhabitants are suffering from lack of fuel, and the mortality among children is admitted to be very great.

A special dispatch to The Gold Hill News, says:

LONDON January 5.—Manteuffel telegraphs from Ameins, January3d, that General Bentheim, with troops from the First Army Corps, attacked that city on the morning of that day, on the left bank of the Seine, and captured three cannon, three flags and 500 prisoners.

General Bentheim telegraphs from Elouean, January 4th, confirming the above, and adds that he has pursued the enemy beyond Bourgachard. The battle lasted throughout the day.

Versailles, January 4.—The bombardment of the southern forts of Paris commenced at six this morning.

Brest January 6.—The French Government informs the Telegraph Company that messages for Paris can be accepted to be forwarded by pigeons at the senders' risk. The charge is ten cents per word, and messages are not to exceed twenty words.

Chinese Testimony.

The Supreme Court of the State of California, October Term, 1870, in the case of the "People vs. Brady," decided that, "No Indian or person having one half or more Indian blood, or Mongolian or Chinese, shall be permitted to give evidence in favor of, of against any white man"—overruling the decision in the case of the "People vs. George Washington," 36th Cal. 658, in which it was decided such testimony was admissible, and that Section Fourteen of the Act of this State, concerning crimes and punishments was not abrogated by the Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution.

This decision is in accordance with the opinions of the entire bench, save Rhodes.

Coal Mines Destroyed.

The Carbon coal fields, in Wyoming Territory, were recently totally destroyed by fire. The mines were directly under the Union Pacific railroad, and furnished a large portion of the coal for the road and for the towns along the road. On Sunday a smouldering fire in a deserted chamber caused an explosion which destroyed the shafting, and set fire to the mine. The fire raged with great fury. The force on the Wyoming division of the Union Pacific railroad was summoned to aid in extinguishing the flames, but did not succeed. The coal beds laid only fifty feet below the surface and the result was that the bottom of the town was burned out. The citizens deserted the place. The mine will have to be abandoned, and the Union Pacific railroad company will have to build a track three miles around the mines. The work of building the road is now progressing.

No Changes Probable.

President Grant has expressed himself as satisfied with his Cabinet, and not disposed to make any changes.

A FARMERS' MEETING.

In an other column will be found a communication signed "Grub Hoe," containing suggestions worthy of attention from those directly interested. The utility of farmers' meetings or clubs is fully proved and acknowledged in many counties in every State in the Union. If such meetings are of advantage in older localities, where farming has been reduced to a fixed science, it certainly can not fail to be a benefit in a country like this. Here, owing to the peculiar conditions of the soil and climate, a new experience is involved, entailing extra expense and labor, a great deal of which might be avoided by the facts brought forth by a free discussion and inter-change of ideas and experience. A farmers' club affords the best means for this purpose. There is scarcely a trade or calling that has not its unions or clubs for mutual improvement and protection. Farming, the foundation for all the rest—the noblest, as well as oldest and most important of them all, deserves as much at the hands of its votaries. The science of farming is but imperfectly understood at the best. Farmers' clubs have done much to explode old fogyisms connected with the business, and have inculcated new ideas with beneficial results. They have schools in which the best informed may learn something.

Concert in action, in matters pertaining to the disposition of crops when ready for market has been attended with good results in older communities. It could not do less for a new one. In addition to these, there are other matters of interest to the agricultural interests of this county that would suggest themselves to, and could only be advantageously acted upon, by an organized body of practical farmers. If we do not wish this important interest of Inyo county to be entirely ignored by the outside public, some move besides incidental mention, must be made. A club of this kind could do much in this way. The simple fact that such an organization existed, would help materially to direct attention to our real advantages. Capital is required to develop our mines; population to enhance farm values. If we wish for either or both of these essentials, it will not do to trust to the chapter of accidents for the accomplishment of our wishes. We need to be represented at the agricultural fairs of the Southern District, to come off the present year. This would be an important consideration for the farmers' club.

Such organizations go far to convince others, as well as ourselves, that we have other than temporary interests, to identify our own interests in the great future of this county, as based on the belief in our great mining and agricultural advantages.

NARROW GAUGE RAILROADS.

We last week alluded to the incorporation of a company, with the object of building a railroad from Wilmington to Wickenberg, Arizona, with a branch to this section. We stated the length of the main trunk to be 500 miles. We now learn that this distance includes the Inyo county branch.

Senator Cole has introduced a bill in the Senate to aid the construction of this proposed road, which gives it a very liberal endowment; sufficient to encourage the belief that the road will be built. We last week gave the names of the Directors; they are responsible men—we believe they mean business.

The main points of the bill are as follows: The right of way through the public lands of the United States, with 100 feet on each side of said road; the necessary lands for depots, stations, side-tracks, and other needful uses in operating the road, not exceeding forty acres at any one place, together with ten alternate sections of land per mile on each side of said line of road, and that said railroad may be constructed on a gauge of thirty inches. Said lands to be sold only to actual settlers, in quantities not exceeding 160 acres to any one settler, and at prices not exceeding $2 50 per acre.

REFERRED TO A COMMITTEE.

It is stated in the Washington correspondence of The Bulletin, that the bill to charter the Wilmington and Arizona railroad (Cole's Senate bill) was introduced in the House by our representative, Axtell, which body referred it to the Committee on Public Lands. It is feared this Committee will make no report this session, as the feeling against any more land subsidies to railroads is very strong and growing stronger. The presumption is, however, that an exception will be made in favor of the Southern Pacific.

We sincerely hope that our representatives may succeed in securing the bill first referred to from the hands of the Committee with a favorable report. Whatever, and however plausible the objections to railroad subsidies may be in general, there can be none special to this Arizona road. Nine-tenths of the land included in the proposed grant, is now, and ever will be, perfectly useless and valueless unless brought into use by means of a railroad. Though there is an occasional oasis, consisting of as fair lands as any in the world, by far the greater portion that would be included within this grant is a perfect desert. Within easy reach, and along every part of the line, mines of great value exist. The grant of land asked for in this bill is simply nothing to give, in view of the increased value of the remainder. With the maximum price of the railroad land fixed at $2 50 per acre, as required by the bill—with the farther restriction of selling no more than 160 acres to person, there is no chance for wrong to either Government or individuals. The only value the lands can have will be due to the railroad.

The Southern portion of this State demand aid of the kind asked for in the bill as a right. We say again to our Congressmen, leave no stone unturned to get the bill through.

Los Angeles and Soledad Turnpike.

[From The Los Angeles Star, December 31]

We had the pleasure, on Friday, in company with C. E. Bean, Esq., of The News, Capt. Moore, engineer of the road, and Mr. Ferguson, of the Common Council, of taking a ride over the road which is being constructed across the mountains lying between this city and Soledad. Any one looking at the abrupt ranges of the Sierra Madre at this point would at once say that the construction of a road here was impracticable, but Capt. Moore has exhibited the fact that it is not only possible, but practicable, with a moderate expenditure of money. And when we consider the effect of communication with Soledad, Havilah, and all the mining settlements of Kern and Inyo counties, on the trade of this city, by this road, cutting off thirty miles in the present distance of sixty-five miles, all will admit that such expenditure of money is not only judicious, but absolutely indispensable to the prosperity of the trade and commerce of Los Angeles. Those, therefore, who have embarked in the undertaking had better push it ahead vigorously, and all interested in the prosperity of the city had better lend a willing and liberal helping hand.

The work on the road commences at the foot of the mountains, two miles west of the Arroyo Seco, and about twelve miles from town. The cutting extends at present about five miles, which brings the grade to within a mile and a half of the summit of the first ridge. When finished to the top of this, the road will then wind along the Tajunga canyon, passing which, it will ascend the second range of mountains and cross the northern summit within fifteen miles of the place of beginning. The descent on the northern side of the mountain will be comparatively easy, as regards the work on the south side.

The grade obtained by the engineers is quite satisfactory, and when the road is completed, the heaviest teams will encounter no difficulty in traveling it. The general line of gradient is about one foot in twenty; in one or two places it is at present greater, but this, we believe, is to be reduced. The work is being executed in a substantial and permanent manner. The ravines are built up with solid mason work, the walls, in each instance, resting on the bed rock, and so constructed as to prevent washing by the current of the water. The roadway will be ample, and give a bed of ten or twelve feet, with turnouts at convenient distances. We can add nothing to the mere facts in the case, to show the importance of this work to this city, and to impress upon all the importance of constructing the good work.

The road from the city to connect with the grade may be made by the way of the San Pascual or Verdugo ranches. Both offer great facilities, and the advantage of the one over the other must be obtained by actual survey and measurement. When the road shall be completed, it will be of immense importance to this city, and be the main traveled road to the great mining districts north of us.

The Killing of General Prim.

A Herald cable correspondent at Madrid writes on the 27th of December in regard to the assassination of Prim: The Generals Adjutant gave me the first connected story. He witnessed the scene, having occupied a front seat in the carriage. His own version of the affair is as follows: Prim and two Aids as usual left the Cortes at the conclusion of the debate, in the evening at 7½, entered the carriage and drove rapidly by the shortest way from the Cortes to the War Office. The streets were deserted at the point where the Calle Del Tured debouches into Alacalla, the broadest street in the city, through the narrow passage. Two hired cabs drew up and obstructed the way. This was so common an event, however, that it would scarcely attract notice; but Lieutenant Mayo, my informant, dropped a glass in the door nearest him and looked out just in time to see two men, who were covered under their long cloaks, advancing from the shadow of the cabs. He had barely time to cry out, "Stoop, General, they are going to fire!" when the muzzles of blunderbusses were dashed into the carriage through the window on either hand, shivering the glass to atoms, and the contents were dischared point-plank at the occupants in the back seat, who must have been undistinguishable in the darkness. The next moment the assassins darted back under cover of the cabs, and so around into the Alicalla, where they mounted two horses that were tied to trees, and instantly were safe from pursuit, because of the snow and darkness. The coachman dashed his horses forward against a number of cabs, upsetting one, and drove in hot haste to the War Office, where the wounded men alighted. Prim simply remarked to the sentinel: "I am wounded, but not much."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Health has a beauty of its own. No eruptions, sores or discolorations disfigure or annoy the man or woman whose stomach, liver and bowels do their duty thoroughly. To compel them to their work, to render it impossible for them to do it in a slovenly, imperfect way, it is only necessary to take a few doses of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS. This potent vegitable specific renovates every weakened organ and disordered function.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

 All advertisements, to insure insertion in these columns, must be handed in on or before 6 o'clock P. M., Friday.

Sad News.

From a correspondent in Aurora, we hear the sad tidings of the death of the much beloved and respected wife of Dr. A. A. Green, and learn of the general gloom which prevails throughout the town in consequence. The lady was taken down with a severe attack of pneumonia, and the telegraph and relays of teams were immediately brought in requisition to obtain the best medical attendance from Virginia as speedily as possible. Dr. Hopkins arrived in a very few hours, but too late to save her. She died early the next morning. The Doctor, in his sad hour of affliction, has the deepest sympathy of all.

Important Discovery,

A large deposit of borax has been discovered at, or near Fish Slough, some five or six miles from the bridge across Owens River, in Bishop Creek precinct. The borax is found in beds; is slightly impregnated with saltpetre, and, after having been tested at several black-smith shops, is pronounced of the best quality. The claim is owned by Brockman, Ryan, Westerville, and others, and knocks the spots out of any similar borax operations at Clear Lake or in Esmaralda. Mr. Ryan will go to San Francisco with some 5,000 pounds of the article shortly.

The Fish Slough Murder.

It now appears that the human remains found at Fish Slough, on the Hot Spring road, where those of a Chinaman, who formerly worked at McBride's ranch, although it is reported that a white man is also missing. The boot described in our last as belonging to the foot and leg discovered, has been identified as that of the Chinaman, and it is further ascertained that he had the sum of $60 with him. It is certainly to be hoped that the perpetrators of this affair, be they dastardly Indians or murderous white men, will be apprehended and justice meted out.

The Semi-Weekly.

"Mail," or "steamer day" is becoming more common than it "used to was," since the inauguation of the Semi-Weekly system. Mr. Dexter is deserving of credit, since he put the extra stage on without, as we understand it, an authorized increase by the Government, but if this rich and growing county is not entitled to a daily mail, or if it does not obtain one shortly, then our judgment is in error.

Disagreeable.

It might occur to a man up a tree, that Inyo county ought to be able to provide a stove for the court room, whereby much of the disagreeableness of holding and attending court might be obviated. At the last term of the District Court, the learned Judge became ill from the lack of the ordinary comforts of a fire, and certainly can entertain but little respect for the advantages of Inyo's municipal hospitality.

A Chance for Trouble.

One of the Mexicans, recently held at this place for the Austin stage robbery, a day or two since reported on the streets of Lone Pine, that C. Mulkey, Esq., was among the number engaged in the lynching affair at the Point of Rocks. Feeling justly indignant, Mr. Mulkey requested a retraction, at the point of a pistol, which was readily given. The Mexican now says that Mr. Mulkey was not among the number.

Storm Extended.

Our recent cold snap extended to the northward of us, or else it comes from there here, for in Aurora, says a letter dated January 10th, "two inches of snow fell here (there) last night, and this morning the dry snow was flying wildly, but later in the day we have had a light wet snow falling, which continues this evening."

Apology.

We offer an apology to our patrons this week for the nondeliverance of numerous job orders, which should have been done before this time, but for the fact that the removal last week, and a change of publication day, virtually lost four days of the week for our job man, who promises to catch up with his department this week, and be ready for more business in his line.

Accident to a Horse.

A day or two since a work horse, belonging to Mr. Warden, of this place, while running in play, struck against the projecting end of a fence rail, which penetrated his breast to the depth of a foot or more, making a fearful wound. Two pieces of the rail, each about ten inches long, have been extracted. The animal may recover.

Miners Wanted.

We are authorized to state that twenty five or thirty good practical miners can obtain employment at good wages at Cerro Gordo, in the different mines now working. For men who are experienced and out of employment, this is a good opportunity.

Improvements.

Among the most solid and substantial improvements of the valley, may be noted the new dwelling houses of Mr. Stewart and Mr. H. C. Hart, at Lone Pine. Both these and many other new buildings in that place, reflect credit on the town and their builders.

Court Week.

Since Monday last, both the southern and northern end of our county has been well represented in town, by litigants, jurors and others, in attendance upon the County Court. We give, elsewhere, the calender as disposed of up to last night.

Cold Snap.

The past week has been the coldest of the season, even the water in Kearsarge Creek being frozen solid, so that water was decidedly "scace," but this is probably due from the harder freezing which occured in the mountains.

Weather Tables.

We shall commence, week after next, giving the meteorological observations as taken at the Post, by Hospital Steward Rogers—kindly furnished us by that gentleman—commencing with a table of the average temperature of the past five years.

Committee Meeting.

The members of the Committee of Arrangements of the recent ball of Independence Engine Co., No. 1, will meet to-morrow (Sunday) evening, at Wallace's saloon, to make their final report and settlement.

Ought to be Fixed.

Some one should make a move towards getting a bridge over the creek in the middle of town, and it will be ably seconded by the citizens. Time!

Friday, met at 10 o'clock and adjourned till 1 o'clock to-day.

In suit of D. Cohn & Co., vs. Sanford A. Dinsmore, David Thomas and J. A. Colter, intervened and claimed the property. On trial by a Sheriff's jury, the property was awarded the claimants.

The Evidence in the Reddy-Dunn Affair.

In another column will be found the principal part of the evidence aduced in the examination of E. A. Reddy, for the killing of Thomas Dunn, upon which Justice Moore discharged the defendant. The deceased was, we believe, formerly a member of Washoe Engine Co., No. 4, attached to the Virginia Fire Department.

County Treasurer's Report.

Elsewhere in this week's issue will be found the quarterly report of the County Treasurer. It was prepared to be submitted to the Board at their meeting in December, but that body not having a quorum present, adjourned, and met January 9th. We shall endeavor to look up County financial affairs a little next week.

L. & S. P R. R.

In our advertisements of this week, will be found the corrected card of the Los Angeles & San Pedro Railroad. The company have the handling of all goods received in this valley from San Francisco, and seems to be an exception to railroads in general, i. e., that they do a liberal, careful business.

Embarked in Business.

The irrepressible General C. C. Bell, of Lone Pine, has embarked in the sea of merchandising, having established himself behind an eating stand in Moore & Begole's saloon.

Assessment Levied.

An assessment of $5 per share has been levied on the stock of the San Filipe Mining Company, payable immediately, to the Secretary, at his office, 419 California street, San Francisco.

Sale of Mining Property.

February 6th, next, will be sold by the Sheriff, interests in the Union lead mine and the Monitor silver ledge, at Cerro Gordo, now under attachment.

New Supervisor.

At the last meeting of the Board of Supervisors, John Alexander was appointed member of the Board for the Third Township, vice John Sheppard, resigned.

Machinery Arrived.

Last week two large teams from Reno, loaded with machinery for the Kearsarge improvements, arrived at the mine.

FOR A FARMERS' MEETING.

TULE RANCH, January 13, 1871.

MESSRS EDITORS:—Permit me, through your columns, to make a suggestion to the farmers of this county—to wit: To hold a mass meeting or convention, sometime next month, to discuss grievances that seem to have borne hard on them in the past, are now in full force, and in which are involved much of their weal or woe in the future. To talk these matters over together fully and fairly, and try and devise and carry out some means for their relief, and place the farming interest in its proper position. An earnest and united effort to that end cannot fail of accomplishing something, and will well repay a day spent for that purpose. I hope that some of the "old hands" may see proper to set the ball in motion—issue a call and have a convention and see what can be done.

GRUB HOE.

The People of the State of California Against E. A. Reddy, Deft.

TESTIMONY OF C. SULLIVAN.

C. Sullivan, sworn—My name is Cornelius Sullivan; aged 28; reside in Cerro Gordo; I was in the saloon of John Hughes, at Cerro Gordo, at the time of the difficulty between the deceased, Thomas Dunn, and the defendant, Reddy. When this man named Sullivan and Cock were fighting, I went up to try to separate them, and some of Cock's party were rushing around trying to excite them; some of them sung out, "Let them fight away." Mr. Reddy, and I think it was the deceased, had some kind of a clinch, but I did not see any blows struck; I was standing up alongside of a little round table, and I saw Mr. Reddy walk towards the door; my back was turned to the deceased, and I heard a voice sing out behind me, "Scatter ye sons of b—es! scatter!" I looked around and seen the deceased with a pistol in his hand; I jumped around a small table to get out of his way; while I was in the act of getting out of the way I heard somebody say (I think it was Dr. Lasesne), "Look out! he is going to shoot." I heard the report of a pistol, and at the time I looked around, towards the deceased, I seen him lying down, and I thought that it was he that fired the pistol. When I saw him lying down I thought somebody had given him a blow; I heard somebody say, "Look out! he has got the pistol in his hand and is going to shoot again." Some person sung out, "Take the pistol away from him," and I was about the nearest one to him, and pushed up and took the pistol out of his hand; I returned the pistol inside of the bar to Pat Ryan, and I did not know at the time that this man was shot.

Q—Did you see Mr. Reddy with a pistol in is hand?

A—No, not that I remember of.

Q—Do you know who fired the shot?

A—No.

Q—Was the pistol that you took out of deceased's hand cocked?

A—I think it was; I would not be positive, for I was a little excited.

Q—Did any one else have hold of the pistol from the time you took it out of the hands of the deceased till you handed it to Mr. Ryan.

A—No, Sir.

Q—Did you deliver it in the condition in which you found it to Mr. Ryan?

A—Yes, Sir.

Q—Where was Reddy at the time the deceased sung out, "Scatter you sons of b—es," and came forward with his pistol?

A—By the water barrel; he appeared to be in the act of going after water.

Q—How far was deceased and defendant apart at that time?

A—I should judge, about eighteen or twenty feet.

Q—In what direction was deceased's pistol pointing, and in what direction was he advancing?

A—Towards the door and towards the defendant.

Q—Were there any other persons standing at the water barrel besides Reddy?

A—I seen every one getting out of the way as fast as they could; there was no one between them.

Q—Did you understand from his conduct that he intended to fire his pistol?

A—He appeared to, as near as I could judge.

Q—Judging from his conduct and from all the circumstances, who did he appear to intend to shoot?

A—Somebody near the water barrel.

Q—Did he, or, did he not appear to intend to shoot the defendent?

A—From the way he had his pistol pointed, I judged he did not intend to shoot anybody else.

Q—Did you not see the defendant and the deceased in a struggle, a few moments before the shot?

A—I do not know; I saw somebody in contact with defendant.

Q—Did you not see the defendant knock the deceased down, near the billiard-table, and then walk towards the water barrel, turning his back against the deceased?

A—I saw the man defendant was in contact with, knocked down by defendant, and defendant then walked away.

Q—Did you see the man get up who was knocked down?

A—No, Sir.

TESTIMONY OF PATRICK RYAN.

Patrick Ryan, sworn—My name is Patrick Ryan; aged 44; reside in Cerro Gordo. Between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock in the morning of Christmas day (December 25th, 1870), I had charge of Mr. Hughes' saloon at Cerro Gordo; Mr. Dunn and his comrades came in and got a drink; every thing seemed to go on very sociably; there was quite a number in the house at the time; Mr. Cock and Mart Sullivan got into a difficulty; some were trying to make peace, and some said let them fight. The deceased I saw come from the billiard-table with a white handled six-shooter in his hand; I hollowed to him for "God's sake not to shoot," and, in fact, I thought he had shot; shortly after the report I saw the deceased lay on his back alongside the billiard-table; I called to Con. Sullivan to take the six-shooter out of his hand, thinking he had been knocked down; Mr. Sullivan did so, and handed me the six-shooter; I put it under the counter; it remained there until the deputy Sheriff came for it, and till that time I thought deceased was the person that had shot, but I found that his pistol had not been discharged; as soon as the shot was fired peace was made. I don't know who fired the shot; I saw that Dunn was shot after we came to examine him; I saw Mr. Reddy previous to the shooting trying to make peace; at the time that I called to deceased not to shoot, Reddy was at the other end of the saloon, near the water barrel; at the time I saw deceased with the pistol in his hand, I called to him not to shoot because he appeared to be excited, and Mr. Cocks and Sullivan were quarreling, deceased was going towards the end of the house where the defendant was, when I called to him not to shoot; I could not say that he intended to shoot any particular person; I heard some person say, "Reddy, look out! he is going to shoot," and I saw that he came as if he intended to shoot; I couldn't say whether Reddy was engaged in a fist fight with the deceased before the shooting or not; the pistol was pointed towards the end of the room where Reddy was, and he was advancing in that direction; I didn't hear deceased say anything; it is about twenty or twenty-five feet from the place where Reddy was to the place where Dunn fell when he was shot; the pistol of Dunn's was cocked at the time it was handed to me; the pistol of Dunn's was loaded and capped all round.

TESTIMONY OF JOHN H. GILBERT.

John H. Gilbert, sworn—My name is John H. Gilbert; aged 33 years; reside in Cerro Gordo. On Christmas day, in the morning, I went into the saloon and took a drink; after a little while there was a muss between James Cocks and some other man, and then the Doctor drew a pistol; then there was great talking all through among the boys, and after a little I heard the report of a pistol; I didn't see any one fire; I was standing with my back to the sound of the pistol; the pistol went off behind me; at that time I was looking toward the billiard-table; I saw Thomas Dunn fall; In a minute or so I went to him, and he says, "Johnny, I'm shot;" he says, "go for Bill Bastion, he is the only man I want to see." This was in Inyo county, on Sunday, Christmas day, in the morning, December 25th, A. D. 1870. I don't know the name of the saloon, nor who is the proprietor of the house—Hughes, I think.

Q—Who is James Cock?

A—He is one of the boys that went there with us.

Q—Who is the Doctor you speak of?

A—Dr. Lesesne, I believe.

Q—After Dunn fell, and asked for Bill Bastion, what then?

A—I went and brought him down; he laid about a half hour, and then we packed him home, to the cabin, and put him in his bed; then we told one of the boys to go after the doctor, in the valley; after that I went to bed, and at 11 o'clock I was waked up and told that he was dead.

TESTIMONY OF MICHAEL BARNES.

Michael Barnes, sworn.

Q—Do you know who did the shooting in the difficulty at Cerro Gordo, when Dunn was shot?

A—No, Sir.

Q—Did you see Mr. Reddy fire a shot?

A—I did not.

Q—What was deceased doing at the time he was shot?

A—He was standing opposite to Reddy, with a pistol pointed towards him.

Q—With what intent?

A—To my notion it was with intent to shoot; he acted as a man would who was about to shoot another one.

Q—Did you see defendant engaged in a difficulty or scuffle with the deceased?

A—I saw defendant knock a man under the billiard-table; then Dr. Lesesne said to defendant, "That is sufficient," and defendant then walked away toward the water barrel, near the door. I heard this man, deceased, when he came forward with his pistol in his hand say, "Clear the road! fair play!" The crowd separated; then I heard a voice say, "Look out! Reddy."

DEPOSITION OF JOSEPH DUIGNAN.

On the 25th day of December, 1870, about 6 o'clock A. M., Mr. E. A. Reddy came to me, in the town of Cerro Gordo, in this county, and stated to me that he had shot a man and wished to give himself up to me; I asked him who it was he had shot? he told me it was a Cornishman. I took charge of him as Deputy Sheriff; I went to Hughes' saloon and saw a man with a gun shot wound in the right breast; I was told by several persons that E. A. Reddy had shot the man, that he had drawn a pistol on E. A. Reddy, and that E. A. Reddy had shot him. I inquired for the pistol that the man drew on Mr. Reddy, and the bar-keeper handed me a pistol from behind the bar, and told me that was the pistol the man had. The man's name that was shot is Thomas Dunn.

Ashes as a Cattle Feed.

The Maine Farmer says :—One of our substantial subscribers—in a recent conversation—gave his experience in training neat stock affected with a habit of eating wood, chewing bones, etc His cattle were one Spring affected in this way, they became thin in flesh, refusing to eat hay, and presenting a sickly appearance. He had an impression that their food lacked the constituents for making bone, but his neighbors, used bone meal, without noticing any good result whatever. Last Spring he put about four bushels of leached ashes in his barnyard, and threw out to them about a shovelful each day. They all eat as if in evident relish. After turning them out to pasture, he put one peck of dry ashes per week on the ground in the pasture. They ate it all up, and gnawed off the grass where it had been laying. The cattle began to improve, gaining flesh and looking better than they had for several years. He says this morbid appetite was unnoticed years ago, from the fact that the land was new and ashy from the burning of woods and land clearings. He has another proof of the value of ashes for stock from this incident : He had a large tub full of leached ashes which remained in it some time. It was afterward used as a watering tub ; and when the cattle drank from it, they would lick and gnaw the sides and bottom of the tub ; actually bitting out pieces and eating them. Latterly he gives one quart of ashes mixed with the same quantity of salt, to twelve head of cattle, about once a week, and finds it to agree with them wonderfully.

Human Wet Blankets.

For one, writes Fanny Fern, the longer I live, the more I value health and cheerfulness. For pity's sake, let mothers, before they speak the final affirmative to a daughter's lover, see that he has both of these priceless gifts. I remember a human wet blanket I used to stare at, with round eyes of wonder, when a child. A groan—sepulchral—marked his entrance, a groan his setting down. A groan preceded the inquiry : "Well, isn't it a dreadful dull time in the church?" "No," answered Brother Hopeful; "there were two accessions last Sunday." "Well,"—with another groan—"ten to one they will both backslide." Now what call had this man to be the father of twelve children ?—yet that was just his number. One would think with his hearse-like views of life, he wouldn't take that liberal view of the census. Oh, give me the man who comes into his house with a free, joyous swing of his arm, snatches up the baby and seats it on his head, and kisses his wife as he hunts up the rest of "the bairns." I can tell a woman in any crowd who has this sort of a husband—God bless him! wherever he is. No son or daughter of his will ever be likely to roam in search of a pleasanter place than "our house."

"My dear madame, can you give me a glass of grog?" asked a fatigued traveler in Arkansas, as he entered a cabin on the roadside.

"I ain't got a drop," replied the woman.

"But a gentleman told me you had a barrel."

"Why, good gracious," replied the woman, "what do you reckon one barrel of whiskey is to me and my children when we are out of milk."

The Great Medical Discovery!
Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS,
Hundreds of Thousands
Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.
WHAT ARE THEY?
FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. Sent free on application.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the peculiar virtue of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Viscera Organs.
THEY ARE NOT A VILE
FANCY DRINK,
Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.
For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.
DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.
Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.
They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.
FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores ; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.
PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.
J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.

MEDICAL.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, August 15, 1868.
Allow me to call your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.
MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries ; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.
Buchu as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance ; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates ; the smallest quantity of other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation ; upon inspection it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.
Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,
With a feeling of profound confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

(From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.)
NOVEMBER 4, 1854.
"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold ; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."
WILLIAM WIGHTMAN,
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S
FLUID EXTRACT
BUCHU
For weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Natures which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forbodings of Evil ; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

THE CONSTITUTION
Once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity ensues.

Helmbold's Fluid Extract of Buchu
In affections peculiar to Females, is unequaled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incidental to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu
—AND—
IMPROVED ROSE WASH
Will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure ; completely superceding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copavia and Mercury, in all these diseases.

USE
Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu
In all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.
Those suffering from broken down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.
The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to effect the bodily health and mental powers.
All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere Price $1 25 per Bottle, or 6 Bottles for $6 50. Delivered to any address. Describe Symptoms in all communications.

ADDRESS,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Drug & Chemical Warehouse,
594 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
NONE ARE GENUINE unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed

SATURDAY NIGHT.

'Tis Saturday night, and labor is done,
The sun is sinking, and almost gone,
The bells are ringing that toll the day,
The last of seven, is passing away—
Forever away.

The weary laborer hastens now,
With flushing cheek and toil-stained brow;
He is thinking how hard the poor man's lot,
How plain his garb, how low his cot,
And scant his fare.

But his eye grows bright as he moves apace,
And a smile lights up his care-worn face;
For he sees by the door in the twilight dim,
That wife and baby are waiting for him,
With welcome home.

His wife's fond words and his baby's play
Soon drive the gloomy cloud away;
At home and at rest, his heart grows light,
And he blesses God for Saturday night
To call his own.

Our work on earth will soon be done,
And Saturday night for us will come;
Sooner or later, we may not know,
But its twilight falls on all below,
And we are gone.

Down the vale of the shadow of death,
Down to the river that flows beneath;
Myriads passed that way before,
And yet to pass are Myriads more,
But each alone.

We all shall hail our Saturday night,
For its darkness endeth in rest and light;
But the secret dread each heart has known,
Is the terrible thought that we go alone
Through vale and wave.

Yet we need not fear to enter there,
For beyond and above the scene is fair;
And we soon shall rise to that world of light,
Where no week of toil makes Saturday night
A precious boon.

THE DISEASES OF ROMANCE.

[From Appleton's Journal.]

Writers of fiction owe much of the interest of their productions to the great variety of ills and bodily infirmities incident to human existence. Were it not for sundry severe and often fatal diseases, how could the denouement of a novel be made so satisfactory to the gentle reader? Unpopular, not to say wicked characters, when their brief sands of periodical life are almost run out, are easily disposed of by sudden death, cut down by disease, or disabled by bodily injury. The harsh and unfeeling father, who bids fair to give no end of trouble to the faithful pair "on elopement bent," dies just in time to allow the them to marry at leisure and inherit the property. The dissipated elder brother, whose presence becomes disagreeable, has a timely attack of delirium tremens, which carries him off amid the pious reflections and improving moralizings of the sensitive author. The managing mamma, while straining every point to compel her unwilling daughter to wed the wicked but rich lover in preference to his poor but virtuous rival, has an attack of apoplexy very acceptably to the reader, and thereby allows the course of true love to run smooth. The false and fickle fair one, who makes shipwreck of the hero's affections and ruins his earthly prospects, goes out very imprudently in thin shoes, and galloping consumption gallops away with her. The faint-hearted lover, who does not dare to breathe his love for fear of being rejected, has an attack of brain fever, and in his delirium babbles it all to the object of his affections, who very opportunely sits by his side and receives the involuntary confession with delight. The victim of unrequited affection, who has begun to cough in a distressing way, and to wear a hectic flush, welcomes back her wayward lover, and recovers her health just as she seemed in a fair way to die of tubercle. The gentle reader would have no special reason to complain of the sad havoc of disease and death, provided it was confined to the wicked or undesirable characters; but those of us who have read, with dewy eyes and uncertain voices, of Little Nell, Paul Dombey, or Colonel Newcome, know that the purest, bravest, and fairest, are ruthlessly sacrificed in obedience to the inexorable demands of fiction. When an author has nearly finished his story, and finds a whole book-load of hale, hearty characters left upon his hands, these little thunderstrokes of disease or disaster simplify matters wonderfully, and relieve both author and reader of untold anxiety. Still, most of these sudden deaths are unnatural, and rarely occur in real every day life. Take one example. Many interesting heroes and amiable heroines often charm us with their excellences during their brief life of fiction, only to burst blood-vessels in fits of temporary excitement, and die with deplorable facility. But, in actual life, sudden and immediate death from hæmorrhage from the lungs is exceedingly rare. We must not wonder that these various methods of sudden death are so popular with authors, for they are easily managed and extremely convenient. It is quite difficult to make any great blunder in arranging simple murder, poisoning, apoplexy, or hæmorrhage, because the work is straightforward and generally done in a business like way. When, however, the novelist attempts any thing more complicated in this line, he is liable to grossly mismanage some of the minutiæ and sacrifice scientific accuracy to stage effect. There are comparatively few who, in the language of the laity, "are able to take a character through" a long fit of sickness, without making a mistake in the symptoms or treatment of the disease.

Miss Mulock would fain have us believe that John Halifax, ill for many days with a low form of fever, who has lost courage and strength so far as to be unable to turn himself in bed, in a half day's time, through the magic of a short note, signed Ursula March, is able to dress himself, walk about, eat a hearty meal, and make a proposal of matrimony. In a magazine tale, written by a popular writer not long since, the hero suffers from complete paralysis in his locomotive apparatus—resulting, of course, from a railroad accident—for two full years, during which time he falls in love with a tender-hearted maiden, through whose sympathetic aid and kindly assistance his nether limbs resume their allegiance. The story was interesting, and the denouement gratifying, since the hero, when the "sedition of his members" was past, married the girl of his choice, who, by the merest accident, happened to be both beautiful and wealthy. But, in point of sober fact, it ought to be stated that, when paraplegia, resulting in an injury to the spinal cord, lasts longer than six months without improvement, the case may be considered hopeless.

In one of the most popular of Cooper's novels, a thorough-bred villain, whose name I have forgotton, sits down upon a door-step of a Winter's night to concoct some fresh piece of rascality; and, on attempting to rise, finds himself stricken with sympathetic paralysis as it is called, owing to the exposure to cold. Much to the gratification of author and reader, he is unable to leave the spot, and, after a proper space for repentance, grows rapidly worse and soon dies. This may be admirable fiction, but very poor pathology; for sympathetic paralysis never proves fatal, when not complicated with any other disease, but goes on steadily to recovery.

The case of Valentine, in Dumas' Count de Monte Christo, is much better managed, and does not violate any established law of medical science.

Many of Charles Dickens' delineations are true to Nature. Nothing could be more truthful than the account of the gradual fading of Paul Dombey or the child-wife Dora. But his portrayal of insanity is faulty. His lunatics have altogether too much method in their madness, and do not fail to show forth all their manifold eccentricities therein. The perennial Mr. Dick for instance, never does anything which savors of mental unsoundness, except fly kites and pen memorials regarding Charles I., and is capable of attending to business, give wise counsel (all the while charging himself with insanity in a manner contrary to all other crazy people), never gets excited, but leads a most exemplary life, with the two exceptions above mentioned. "Mr Fs's Aunt" is a trifle better, although she goes to the other extreme, and never says or does a sensible thing—which is also contrary to the general custom of lunatics.

On the other hand, Reade, thanks to his medical education delineates insanity with life-like accuracy. A good example of his skill occurs in "Hard Cash," when Captain Dodd loses his senses from long continued excitement, exposure, and hardship, but recovers again after two years of wandering—the immediate medical agent being a blow upon the head, received in falling from the arm-yard of a vessel. Another equally faithful picture of monomania occurs in the same book, when the avaricious Richard Hardy has the insane fancy that he is hopelessly ruined, and endeavors to gain his living by begging, although possessed of great wealth. Such faithful pen pictures prove him to have been a careful student of insane mental manifestations.

Walter Scott's lunatics are uniformly violent and often dangerous people, and display only this special form of insanity. Their insanity compensates in intensity of action for what it lacks in variety of manifestations.

Thackeray has no lunatics, simply because the interest of his writings depends not so much upon incident and action, as upon careful delineation of motive and keen dissection of the springs of human action. His characters have frailties enough, and do foolish things enough from unworthy motives, to render any special insanity quite superfluous.

It is interesting to note the partiality of various novelists to certain forms of death. Dickens' good characters die of decline, while his villainous ones meet some sudden and awful death. Thackeray's characters are long-lived, and generally die of old age or paralysis—very rarely by any violent death.

Miss Yonge has a penchant for the diseases of infancy and childhood—measels scarlet fever, and diphtheria, through which dispensations of Providence her amiable and admirable characters are often "done to their death." The author of "Guy Livingstone" thirsts for blood as much as a cannibal hungers for a missionary, and in his latest production kills three principal characters in as many chapters, and disfigures for life the beautiful face of a fourth. Wilkie Collins is equally sanguinary in his tastes, and murders, poisons, drowns, and hangs his characters without remorse. Dumas disposes of his creations by wholesale massacre, although, to his credit be it said, he sometimes restores them to life again. Miss Mulock's characters generally go off quietly and decorously, dying in their beds, with their sorrowing friends about them. John Halifax, it is true, died suddenly; but, as the coroners' verdicts say, from "natural causes." The author of "St. Elmo," horresco referens, dispenses to her characters, broken blood vessels, paralysis, inflammation of the brain, malignant typhus, hip-joint disease, heart desease, and suicide, in the main with an impartial hand, although sometimes a very sturdy robust character survives successive attacks of the respective maladies, and requires a combination of them to take him out of the world.

It is worthy of note, however, that the popular taste, which formerly delighted in horrors, is changing, and novels which give pictures of society, or delineations of character, are more sought after. Let us hope that, when the "coming man" writes his corresponding work of fiction, he will use these blood-and-thunder adjuncts with a sparing hand, furnishing only so much as may be needed for the proper action of the story. For his great aim should be to amuse and profit by presenting us real scenes, incidents, and characters drawn from Nature, yet excelling her, remembering constantly that fiction is not tragedy.

The Orgin of Mosquitoes.

The Red River Indians have a curious legend respecting the origin of mosquitoes, they say that once upon a time there was a famine, and the Indians could get no game. Hundreds had died from hunger, and desolation filled the whole country. All kinds of offerings were made to the Great Spirit without avail, till one day two hunters came upon a white wolverene, an old woman sprang out of the skin, and, saying that she was Manitou, promised to go and live with the Indians, promising them plenty of game as long as they treated her well, and gave her the first choice of all the game that should be brought in. The two Indians assented to this, and took the old woman with them, which event was immediatley succeeded by an abundance of game. When the sharpness of the famine had passed in the prosperity which the old woman had brought to the tribe, the Indians became dainty in their appetites, and complained of the manner in which the old woman took to herself all the choice bits; and, this feeling became so intense that, notwithstanding her warning that if they violated their promise a terrible calamity would come upon the Indians, they one day killed her as she was seizing her share of a fat reindeer which the hunters had brought in. Great consternation immediately struck the witnesses of the deed, and the Indians, to escape the predicted calamity, boldly struck their tents and moved away to a great distance. Time passed on without any catastrophe occurring, and, game becoming more plentiful, the Indians again began to laugh at their being deceived by the old woman. Finally a hunting party on a long chase of a reindeer, which had led them back to the spot where the old woman was killed, came upon her skeleton, and one of them in derision kicked the skull with his foot. In an instant a small, spiral, vapor-like body arose from the eyes and ears of the skull, which proved to be insects, that attacked the hunters with great fury, and drove them to the river for protection. The skull continued to pour out its little stream, and the air became full of avengers of the old woman's death. The hunters, upon returning to camp, found all the Indians suffering terribly from the plague, and every since that time the Indians have been punished by the mosquitoes for their wickedness to their preserver, the Manitau.

Topham, The Strong Man.

Thomas Topham, the "strong man," was born in London, 1710, and was bred a carpenter, and afterwards "travelled on his muscle." He was a quiet, peaceful man, of middle size and weight, made like other men, except the usual cavities under the hands and arms were, in his case, filled with muscles. The wonderful stories of his feats are well authenticated.

He could hold under perfect restraint, and with ease to himself, the strongest horse. He lifted a table six feet long, with fifty pounds on the end of it, with his teeth, and held it in a horizontal position a considerable time. He rolled up a pewter dish weighing seven pounds, with as much apparent ease as the reader would roll up a piece of paper. He held a pewter quart pot at arm's length and squeezed the sides together like an eggshell.

He lifted two hundred pounds with his little finger and waved it gently around his head. He lifted Mr. Chambers, a clergyman, who must have lived on the fat of the land, for he weighed 378 pounds, with one hand, Mr. Chambers' head being placed on one chair and his feet on another. At a blow he struck a round bar of iron, one inch in diameter, against his naked arm, and bent it like a bow.

One night, observing a watchman asleep in his watch box, he picked up box and watchman, carrying the load with the greatest ease, and dropped them over the wall into Tindale burying ground.

A butcher once passed a window at which Topham was sitting. He stooped down and took half an ox from the fellow's shoulders with so much ease and dexterity that the man swore that the devil had flown away with the beef.

At a race a man insisted upon driving upon the track; so Topham took hold of the tail of the cart and drew it gently back, the driver whipping the horse like a madman all the time.

When he kept a public house two men were determined to fight him; so, to satisfy them, he seized them by the napes of their necks and knocked all the fight out of them.

Accomodating. (?)

The ways of some of the public functionaries of Uncle Sam are past finding out. With lively memories of former good times while "running with the machine" of one of the fire companies of Virginia City, we have been sending the boys a copy of The Independent ever since its establishment, over seven months ago. Notwithstanding the fact that the postmaster at Virginia is a life member of the same organization, and, at a rough guess, forty of its members have boxes at the postoffice, not a copy of the paper has reached them, as we have recently ascertained. Now, we would suggest to that gentleman, that if he or his clerks are interested in this paper that they subscribe for it, and let the balance go to their destination. And, also, that if any papers are not called for, the law requires that the publishers shall be notified.

Godey's Lady's Book

For February is a very good number indeed. The embellishments are numerous. The experience of nearly half a century, with a special object in view, ought, as near as possible, to compass perfection. For this length of time L. A. Godey has devoted time and talent in the endeavor to produce a first-class magazine for the instruction and amusement of the fairer portion of creation. There is not, probably, a town or hamlet in the United States in which some one or more has not been benefited thereby. It is worthy of patronage.

Received.

We have received from George W. Childs, Philadelphia, The Public Ledger Almanac, for 1871; very valuable as a book of reference, and presented to The Public Ledger subscribers. Of Geo. P. Powell & Co. The Advertisers' Gazette, a weekly journal of newspaper intelligence, and of much interest to the craft. The Aron Piano Forte Company send a beautifully printed and illustrated pamphlet, setting forth the superiority of their pianos.

Surveyor General's Report for 1869-70.

Our thanks are due Surveyor-General Bost, for a copy of Statistical Reports. Inyo County, according to these reports, makes a very sorry showing.—all because this report is based on the returns of 1869, but apparently standing for the last year,—1870. By reference to another article in this issue, the extent of the injustice done this county will be manifest.

Lost It.

The State Prison property of Nevada, the title of which has been in litigation for two years, has, by a recent decision of the courts, lost it, through the negligence of some of the State officers. Its original cost was $10,000, with many thousands more for improvements. With a State treasurery robbed of $106,000, its all, and heavy obligations due, Nevada would appear to be having a rough deal of it.

The Chinese New Year

Falls on the 6th of February. This one will be of more than usual importance, as, according to Chinese reckoning, will begin another term of a thousand years. Two weeks' festivities are to be devoted, in California, to the celebration of the end of a cycle and the beginning of another. Little is known of the manner in which this division of time is connected with their cosmology and religion.

Rain.

Last week the rain fall along the coast was quite general.

Expensive Document.

Mr. Welch, of Cambridge, Mass., recently deceased, the proprietor of the "University Press," was the sincere friend of Harvard College, and had provided in his will for a donation of $20,000 to the University. A small catalogue was to be prepared, and the wise men of Harvard found a printer who was willing to undertake the pamphlet cheaper by a few dollars than their neighbors, the "University Printers," who had a prescriptive right to do the University work. Mr. Welch resolved that the pamphlet, which, if the University had been to poor too pay for, he would gladly have done for nothing, should be the costliest job work ever undertaken. So on his death bed he altered his will, and the $20,000 will never go into the coffers of the University, and the catalogue when it comes out, will henceforth be known as the most expensive document of its size ever printed in America.

COUNTY FINANCES.

Inyo county is rather unfortunate: first, she stands credited in published statistical reports of the State with less than half of her real population and propety values because based on estimates made nearly two years ago. From this cause she must stand for a year to come at the bottom of the list of California counties; her actual progress out of sight, or at least two years in arrears. In another particular of quite as much immediate importance she is equally unfortunate: that is, in the market value or ruling rates of her bonds or warrants. The prices of all articles of commerce are governed by the laws of supply and demand; in one sense a county warrant or other evidence of indebtedness may be considered a marketable commodity, having ony a prospective value, governed by the time and certainty of its redemption. Gold and silver have a fixed value, yet at the same time circumstances might render it impossible for the holder of a twenty dollar piece to obtain more than half its value in silver—because if forced to sale a sufficient amount of silver could not be obtained, or the holders of the silver or bidders having no competition, would not go beyond certain limits, which might be much below the real value.

From some such cause as this it is we suppose, that Inyo's county warrants will bring but 50 cents on the dollar These warrants bear 10 per cent. interest; the ability of the county to redeem them is beyond question; it is only a matter of time. Let that be sooner or later the 10 per cent. interest would still make their purchase a good investment, even at the rates of interest on the Pacific Coast. Except that the interest is not paid annually or semi-annually as in United States securities, we cannot see why money invested in county warrants, even at par, is not equally as good as in the former.

The total indebtedness of this county at the present time, is in round numbers $28,000, with cash on hand sufficient to reduce this to $26,000. Since August last the entire debt has been reduced about 22 per cent. Between the dates of the tax lists of 1869 and 1870 the taxable property has more than doubled. At these rates the debt will be paid in full in two years. The county is now paying, or agreeing to pay, two dollars for one, or if paid in two years, twenty cents for the use of fifty cents, besides the double, assuming money to be worth two per cent per month (it is only one and one half), county warrants ought to day be worth eighty cents, and would be except for the reason mentioned at the outset—want of competition among bidders or scarcity of coin, or what is the same thing, over anxiety on the part of holders to sell.

STATISTICAL.

In The Sacramento Union of January 2d, 1871, we find tables of wealth and population summed up for the year 1870. In these tables the statistics of Inyo county for 1869 appear as for 1870. We are credited with a population of but 1,200, when the actual number is 1,952. The total population of the State, according to these tables is placed at 594,003. To this should be added the difference as shown for this county of 752, making the total, if otherwise correctly stated, to be 594,755.

The number of voters of this county is placed at 300 in these tables, as well as in the Surveyor-General's report. Of citizens entitled to this privilege, some of whom, however, are not on the Great Register—we had, last June, 778 in place of the 300. The increase of property values amounts to $280,017 more than we are credited with in the tables. In every material interest our increase is in the same flattering ratio, approximating in the aggregate to at least 50 per cent. Instead of but 1,500 acres in actual cultivation we have 5,524 acres. Total property valuation (real value) equals $1,103,780, instead of $350,692, as in the report. Of horses we have 1,514, instead of 798. Of neat cattle we have 5,567, in place of 1,080, as in the report, and so on in the same proportion for every article returned.

The census returns, as published in The Scientific Press, of January 7th, 1871, for 1870, are correct so far as this county is concerned. The Press report of the population of the State foots up to 557,275. This is considerably less than The Union table, which is taken from the Surveyor-General's report for 1869-70.

The actual increase of population in the State since 1860, according to The Press, is only 177,397, more than one half of which falls to San Francisco alone, he remainder being divided among the thirty-seven "cow counties," that show an increase. In seventeen mining counties there is a loss of 45,430.

LETTER FROM AURORA.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

AURORA, Nevada, January 14, '71.

EDITORS INDEPENDENT:—The present Winter is, so far as it has come and gone, one of the most remarkable ever experienced in this section since the advent of the whites. We have had no snow as yet worth mentioning, and scarcely enough cold weather to remind us that this country has a climate at all. The results of so much fine, dry weather will, I fear, be disastrous to farmers and stock men, who depend upon the heavy snows of Winter for moistening the ground and thereby producing an abundant crop of grass, as well as for filling the creeks and streams with water for irrigating purposes. True, we are very likely to have some heavy snow-storms before Spring, but late snows seldom do much good in this country. They are generally light, and melt away so suddenly as not moisten the ground to any considerable depth On every hand we already hear farmers expressing their belief that next Summer will be a very dry one—as bad, if not worse than the one last past.

The mines of this county are giving fairer promise of wealth and permanence now than for many years. The mines of Aurora, or Esmeralda District proper, are now, as they have been for several years, measurably neglected and are, of course, producing but a small amount of bullion, but the mines of Aurora are "but a drop in the bucket" compared with the mineral wealth of the whole county. The mines of Columbus District seem to be more promising at present than those of any other camp in the county, if not in the State. The old mines of the district are turning out large quantities of chloride ores of almost fabulous richness, while some new discoveries, recently made, give abundant evidence of being as rich or richer than the old locations. As yet the facilities for reducing the ores are totally inadequate to the wants of the district, but this difficulty will soon be overcome by the erection of new mills. Messrs. Sweetapple & Hazeltine, formerly of Lyon county, are having a new mill built at McCone's foundry, in Silver City, which will be finished and put up at Columbus, with all possible haste. I have been informed, also, that Mr. Hauke, of Columbus, will erect a fine mill there next summer, for crushing the ores from his own mines Those immense deposits of borate of lime, about which so much has been said lately in scientific circles, and by the press generally, lie within two or three miles of Columbus. Borate of lime in such large deposits and in the crystalized form, found near Columbus is "something new under the sun," and the discovery will be of incalculable value to science and art. A huge corporation has been formed in San Francisco for the purpose of working these deposits, and if the enterprise is properly managed it will undoubtly become a source of great profit to the company, as well as revenue to the county. Columbus is, also, blessed with inexhaustible deposits of pure salt, some of the beds or marshes lying almost within the limits of the town Salt is extensively used in the reduction of silver ores, and the discovery of so much of the article so near the town was a streak of good fortune for the people of Columbus. Now, if they could only find a good coal mine or two in the vicinity, their cup of happiness would, or ought to be full; but I suppose they are human like other people, and if they had all I have mentioned and a thousand other conveniences besides, some of them would still grumble because Providence had neglected to furnish them with a few barrels of twenty dollar gold pieces ready coined.

Work has been suspended at the Silver Peak mine and mill for some time, but I am informed, on what I regard as good authority, that operations will be resumed, in full blast, about the 1st of May.

At Pine Grove, which is one of the most even paying, steady-going camps in the State, the people are enjoying their usual prosperity. The yield of the mines in that camp is about $10,000 per week, chiefly gold bullion.

Rockland, four miles south of Pine Grove, is beginning to be a camp of great importance. One of the best mines in the State—"the Dolores"—is situated there, and rumor hath it that Mr. Sylvester Keau, who is the principal owner, has sold one thousand feet of his claim to Pope & Talbot, of San Francisco, for a large sum of money. There is one mill now running steadily at Rockland, and another will be built in the Spring.

Agricultural and other improvements are keeping pace with the development of the mines, and in all respects I think the prospects of our county are brighter now than they have been for many years.

As to local items, scarcely anything worthy of publication has occured here since the Vigilantes cleaned out the roughs in '64. The holidays, immaculate in their clear, bracing, health giving atmosphere and laughing sunshine, have come and gone with their good deeds and good cheer, and linger only as pleasures in memory; but aside from the ordinery routine of the ever welcome Christmas tree festival for the little children and the dinners and suppers, and balls, and New Year's calls for the "children of larger growth"—they passed without mentionable incident or accident in Aurora. No "man for breakfast;" no broken heads; no bloody noses; no elopements; no divorces; no larcenies, arsons, rapes or robberies—no anything to entitle us to the distinction of true Pacific Coast civilization. Life in Aurora is getting to be like a perpetual New England Sunday afternoon. To one who has witnessed the "glorious times" in the hey day of the silver excitement, it is almost intolerable. Won't some good Samaritan come up some morning and kill a small man or two for our special benefit! If any one, in the fullness of his compassion, desires to afford the people a greater gratification by killing large men, he will please bring his victims along with him, for the writer hereof stands six feet seven in his boots, and weighs in the neighborhood of 400 pounds.

Very glad, indeed, to learn from your excellent paper that the citizens of Independence have organized a fire company, and taken time by the forelock in guarding against the ravages of what has been peculiarly the "destroying angel" of Pacific Coast towns. Hail to "Independence Engine Co., No. 1.

LETTER FROM LONE PINE.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

LONE PINE, January 12, 1871.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Times are dull in these parts, and it is difficult to pass off the time without getting into mischief, and there are some hereabout who do not keep clear of rough doing. In walking around the saloons you can occasionally see some of that class of beings commonly called "sports," who have never earned a dollar by honest labor since they have been in the county, and live by waiting for some silly miner to arrive from Cerro Gordo to "go through him." Many of these fall easy victims to their winning ways. Only a few evenings since one of these poor fellows arrived from Cerro Gordo to recruit his health, who had $100 to pay his way for a few weeks—two of these low, lazy fellows got hold of him and beat him out of the last dollar he had. The man is not now able to work although he is a good mechanic and willing to work when he can. Another specimen of a confidence man, who came here from Los Angeles about three months since, by the name of Joe Wilson, a young fellow about twenty-three years old. He finally got an out-fit of four horses, harness and a thorough-brace wagon, $60 in gold coin and a gold watch, with which to go to Los Angeles and bring a load of fruit for himself and J. H. Strachan. The aforesaid Wilson, not having the fear of God before his eyes, took the team, wagon and harness to Los Angeles and, on the 27th ultimo had them sold for the sum of $215, when $600 would have been a very moderate price. But is it not strange that a fair looking American will take the chances of going to the State prison for ten or fifteen years for the pitiful sum of $215? We have still smaller thieves, too, for on Monday night, at an hour when all honest men were in bed, an able bodied old scamp, who talks French, Spanish and Italian, was caught in Mrs. Parry's hen house—he had four of the fowls tied and was still tying when he was caught by Father Sander. The same individual has stolen more blankets from Brice McKinney and Dr. Columbo than he can pack in three square loads across the street.

Messrs. Editors, if you, or any one else, have any freighting from Los Angeles, you would do well to see R. Nadeau, Esq., as I understand that he has agreed to deliver 130 tons of bullion per month to Los Angeles, for M. W. Belshaw, Esq., of Cerro Gordo. This is about twice as much as Mr Belshaw has ever been able to ship. For Mr Nadeau to ship this amount it will require at least thirty teams per month. There is no hopes of his being able to keep up with the furnace, as there is on hand at the present time about 450 tons If Mr. Nadeau could take 230 tons instead of 130 he would still be far behind the demand of the furnaces.

Messrs. Editors, you and the out-side world think that Lone Pine is but a small, one-horse town, judging, I mean, from the number of business advertisements that appear in your paper. It is true that Aurora beats this place all hollow, and so does Bishop Creek. Either of them advertise more than do the merchants of Lone Pine. We have enough places of business, and they sell their goods, wares, etc., high enough; they sell more for cash than any other town in the county, and why they are so penurious I cannot see They do not have to pay the bills of the printer, for they get it all from the consumer—it is he that pays for all their little extras. I am going to show you and the out-side world that we are not such small potatoes, if our merchants do not advertise, for we have five very respectable stores. I will name them, that you may see whose they are: A. M. Loomis & Bro.; Danieri & Steuart; Chas. Meysan; George Fobstein; Francisco Brizzolara and Peyser & Hoff. Our whisky mills are to numerous too mention, but they number nine. Of the very good livery stable of I. W. Hunt you have heard; he has a card in your paper The other is kept by Cyrus Mulkey, a very good man; of hotels we have two, and one restaurant, two breweries, one black-smith shop, one photograph gallery, and two butcher shops.

OBITUARY.

"Thou hast all seasons for thine own, O! Death!"

Sad news, indeed, was to me, to hear that my long-loved friend, Mrs. LAVINIA GREEN was dead. How little did I think when last I clasped her hand and said, "good bye," it was to be forever. No, not forever! only to the shrine through which we loved the soul that was immortal.

How death rolls up the curtain from the past, and points to every word and act, and gives to each a meaning we did not see before. I now recall a conversation we had together the last day I was with her. We were speaking of her departed sister, Mrs Smith, when I observed her shudder and turn a little pale; and, she said, "I believe she is here now!" I said, "I have no doubt of it," and I spoke of the views I had of death and the life beyond; when she replied, with much earnestness. "If this be true then I would not fear to die." But how little did I dream then, while looking upon her in the full tide of life and health, of being called so soon to mourn the loss of one for whom I have for years entertained feelings of the warmest friendship. Beloved by all who knew her, and idolized by her husband, being the light of his home and heart, as they had no children—but little Edith, the adopted daughter of her deceased sister, who is doubly an orphan now—and I feel to mingle my tears with his and her bereaved sister and friends, and to ask that Divine consolation may be given them to enable them to bear this sad affliction.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

It is a great mistake to suppose that the cause of rheumatism, neuralgia or gout exists where the pain is experienced. The source of these diseases is generally UREA in the blood, and it is one of the special properties of Dr. WALKER'S VEGETABLE VINEGAR BITTERS to neutralize this deposit, while it renovates the relaxed kidneys and thus prevents them from permitting a portion of their secretion to escape through improper channels. Torpidity of the stomach has also much to do with the vitiation of the blood, and upon this organ the Bitters act directly as a stimulant and invigorant.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Entitled to Vote.

From Assistant U. S. Census Marshal Connelly's report, now on file in the Clerk's office, we find the following as the true number of voters or persons entitled to that privilege, who were in this county June, 1870:

Cerro Gordo, Swansea, Coso and Big Lake	192
Lone Pine, including George's Creek	167
Independence and vicinity, excluding soldiers	159
Bishop Creek, including all from Camp Independence North	260
Total for the county	778

Mail Petition.

A petition has been extensively circulated through town, receiving many signatures, praying for an increase to three times a week of the Southern Stage Line. This is a good idea, for the stages now run full from Lone Pine south; and we believe the increase of business and importance of this valley, particularly the southern end of it, demand the increased mail and traveling facilities. It petitions have a weight among "the powers that be," sign it by all means.

Commissions.

We direct the attention of business men and our readers generally, to the advertisement of Ernest A. Erlandson, general commission merchant of San Francisco. Mr. Erlandson has been established in business since 1849, and receives cash orders for goods and consignments of every description, and transacts business in all commercial languages.

Items.

Many items of interest, concerning matters in and around Esmeralda, will be found in the letter of our correspondent, "G," from Aurora. "Swythin," of Lone Pine, brings to light, also, some transactions occuring in that place, and gives an idea of the quantity of bullion on hand in Cerro Gordo.

Mount Hope Mine.

This mine is located about one mile east of the Crysopolis mill. Capt. Chase is at work driving a tunnel, which is now in fifty feet, and in thirty or forty feet further expects to strike the ledge at a depth of one hundred and fifty feet. The Captain thinks he will find a twenty foot ledge and rich. It is to be hoped he may.

Collister's Line.

John Collister is about establishing his line from this place to Cerro Gordo as a tri-weekly, going all the way through in one day. The principal business done is between Lone Pine and Cerro Gordo. "Mc" is bound to be ahead—we'll bet a new hat that he is the first of our stage lines to run a daily.

Thanks.

We have received an interesting sketch from the pen of Mr. J. C. Watt, of Swansea, which will appear in our issue of next week. Also, a letter from the genial "Picton," a member of the detachment of Co. B, 12th Infantry, now posted at Fish Lake Valley, received to late for this week's paper.

C. O. D.

Parties desiring any description of goods or articles from San Francisco, will do well to refer to the advertisement of Wm. B. Lake, elsewhere. Mr. Lake is agent of The Independent in San Francisco, and will be remembered by his many old Aurora friends.

Ball at Benton.

We learn that R. J. Morrison, of Hot Springs, intends giving a ball at his place on the anniversary of Washington's Birthday. The affair will doubtless be an enjoyable one, and will be largely attended by dancers.

Ice.

Mr. Connelly has, up to this date, secured about twenty tons of ice in the ice-house lately constructed just above town. Should the weather continue favorable, he expects to house sixty tons in all.

Eclipse.

We hear of some extensive operations and changes on the part of the Eclipse Company, among the rest, the cutting of a ditch to supply the mill with water from the river as a motive power.

Removing.

Messrs. Rothschilds & Co., are taking possession of their new store, where they may have room for part of their customers to get in at one time.

Returned.

Our jovial friend D. P. Pierce, formerly of the Kearsarge mine, has put in an appearance among us again, and says that he prefers this country to Washoe.

Cash Basis.

See R. J. Morrison's notice, among the new advertisements.

A THRILLING ADVENTURE.

[From The Iowa Tribune.]

We question whether in the history of "hair breadth" escapes, a parallel to the following can be found. The story was told by an old and valued friend, now residing in Ohio, but whose early days were spent near the scene of the tragic adventure here related. We give the story as related in the words of the hero:

"It was about the year 1789, that I settled in Virginia; near the falls of the Kanawha. The country at that time was an unbroken wilderness. But few settlements had been made then by the whites, and they were so far apart as to render vain all hope of assistance in case of an attack from the hostile Indians—numbers of whom still infested the neighborhood.

I lived there alone with my wife for several months, unmolested, and by dint of perseverance, being young and hardy, had succeeded in making quite a large clearing in the forest, which I had planted with corn, and which promised an abundant yield.

One morning after we had dispatched our humble meal, and I had just prepared to venture forth on my regular routine of labor, my attention was arrested by the tinkling of a cow-bell in the corn-field.

"There," said my wife, "the cow is in the corn field."

But the ear of a backwoodsman becomes, by education, very active, especially so from the fact that his safety often depends upon the nice calculation of that sense. I was not easily deceived. I listened—the sound was repeated. 'That,' said I to my wife, 'was not the tinkle of a bell upon the neck of a cow. It is a decoy from some Indians who wish to draw me into some ambush.'

Believing this to be the case, I took down my old musket, and seeing that it was properly loaded, I stole cautiously around the field to the point from which the sound seemed to proceed. As I suspected, there, in a cluster of bushes, crouched an Indian waiting for me to appear in answer to his decoy bell that he might send the faithful bullet to my heart. I approached without discovering myself to him until within shooting distance, then raised my piece and fired. The bullet sped true to its mark, and the Indian fell dead.

Fearing that he might be accompanied by others, I returned with all speed to the cabin, and having firmly barricaded the door, I watched all day from the port-holes in anticipation of an attack from the companions of the Indian I had killed. To add to the seeming helplessness of my situation, I discovered that I had but one charge of powder left. I could make but one shot, and if attacked by numbers, I should be entirely in their power. Determined to do the best with what I had, I poured out the last charge of powder and put it in my musket and then waited the approach of night, feeling confident of an attack. Night came at last—a beautiful moonlight night it was, too, and this favored me greatly, as I would thereby be able to watch the movements of the enemy as they approached my cabin. It was some two hours after nightfall and yet I had neither heard or seen any signs of the Indians, when suddenly I was startled by the baying of my dog at the stable, which stood a little west of the cabin, and between the two was a patch of ground upon which the full moon fell unobstructed. Judging from the noise at the stables that they would advance from that direction, I posted myself at the port hole on that side of the cabin.

I had previously placed my wife on the cross pole in the chimney, so that in case that our enemies effected an entrance in the cabin she might climb through the low chimney and effect her escape. For myself I entertained no hope; but I resolved to sell my life dearly.

With breathless anxiety I watched at the portehole. At length I saw them emerge from the shadow of the stable and advance across the vacant ground toward my cabin. One—two—three—great heaven! six stalwart Indians armed to the teeth, and urged on by the hope of revenge, and I alone to oppose them, with but one charge of powder. My case was desperate indeed. With quick, yet steady step in close, single file they approached, and were already within a few yards of the house, when a slight change in the movement of the forward Indian changed the position of the entire six, so that a portion of the left side of each was uncovered.

They were all in range—one aim would have covered all. Quick as thought I aimed and fired. As the smoke cleared away, I could hardly credit what my senses showed me as the result of my shot. The fifteen slugs with which I had loaded my musket had done their work well. Five of the six Indians lay dead upon the ground, and the sixth one had disappeared.

Although no enemy was in sight, I did not venture forth until morning. Securing the arms of the fallen Indians, I followed up the missing one until I reached the river, beyond which place I could discover no trace whatever. From the amount of blood which marked the trail, together with the unmistakable evidence that he had picked his way with difficulty, I was led to believe he was mortally wounded, and in order to prevent his body from falling into the hands of his white foe he had groped his way to the river, and thrown himself into the current which bore him away.

The Indians had killed my cow, and that, you may be assured, was no trifling loss, yet in my gratitude at my escape from the merciless savages I would have been willing to have made greater sacrifices. I was well provided (by means of the arms and amunition taken from the six Indians) in case of a second attack, but this, fortunately proved to be my last adventure with the savages. Not one of the band had escaped to tell the tale to incite his brethern to revenge the death of his comrades."

"Ah!" exclaimed the old man, while the tears gushed from his eyes at the memory of that eventful night "that was a glorious shot—the best I ever made."

The hero of this adventure lived to to see his rude wilderness, where he had pitched his homely cabin, transformed into smiling fields and peopled by hardy and enterprising pale faces, among whom his last days were passed in peace and plenty, undisturbed by the presence of his old time foes.

Hints to Farmers.

The "Fat Contributor," of The Cincinnati Times, contributes the following hints, which may be of use to our agricultural readers:

Now that Winter is approaching, it would, perhaps, be as well to discontinue haying, and turn your attention to getting in your fall saw-logs. No farmer can consider his fall work complete until he has his cellar well supplied with saw-logs. Seated around a blazing hearth of a Winter's night, there is no fruit more delicious.

A correspondent asks us what we think of late plowing. Plowing should not be continued later than 10 or 11 o'clock at night. It gets the horses in the habit of staying out late, and unduly exposes the plow. We have known plows to acquire spring halt and inflammatory rheumatism from late plowing. Don't do it.

To another correspondent who wants to suggest a good drain on a farm, we would say a heavy mortgage at ten per cent. will drain it about as rapidly as anything we know of.

A pick-ax should never be used in picking apples. It has a tendency to break down the vines and damage the hive.

In sowing your Winter apple-jack a horse-rake will be found preferable to a step-ladder. Step-ladders are liable to freeze up, and are hardly palatable unless boiled with sugar.

The coming cold weather should suggest to the humane farmer the necessity for a new cow-shed. The following is a receipt for making a good cow-shed: Pour a pailful of boiling hot water on her back, and if that don't make a good cow-shed—her hair—we are no prophet, to anybody.

Recent English Travelers.

Like most of our recent and more liberal travelers in America, Mr. Rae and the "Two Englishmen" exert themselves to do justice to the general refinement and gentle bearing of persons in the higher classes of American society, and to impress on readers that the piquant sketches which a departed generation of caricaturists produced a veritable portraitures of transatlantic character exhibit none of the traits of either ordinary or exceptional Americans of the present day. "As for the repulsive Yankee of the novelists," Mr. Rae observes, he is nowhere to be met in the flesh." The "Two Englishmen" go yet further, and, after insisting that, though he may have less stiffness and formality than his European equivilents, "the American gentleman is as good a type of his class as is to be found in London or Paris," they compare English with Ameaican morality, to the great advantage of the latter. "The morality of American society," they remark, "generally appears to us to be much more stern than that of the English. A man who transgresses the bounds of decorum in the United States is looked on as a black sheep, to be avoided by all respectable people, and not to be admitted within the precincts of a gentleman's house."

Household Receipts.

Corn bread—An original receipt—To make corn bread equally well without as with eggs was discovered by a California miner who recently communicated the method to us. Our friend occupied a "camp," and of course did his own cooking. On one occasion finding himself short of meal for his corn bread, he eked it out by mixing therewith a quantity of cold mush which had been set aside from a previous meal. His astonishment was great at perceiving the decided improvement the previously cooked meal produced on his corn bread. He repeated the experiment with the same result, and has since communicated the discovery to many, all of whom are unanimous in pronouncing cooked meal as good as eggs to make corn bread light. Mix liberally, say one-third.

—Angry old gentleman: "Now, you children, I'll tell you what it is; if you make any more noise in front of my house, I'll speak to that policeman."

Chorus of juveniles: "That p'liceman! Lor, we ain't afeered of him! Why, that's father!"

—Poets, who praise northwesters above all,
Will Winter "Honest Winter" doubtless call.
Honest, indeed! Why, Winter's no such thing—
Does it not often steal a March from Spring?

—The Saturday Review thinks that the next compiler of a history of inventions ought to include in his book some notice of the men who have discovered names for new magazines.

—It has been ascertained that there are in the United States sixty-one thousand ministers of all denominations. Averaging the salary, it is about $700.

—The Courts decide that all railroad tickets are good until used, the condition, "Good for this day only," being of no value—according to judicial decisions.

—Flesh colored gloves are the latest fashion. The advantage is, that at a little distance no one notices that you've got them on, except in Pittsburg.

—Notwithstanding the war, each of the States engaged in the rebellion shows an actual increase in population since 1860.

—The difference between a horse-dealer and a horse-stealer is not always a pronounced one, although it should be.

France just now is the "Gaul of bitterness."

—Could a grass-hopper play at cricket if it had a mind to do so?

—A Home melodist. A baby

The Great Medical Discovery!

Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Bitters have no equal. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a powerful Tonic, possessing also the peculiar property of removing Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and other Visceral Organs.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

MEDICAL.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, August 15, 1866.

Allow me to call your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.

Buchu as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœia, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of profound confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

(From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.)

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WIGHTMAN,
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S

FLUID EXTRACT

BUCHU

For weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forbodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

THE CONSTITUTION

Once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity ensues.

Helmbold's Fluid Extract of Buchu

In affections peculiar to Females, is unequaled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incidental to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu

—AND—

IMPROVED ROSE WASH

Will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copavia and Mercury, in all these diseases.

USE

Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu

In all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to effect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

A TRIP BY THE ISTHMUS.

FOR THE INDEPENDENT, BY J. C. WATT.

Very refreshing is the first glimpse of the beautiful blue sea, with its placid bosom just rippled by the Summer breeze and the tiny wavelets sparkling bright in the mellow sunshine; with stately vessels dotting here and there its surface, and swift, busy little steamers pushing and ploughing their hurried way. Refreshing under any circumstances, doubly so after a long sojurn in a barren, desolate land, where the weary eye turns vainly in search of some bright object to break the terrible monotony of the omnipresent, unchanging Sierras, and the withered stems of the sage brush.

So, at least, thought we, as rolling briskly along among huge piles of baggage, boxes and merchandise of every description arranged along the sides of the wharf, we drew up at the gang-way of the Pacific Mail steamship "Colorado," and looked out from the deck, for the first time, on the Golden Gate, and the slumbering, azure, beautiful, treacherous wastes of the Pacific.

A scene to be remembered—this "steamer day," with its numberless incidents, half humorous, half pathetic. Here a couple of Hibernians, with the rich brogue of their far-off country still "thick upon them," are exchanging vows of friendship over a rapidly diminishing bottle of the "creature," and giving and receiving a thousand messages for absent friends, much to the amusement and edification of the throng of bystanders, who listen with open mouths, and receive each fresh sally with a roar of good-humored laughter. There, in that quiet corner, an aged woman, her bundle of clothes and bedding plainly betokening a steerage passenger, and her daughter, a healthy, buxom lass, are locked in each other's arms, each bidding the other what they know too well must be in reality a last farewell. And here, just as the ropes are being cast off and the planks removed, the traditional Englishman, with his carriage full of traps and luggage, just as we have all read of him a thousand times, bursts frantically upon the scene, and amidst a whole volley of imprecations on the "blarsted hurry of these bloody Americans," is hustled unceremoniously on board. At the same moment the order "steam ahead" is given, and now the ponderous paddle-wheels have begun to revolve, the pier is slowly passed, and amidst a tremendous waving of handkerchiefs and energetic shouts of farewell, we steam majestically down the bay, and the long voyage to New York via. Panama has commenced in earnest.

For the first twenty-four hours, as a matter of course, life on a steamer is not remarkably pleasant: everything is in confusion, passengers running here and there in ineffectual attempts to discover their state-rooms, and bothering the unfortunate Purser with endless queries on every imaginable subject, which that patient and gentlemanly official answers with bland good humor and never-failing courtesy, from his sanctum just forward of the main saloon. When this all-important question of state-room has been sufficiently discussed and set at rest, the parties roaming together commence a sort of introductory conversation, with a view of ascertaining "what sort of a fellow" is to share their narrow quarters with them, and taking mental note, the while, as to his manner, style and physique generally. The gong is pretty sure to startle them with its deafening summons to lunch before a full or satisfactory estimate can be made, and as the sea-breeze has by this time commenced to operate as a famous appetizer upon our landsmen, a general rush is made for the dining saloon, where everybody scrambles into the first seat he comes to, and hastens to attack the bountiful supply of viands set before them, with commendable zeal.

Such, at least, was our experience of the first day on board the good steamer "Colorado." During this time the bay and the beautiful Golden Gate has been passed, the "Cliff House" and "Seal Rock" sunk below the horizon, and the regular swell of the Pacific betokens that we are now really "at sea."

On the second day, during the forenoon, the passengers assembled in a long line by the Purser's office, when the table seats are distributed, and and henceforth, every one having his own number, all confusion and crowding is avoided. From this date the voyage may be said to commence; parties and private cliques are formed, and life on the steamer assumes, for the most part, an exceedingly quiet, domestic character. Early rising is the order of the day, at least during the first portion of the voyage, everybody seeming to think it necessary to express a romantic desire to see a real, genuine "sunrise on the sea"—consequently the decks assume a lively, picturesque appearance from early dawn; ladies jauntily attired in scarlet wrappers (when supposed to be becoming), escorted by equally romantic young beaux, pace the promenade and expatiate with much energy on the beauties of nature. Perhap, though by no means the orthodox hour for such proceeding, a sly flirtation may be the result of this early rising, and words of tender import pass between these devotees of "nature"—for, shocking as such conduct would unquestionably be held on shore, it is but too true that at sea any amusement of this character is resorted to without the least apparent scruple, let us believe—in charity—merely to pass away the time. The breakfast bell, ringing at about half past eight, dispels all sentiment in a charmingly abrupt manner, and for the next hour little is heard save the rattling of cups, knives and forks, conscientiously used, and satisfactory provision being made generally for that very important and imperative fellow passenger, the "inner man."

From this time to lunch, at one o'clock, many devices are resorted to for "passing away the time." If the "ante-breakfast" chit-chat has been sufficiently interesting, it may be resumed ad infinitum; or, if otherwise inclined, a game of quoits on the after deck will pleasantly beguile the time till noon, when a general rush is made for the "Bulletin," on which, each day, a record of the latitude, longitude and distance traveled during the preceeding twenty-four hours is posted. This is a source of unfailing interest, as is natural, and many wagers are daily made as to the result. As a rule, about two hundred and sixty miles is the average rate of speed, though the engines are capable of doing greater execution, if necessary.

This excitement over, those who deem it advisable adjourn to the dining saloon, where a cold luncheon is awaiting their gastronimic powers, after an exercise of which a "siesta" in a hammock or on a sofa under the grateful awning of the upper deck, is de riguer.

Dinner is, par excellence, the event of the day; and the tables, in favorable weather, present a variety of toilets, elegant and appropriate, that would by no means be put to the blush at any recherche dinner on shore. The bill of fare, too is really excellent, regular courses, from soup to "curry and rice," following each other with a regularity and celerity most gratifying to the aforementioned "inner man" This East Indian dish of curry and rice is a feature on the Pacific steamers, and if one can only season one's palate to the proper temperature for its thorough appreciation, it forms a most enjoyable and sociable conclusion to the meal.

The evenings are pleasantly passed with music, dancing (in calm weather), a quiet rubber of whist, or a continuance of the matudinal flirtation, now rendered doubly attractive by the "witching hour" and the soft murmer of the moon-lit sea beneath. All, we think, must turn with pleasure to the memory of the fortnight spent thus happily together, as we journeyed down the peaceful waters of the Pacific, completely separated, for the time being, from the outside world and all its petty cares and vexations, with little to trouble, everything to amuse. But if we dally longer over these pleasant memories it will be many a day ere we reach our destination, and many a league of the "much resounding sea" must be traveled before the weary paddles shall have carried us home. To return then to the "incidents de voyage."

We had been just about long enough at sea to wish for a glimpse of land when we touched at Manzanillo, a small and comparatively unimportant sea-port of Mexico, where we parted with a few of our passengers and took aboard several others, and after a couple of hours waiting for mails, etc., stood out to sea once more, and two days after rounded to in the beautiful, land-locked harbor of Acapulco, the little town nestled cosily among luxuriant groves of palms at the foot of the lofty, rugged Cordilleras, stretching away in savage grandeur as far as the eye can reach, and a thousand miles farther. No sooner was the arrival of the steamer announced by the booming of our solitary signal "Parrott" than a hundred little canoes shot out as if by magic from the shore, and, skimming swiftly over the bright waters of the bay, in a few moments hove to under our quarter. These little vessels were filled delicious, tempting clusters of tropical fruit—bananas, cocanuts, oranges, limes and pineapples, all for sale at very low figures. There were also ssveral boats of a more substantial character, with cushioned seats, for the transportation of such passengers as might wish to avail themselves of the opportunity to visit the shore. So being ourself thus inclined, a scramble among the palms and old Mexican fortress was at once decided upon. To a stranger, this old town of Acapulco is interesting as a specimen of those old-time Spanish settlements once quite numerous on the Pacific sea-board, and strolling through its few, narrow streets, where everything looks just as it must have looked hundreds of years ago, makes one, in truth, almost forget that he is living in all the enlightenment of the Nineteenth Century. Aside from the interest it possesses to the tourist on this account, it is of little importance except, perhaps, as the nearest seaport to the famous City of Mexico, distant some two hundred miles in the interior, and from which place to Acapulco is a rough mountain road, but little traveled, however. The day being hot and the blue water looking very tempting, we were resolved to try a swim, although earnestly entreated by the good-hearted "natives" not to do so; "too much shark, too much shark" being the reason alleged. Swim we did, however, for half an hour, and came out mightily refreshed thereby, without having seen a sign of their terrible "maneaters." After sucking the delicious milk from a bunch of green cocoanuts, and laying in a good supply of the native manufactured "poco tempo" cigars, we bade adieu to the little town and pulled out to our comfortable quarters on the steamer, after having passed a most novel and pleasant day in this hospitable little abode of the Spaniards.

Weighing anchor late at night and standing out once more, the morning found us many a mile at sea, and relapsing into the usual lazy manner of spending the time, passed rapidly down the coast of Mexico and Central America, with but one or two incidents of note to break the monotony of the voyage.

When about two hundred miles south of Acapulco, during our passage through the body of water known as the Gulf of Tehuantepec, we experienced our first, and indeed only, rough weather on the Pacific side. This was in the form of a genuine hurricane, or "chabasco," and its approach was pointed out to us some time previous to its arrival. A small, and to all appearance innocent, black cloud, no larger than a man's fist, was the first indication of the coming tornado, and this, advancing rapidly, soon covered the whole western horizon with a heavy gloom, and parallel with this advancing cloud was plainly visible a white ridge of foaming water rushing down upon us with a terrible velocity. The moment the squall struck us the staunch old vessel reeled over as though smitten by a heavy blow, and for a few moments it seemed as if the fury of the elements must prove victorious, but recovering from the first shock she was instantly put "head on" to the sea, in which position she remained until the fury of the storm had spent itself. In an hour's time time the "chabasco" had passed over, and we were able to continue our voyage. During its continuation all overdue accounts with old Father Neptune was settled in what we doubt not was a most satisfactory manner to his Royal Highness—certain it is our dinner tables that day presented an unusual array of pale and woebegone faces, and for once "curry and rice" was at a discount. Too much praise can not be accorded to the crew of Chinese sailors, who handled the vessel as coolly and with as much neatness of execution as any corps of white men could have done under similar circumstances, and indeed, we have been told by officers of the ship that the Celestials are, in almost every respect, quite equal to their white-faced brethren. As waiters and servants generally we have found them uniformly civil, obliging and anxious to please, and, as yet, uncorrupted by that most injurious system of "feeing," which is now considered essential to comfort with all other classes of servitors.

On the third day from Panama we were startled from our afternoon nap by the cry of "man overboard," and crowding to the stern of the steamer we caught a momentary glimpse of a black, struggling form, far astern; but, although the engines were at once reversed, and boats lowered and manned with wonderful dispatch, every effort to rescue the unfortunate man was in vain, though the lifeless body was recovered and brought on board, and committed to the deep on the following morning, with the reading of that impressive and touching service, the "Burial at Sea."

In forty-eight hours thereafter we sailed quietly into the beautiful harbor of Panama, and rounded to about a mile from the city--the signal cannon announcing that we had reached our journey's end on the Pacific side, and the long voyage of over three thousand miles accomplished.

In our next paper we propose a continuation of the trip, touching the incidents in crossing the Isthmus, a passing word or two of Panama and Aspinwall, and the voyage "home."

In concluding this imperfect sketch, we would most heartily advise all who contemplate going "East," and who have the time to spare, to try for themselves this "Trip by the Isthmus," insuring them a capital time, and recommending them for comfortable accommodations to the good old steamer "Colorado," and to the courtesy of Captain Farnsworth, a thorough seaman and finished gentleman, in whose company and under whose careful guidance the memory of our two week's cruise will ever be looked back upon with feelings of the livliest pleasure.

War's Changes.

If the war should continue much longer Germany bids fair to be transformed to France with a good chance of the latter of location in Germany. For six months nothing has been heard but the steady tramp of the hardy Teutons westward—"Westward the course of empire takes its way;" regular army first, composed of the youth and unmarried men of the country; then the reserves, and now the Landwehr. The married men are now under orders for the front. A counter current is also in in operation toward Germany—the current of French prisoners, not marching steadily and in battle array, but in confused masses, with downcast faces and sorrow-stricken hearts. It is evident, indeed, that the struggle is daily increasing in strength. If things go on at the present rate for a month or two more, there will be at the opening of Spring not less than two millions of men in arms in France, engaged in the most terrific struggle the world has ever witnessed.

Inyo Independent.

LITIGANT PAPER FOR INYO COUNTY.

Independence, Cal., Jan. 28, 1871.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY

CHALFANT & PARKER.

JAS. E. PARKER. | P. A. CHALFANT

CONFIDENTIAL.

P. T. Barnum discovered, some years ago, that people like to be humbugged—for fun. New York sharpers have since made the discovery, to the extent of about $100,000 a year, that there are plenty who will stand humbugging of a serious kind, and pay for the privilege, besides; and, as we like to assist parties desirous of getting on in the world, we will call attention to a proposal from Mr. John F. Hamilton, of 212 Broadway, New York.

John has some "dear friends" in all parts of the United States. His heart is overflowing with pity and the regular milk of human kindness when he converses with gentlemen concerning these distant friends struggling against poverty's pangs. Out of his abundance he will divide. For the small sum of $10, coin of the realm, he will furnish any of his needy friends "with $100 of the best counterfeit money that ever was made." He indites to every friend that he can hear of a long epistle to the above effect and much more. There is no limit to his magnanimity. He will sell or give away (provided the friend won't tell anybody) for $50 U. S. coin $500 of his good money, which "no banker can detect," $20 cash down and, to prove his high regard for his friend's integrity, will allow him thirty days in which to pay up the remaining $30; and so on up to sums of $20,000. He says he deals on the square, and wouldn't ask any cash down, only to secure himself in the cost of printing, etc. In one of his letters to a dear friend in this county, he tells him a neighbor of his has made a very large fortune in silver and gold all through his counterfeit money, and that all of Blank's neighbors wonder how he got so rich. Now all the neighbors have hitherto thought Blank got rich by mining and trade, but by friend Hamilton's confidential communication we have the peculiar taste in the water clearly accounted for.

To remove any lingering doubts in the minds of his friends, Mr. Hamilton has put it down in his own handwriting (electrotyped, however) that "I will take a solemn oath that the bills I send you will never be detected." No safer proposition under the sun than that, but the express charges on the bills forwarded will be very light, indeed.

There is much more in this letter inviting confidence and ten dollar pieces, closing with a pressing invitation to his friend, should he visit New York, to be sure and call upon him at his "private office, 52 John street, Room 5, up stairs." We would suggest, however, that if he is not there he may be in some other place.

The letter alluded to is a genuine document sent to a gentleman of Lone Pine, who forwarded it to us. The swindling institution in New York from which it emanated has recently been "busted up" by the police. It is a gratifying fact, in connection with this matter, that hundreds of would-be rascals, in various parts of the country, are swindled out of the remittances which they fondly hoped were to secure them the means of cheating friends and neighbors. John F. Hamilton is not a counterfeiter, because he only promises to send his "goods" for the fools' good money.

Poor Taste.

A San Francisco dispatch says: The action of the Directors of the Mercantile Library, in mounting the wheels used in their late lottery on posts in front of their building as a perpetual reminder of the manner in which the institution was cleared of debt, is severely criticised on all sides, the general feeling appearing to be that the sooner it is allowed to be forgotten the better for all concerned.

Body Snatching.

The good citizens of Iowa City are justly incensed over the exhumation and dissection of Mrs. Herrick, a very respectable lady of that city, by the medical students of the State University. The dissection of a student or two might have a sanitary effect against the repetition of any such outrage.

Proposed New States.

Mr. Sargent has introduced a bill to enable Washington Territory to become a State in the Union. Sargent has also introduced a bill for the admission of Utah, having irrevocable restriction on polygamy without the consent of Congress.

QUEER STATISTICS.

In an article concerning the gold and silver interets of the coast in the San Francisco Bulletin of the 20th instant, we notice the following:

From the small mining camp of Cerro Gordo, Inyo county, over 200,000 pounds of lead bullion, fertile in silver, have come to this port during the past year, the most of which was under consignmen to these works.

The works alluded to are those of Mayor Selby's. The article from which the above extract is taken gives us a very interesting history and description of these works, their operations for the past four years, proposed enlargement, etc., all designed to give the public an idea of the extent and importance of our mining interests. But if the other statements included in the article are no nearer the truth than that relating to Cerro Gordo, the effort is a failure. For instance instead of "200,000 pounds from the small mining camp of Cerro Gordo" the shipments from the works of M. W. Belshaw alone for the past year is a fraction over 2,000,000 (two million) pounds, and during the same time from the neighboring works of the Owens Lake Siver Lead Company, half as much more has been shipped, making a total shipment for the year of three million pounds of silver lead bullion, all from Cerro Gordo and all to San Francisco. That is fifteen times as much as The Bulletin article credits Inyo county at the Selby works, and by inference, all that has been received at San Francisco from Inyo county.

Selby & Co. expect to increase the capacity of their works so as to enable them to reduce 1,000 tons per month. If the transportation can be obtained Belshaw & Co. alone will furnish one-fourth of that amount; they have now contracted with one teamster to deliver 130 tons per month at Los Angeles. The lead bullion shipment from the works of the Owens Lake Silver Lead Company will probably be less than heretofore, owing to the fact that high grade ore is to be worked, and the quantity of metal produced will in consequence be much less, while the quality of the bullion will be much finer.

We are confident, to speak entirely within bounds, that Inyo county has mines capable of producing bullion each month equal to her present yearly shipment. But be that as it may, we hope a standard authority like The Bulletin will correct its figures and give us due credit for what we have done.

AN ANTE-MORTEM OBITUARY.

If a man wishes to find out how insufferably mean he is, let him become a candidate for office. If he is a man of keen sensibility three weeks of active canvassing will generally be sufficient to make him ashamed of himself for the rest of his natural lifetime. On the other hand, if a perfect knowledge of mundane affairs were vouchsafed him after death, he would in most cases be utterly astonished at his own virtues and worth during his former existence, as pictured by his terrestial friends. He would naturally think his new brimstone surroundings had effected a complete metamorphosis and that the vacuum created by his demise was occasioned by the exit of some good man, of whom he had never before heard, and not himself at all—that is if he is or was a modest man. Anyhow, the foregoing is about the sum of Judge E. H. Van De Car's remarks to us, when reviewing the remarks of newspaper friends regarding his own supposed departure for the realms unknown. The Judge tells us that he did'nt die from exposure at all, The Reese River Reveille to the contrary notwithstanding, but stuck to his horses and came through to this place exactly in accordance with the original programme. The Gold Hill News, The Sacramento Reporter and numerous other papers have published obituary notices in connection with the supposed sad event. The Placer Herald says:

We learn from The Reese River Reveille of December 23d, that Judge Van De Car had been found dead in Nye county, Nevada, about the 15th ult. The Reveille says:

"A letter received from Captain Rock, of Belmont, dated December 20th, states that Ezra H. Van DeCar, P. G. H. P. of California, was found dead near Cloverdale, in Nye county. Captain Rock says that Mr. Van DeCar arrived in Belmont about the 20th of November. He had two horses, on which he packed his blankets, etc. About the 1st he left for California, and he appears to have got lost and wandered through the western part of Nye until he got to Cloverdale, where it is believed he died from cold. His remains were taken to Ione, where they were interred."

Judge Van DeCar was an old and respected citizen of Placer, where he leaves many warm friends who will, with us, mourn his decease and the circumstances surrounding it. E. H. Van DeCar was elected County Judge of this county in the Fall of 1858, and served out his full official term, which lasted four years and closed in 1862. It is the testimony of all that he was a faithful, competent, and just judge, a gentleman on the bench and off the bench, and in all the walks of public and private life. Before the close of his term of office as Judge, his health became impaired and soon after his retirement he repaired to the mineral springs in Santa Barbara county, where he experienced much relief, and finally we believe was entirely restored. We supposed, until this news reached us, that he was in some of the southern counties of this State, as he had informed us, on one of his visits here, that he liked that portion of California, and thought of making it his permanent home. Judge Van DeCar was Past Grand High Priest of the Royal Arch Masons of California, at the time of his death. Mrs. R. O. Cravens, wife of the State Librarian at Sacramento, is a relative of Judge Van DeCar.

The Reveille of the 16th instant has the following:

It is with pleasure we see in The Gold Hill News a tangible sign that Mr. Van De Car is not dead, as was reported. The sign consists of the following card in The Inyo Independent:

E. H. Van DeCar, Attorney and Counselor at Law, Independence, Cal. Will practice in the Sixteenth Judicial District and the counties comprising the same.

It will be recollected that, in his last letter, Captain Rock stated that the party sent by the Masons of Belmont to give poor Van's body a Christian burial, reported having seen no corpus whatever, but on the contrary saw what they thought were the tracks of his horses leading in the direction of Lone Pine. The above shows that Mr. Van DeCar "made the rifile" in good style, and never entertained the idea of allowing his body to moulder in the lonely regions of Cloverdale.

P. S.—After the above was in type, our attention was called to the fact that the card in The Inyo Inpependent was an old one, and might be as dead as poor Van himself. Our devil, who is an observing fellow, says he recollects this circumstance, for we, too, exchange with The Independent, but can not find the last number just now. We shall know in a day or two how this is. In the meantime Van DeCar, where are you? If you are alive, sing out! if you are dead you will have to be excused of course.

The last mail brings us the Nevada papers containing announcements that Mr. Van DeCar is still in the land of the living, letters having been received from him. But The Reveille has been most persistent in its attempt upon the life of Mr. Van DeCar. Notwithstanding the fact that the Belmont party could find no remains, and that the gentleman's official card was published here, The Reveille still insisted on the death of its victim, or at least doubted conclusive evidence of his being alive and kicking.

The facts concerning the trip, as related us by Judge Van DeCar, are that on the 20th of December he left Belmont as described, and that on the night of the 24th was compelled, by reason of having lost the road, to lay out, suffering no inconvenience, however, as he was well provided with blankets, etc.; and duly continued his journey on the following day. He expresses himself as sorry to have caused any uneasiness concerning him on the part of his friends, but he "don't propose to give up the ship yet."

And now, Mr. Reveille man, whether this meets you in the early blush of morn, or in the full light of noon, or perhaps at dawn, or possibly in the dead hour of night, when the ghosts of your would-be victims should haunt you—then allow us, notwithstanding the remarkable recollection of circumstances by your observing satan, to breath it softly in your ear—to gently whisper the living fact—that there is not now, nor never has been, a line of matter in The Independent any more dead than Judge E. H. Van DeCar himself.

WAR NEWS.

The Parisians are becomining much dissatisfied with Trochu and say they want a fighting general in his place. The Reds are becoming revolutionary and are posting the walls with declarations against the government, denouncing its members as utterly incompetent, and stating that the people are starved while the favorite soldiers are over fed.

Dates of the 16th state that Paris is being mercilessly bombarded, heavy projectiles pouring in night and day, striking hospitals, ambulances, schools, churches, public libraries and dwellings. One projectile, in Rue Vanguard, killed four children and wounded five. The city is transformed into a vast battle field, the women showing themselves as brave as the men.

The Parisians have attempted a number of sorties but met a repulse in every instance. On the 11th, a great battle was fought by the Army of the Loire under Gen. Clauzy and the Germans under Prince Frederick Charles. The battle field was near Le Mans. This battle is said to be the most eventful since the war began. The French fought heroically but lost the field and 20,000 prisoners besides a large number killed and wounded; the battle lasted two days, the numbers engaged comprising 150,000 French and 100,000 Germans. As the French army still remained intact after the fight, we do not see why correspondents should rate this battle as of so much importance.

The Germans have 200,000 men on the way to reinforce their army which which will give them a total force of 1,000,000 men on French soil. The prospects of France are gloomy, indeed, though her people are as determined as ever.

Austria designs offering the following as a basis of peace: France to surrender 20 warships, 1,000,000,000 thalers and a strip of land four miles wide on the left bank of the Rhine and destroy all the forts within 20 miles of that stream.

On the 18th, King William issued a proclamation accepting the Imperial Dynasty of the German Empire, thus restoring the Empire after a lapse of sixty years.

LETTER FROM "PICTON."

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

CAMP SAGE BRUSH, Nev., January 13, 1871.

MESSRS. EDITORS:

"FORWARD MARCH!"

You perceive by the heading of this letter that our detachment has been removed from "Camp Egbert," Round Valley, to this region of beauty, since my last missive. When the order for our march arrived we were taken somewhat by surprise, and without having an acquaintance with Moore's poetry, more than one might be heard muttering, in the spirit of his creations

"I never loved a tree or flower
But 'twas the first to fade away," etc.

But the soldier is in a position which is explanatory of the old adage of Soloman, "there is no peace for the wicked." We had just finished our quarters for the Winter when the order to vamos was received; hence, the idea of throwing away so much labor to the winds was slightly vexing. Nevertheless, march we must, and march we did,

"Trumpet sounding, cymbals playing,
To the merry, merry fife and drum."

"CAMP SAGE BRUSH."

I will not worry your readers by a detailed narrative of our march of over one hundred miles, with four days rations in our haversacks, two blankets and an overcoat on our backs; with our breech-loader's and twenty rounds of ammunition for the same, as a make-weight. Suffice it to say, we got along like heroes to our destination, and reached this delectable, delightsome, and deserted locality in schedule time. There are several of our number who never were in the State of Nevada before, (your correspondent being one of them) and it is my humble opinion, mark me, I said my humble opinion, that the great majority have the idea strongly implanted in their breasts, that they have seen several places a trifle lovelier than "Palmetto District." It is quite possible that they are a prejudiced set of fellows, who can not realize the beauties of sage brush and sand,—too little used to good society to value at their proper rate the "noble red man" of the Shoshone persuasion, and have heard good music too rarely to estimate properly the choruses as rendered in the howl of cayotes. Be that as it may certain it is, most of this detachment are strongly persuaded that when the government of the United States vote to remove the Capital from Washington they will most likely, overlook the claims of the State of Nevada, and particularly the District of Palmetto. As for your humble servant, I am a philosopher, who can look at the bleakest desert without experiencing those nonsensical sensations for verdant fields and woody dells, so often sighed for by some of my brothers in arms. In short, not being a ladies man, the total absence of female faces, dos not bring "home, sweet home," or even Camp Independence, in that strong relief against the figure of dreariness, as is the case with several of my comrades I con'd mention.

I think it is Job, although it may be the Psalmist, who said "I would not live always," but whichever of the two "old swells" made the remark, I am quite settled in my belief that they resided in a country closely resembling this portion of the United States. I have no doubt but our superiors were well aware of all I have refered to in the foregoing. But splendid scenery, brilliant prospects from hill and dale, nay, the lovliest verdure of undulating woodlands are little taken into consideration by officers of Major Egbert's class, when old Cowitch and his Shoshone rascals are inclined to hostility; nevertheless, as the chill breath of "rude boreas" whistles in the face, and the snow flakes strike one in the "e'e" old memories will crowd upon us,—of Montgomery street on a May morning, and Oakland with its loveliness, and cause those who are not of a philosophical temperament, to—sigh.

THE INDIANS.

The red man is here in his primitive glory, and numerous enough to do mischief, when they deem it fit to take the war-path in earnest. The Shoshones are the most powerful, yet, that portion of the Piutes who desire to secede from Jo. Bowers, because of his friendship for the whites, are roaming around here in large squads. These Lo-gentlemen are wilder in appearance than any I have seen before, with the exception of the Apaches of Arizona. Black crimes, and dire murders, are written on the brow of one half of them.

It is undoubtably true that they are hostile at this moment, and that fear alone deters them from rushing into the performance of the most ponderous acts of the "Tragedy of Death," through grim vizaged war. Two miners are known to have been killed in this district not long ago,—the remains of cattle and horses, stolen, killed and eaten by them are frequently found by the few prospectors that remain, and since our detachment arrived, one miner near our camp recovered a considerable amount of property from the Shoshones (which they had stolen from his cabin) by threatening them with a raid, by the "blue pants and breech-loaders."

MINERAL WEALTH OF PALMETTO.

It may not be known generally,—it may not be credited, by those who may be told, but this is one of the richest regions on this continent. Though bleak, barren, dreary and a desert, it is a vast bed of minrrals, gold, silver, copper, lead, etc. In almost every acre of this district a mine of some metal can be struck; yet, and in the face of this fact, there are but three miners remaining amid such natural wealth at this moment,—dread of the Indians, and a lack of capital combined, cause many to leave, and deters others from venturing hither. In the coming spring, when frosts and snows have disappeared, the fine mill at this spot (now silent as the home of death), will be again in life, and at work, and miners (now that soldiers are at hand) will crowd into the auriferous hills and canyons in great numbers. If the detachment is withdrawn, I venture to prophesy the scarcity of scalps soon thereafter.

SCOUTING.

We have had some heavy scouting on three occasions since our arrival, under the leadership of Sergeant Remsnyder and Corporal Smith respectively, one near and over the Placer mines ten miles south-east of Palmetto, the second in the hills to the north—the last a few days ago, through the canyons to the south-west. On the last occasion we discovered the trail of a large body of Shoshones going in the direction of "Death Valley." We also found two caches stored with various seeds, pinyons and other supplies peculiar to the Lo family.

"HEAP COLD."

The weather is intensely cold at present, and it is almost impossible to be tolrably comfortable away from the fire, as a consequence scouting through these snow clad mounians is not a joke with a point to it, as the first glance would indicate. As to myself I would prefer stepping into Harris' saloon at Independence and smile at him or "any other man" at any time. There is good indication of more snow as I write, and in all probability before this missive reaches the office of The Independent, this detachment will be snowed in for a time,—but, nous verrons.

In Lone Pine, January 25, at the Lone Pine Hotel, W. J. DONATHAN to MISS KATIE BARRY.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

All varieties of pain seem to be included is the agonies of dyspepsia. Yet by invigorating the stomach and toning the liver and bowels with Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters you can arrest them all. The chemical and mechanical action of the stomach, liver and intestines being restored by this operation the pain and the oppression cease, the appetite is restored, the dazed brain regains its clearness, the spirits become buoyant and the happy result is "a sound mind in a sound body."

COUNTY COURT PROCEEDINGS—JANUARY TERM.

A. C. Hanson, Judge.

January, 25th.—Ellen Moran Plaintiff & Appellant, vs. David Garland Defendant & Respondent. Appeal dismissed.

January, 26th.—Charles Cook Plaintiff & Respondent, vs George Buckhardt Defendant & Appellant. New trial ordered. Respondent failed to appear. Judgement for Appellant, for the sum of $225.50 on a counter claim.

January, 27th.—Lunatico de Enquirendo. Charles Hawkins from Bishop Creek, and David Ormrod from Cerro Gordo, were examined, and pronounced insane. Ordered to Stockton.

An Object of Compassion.

Our readers may remember that at the time of the miserable death of Mrs. Ormrod at Cerro Gordo, the attention of passers by was attracted to the house and the distressing scene within by the wailing of her half perished child, a little girl about a year and a half old. This little waif of humanity is now without a natural protector, her father being insane and but recently ordered to the Stockton Asylum. The child, up to the present time, has been kindly taken care of by a Mexican women, but who is not in circumstances to keep her any longer than to give time for the authorties to find a home for her. She is bright and pretty. Will not some humane person desirous of an object of affection come forward and adopt the helpless innocent? Here is a chance for a good action that will bring its reward, especially to any good hearted couple so unfortuate as to possess no child of their own to brighten a home, ever cheerless without the glad voices of childhood.

The Eclipse.

Surveys have been made from the Eclipse mill to a point on the river nine miles above, with a view of bringing water in to propel the mill machinery. The dimensions of the proposed canal are stated to be 10 feet in width at the bottom, 12 on top and 3 deep, but we beleive the enterprise is not fully determined upon. Some 7 tons of extremely rich ore from the new strike in the mine are at the mill, ready for shipment to England. The assays of this ore average $1,898 per ton, with more on the dump at the mine, and plenty in sight. It is probable that the company will erect smelting works for the proper reduction of this new character of ore.

School Matters.

The Board of Trustees for Independence school district have decided to suspend school for the present, the subscription fund and public school money both being exhausted. We are sorry circumstances make this step necessary, but hope the suspension will be but temporary. The children have made good advancement under Mrs. Conner's teaching, who has made every effort, and has succeeded in giving general satisfaction. Parties who have not paid their subscription to the school fund will confer a favor by handing the amount of their subscriptions to P. Reddy, Esq.

Hot Springs Ore.

Last Tuesday two teams of Shaw's, Ferguson's two and one belonging to Wells passed through town loaded with ore from Hot Springs District, for the Swansea furnace. The aggregate amount of ore is, in all, nearly 48,000 pounds, from the Kearsarge, Cornucopia, Peterson's and other mines. Judging from several samples, kindly furnished by Mr. J. O. Wheeler the whole lot will work away up in the hundreds, as it must to pay the expense of hauling so far and smelting. The early return of Superintendent Brady is looked for, when the works will start up for a long and profitable run.

New Strike of Lead.

In the tunnel of White & Williams, a large body of solid galena was struck last week, and large quantities are being brought to the surface. This, the Bonna Vista, tunnel is now in 400 feet, with side drifts of perhaps 400 feet more. The body of metal seems permanent and extensive. Credit is due Mesrs. White & Williams, who are also owners of the Jefferson lead mine, for their energy and stick-to-it-ativeness in opening up their ledges, and this strike seems to have made their success doubly sure.

Borax.

The borax deposit in Fish Slough, of which we made mention a week or two since, was discovered by Moses Brockman, some two months ago. As he was passing along the road he remarked that the deposits on the Slough resembled those east of Silver Peak, and upon testing it in the blacksmith shops was confirmed that he had found valuable borax, in large quantities. Mr. Brockman is the principal owner, Messrs. Reddy, Winters and McLaughlin owning small interests. There will be a quantity shipped to San Francisco shortly, for the purpose of ascertaining its value in a crude state.

Belmont Mine.

Last week the lower tunnel of the Belmont mine in Cerro Gordo, was in 600 feet. The rock was still soft enough to make good headway. In the same tunnel, 370 feet from the mouth, the miners struck a ledge of about 2 feet in thickness, and will start a drift on it this week. In the upper tunnel of the same mine they have two shafts, each 70 feet deep, at the bottom of which the ledge increases in thickness and richness.

Wittekind Mine.

The tunnel on this mine, is in about 170 feet. The miners say the rock is somewhat softer than it has been for sometime past, and that they are getting along faster than formerly.

Cerro Gordo Papers.

Our subscribers in Cerro Gordo will please leave their names at the postoffice and with our agent, respectively, and the papers will be sent to whichever place they may wish to get them.

Osceola Mine.

The miners of this company, are still at work driving their tunnel but as yet have not reached the ledge. They are now in about 200 feet.

The Crowning Glory

Miners are at work steadily, and are extracting a considerable quantity of good ore.

Belshaw's Furnace

Keeps steadily at work, running out stack upon stack of silver-lead bars.

LETTER FROM LONE PINE.

Bullion—Forgers—Thieves.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

Lone Pine, January 26, 1871.

Messrs. Editors: I write you again that I may pass the time for an hour or two, having read all the weekly newspapers, periodicals, etc. And this reminds me of not ng a great mistake in The Weekly Bulletin, of January 14th. In speaking of the lead product of the Pacific coast it says that "the small mining camp of Cerro Gordo, Inyo county, alone produces nearly 200,000 pounds of lead bullion annually." Now, sirs, this is wide of the mark. Cerro Gordo produces from one furnace alone more than 1,200,000 pounds annually, and if we had any means of shipping it we could do much better than that, too. Another error in the same article is that the Eureka bullion is much richer in silver than that of Cerro Gorro. That is incorrect, as our bullion is richer in silver than any smelted on this coast. Eureka has gold in hers, which makes it of more value than ours, but that place does not beat us in quantity nor quality in proportion to the number of furnaces in operaton; and I think that we rather beat them.

It becomes my duty again this week to write more about those would-be "sharps" I mentioned last week. One of the same scoundrels (I think his name is Wilson—unlucky name) and "Big Bill" got hold of one of V. Beaudry's orders, calling for $2 87, and made it read $12.87, by prefixing 1 to the figures and adding "ive" to the writing, and passed the same. They may have more of them, and will perhaps pass them on the road north, as it is thought they will go to Columbus. They are able-bodied scoundrels, and ought to be caught, but the law is such that no one here could swear hard enough to get the warrant of arrest. They were seen going north near the New York House, on Tuesday afternoon last. Another duck of a thief is that man Charles Dearsy, who stole a two horse wagon and harness, and is thought to have stolen four good work horses. He was seen going for the Northern mines at Hot Springs, and again beyond Aurora. At present I can not give the description of the horses nor their brands, but I understand that Mr. Barker and Sheriff Elder are going to offer a reward of $100 for the thief's arrest. Dearsy is rather a bright looking fellow, light hair and beard, is about five feet eight inches in hight; he is from Sidney, and walks like a thief of considerable style and ability—weighs near 160 pounds. He will be most likely to sell everything about Carson or Virginia City.

Swythian.

The Kearsarge.

Messrs. White & Co., who have the contract for cutting a tunnel 150 feet in length, through a bluff of rocks between the lower tunnel of the mine and the head of the tramway to the mill, have about completed the work. The getting out of timbers for the water wheel and the cutting of the water ditch is progressing at a favorable rate and the early Spring will probably find operations being prosecuted to a greater extent and with more energy than ever before.

At the Postoffice.

Our George's Creek subscribers will find their papers at the Postoffice, as the stage does not run so as to make it advantageous to send by it. Any one of the neighborhood in town on Saturday afternoon might take out the whole lot. When Collister makes Monday one of his days of departure he will deliver them again.

"How is That for High!"

Such is the brand of a fine lot of cigars now on sale by P. Cohn & Co., a sample box of which are now being burnt in our sanctum, by the courtesy of that firm. As the blue smoke wreathes around our classic cranium, we answer "very high!"

Company Meeting.

There will be a regular monthly meeting of Independence Engine Co. No. 1, on next Monday evening, at Wallace's saloon. Every member should be on hand, attend to business and save being mulcted in the sum of 50 cents.

Papers.

Next week and after The Indpendent will be delivered to our town subscribers by our new carrier, Mr. Heslep Yaney. Parties who may be overlooked will please leave notice at this office.

Arm broken.

January 24th, at Bishop creek, as Willie Hinkleman, aged about 13 years, was riding a fractious horse, the animal fell, breaking his arm.

Birthday Ball.

Benton folks are making preparations to celebrate the 22d of February by a grand ball, at Benton Hall.

Rain.

On the 18th considerable rain fell at San Diego, Los Angelos and other points along the coast as far North as San Francisco. It came in good time, as the drouth had become distressing.

THE RAMIE.

We commend the following to the notice of farmers. We believe the ramie could be successfully cultivated in this valley, and if so it would afford an article for exportation and a larger margin of profit than any other crop. The plant requires irrigation, though generally raised without. The cultivation of ramie and of Norway oats is certain to become, even the present year, two very important interests in the coast counties. We hope some of our enterprising farmers will not let the season pass without at least an experiment with both these plants. They are both adapted to our soil and situation.

Ramie, destined by intrinsic value to become a leading article in the commerce of the country, forces itself upon the attention of the people everywhere. Unlike all other important commodities, however, it is not permitted to enjoy its halcyon days of infancy, but it is instead, at the behest of necessity, transformed into the proportions of a giant.

A better fabric than cotton, and a cheaper one than silk, has become indispensible to mankind, and ramie supplies both requisitions in one staple.

Unlike other commodities that dazzle the eyes of commerce with the splendor of their riches, ramie confines itself to no isotherm, but grows and prospers and matures perfectly in the zone of cotton, of cane, of tobacco and of corn, and is hardier than either. It requires less culture and is cheaper to harvest and prepare for the loom than any other fibre adapted to the various uses of man. Carefully prepared it may be made as fine as silk, and immeasurably stronger; whilst its coarser products may be made heavier and more durable than the strongest tow. It is fine, it is strong, it is durable.

Whatever fabric is demanded—from the light gauze to the heaviest canvass—ramie stands ready to supply. Destined as it is to take the place of all other manufactures of this nature in the world's commerce, because of cheapness and durability, its market is co-extensive with the requirements of man. The world has to be clothed, and that article which will accomplish the object in the best manner and for the least money, must inevitably supply the market. That article is ramie; and its general introduction will build up thousands of factories to give employment to our people, whilst saving to us the millions of money wrung from the pockets of the people in the way of tariffs. Let our people take hold of this matter as its importance demands, and America, instead of paying a tribute to the skilled labor of the Old World, will manufacture a cheaper and better material than can be produced from cotton or silk, and will send her ships laden with the valuable products of her looms, to every port in christendom. And the thousands upon thousands of acres of land lying untouched by the hand of industry in our State, can by means of this product be made to return to the husbandman a reward, which, if stated, might seem visionary, but which would yet be real. Lands so far away from market as to render the raising of grains unprofitable, because of the immense cost of transportation, will yet net to the farmer ten fold the market value of of his grain. The fine fibre of the ramie would, at the least calculation, be worth four hundred dollars per ton in San Francisco, and the cost of raising it, and preparing it for market would not exceed forty dollars per ton. Add to this the cost of transportation, say $60 per ton, and there is a net margin of three hundred dollars per ton.

If it be urged that the present prices are merely fictitious, it is only necessary to reply that ramie commands that price in competition with the other fibres now in use; and as the world is to be its consumer, it seems improbable that prices will decline from an overstocked market.

But, suppose that prices should depreciate one half, is it not sufficient margin left yet for profit, to secure to the farmer reward for his labor, several hundred per cent, beyond what he can hope for under present circumstances?

This subject, involving as it certainly does, the serious consideration of every one who has the well-being of our State at heart, cannot be too closely investigated, as the more it is scrutinized the more it will be found resting on an endurable basis.

Some of our citizens, quick to discern the gains of an individual wealth that involves a public benefaction, have tested to the senses of our people, the fact that the greatest mine of the world it at every man's door, if he will apply the plowshare to the virgin soil, in the manner indicated.

Until lately it has been found quite difficult to separate the outer from the inner fibre, the coarser from the finer, but this drawback has yielded to the present attack of ingenuity, and machinery costing but a few hundred dollars can now be had that completely overcome that difficulty, and this success has rendered complete the greatest industrial achievement of the age—the introduction of perfectly seperated ramie fibre into the manufactures of the world.

Protected by a Cat

[From The New York Herald.]

There resides in Thirty-fifth street, a gentleman named Michael Hardin, and he is fortunate enough to possess not only a beautiful wife, but a pretty little, daughter scarcely three years of age. The child's name is Mamie, and from her playful, happy nature and rare beauty she has been a general favorite with all who have been so fortunate as to enjoy her parent's acquaintance and her own childish friendship. Among the child's playmates was a favorite cat, and the young lady's feline friend having established a homestead of her own beneath an ajoining building, deserted the little fragment of the genus homo, and took up her exclusive residence among those of her own "kit and kin." Not knowing that the cat was about to become the maternal relative of a number of young Thomases or Tabbies the child was almost heart-broken at her sudden desertion, and for days it searched the parental domain without ceasing, for its play-mate. On Monday evening last the child heard a mewing under the building where the feline family had taken refuge, and perceiving a small aperture thereto she crowded her little body into it. Once in she could not extricate herself, not knowing enough to carefully back out, and remained in the narrow hole till Tuesday morning. In the meantime the father and mother having missed the little one, were in an agony of grief, and engaged in a wild search for the lost one. Suspicious parties circulated stories to the to the effect that the child had been stolen, and even went so far as to designate the child-stealer. Two or three said they had seen the child in possession of a suspected party. In the meantime, while friends were making search, the mother wandered about, crying for her lost darling and moaning most piteously. Suddenly her quick ear detected the feeble voice of her little one calling, and, following the sound, the child was rescued after an absence of thirteen hours. She was quite exhausted and over her the cat was standing guard; purring and occasionally lashing her tail against her sides, as a group of bright-eyed rats peered forth near by, or scampered past in the distance.

Northern Pacific Railroad.

It is stated on good authority that Vice President Rice, of the Northern Pacific Railroad, who has been on this coast for some time, has made arrangements for the early completion of that part of the road between Columbia river and Puget Sound, 25 miles to be placed in running order by July 1st. The Pacific Rolling Mills, of this city, have the contract for all the rails they can furnish, and the remainder are already shipped from New York. The road will start on Columbia river, about six miles above the mouth of the Cowlitz, and pass through Olympia, keeping on the eastern side of the Cowlitz. The same company will construct the line from Lake Superior to Red River of the North, and from St. Cloud, Minnesota, to Pembina. Captain Wm. C. Walker, late of the Sacramento Tide Land Reclamation Company, will go up next week to take charge of the construction in Oregon, taking with him engineers, firemen, blacksmiths, etc. One hundred and seventy-five Chinamen will go with him, and two hundred more will follow on the next steamer. From 1,500 to 2,000 men will be at work as soon as possible. This looks like business. And in connection with these statements there is some significance in the fact that an effort is now making in Congress, which will doubtless have the support of the friends of the Northern Pacific Railroad, to place a subsidized line of steamships on the route between Puget Sound and the Sandwich Islands, connecting with the San Francisco and Australasian line.—S. F. Bulletin.

Cheap Railroad.

The question which has been agitating the railroad world in reference to narrow guage roads is to be practically tested. Says a correspondent of The Iron Age: "A narrow-gauge (two feet six inches) will be built in Pennsylvania, from Allentown to Harrisburg via. Reading and Lebanon, along the Tulpehocken and Swatara creeks. The Fairlee engine will be used, the cost of construction and equipments being one-third that of the four-feet gauge. A speed of twenty five miles an hour is expected, and freight carried at one cent a ton per mile."

—The Philadelphia Press deliberately advises its readers to "lay in their coal." —Disgusting.

—It is a somewhat curious fact that a compositor takes most c'es when hardest at work.

—A petition to the Detroit City Government ends: "And your petitioners will ever pray—if praying will do any good."

—Garters with monogram clasps are now worn by the pretty girls. They are quite a novelty yet, but we hope to see more of them.

—At a lecture given in Frankfort, Ind., not long since, the tickets read: "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God. Admit one."

—An advertisement was sent to the Cleveland Herald office, on a recent Sunday night, in which occurred the words, "The Christian's Dream: No Cross, No Crown." The compositor made it read, "The Christian's Dream: No Cows, No Cream."

—A peripatetic Sunday School talker ended a long story thus: "And now, my young friends, the names of those two boys were—Thomas and Philander. Thomas, I have told you, was a bad boy, and went down—down—down. Philander was a good boy, and went up—up—up. Little children, Philander stands before you!"

The Great Medical Discovery!

Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

MEDICAL.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, August 15, 1868.

Allow me to call your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.

Buchu as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœia, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of profound confidence,

I am, very respectfully,

H. T. HELMBOLD,

Chemist and Druggist of 10 Years' Experience.

(From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.)

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WIGHTMAN,

Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S

FLUID EXTRACT

BUCHU

For weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forbodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

THE CONSTITUTION

once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is resorted to, Consumption or Insanity ensues.

Helmbold's Fluid Extract of Buchu

in affections peculiar to Females, is unequaled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, and all complaints incidental to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu

—AND—

IMPROVED ROSE WASH

Will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superceding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

USE

Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu

In all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to effect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere Price $1 25 per Bottle, or 6 Bottles for $6 50. Delivered to any address. Describe Symptoms in all communications.

WHEN I MEAN TO MARRY.

BY JOHN G. SAXE.

When do I mean to marry?—Well—
'Tis folly to dispute with fate;
But if you choose to hear me tell,
Pray listen while I fix the date.

When daughters haste with eager feet
A mother's daily toil to share;
Can make the puddings which they eat,
And mend the stockings which they wear.

When maidens look upon a man
As in himself what they would marry
And not as army soldiers scan
A sutler or commissary.

When gentle ladies who have got
The offer of a lover's hand,
Consent to share his "earthly lot,"
And do not mean his lot of land.

When young mechanics are allowed
To find and wed the farmers' girls,
Who don't expect to be endowed
With rubies, diamonds and pearls.

When wives, in short, shall freely give
Their hearts and hands to manly spouses,
And live as they were wont to live,
Within their sires' one-story houses.

Then, madam, if I'm not too old—
Rejoiced to quit this lonely life,
I'll brush my beaver, cease to scold,
And look about me for a wife.

A BEAR HUNT.

The Grayson correspondent of The Stanislaus News of January 14th says:

John Grummet, a veteran bear hunter of this county, was out hunting in the Coast Range mountains last week, and gives the following exciting account of his exploits:

I had camped over night at the base of a steep chaparral hill, near the head of the north fork of the Arroyo Salado, and in the morning, at daybreak, I shouldered my trusty Spencer rifle, and climbed to the summit. I had shot a deer on the way up but that was not the game I was after. I was hungry for bear meat. I knew they were in the vicinity, for I had seen their signs close by on a previous occasion. Sure enough, before traveling far along the eastern brow of the summit, I found a fresh track, made, apparently, not many minutes before. The track led into a dense thicket to my left, so, advancing cautiously into and through the thicket, I came to an open space of perhaps half an acre in extent, with a few clumps of the wild juniper trees scattered promiscuously over it, while beyond lay a deep canyon covered by a dense chaparral; while pausing to reconnoiter, I heard the snapping of small twigs just in my front but on the farther side of the clump of juniper. Having often heard the same sound I knew what was the matter; the bear was feeding on the small blueberries which grow on these trees. I crawled cautiously round and soon found myself within thirty steps of a huge grizzly, so busily engaged that he had no idea that any foe was so near. Her head was turned from me, but I took deliberate aim at the back part of her skull and fired; she rolled over without a sound or hardly a struggle. Taking a few steps forward, I repeated the dose, but 'twas no use, the first shot had severed the spinal vertebræ.

Just then my attention was attracted in another direction, for there arose from the thicket beyond a terrible succession of growls and snarls, accompanied by the crashing of the underwood, very plainly indicating that there was warm work to be done if I wanted to eat any of that bear. Unfortunately, in the excitement of the moment, and having my eye fixed steadfastly on the place whence issued the ominous sounds I got a cartridge fast in the breach by trying to load without throwing the lever far enough back. Here was a dilemma, with a savage bear coming toward me within 75 yards. I hurriedly threw the lever down again, jerked a handful of loose cartridges out of my pocket and laid them beside me, slipped one into the breach by hand, and as I raised my gun to my face my enemy was within twenty feet. He was coming in a sidling manner, so the bullet, striking him in the front part of the shoulder blade, ranged back and passed out at the opposite flank. He fell dead but there was still another behind him in full view. My nerves were perfectly steady now, however, and two deliberate shots laid him dead within ten feet of his leader. And now still another came in sight, very cautiously advancing a few steps, and then rearing up erect and prospecting the situation; being well concealed, however, he did not see me, and ventured up within twenty steps, when he, too, fell a victim to my deadly Spencer. After waiting a few moments and shouting that if they had any more bears to fetch them along, I made a reconnoissance in force but the supply of bears had given out. Nothing was left to do but skin and divide the carcasses. All took much less time than I have occupied in telling it. I do not think over five minutes elapsed between the first shot and the last, and when it was all over the sun was but half an hour above the eastern horizon. It took many a weary trip up and down that hill to get the meat into camp, and when I reached Grayson that night about 10 o'clock, after driving thirty miles, I felt as if I had done a hard day's work.

The Highest.

A man at Sparta, Wis., wishing to present an organ to a church, wrote to a friend in New York to know what it would cost to get one. He received a reply that he could get a cussed little organ for $1,500; "but if you expect to get to heaven on the organ dodge, you had better invest about $3,000." He took the high-priced organ.

Legal Witticisms.

The remarks of an exchange, "that many of our successful lawyers commenced life as preachers," is gracefully corrected by one of the legal gentlemen refered to, who begs leave to state that he began life as an infant.

A country justice of the peace, on having his attention called to the fact, as he was about to enter judgement in a certain case, that he had not jurisdiction on account of the amount involved being over two hundred dollars, promptly responded: "The court has thought of that, and discovered a remedy. The court will enter judgement for the full amount, and then issue two executions, each for a half."

In a recent action against the corporation of Canterbury, England, to recover damages for injuries received by the plaintiff, he having been thrown from his carriage in the night time by coming in contact with a pile of stones left in the highway, the somewhat singular defense was set up that "the accident would not have occurred in the daytime, and that, as darkness was the act of God, so was the accident." The Lord Chief Justice is said to have ruled against this point with some warmth.

Some years since, while a judge, who now occupies a very high judicial position in the State, was holding circuit in one of the western counties, a case of a trivial character was called on. His Honor, somewhat "riled," remarked that such suits instead of taking up the time of the court would be more properly disposed of by submitting the same to a jury of old women. The plaintiff's attorney quietly replied, that, without taking exception to the opinion of the honorable Court, he thought the cause could not have been before a more appropriate tribunal.

An Awful Frog Story.

A man named Southworth, living in Warren, Pa., has just ejected from his stomach a frog which has been living there for fifteen years! Mr. Southworth has had a good deal of trouble with that frog. It used to begin to croak at the most unreasonable hours. When Southworth would go to church, for instance, the frog would remain silent until the congregation engaged in silent prayer, and then it would set up such a terrific yowl that the sexton would rush in and collar Southworth and drag him out to quiet down in the graveyard. Sometimes the frog would give a nocturnal serenade after Southworth was fast asleep in bed, and then Southworth would rise as mad as anything, and seize a stomach pump and try to draw the frog up. But the subtile reptile had had that trick played on it too often during these fifteen years, and it always shinned up the tube a piece, out of the draft, and waited until Southworth exhausted himself. Southworth never fooled that frog a great deal. And when frogs were in season Southworth used to fish for this one with a fly; but it always refused to rise, and the fly buzzed so in Southworth's alimentary canal that it nearly tickled Southworth to death. So Southworth had to wait until the other day, when the frog thought it would come up and go and see a friend; and when it did come Southworth was so mad at it that he killed it with a fork. He says the frog used to eat twice as much as he did; but we have been thinking it over and it seems to us that the statement must be exagerated somewhat.

The Dutchman's Trick.

While a Dutchman was reading the advertisements on the new post-office fence, a professional "beat" came up to him and said:

"Shon, if you treat to the whiskey, I will learn you a trick."

Shon agreed. "Beat" then placed his hand against the fence and told him to strike it as hard as he could. Shon, not thinking that any harm could befall him by doing so, struck a blacksmith's blow, but instead of hitting "beat's" hand, the latter jerking it away, poor Shon struck the fence-board, knocking it off.

"Mein Gott in Himmel!" cried Shon. "What you makes foolish? I knocks mine hand clean off up to the elbow! Oh socker blitz! my poor frau, what will she say?"

Poor Shon was bound to have revenge; so one day as he was passing through the streets, he espied a man. Going up to him he said:

"Mynherr, I show you one little trick for nodink."

As there was no fence nor tree near, Shon put his hand against his mouth and said:

"Strike yust so hard as you can."

Mynheeer struck, and Shon pulled his hand away and received the blow on his mouth, and was knocked down. Shon jumped up his mouth bleeding, and commenced dancing with pain.

"Sherusalem! a thousand tuyfels dake dis goontry! I goes pack to Holland!"

Of the foot-passengers on the Cambridge, Mass., horse-railroad were good-naturedly chaffing the voluminous conductor of a car, as he insinuated his burly form among them to collect their fares. "If the company insists on our standing," said one, "we shall have to insist on their employing smaller conductors." "They'd have hard work to find one that feels smaller than I do," replied the budgered man.

The Sutro Tunnel.

A Washington dispatch contains the following account of the proceedings in relation to the bill to give $3,000,000 to the Sutro Tunnel project.

Nye, in accordance with previous notice, addressed the Senate on the bill to create a fund to be known as the Mineral Land Fund, and for other purposes. The bill provides for paying over to the Sutro Tunnel Company the proceeds of money received by the United States from the sale of mineral lands; $50,000 to be paid upon the completon of every 500 feet, and the tunnel to be completed within ten years.

Nye, to demonstrate the magnitude of the interest involved in the construction of the Sutro Tunnel, stated that the Comstock lode, to which the tunnel was to be constructed, has yielded since its discovery ten years ago $120,000,000 almost equaling the total yield of silver of the whole Republic of Mexico. The mines of that lode are now reached at a perpendicular depth of 1,200 feet, and the obstacles encountered in mining thus far show the early abandonment of it. The difficulties of pumping water and hoisting ore, at which fifty-three steam engines are employed and kept in motion with fire-wood at an expense of several million dollars per annum. The great obstacle in mining was the great increase of heat below the surface. The thermometer at 1,200 feet below standing at 110 degrees, making it almost impossible for men to work, and impairing health.

Religious.

Rev. E. P. Roe gives, in The New York Evangelist, an account of religious affairs in the Military Academy at West Point. He says that "the religious influences are steadily growing stronger at West Point. Several of the officers are earnest Christians, and General Upton, the new commandant, and his accomplished sister throw the whole weight of their influence and constant effort toward promoting a Christian life and spirit among the students." In calling for Ceneral Howard on Sabbath evening he "found him at the cadet prayer-meeting, which is now regularly sustained twice a week, on Sundays and Wednesday evenings. There were about fifty students present, who are no longer a despised minority but have weight and influence with the rest."

Pass It Around.

"If Lemuel L. P. Morris, formerly of Sonoma, Sonoma county, will write to his afflicted mother, now living in Vallejo, and inform her as to his whereabouts and his business, he will greatly please one who has suffered much for him. Any letter directed through Editors Chronicle or Rev. C. E. Rich will reach Mrs. Mary Morris. Will other papers please copy and oblige a poor old lady."

Equally Ignorant.

A story is going the rounds of the English press, under the head of "Lamentable Ignorance," to the effect that a little girl, ten years old, examined at an inquest on the body of her father, could not tell where little girls went who told lies. This leads a correspondent of The Pall Mall Gazette to relate, of the late Judge Maule, that having asked a little girl tendered as a witness if she knew where she would go after death if she told a lie, and the child replying, "No Sir" the judge was overheard to mutter to himself, "No more do I."

Exactly The Reason.

A gentleman, while walking in his garden, caught the gardener asleep under a tree. He scolded at him soundly for his lazyness, and ended by telling him that such a sluggard was not worthy to enjoy the light of the sun. It was for that reason exactly, said the gardner, "that I crept into shade"

He can't yet comprehend what it was the class laughed about just at that time.

LITIGANT PAPER FOR INYO COUNTY,

Independence, Cal., Feb. 4, 1871.

JAS. E. PARKER, | P. A. CHALFANT

THE LEAD STRIKE IN CERRO GORDO.

In a conversation with Mr. J. B. White, one of the owners of the Buena Vista Tunnel, a day or two since, we gained some idea of the extent and importance of the recent strike of lead, refered to in our last issue. The developments already made have proved the deposit to be beyond all question the most extensive and valuable body of mineral ever discovered in this county and the largest body of lead ever opened on the coast. Judge J. A. Hannah, District Recorder, writes us concerning the Buena Vista Tunnel and the Jefferson mine, as follows: "The tunnel is, 536 feet in length, with 800 feet of track laid in tunnel and drifts, the whole costing $7,000. About 100 feet apart in the side drifts of the tunnel are two cuts across the ledge, in one of which it proves to be from 40 to 50 feet wide, and in the other they have run 30 feet and are not yet through the metal. It is a huge deposit, and one solid mass of mineral. Within the past two weeks, in making these prospects, they have extracted 400 tons of ore." The same gentlman, in speaking of the Jefferson ledge, owned by the same parties, P. Williams and John B White, says: "The shaft is down 150 feet, which has paid every foot from the roots of the grass to the bottom, the ledge being from 10 to 20 feet in width. The Buena Vista tunnel taps the ledge 300 feet below the surface. The owners now employ seventeen men in the shaft and tunnel, and Mr. Williams informs me that as soon as he can make room for them in the mine, he will put on some forty more.

This ore will average the same percentage of lead as Cerro Gordo lead ores generally—from 60 to 70 per cent., while assays resulted in finding it to be worth from 100 to 125 ounces of silver per ton.

Considering the fact that but a few weeks ago lead was scarce, the known deposits being worked out and it was thought probable that a sufficient amount could not be obtained to advantageously smelt the silver ore, the importance of this enormous strike cannot be overestimated.

PEACE.

It will be seen by referring to our extract of war news that Paris has capitulated, and the terrible war ended. This news reaches us through last Sunday's Alta, and without doubt, can be accepted as a fact, as in the nature of things within the city for several dayspast, the surrender was a foregone conclusion.

Gambetta has declared his determination to continue the fight, claiming that he can raise and equip two millions of men. His determination, however, will amount to nothing.

By the meagre details of the terms of capitulation it will be seen that Bismarck obtained the terms he insisted upon immediately after the Sedan surrender. As applicable to the French we may exclaim "How the mighty have fallen." They have lost men, material, prestige and territory, can scarcely claim any establishsd form of government, and all within a short period barely exceeding the third of a year. The wildest dreamer, a few months ago, could not have outlined a course of such wonderful events, culminating in the surrender by the leading nation of Europe of their capital.

Future historians will have a new era from which to date events.

German Emperor.

William of Prussia was proclaimed Emperor of Germany January 19th, in presence of all the German Princes and representatives. Exactly one hundred and seventy-nine years after the coronation of the first King of Prussia William accepts the title of Emperor of Germany.

Another Trip.

The oft-disappointed Millerites of New England have set another day for "going up"—the 11th of Febuary and they have already commenced to get excited and enthusiastic over their contemplated jonrney.

Good Ore.

The Salt Lake Herald says that forty tons of ore from Silveropolis yielded $ 23,522,46. The cost of working the ore was $4,289,26, leaving a net total profit of $19,283,14 on the forty tons.

THE DROUTH.

The continuous dry weather that has been experienced the present season in the southern and middle portions of the State has been the cause of much uneasiness and dissatisfaction. Though a little rain has lately fallen in those localities, the relief to the minds of all directly interested is but slight; because even if the present rains were copious, much more, later in the season, will be required to mature crops. The experience of late years proves the great uncertainty of the harvest, no matter how auspicious the beginning of the planting season. Though the hopes of the farmer may be temporarily raised, as they doubtless are by the late rainfall, it will require but a few days of sunshine to effectually dissipate them again. A partial remedy for the bad effects of a dry season is found in deep plowing and summer-fallowing, and as these plans have come extensively into use there need be no fear of general crop failure, let the season be as dry as any yet known. But, notwithstanding this, there are hundreds of settlers, in the southern part of the State especially, who feel a great desire to find homes in a locality free from the losses and inconveniences occasioned by the dry Winters they so much dread. Constant accessions to the population of the State are being made by the arrival of immigrants coming by land and sea. Because of the drouth and consequent uncertain returns for money and labor, the prospect for the new comers will be discouraging, though they may find in the coast counties, which seem to attract the most of them, lands as fair as the sun ever shown upon.

Our own section needs population. By setting forth our real advantages and inducements, and nothing more, in a proper manner, we doubt not many of the right sort would be glad to avail themselves of our superior advantages. While in truth we admit there are some things not perfectly couleur de rose, yet taking all the facts into consideration we believe our county presents superior advantages to any other in the State. Without attempting especial mention in detail, we will say that we have an excellent climate, good water and fuel; plenty of good government land and means of irrigation—thus rendering our farmers independent of dry or wet seasons, though the system does involve some extra labor. Crops yield well and surely. Our valley is literally surrounded by a belt of rich and inexhaustible mines of various kinds of valuable minerals.

In short, we have within the limits of Inyo county every material element, when properly developed, to warrant the belief in a great and prosperous future. We lack population, capital for the development of our mines, and a better system of communication with the outside world. Give us either one of these and the others will follow. Here are good opportunities for manufacturers, mechanics of every kind, farmers and miners.

Believing these to be facts, we consider it a duty to bring them to the notice of as many as possible of those who may be in search of homes.

STEAM WAGONS.

One of the Thompson Steam Wagons has lately undergone a very thorough trial at Oakland, and the fact pretty well proven that steam is a motive power that can be advantageously used on common roads.

This Oakland steam horse was put through his paces over all kinds of roads to be found in that vicinity,—up hill and down on good hard ground and through fields impracticable for an ordinary loaded wagon and team, and in every case his performance was satisfactory.

Making all due allowances for favorable reports, enough has been shown by this and other trials that these engines can be profitably used over any roads suitable for heavy teams. They are well suited to level, sandy roads, or in other words can be used on such roads, with no more loss of power than that incurred by ordinary teams over the same kind of roads.

Allowing for the steam wagon the ability of performance claimed for it the advantage in their use as compared to ordinary heavy horse and mule teams, is about as follows:

On good hard roads with a grade no greater than one foot in twelve, a first class Thompson engine will move 30 tons at the rate of 2½ miles per hour; to move the same number of tons by horse power would require, say twenty horses or two ten-horse teams. The out fit or first cost would be about the same. The necessary number of attendants in each case would be equal. In general terms the cost of fuel for the engine would not be more than half as much as the provender for the horses. The distance over which the load might be moved in each 24 hours would be for the horses, say 15 miles; for the engine, 45 or 50 miles. On heavy sandy roads it is assumed that the advantage would be still more in favor of steam.

On roads especially made for them these steam wagons have been used to great advantage; for men of means or a company there is an inducement offered to at least investigate their power and advantages, with a view of trying them on the level sandy roads through out this section of the State. We have but little doubt that in such roads as that leading from here to Los Angeles these steamers might be profitably used in the conveyance of passengers and light loads at high speed, if under such circumstances, they are capable of running at a rate of ten miles per hour. If practicable at all the expense would be very much less than a well stocked stage line, while after the road was prepared the capital required would be less. It is a matter, as we before stated, well worthy of investigation.

NEWS FROM PARIS—A SCENE.

A letter from Paris of the 23d, says a London correspondent writing on the 26th of January, has the following:

Yesterday, 128 days since the commencement of the siege, was witnessed for the first time since the investment a scene which all have been dreading more or less every day during the dreary four months. There has been bloodshed in the streets of Paris, not from the besiegers, but by the acts of those reckless adventurers who have all along sought in the siege and miseries and misfortunes of the country for the advance of their own interests. On Saturday evening a crowd of citizens at Belleville and other quarters, who had been threatening mischief since the failure of the sortie of the 19th, gathered in numbers around the prison Mazas, where Flourens, Lilliens and other political prisoners are incarcerated, and after various riotous demonstrations, gathered courage in the absence of opposition and made an attack on the prison. They beat down the gates with bludgeons, stones and iron bars. The jailers and turnkeys fled for their lives, leaving the jail free to the rioters, who opened the cells, releasing the inmates until they found Flourens, Millier, and their companions, who were borne away in triumph, amid cries of "a bas l'avre! a bas Trochu!" After parading the streets the ruffian crowd stopped and Flourens made a speech upon the Maire of the 20th arrondisement, comprising the turbulent quarters of Bellville, St. Fargeau, Pere La Chaise and Charonne, intending to establish the head-quarters of the revolutionary movement, which was hoped would extend over the whole city. However, as the parade failed to draw on any large number of followers into active co-operation, and finding those willing to plunge into revolation were badly armed and almost destitute of ammunition, the rioters abandoned the scheme after seizing 200 rations.

Bread will be ready for distribution among the starving population of Belville. Before dispersing, Flourens called on all present to make an oath to meet on Sunday noon in front of the Hotel de Ville, and there demand possession of the Government, in the name of the people. The rioters took the oath with great vehemence and excitement, and then broke up and returned to their miserable homes or wandered about the dark city like birds of ill omen, till daylight. At noon yesterday in accordance with their pledge, about 200 of the most repulsive, villainous-looking ruffians in the city, including a number of soldiers and the 101st war battalion of National Guards, marched in a body to the place in front of the Hotel de Ville, uttering revolutionary cries, and calling upon the citizens to arm.

Never during the present troubles has a crowd been seen bringing so vividly to mind the horrors of the old French revolution. They occupied the Place over an hour, without any opposition, surging, shouting and yeling. In the meantime a small guard of Mobiles and Bretons were drawn up in front of the Hotel de Ville who stood their ground, avoiding any collision with the mob by all means in their power.

After one o'clock the Adjutant in command advanced in front of the men on account of the somewhat more threatening demonstration by the crowd and was fired upon and fell, severely wounded in the head and arms. Immediately on seeing their officer fall, the Mobiles fired on the crowd, creating a terrible panic. Unfortunately a number of persons who had gathered as lookers on, encouraged by the length of time which had elapsed without violence, were drawn up in front of the Hotel de Ville, and received the shots of the Mobiles as the crowd fled shrieking. Apparently fifty of their number were left on the ground. It was afterward ascertained that five were killed, including one woman and two children and eighteen wounded more or less severely, besides several slighter hurts.

At the same moment that the Mobiles fired, a number of muskets were discharged from windows of houses on the east side of the place occupied by the rioters. Three or four Mobiles fell from the fire which was badly directed. The old casemates above the statue of Henri Quatre were completely riddled with bullets. After several rounds were fired, the Mobiles withdrew from the buildings and a large force of National Guards came at double quick time along the Rue Rivoli, with General Vinoy at their head. As they approached the Hotel de Ville, the rioters left the houses and fled before them, the guards allowing them to escape without shooting or arresting them. It is said Flourens was prominent among the rioters in the last attack before the firing begun, but was not seen afterward.

LETTER FROM DEEP SPRING.

DEEP SPRING VALLEY, Jan. 28.

MESSRS. EDITORS: By your permission I will give the readers of The Independent an item or two from this camp. I have not yet had time to visit many of the mines, but will at some future day give a description of the leading ones. The Blue Bird is a fine lead, and the boys have a tunnel in on the ledge some sixty or seventy feet, the ledge showing plain all the way in, and at the end of the tunnel they have ore of the finest quality. They also have a shaft on the ledge some fifty feet deep, which shows a good vein. On the dump they have some twelve or fifteen tons of ore, worth from $400 to $500 per ton. I am told that it is not very rebellious, and therefore not hard to work, yet will have to be roasted. The Cinderella is also a very fine ledge, from six to eight feet thick, and crops out boldly. A shaft thirty feet deep is sunk upon the ledge, showing fine metal-bearing rock; this mine is, without much doubt, one of the finest things in the country. I am told that the ore is refractory, and in fact it shows galena in almost every piece. This mine is favorably located (some five miles south of Wyman creek), and can be worked to a depth of several hundred feet, by running a tunnel into the hill, all the way on the ledge. Why the owners are not doing something on this claim is not understood, and when such locations as these are allowed to lay idle it is hardly to be expected that a district can prosper. I am told that this lead can be traced north to Wyman creek, and that it is all located, but nothing done on any of the claims.

I next called on Messrs. Hiskey & Walker, lessees of the property of the Deep Spring Milling and Mining Company. They are now busy building a reverbatory furnace, and expect to have the mill in running order on or before the middle of March. They have to remove all of the experimental playthings of Mr. Paul, and replace the pans. It seems strange that a company of intelligent men would allow themselves to be drawn in to the tune of some $10,000 by such a notorious humbug as —— ——.

There are more people here than I expected to find, and jolly good fellows they are. A party with a four-horse team have recently arrived from White Pine, and in fact they are arriving from almost every part of the globe. What they all want here I have no idea, unless they have come for the same purpose that I did—and that was to locate some ledges; and if I could not find any to locate I might find some to relocate, and I hereby notify all claim owners to comply with the law, or some one else will. I made one or two locations, and when I went to the Recorder's office I was informed that that gentleman was also Justice of the Peace, and was out on his judicial circuit, and his deputy was out on the river on a pleasure trip. But when I return to the river I can do as others do—file my notices with the Recorder.

There is a town site selected, and Harry Millington has erected a stone mansion, in which he proposes to feed the weary and hungry prospectors. There are also several private residences in course of construction. Mr. Ryan has adobes made with which to build a storehouse, and he soon goes to the Bay City to purchase goods for his new place.

There are several things much needed here, to make this camp lively: Some enterprising cuss with six or eight pack mules; another enterprising boy to carry express from here to Big Pine once or twice a week charging a reasonable price for carrying letters and papers, also doing other errands; and an indefinite number of men who want to prospect until they find something good and then go to work on their claims with a will and be determined to make a "raise," not do as all have done, locate a thousand and one claims and do nothing ourselves nor allow others to do anything. One good claim is sufficient for any man if he will improve it and make it a paying mine. I shall continue to look for a good ledge and when I find one I shall advise you of what else I have seen.

PROSPECTOR.

PARIS CAPITULATES!

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.

Paris capitulated on the 27th. Terms, surrender of the garrison and summoning of a National Assembly.

LONDON, Jan. 28.

Favre was in conference with Bismarck at midnight. Bismarck carried his point. Capitulation involves peace, the cession of Alsace and German Lorraine, and part of the fleet; a money indemnity, to be guaranteed by the municipalities; a portion of the German Army to return home, and the war to cease. It is necessary some territory be retained to secure the fulfilment of the compact. The Mobiles are to be sent home, and the German army to enter Paris. The Emperor to return immediately to Berlin.

LONDON, Jan. 27.

An official despatch, dated Versailles, Friday morning, says Favre returned yesterday to Paris. He will come to Versailles again to-day, accompanied by a military officer, for the purpose of settling the terms of the capitulation. There has been no firing since last Thursday on either side.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.

The news of the capitulation of Paris reached here at half-past ten tonight. Notwithstanding the lateness of the hour the news boys were soon crying the extras in the streets. There is but little excitement, as the news was anticipated.

From Washington.

We are glad to be able to state that the reports from Washington give hope that the appropriation for the San Pedro harbor improvement will receive the favorable consideration of Congress at the present session. Our Senators and Representatvies are lending their aid and influence to the cause, and they are backed up in their efforts by the documents and local information supplied by Senator Wilson, whose personal character and great familiarity with our State, as well as his labors to promote the best interests of California, are well known in Washington, and add great force to all his representations. He is, moreover, supported by the report of the eminent engineer, Gen. Alexander, of the U. S. Topographical Engineers, as well as by the resolutions of the Legislature of California. We hope the efforts of our friends may be successful, and that so necessary and important a work as the improvement of our harbor will be commenced this present year.—Los Angeles Star.

Napoleon's Position.

In a reported conversation, the Emperor is put down in this wise: "It would be quite well, "he said," if it were publicly understood that I never intend to remount the throne on the strength of a military pronunciamento, by the aid of the soldiery just as little as by that of Prussia. I am the sole sovereign who rules by the grace of God, next by the will of the people, and I shall never be unfaithful to the origin of either. The whole people, which has four times approved of my election, must recall me by its deliberate vote, else I shall never return to France. The army possesses no more right to place me on the throne than had the lawyers and leafers to push me from it. The French people, whose sovereign I am, have the sole decision."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

To avert evil is one of the grandest triumphs of human skill. This triumph is achieved by Dr. Walker's Vegetable Vinegar Bitters. They build up, fortify and renovate the feeble system, thus enabling it to defy the elemental causes of disease. Hence their efficacy as a protective medicine, in districts where the air and water are impure. The weakest and most susceptible organization is rendered proof against all malarious disorders by taking one or two doses daily as a preventive.

Saddle Stealing.

About the last of December a German living with Supervisor John Shedd had a saddle stolen from him. It had been gone about a month when J. Earle, Esq., missed one of his. Circumstances pointed to Dennis O'Neil and a man known as "Whisky Jack" as the parties guilty of the thefts, they having left but a day or two before the property was missed. Mr. Earle, desirous of punishing this infraction of law and rights of property, caused the parties to be pursued, Constable Paul Houard, of Fish Springs, and L. C. Dorsey being despatched after them. They started out on the evening of Sunday, January 22, and rode to the Deep Spring mill that day, from whence to Piper's ranch, and still further to McFee's, almost without stopping. Going on to Columbus, they could learn nothing of the men, and started to McBride's, and from there they went to Aurora. Getting tidings of their men here, the two again started on, Dorsey with a fresh horse, Houard expecting to get one at the Five Mile House; but in this he failed and was compelled to stop. However Dorsey, accompanied by W. F. Craven, of Sweetwater, went ahead and overtook the men about seven miles beyond that place. They amiably surrendered, and after a continuous ride of 225 miles by the officers, they were made prisoners and started on the back track. Messrs. Houard and Dorsey express themselves as under obligations to the citizens of Aurora generally, and Judge F. K. Bechtel in particular, for assistance rendered them. Being arraigned for trial here, before Justice Gunnison, the prisoners demanded to be tried before a jury, which was empanneled and the case proceeded with. After several hours of examining witnesses, pleading, etc., the jury were given the case at about 8 o'clock P. M. They were out until the following morning at 10 o'clock, and then reported that it was impossible for them to agree upon a verdict. The counsel for the prisoners now raised the question of the right of the Justice to try them, he having been absent from the county for more than three months, upon which the proceedings were quashed, and the prisoners released. O'Neil claims to have purchased the saddle from a soldier for $15 when he (O'Neil) was drunk, and hid it because he thought it was Government property. "Whisky Jack" has not, probably, even so plausable claim as this to set up.

Rich Quartz.

Mr. J. S. Broder, just arrived from the Deep Spring mining district, has with him a specimen of auriferous quartz from the Hard Cash lode that will assay at the least calculation $15,000 per ton, and he says that he has a large amount of the same sort in sight. Mr. Broder also says, that Hiskey & Co., of the Deep Spring Mill Co., have agreed to work the ore for him for $30 per ton. And, that they will soon be able to commence on customers work. This will soon let us know what we may expect from that district.

Hymenial.

Of late Cupid has been shooting his bolts promiscuously and with but little discrimination throughout the valley taking old and young alike. Though he may not cease firing for want of ammunition, he will soon have to do so for want of victims. The carnage in the ranks of the fair sex has been sweeping, scarcely any marriagable remaing untouched. It is a fact melancholy but true as the numerous remaining bachelors will testify.

New Name.

The upper end of this valley proper is known by the general name of Bishop Creek, and the same is the designation of the particular place where the Postoffice, Clark's Hotel and Sneden's store are located. For the better distinction, a name should be supplied for what is going to be a flourishing town—and we propose that it should be christened "Snethsigeden." Or any other man.

That Meeting.

Our Lokelitems got an idea into his head that last Monday came in February, and stated that the regular monthly meeting of Independence Engine Co. No. 1 would then take place. This was just one week ahead of time, as the meeting occurs next Monday. We repeat our previous advice in regard to the attendance of members.

Returned.

D. D. Gunnison, Esq. returned to camp last Saturday after a sojourn of several months on the other side of the mountains. His rather protracted absence is entirely excusable, seeing that he brought back with him a better half to assist him drowning the recollection of the miseries of his recent bachelor days. We extend a hearty welcome home to the Judge and his lady.

Mail Wanted.

It is about time that the residents of Deep Spring Valley were supplied with mail accommodations. The immense mineral importance of that section of country can not long be overlooked by the floating thousands, and some regular communication should be established.

Our Thanks

Are due to Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Donathan for the wine and cake received at this office. The wedding notices of last week were received at too late an hour to allow of an expression of our hearty and sincere wishes of happiness and long life to the newly wedded couple.

A German Capture

Of French was announced in our last paper, in the wedding notice of L. Munzinger and Miss Adalada Galaron. You bet your muck-a-muck! We send greeting to Louis and his lady, and wish them health and fortune.

The Champion Porker.

Cromwell & Garretson, of Bishop Creek the other day killed a hog that tipped the beam at 548 pounds, neat. This is the largest amount of pork contained in one pig's skin that we have heard of in this valley.

Sale of Mining Property.

At 2 o'clock next Monday Sheriff Talcott will sell, in front of the Court House, fifty feet in the Union mine, and two hundred feet in the Monitor ledge, on execution.

Gone With Them.

Sheriff Elder started last Monday morning, on the Southern stage, with Charles Hawkins and David Ormrod, to take them to the State Insane Asylum.

Proposals.

Superintendent Tregellas of the Eclipse Company has in to-day's paper, a notice of interest to parties desiring a ditching contract.

J. T. R. ON "SWYTHIAN."

De Arcy and His Reviewers.

At Home, February 1.

Messrs. Editors: In your last issue "Swythian" seems to labor heavily over the casualties and crimes of the atmosphere he breathes. His sensitive moral nature thereby make him a police gazeteer, and in that official capacity he allows his credulity to tampered with by some of those "sharpers," whom, he says, it is his duty to expose. Else he would not write a tissue of falsehoods, mentioning names in full, especially when the accused is not a public villain, and can make no defense on account of absence. Oh, Swythian! if we are morally great, let us be merciful; if we have bad neighbors, let us shun them; if we are brave, let our opponents have a chance of defense; if we are thievish, let us have no business jealousy about us; if we are mean and low, let us tear the good characters of those around us, for there is nothing like being on a level. Brother Swythian has luckily found a "duck of a thief" and "scoundrel" and he, with inspired genius, wings his flight to the realms of unsurveyed imagination, where he finds a certain Charles Dearsy, whom he fixes up as a "duck of a thief."

The following facts in the case can be attested to by persons whose names will be left at The Independent office: Mr. Llaski and a certain Spaniard sold to De Arcy a wagon, which he (Llaski) had in his possession to secure $80 owed him by the Spaniard. De Arcy contracted with the Spaniard to take the wagon and pay $30 to him, and keep the wagon until the amount was returned. In paying the Spaniard, Mr. Llaski interfered, he and the Spaniard having some angry words about the money. They afterwards agreed between themselves, and, following De Arcy up, they both received the sum of $80, and he took the wagon with their consent. It seems now the wagon in question belonged to Mr. Barker, who was in some way connected with the Spaniard. So there is a swindle outside De Arcy.

What become of the $80, dear Swythian? Why did Llaski send De Arcy to the Spaniard, telling him the Spaniard would never redeem it? Why did the Spaniard take it so easy when he first went after the wagon?

Now, Swythian, your hero would be harmless, but great writers like you, I and Shakspeare must paint our thieves infernal. Therefore you make Mr. De Arcy steal "four good horses" (no mustangs), but you say you do not know the brands. O, dull Swythian! the spirit of Shakspeare will wake and eject you out of the Trinity for breaking the thread of your narrative. You know we trio are licensed to bring imagination into play. Our old partner being dead, the two of us can start into the business of guess-work, and never become bankrupt. But we are utterly disappointed about the horses. Mr. De Arcy took five horses, belonging to himself. Mostly all persons in the northern part of the county are aware of this, and also that he paid his debts. But one of the firm says De Arcy came from Australia. This is the greatest crime of all, according to the theory of the guess-work firm, who have spent years of mental labor divining the secret of nature for the purpose of bringing before the public the science of Geographical Pathology.

Nature being very stubborn in her ways, following out her old contract without regard to Swythian or I, has planted in her own soil various races of men, distributing them to suit herself. She could not do them all justice. Consequently, a great mass of mankind is deprived of honesty or intellect; here our great intellects come in. My partner, Swythian, discovered it first. This theory will prove for the first time that Ireland and Spain are outside the pale of salvation. But Swythian tells me that nature made a special dispensation of her ways when she made me. I believe Swythian belongs to our firm, and we know every thing. Swythian knows a great deal and I know the balance.

Mining Discoveries.

A correspondent writes from Bishop Creek that some very rich mines were discovered in that mining district last week, there being four different prospecting parties now in the field, all sanguine that they have a big thing. The exact nature of these discoveries is not stated. The same correspondent adds: Messrs. Boley & Russell bought the Sides place, and Summers & Peder have bought the Ault place. The only objectionable feature in these changes consisting in the fact that none of these purchasers have families and consquently are not exactly the sort of settlers for a new country, when there is already a dearth of school population.

Worth Notice.

In a locality like Cerro Gordo where water is scarce and high priced, any one who will furnish a respectable substitute is a benefactor. John Hughes is that man He don't substitute water for whisky, but in lieu of water will furnish a warranted pure, exhilerating beverage. For consultation and a chance to play on the best billiard tables in the county, call at Davison & Hughes' saloon, Cerro Gordo.

Drugs and Medicines.

Parties standing in need of physic, either of the regular or patented kind, or any of the thousand and one ictas usually found in a drug and variety store, will always do better to call on the "men who advertise," among whom we will specially mention our old friend and pioneer, John Lentell, at the old stand, who will sell such things as cheap as any body.

Assessment.

An official notice appeared in our last week's paper of the levying of a $1 assessment on the stock of the Deep Spring Mill and Mining Company. The proceeds will doubtless be used to pay off the company indebtedness in the valley.

School Matters.

The Bishop Creek school, M. S. Clark, teacher is crowded, there being 45 or 50 scholars in attendance all the time. David Love has his school in Round Valley well attended and in good running order.

Lumber

The Bell Bros., at the Big Pine saw mill, will furnish lumber of a good quality at their mill, cheaper than any to be obtained elsewhere in the valley. See their new advertisement.

Blanks.

Parties wishing any description of legal blanks are requested to send in their orders now, while our press is running on them, and get them $2 per hundred lower than otherwise.

The Fenian Exiles

Who arrived in New York, January 27, had an enthusiastic reception at Sweeney's Hotel. Crowds of sympathizers assembled there and pressed their way in. Every one seemed anxious to greet Thomas Fancis Burke and Dr. Mulcahy, especially the former. The scene throughout was, in point of numbers and enthusiam, one rarely witnessed. O'Donovan Rossa and wife conducted the reception, and were objects of incessant attention.

How To Get Office.

In the Senate on the 27th ultimo, Schurz proceeded to review the necessities of the civil service and the remidies for existing abuses. Quoting from the investigations of the Retrenchment Committee into the New York Custom-house affairs, he showed the looseness of the system of political appointments.

Referring to the appointment by the President of friends and acquaintances to office, he mentioned the case of a Western applicant, who failing to secure a local and unimportant office, was recommended by a delegation from his his own State for Pension Agent and after failing in that, he undertook his own case, and being a man who must be provided for, was appointed by the President Minister Resident in a South American Republic. That office not being high enough the gentleman succeeded in having himself nominated Minister Plenipotentiary, but was defeated in the Senate. He was then made Governor of a Territory, and all this within seven days. At the conclusion of Schurz's remarks he offered as a substitute the bill introduced by him last session for a reform of the civil service by a system of competitive examinations.

Eastern Nevada Railroad.

The Eastern Nevada Railroad Company filed articles of association yesterday with the Secretary of State. The object of the company is to build a narrow gauge railroad from Elko, on the Central Pacific Railroad, to Hamilton, White Pine county, by the most direct and practicable route, which will be along the chain of valleys lying between the Diamond range of mountains on the west and Ruby range on the east, and rather between the old Wells, Fargo & Co. stage road—inclining to the former along the South Fork of the Humboldt and through Huntingdon Valley, and to the latter along Railroad Valley. Following is a list of the incorporators named in the articles of association: Dr. Volney Spaulding, John G. Mott (of Gillig, Mott & Co.), Wm. Hendrie, Herman Saddler, Frank Wheeler, D. J. Elmore, John D. Frent, M. P. Freeman, L. Wilsey, N. Wescott, J. B. Fitch and M. Lake.—G. H. News, Jan. 21.

The Ramie Plant.

The Pacific Rural Press says that Judge Graham of Haywood who has 80,000 surplus roots, has gone to Los Angeles, under a proposition from a large land company, to put out a quantity of roots on the plains. While we would not recommend farmers to cultivate ramie extensively, we think favorably of its moderate introduction generally on suitable lands.—Los Angeles News.

—A gentleman lately passing through a village in North Carolina, observed on a sign in the road, near a tavern, the following lines which, on inquiry, he found to be the offspring of the landlord's brain:

"I, John Dilworth, liveth here,
Sells good brandy gin and beer,
I made my borde a letel whyder,
To lette you nowe I sel good syder."

—A Hartford man carried home some ice cream in a paper the other day. He took it into a crowded car, and held it up so that as it melted a gentle meandering of it coursed down a $150 cloak on a lady passenger. It ruined the cloak, and the man said he was sorry.

Must Draw a Line.

A good story is told of a man who having, after a long struggle, worked himself into good society by means of the aristocratic alliance of his daughter, gave a grand dinner party to his newly acquired circle. He didn't invite his own brother, for the reason that "society is getting so mixed one must draw a line somewhere."

A Modest Request.

At a recent fashionable ball in New York, a mild-mannered man approached an elaborately dressed lady and said: "Will you please tell me what you have on? A fashion reporter wants to know."—Exchange.

The Great Medical Discovery!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the peculiar merit of quickly curing the most violent diseases of the Liver, and all the Viscera Organs. Congestion or inflammation of the Liver, and all the Viscera Organs.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

MEDICAL.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, August 15, 1868.

Allow me to call your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.

Buchu as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœia, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of profound confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

(From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.)

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WIGHTMAN,
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S

FLUID EXTRACT

BUCHU

For weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Natures which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forbodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

THE CONSTITUTION

Once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity ensues.

Helmbold's Fluid Extract of Buchu

In affections peculiar to Females, is unequaled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incidental to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu

—AND—

IMPROVED ROSE WASH

Will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superceding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copavia and Mercury, in all these diseases.

USE

Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu

In all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to effect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere Price $1 25 per Bottle, or 6 Bottles for $6 50. Delivered to any address. Describe Symptoms in all communications.

AH SIN'S REPLY TO TRUTHFUL JAMES.

The following verses, from The Albany Evening Journal, indicates both the growing popularity of the "dialect poems" introduced by Harte, and the ease with which very clever imitations of them can be produced:

Which my name is Ah Sin;
I don't want to call names,
But I must, to begin,
Say just this of T. James:
That I am convinced he is rather
Well up to the sinfullest games.

Yes, Ah Sin is my name,
Which I need not deny;
What I mean is no shame—
You will find if you try,
That its meaning is something Celestial—
And "how is that for high?"

And about that small game;
I did not understand,
So I made it my aim,
With the smile that was "bland,"
To keep my small eyes at the keenest
On Nye, as he dealt the first hand.

And the way that he dealt,
There could be nothing finer.
But somehow I felt,
"Mr. Ah Sin, from China,
Because you smile so child-like,
These fellows play you for a minor!"

But no slouch is Ah Sin,
And from the word "Go,"
I did play for to win,
And Nye—rather so,
And play the new game as I learn him,
Which showed level head, don't you know.

On my nails there was wax,
But that nothing proves,
When I state the real facts;
I was 'prenticed on shoes,
And that wax that was found on my fingers,
Was the kind the shoemaker's use.

And the packs up my sleeve?
My oath I will take,
Were not there to deceive,
But got there by mistake,
I bought them for Ah Sin, the younger,
Who like some card houses to make.

In my pockets they were,
When I sat down that day,
But what with the stir
And excitement of play,
They worked up my sleeve from my pocket,
And strange it was, too, I must say.

Was it right in Bill Nye,
When the trump knave I led,
For to blacken my eye
And on me put a head?
Had I known James led the right bower,
I'd have played something else in its stead.

But I don't play no more;
For my luck now is cast
On a ruchless shore,
So I "Stick to my last,"
And my smile at North Adams is pensive,
And my heathenish days they are past.

The "Queer"

[From The New York World.]

The most dangerous counterfeit ever issued was the fifty dollar legal tender note, an imitation of the second series of the government notes of that denomination. One shover boasted that he passed seventeen of them in one day upon the tradespeople of this city without detection. It is a pleasent reflection that this same man has within three months past been sent to the penitentiary at Alleghany City for a term of ten years for a similar offence. These notes were issued simultaneously in various parts of the country, and to all appearances bus but two defects. On the face of the counterfeit the lower button on Hancock's coat was omitted, and on the back of the plate two of the small numbers "50" run together.

Following this note came the one hundred dollar compound interest note, connected with which there is a tale of blood and horror which shows the depths of infamy to which this degrading crime will reduce its instigators. The parties interested in getting up this plate, having induced an employe of the Treasury to steal an impression of the genuine in the department itself, subsequently procured him to be poisoned, lest he should divulge the secret, seduced his wife from her father's house, and broke up his entire family. An Englishman, whom they subsequently employed to engrave the face of the plate, they procured to be charged with an infamous crime, and compelled him to leave the country. His son refusing to flee with him, was subsequently sent to Sing Sing for a term of seven years at hard labor. These parties being thus terribly disposed of, the secret was considered safe; a press was set up in a secluded place and $750,000 of the money printed. This was such a successful imitation of the genuine issue that the notes were freely taken at the banks; and were only discovered at the Treasury. The plates have since been captured by the secret service men and destroyed. The principals in this great crime made fortunes out of this project, with which they embarked in speculations which swept away every dollar. Of these men, one died of delirium, and one was sent to the penitentiary; of the third all trace has been lost.

Will Get Along.

In a thinly populated township in Iowa, remote from a school house, a citizen, having a family to educate, contrived to get a certain territory, of which he was the only inhabitant, set off as a new district. He then elected himself sub Director, and secured an appropriation to build a school house. He built a dwelling house for himself with the money, finishing off a school room in the upper story. He then used the contingent fund to buy himself a cooking stove, and warmed the school room by taking the pipe through it to the chimney. He then installed his wife as teacher of her own children, fixing the salary to please himself. This man will get along, if he don't get a set-back.

—A Maine sophomore tried to haze a freshman, but came off second best. The "fresh" tied him into a chair and shaved his head, all but a scalp-lock on the crown.

A Puzzled Dutchman.

A Wisconsin secular paper contains the following good story:

One who does not believe in immersion for baptism, was holding a protracted meeting, and one night he preached on the subject of baptism. In the course of his remarks he said, some believe it necessary to go down into the water, and come up out of it to be baptized. But this he claimed to be a fallacy, for the preposition "into" of the Scriptures, should be rendered differently, as it does not mean into at all times. "Moses," he said, "we are told went up into the mountain, and the Saviour was taken into a high mountain, etc. Now we do not suppose that either went into the mountain, but upon it. So with going down into the water, it means simply going down close by or near to the water, and being baptized in the ordinary way by sprinkling."

He carried this idea out fully, and in due time, season, and style closed his discourse, when he gave a general invitation to any one who felt so disposed to rise and express their thoughts. Quite a number of the brethern arose and said that they were glad they had been present on the occasion, and that they were well pleased with the sound sermon they had just heard, and felt their souls greatly blessed. Finally a corpulent gentleman of Teutonic extraction, a stranger to all, arose and broke a silence that was almost painful, as follows:

"Mister Breacher, I ish so glad I vas here to night, for I has had explained to my mind some tings I never could pelief pefore. Oh, I ish so glad 't into does not mean into at all, put shust close py or near to, for now I can pelieve many tings what I coot not pelief pefore. We reat, Mister Breacher, that Tamel vos cast into the ten of lions, and came out alife! Now I nefer coot pelief that, for the wilt peasts would shust eat him right up; put now it ish ferry clear to my mind. He vos shust close py or near to, he vos not in the ten at all. Oh, I ish so glad I vos here to-night.

"Again we reat that the Hebrew children vos cast into the fierish furnace, and that air always look like a pig story too, for they vouid haf peen purnt up; put it ish all plain to my mind now, for they were shust cast close py or near to, the fierish furnace. Oh, I vos so glad I vos here to-night!

"And, den Mister Breacher, it ish sait that Jonah vos cast into the sea and take into the vales pelly. Now I nefer coot pelief that. It alvays seemet to me to pe a pig fish story, put it ish all blain to my mind now, he vos not into the vales pelly at all, put shust shumpet onto his puck ant rote ashore. Oh, I vos so glad I vos here to-night!

"And now, Mister Breacher, if you vill shust exblain two more bassages of Scripture I shall pe, Oh, so glad I vos here to night! One of them ish vere it says the vicked shall pe cast into a lake that purns vith fire and primstone alvays. Oh! Mister Breacher, shall I pe cast into a lake that purns vith fire if I am vicket! or shustclose py or near to, shust near enough to pe comfortaple? Oh! I hopes you tells me shust close py a goot vay off, and I vill pe so glad I vos here to-night! The other bassage is that vich says plessed are they who do these commandments, that they may have a right to the tree of life and enter in through the gates into the city. Oh, tell me, shall I get into the city, and not close py or near to, shust so near to see vat I haf lost and I vill pe so glad I vos here to night!"

He sat down with the impression made on many minds present, that it would do to take the Bible for only what it clearly says.

A German Buying Land.

The following is from The Colusa Sun, of the 7th: "A few days since a vigorous German fresh from the 'Fader land,' appeared in Colusa, and approaching a gentleman who was agent for a large tract of land in the interior of county, made known his wishes to purchase a section, consisting of 640 acres. The gentlemanly agent exhibited a map of the property, and set the price at $8. The man concluded to view the premises, and after a two days' walk returned, and asked if the title was good. He was informed that it was a United States patent—the best that could be had. Upon being refused a reduction in the price, the land seeker concluded he would take the property. The land agent asked him if he proposed to pay in coin or drafts. After some hesitation the purchaser said he would pay in coin. The agent figured up and said, at $8 per acre it would amount to $5,120. The German very much astonished, struck an attitude, and ejaculated, "Mine t'under, dere musht hal been sum mishtake. I vas to haf pait eight tollars for de whole section." The sale was immediately declared null and void and of no effect.

Non-Suited.

Lawyer—"The coat's too long, the waistcoat's too long; in fact the entire suit's too long."

Tailor—"Dear me, sir, I'm so very sorry, but the fact is, I—I thought that gentlemen of your profession prefered long suits."

—"You are very stupid, Thomas," said a country teacher to a little boy eight years old. "You are a little donkey and what do they do to cure them of stupidity?" "They feed them better, and kick them less," said the arch little urchin.

MINER'S LAWS.

Local mining laws are in all cases made with the view of giving the pioneer prospector the full benefit of his discoveries and locations. The intention of the law is too often defeated by its very liberality in permitting the unlimited locations of claims, to hold which, merely a nominal amount of work is required. Being thus rated so cheaply in law, they are neglected by original owners until relocated by other parties, entailing expensive litigation or more serious troubles.

This is not the worst feature of a too liberally interpreted law. The principal interest of the country is subverted when the same individual is permitted to maintain posssession of just as many claims as he may choose to record. There is nothing in the law to prevent a prospector from locating and holding, for a year at least, one or more claims in every mining camp from the Columbia river to Arizona. The system is a fruitful source of law suits, besides retarding the development of the country. From sore experience monied men are chary of mining investments for fear of defective titles, mostly originating from the dog-in-the manger style of unlimited claim locations.

It is quite right that miners who were forced to abandon their claims a few years since from danger of Indians should be allowed ample time to regain possession, but that time is not supposed to extend much beyond the period when operations can safely be renewed. There are many good ledges in this county, we are told, whose owners have never been near, or had any thing done on them since the troublous times of '64. So far, the original right has been respected, but neither local or any other law of right will sustain these long absent owners should any one see proper to take possession of their claims. Many other valuable mines are lying in idleness, untouched for years, the owners of which never left the country nor ever find time to comply even with the simple requirements of local laws. We may reasonably look for an important addition to our mining population within the next year, some of whom will take and hold any claim of the class above mentioned that they can find should they so desire.

Foreign capital is finding its way to this country seeking investments in mining property. A pre-requsite with this class is a perfect title, and the only one entirely satisfactory is a United States patent. Purchasers under that law are perfectly satisfied that no legal quibble can rob them of their property, and mines offered for sale under that title will find buyers when others of a value otherwise equal will not be looked at. For the information of miners we shall next week, publish the United States law concerning mining patents.

Col. Avery.

We are pained to learn that Col. D. E. Avery has met with another severe accident, by beiug thrown from his buggy in the streets of Gold Hill, Nevada. No bones were broken this time though the force of the fall left him insensible for a half an hour or more. He had barely recovered from the stage accident incnrred at Aurora while on the way home from this place.

County Warrants.

The Board of Supervisors very sensibly declined to accept bills on the General Fund based on a valuation of the warrants at less than sixty cents on the dollar. They sell readily at fifty-five cents and but little on the market at that price. They will soon go at a higher figure, at least they should do so.

The Eclectic

For February contains the usual amount of varied reading matter. Considering the quantity, and nature of its contents, The Eclectic is a good magazine and cheap enough at the publishers price, which is but $ 2 per annum. Address John M. Scudder, Cincinnati Ohio.

Thanks.

Hon. S. B. Axtell has placed us under obligations for a number of valuable documents. Also, Hon. G. W. Julian for a copy of his speech entitled "The Overshadowing Question."

RAILROAD SUBSIDIES.

The matter of county aid to railroads is likely to become a question of more than ordinary importance to the people of this State. Attempts are being made to give the question a political cast. Already candidates have based their chances for conventional nominations according to sentiments on this question. As yet, however, it has not become a distinctive plank in the platform of either party.

The interest of nearly every county in the State demands railroad advantages. To secure these many of them manifest a disposition to go beyond their means in proffering aid. To restrain these counties from becoming hopelessly in debt the Governor vetoed a bill granting the right to vote cash subsidies to proposed railroads. This veto will be sustained by a majority of the people of the State in the next election should it become an issue as it probably will. The main objection to the unrestrained exercise of this privilege by counties is that they thus, in becoming the debtor of a soulless corporation, become its tools and the victims of its corrupting power in all matters of opposing interests.

But, while there are other serious objections to this form of aiding the construction of necessary railroads, we can see none whatever to the system pursued by the general government in giving grants of laud, especially in aid of such enterprises throughout the vast wilderness west of the Missouri No better use can be made of such otherwise worthless lands.

Certain newspapers are reiterating the charge that such disposition of the public domain is simply robbing the workingman. So far as this charge applies to the western portion of the American continent we do not believe it true in any sense. We can not see how the workingman is robbed by taking from him, so to speak, lands he never possessed, nor would desire to possess. Though owned by railroad companies the lands included in grants is still on the market; but, it is objected, the workingman who desire to purchase must pay an advanced figure for them. When the owner of a piece land adds to its original value by improvements he would rate it accordingly in case of sale. A railroad company ought to have the same right. Without obtaining title to a reasonable amount of land but few railroads would be built; without the railroads much of now valuable lands would not be worth the recording fee.

The newspapers before refered to say that the Central Pacific has monopolised the best timbered lands of the Sierra Nevadas, and by so doing have robbed workingmen. True, the company hold their half of these lands at high figures, but as the only value they possess is due to their proximity to the railroad, instead of robbing workingmen many hundreds have in consequence obtained profitable employment. There are thousands of acres of the same class of lands equally as good in these same mountains not covered by railroad grants that the workingmen can have almost for the asking. The same is true concerning farming lands in other remote corners of the State.

Our Mcteo logical Tables.

By the kindness of J. J. Rogers Hospital Steward at Camp Independence, we are enabled to present to our readers a table giving the mean of temprature for this point, running through a period of five years, extending back to 1866. By this it will be seen the mean average for that time is 59.5°, Fahrenheit; the hottest, 107; the coldest, 11° above zero. The average humidity, by hygrometer is 11.9°, and the average rainfall is 8.75 inches. The year 1869 had the coldest day as well as the smallest quantity of rain, the whole amount for the year measuring but 1.15; the greatest rainfall occurred in 1867, being 21.77 inches. Considering the altitude, which is 4,598 feet above the level of the sea, these observations show a better average, in a hygienic point of view than any other part of the coast north of San Diego. According to our recollection of published meteorological observations taken representing the vaunted San Diego climate, it is very similar to our our own.

The Reese River Reveille says:

The Inyo Independent takes us to task for what he calls our persistence in killing Judge Van Decar. Bless you Mr. Independent, we all but shed tears while penning the melancholy paragraphs concerning the supposed sad event, and were hugely relieved when we saw in The Placer Herald that the Jubge was alive and kicking, and made haste to copy the welcome Inteligence. As to that statement of yours about "dead matter," we must take your word for it, of course. It raises Inyo county in our estimation muchly.

NEWS FROM FRANCE.

The elections in France were to take place on the 5th and 8th of the present month. The Assembly is to consist of 753 members. The Imperialists are making every effort in favor of their own cause, but so far, their prospects are discouraging. The Empress Eugenie, from her retreat in England, urges her people never to accept peace on the terms proposed. The feeling throughout France in opposition to dismemberment is very bitter, indicating that peace is by no means an accomplished fact, though Favre and Trochu are using all their influence to elect an Assembly favorable to acceptance. A three week's armistice on land and sea was agreed upon, through which time Gambetta and others urge the people to drill unceasingly.

The French armies in the south of France still keep the field, and if the Gambetta party carry the election will resume operations on the expiration of the armistice.

The German army were not to enter the city and have not done so, though their flags fly over the surrounding forts. The Emperor William is still with the army, not having returned to Berlin, as reported. He has ordered 3,000,000 rations daily for the starving populace of Paris. Pending action of the peace movement 300,000 of the German Landwehr are ordered to hold themselves in readiness to take the field. Should the war be continued the savagness that has characterized the contest hitherto, will be put to shame by both parties in what is to follow.

The London Times pronounces the German terms as simply outrageous, and in other ways is encouraging the war spirit. Meantime, no Englishman dare enter Paris for fear of death at the hands of the mob, so strong is the feeling against England.

The prospects are that Bismarck's terms will in no degree be modified, and however humiliating to the proud spirit of the French nation, the Germans appear to be in position to enforce their demands.

Extensive Conflagration in Virginia City, Nevada—Two Lives Lost.

From The Gold Hill News of February 1st we learn that a great fire broke out in Virginia City at 1 o'lock that morning, by which two men lost their lives, and some forty houses were destroyed. The locality of the fire was in that part of the city immediately north of Piper's Opera House and east of C street.

The firemen displayed the most indomitable courage and energy in their efforts to check the fast spreading flames and to them the credit is given for saving the Opera House and a large portion of the city. The News says:

So rapid was the progress of the flames that within five minutes by the watch from the time the alarm was given not only three buildings on the west side of D street, but two on the east side, were on fire, and from the manner in which the wind veered and whirled sparks and even whole shingles, it looked at one time as though the whole eastern portion of the city would be destroyed. The firemen were doing their best, but in the narrow streets with sheets of flame rolling over them from both sides they could only take up their hose and retire—though they did not do so until citizen friends almost cursed them for staying after they had repeatedly requested them to come away. Particularly conspicuous at this time were two men mounted upon the roof of the second house from the corner of D and Union. They held a pipe and were covered with blankets and may not have been burned, but a dozen times outsiders gave them up for lost men as the flames rolled over them and they disappeared from sight. A friendly company occasionally played a stream on them, but the greater part of the time they were left to take the desperate chances. As the flames and smoke rolled over them one would be seen covering the other with his blanket, and supporting him until a change of the wind gave them a mouthful of fresh air, or until some company threw a stream on them for a few seconds. Those two men were more cursed by outsiders than any two men concerned in the fight with the fire, just because they expected to see them burned to death. "Why don't they come down? Oh, God! look at the flames rolling out of the windows under them! There goes the balcony and they don't know that all below them is a sheet of fire!" Now they are wrapped in smoke and out of sight. "I will bet you four bits you will never see them alive afiain!" There is a change in the wind—"there they are yet, d—n them!" cry a dozen voices; "why don't they come down?" At the last moment, and just as the building is swaying and rolling down the hill they stagger to the edge of the roof. A Hook and Ladder man sees the situation—"Steady, boys!"—down they come, and over goes the building with a terrible crash, while a shower of sparks ascends for hundreds of feet. The voice of the foreman is heard and they are again away with the pipe—a door before them and the flames striking down almost to their feet. But notwithstanding this they stand there. Meantime, several brave members of Washoe Engine Company No. 4 had carried their hose over a balcony upon the front of a house on the east side of D street. A cry is at once raised among the outsiders of "Where are the d—d fools going? Look at them; only look at them!" The men enter the window with the pipe and the hose, and a moment after the whole front of the building is a sheet of flame. Then there is a cry for help and all the engines near turn their streams upon the front of the building, into which the brave men had ventured. At last the foreman is convinced that no one can be still in the building and be still alive, and gives the order to pull back the hose. Out comes the whole string of hose, with water spouting from the pipe, but no man appears. Meantime, at the E street end of the building the spectators enjoy a rare treat. Five men rush to the end of the building, smash the windows and leap out. All but one strike the awning aslant and come safely to the ground, and that one goes square through to his arms and sticks, while the flames roll out through the windows above. Those were the men who had hold of the pipe which was pulled out of the front of the building. Whether they were doing their duty or not they had rather a close call. The only trouble—once the firemen were on the ground—appeared to be to keep them out of the fire. Outsiders were constantly calling to their friends, "For God's sake, come off that roof; the building is going!" or "Look out there; that sidewalk is sinking!" yet they all—all the firemen—came off unscathed, with nothing worse than blistered ears, cheeks and hands.

The charred bodies of the two unfortunates who lost their lives by being burned in Mrs. Sherman's lodging house, proved to be the remains of Patrick Ryan and Charles Smith. The latter had just been pardoned out of the penitentiary, where he was serving a term for the killing of Mickey Free, at Gold Hill, some years since.

Washinton News.

Dates of Febuary 3d state that the House Committee had an informal discussion upon the Southern Pacific Railroad bill, and it was understood would soon make a favorable report.

In the Senate the following was had in reference to War Pensions:

In the Senate, the pending amendment was to strike out the clause making the payment of pensions conditional upon proof by applicants of their inability to support themselves. It was agreed to.

Sawyer moved to grant pensions also to soldiers wives whose services were specifically recognized by Congress, although their service may have been less than three months. Sawyer said the amendment applied to some five or six survivors of a little band of boys who took part in the battle of Plattsburg, and were honorably mentioned in General Macombe's dispatches and in a resolution of Congress. The amendment was agreed to.

The amendment gives pensions to all who served three months during the war instead of requiring three months consecutive service. It was agreed to.

The bill was further amended so as to allow pensions only to the widows of soldiers who were married at the time of the war of 1812, and excluding all who subsequently married again; also making the time of service two instead of three months.

On motion of Stearns the provisions of the bill were extended to widows of the Revolutionary soldiers, and the bill then passed. It will be returned to the House for concurrence in the Senate amendments.

Magdalena Bay.

As great efforts are making by unprincipled persons, for the purpose of speculation to induce an emigration to this place, San Francisco papers are very earnest in their warnings to prevent any one being deluded by their deceptive representations, and one of them quotes the following extract from a description of the locality by J. Ross Browne, which, from the well-known character of the author, may be relied upon as truthful, and will show the heartless depravity of those engaged in the nefarious work:

"The coast upon which we landed is desolate beyond description; nothing in view but desert and sand hills, with patches of mangrove, mesquit, buhch grass and cactus. A magnificent evening sky constituted the sole charm of the scene. I climbed several of the highest points and could see nothing on any side but a vast stretch of desert, the dreary monotony of which was scarcely relieved by occasional elevations of bare sand swept into billowy hummocks, like an angry sand ocean suddenly paralyized. For a sweep of many miles the same fearful monotony prevails: no living thing disturbs the silence: the stillness of death reigns supreme."

A Good Time Coming.

We have it on good authority that the great desideratum—the cheap reduction of ores—is near at hand. No more monopolies. The Stetefeldt furnace, which instead of proving an advantage, has been a curse to this community, is knocked into a cocked hat Two different furnaces, working up to 93 per cent. and cheaper than Mr. Stetefeldt's, are now in successful operation in this State, and a company is ready, right here in Austin, to erect a mill with one of these and work ores for at least 30 per cent. less than present rates. There is no foolisuness about this. The parties are in earnest and have "soap" in abundance. They have been investigating this thing for some time and are perfectly satisfied that the new furnaces are all that they are represented to be. —Reese River Reville.

Indian Outrages.

Dates of January 25th from Lewiston, New Mexico, tell of continued Indian troubles as follows:

A week since fifteen men left here to prospect for gold in the Chericana mountains. News is just received from Apache Pass, through the mail driver, that the party were attacked by Indians and two of the number left for Fort Bowie to obtain assistance. Two miers were kiiled before they left. Intense excitement prevails here. The fear and suspense regarding the prospecting party are terrible, as it was composed of our best men. The mail from Los Mimbres to La Meilla was captured by Indians. Captain Russell, of Fort Bowie, left with a detachment of men to render aid. The Indians also stole and drove off about 3,000 sheep belongiug to Cristobal Chaves of Belen. Two men are supposed to be killed by Indians, as they have not been heard from. On Monday several citizens started in pursuit but they have not yet been heard from. The Indians drove the sheep in the direction of White Mountains.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The disguised drams, falsely called medicines, sold in bar-rooms as "tonics" and "stomachics," have nothing in common with DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS. That famous invigorant does not owe its stimulating properties to fiery and adulterated Alcohol, but to medicinal roots and herbs never heretofore combined. The effect of the Bitters in cases of constitutional debility, chronic indigestion, liver complaint, and all diseases tending to consumption, is so marvellous that except to those who have felt or witnessed it, the result seems incredible.

Canvassing Committee Appointed.

At the last meeting of Independence Engine Company No. 1, held on the 6th instant, it was resolved to begin work in earnest, to the end of an early purchase of an apparatus, a committee having laid before them numerous propositions from companies having extra engines to dispose of. The committée, as appointed by the company, with power to secure the aid of other citizens not members, consists of: I. Harris, Thomas May, H. M. Isaacs, A. C. Hanson and Thomas J. Goodale. The committee have no small duty to perform, but the safety and permanence of the very town itself demands a fire organization; and the citizens should, and doubtless will, make their liberaiity equal to the occasion. Twelve or fifteen hundred dollars is the amount required, but we had better raise it now, and stand some chance of having a town left should the fire-fiend ever get a start.

The Cyclops.

In our item concerning the rich strike of the Broder company, in Deep Spring Valley last week, we erred in calling the mine the "Hard Cash." It seems the ledge is entirely different from the one of that name, and is called the "Cyclops." The ore is of such character that the free gold will drop from it on handling, and the pieces shown us are certainly the richest specimens of gold rock we ever saw. We are promised a full description of the mine, but have already learned that the ledge is 22 inches in width, and the ore assaying so high up in the thousands that if our Lokleitems had but a ton or so of it he would resign his "sit" forthwith.

Indian Murder.

About 10 o'clock on the night of the 7th instant there occnrred one of those tragic Indian episodes which now and then take place, and which illustrate so well the murderous disposition of their nature. An Indian boy who had been carrying a pistol around Cerro Gordo for several days, found a squaw near Belshaw's furnace, at the time indicated, and shot her twice, both bal's piercing the heart, and then made his escape. The Indians say they do not know the cause.

A Fine Affair.

From our knowledge of the preparations being made for it, we conclude that the Washington's Birthday Ball, to be given by R. J. Morrison, at Benton, is to be a splendid affair. As we know of no other announcements for parties elsewhere on this day of days, "Bob" will doubtless have his hands full, for but few of those fortunate enough to receive an invitation will care to stay away.

Another

Of those elegant little dances came off at the Inyo House last night, with a much larger attendance than the one a night or previous, mentioned elsewhere. As the big dailies say, "our reporter was present," but Lokleitems is of the opinion that he got too dizzy in the mazes of the giddy waltz—or something—to be able to report anything very clearly. This circumstance will account for the unusual brilliancy (?) of his department to-day!

At Last.

The fire company publish this week a card returning thanks to Mrs. J. G. Payne, for the beautiful and appropriate painting of the name and motto of the organization, generously presented them by that lady on the occasion of their Inauguration Ball. Its beauty and appropriateness were much commented on by the many present.

Dance.

A nice little impromptu party came off at the Inyo House, last Wednesday evening. The convocation of a few friends suggested the idea of a dance, and music being procured, "de ball went on" to the thorough enjoyment of all present.

To Loggers.

Messrs. Bell Brothers offer a good chance for some working man to obtain a profitable job or contract to furnish saw logs to the Big Pine saw mill. No other capital than muscle or experience required. See notice under "New Advertisements."

Deserted.

On the night of the 7th instant, James O'Brien and —— Solan, privates of Co. B, 12th U. S. Infantry, at Camp Independence, deserted from the command and left for parts unknown.

Anxious.

We would like to have somebody report the proceedings of the meeting of the Pioneers, so extensively billed for last night.

F. & A. M.

Members of this order will observe a notice in another column inviting co-operation, which we hope may meet with full response.

Lumber Yard.

We learn that John Lentell is about establishing a depot opposite the Inyo House for the sale of lumber.

Lone Pine.

For several important Lone Pine items, consult "Scribbler's" letter.

Home Made Yeast.

The following is the most superior receipt for yeast I ever saw, and I have tried dozens, for we always use hop rising. It is available to country people, as it requires no yeast to commence with. Try it and you will use no other: Boil two ounces best hops in four quarts of water, half an hour; then strain it and let it cool to milk warm; then add a small handful of salt and half a pound of brown sugar; beat one pound of flour with some of the liquor and mix all together. The third day add three pounds of potatoes boiled and mashed, and let it stand until the next day; then strain it and it is ready for use; stir it frequently and keep by the fire while making, and stir it well before using it. This is very strong and only half the usual quantity is required.

LETTER FROM LONE PINE.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

Lone Pine, February 8, 1871.

Messrs. Editors: By your last paper I see that your correspondent from this place, "Swythian;" has failed to connect, and feeling somewhat inclined to give your readers some account of the doings in and around our burg, I therefore avail myself of the present opportunity.

Times have been rather dull since the holiday sports, and we have not done a very rushing business generally for the last month or more, but at present everything begins to look up, and we anticipate good times in the Spring and Summer. So mote it be.

Our old friend, Col. Sherman Stevens arrived in town last Friday from a trip to h'old Hingland, where, I learn, he succeeded in forming a company, and is going to erect a furnace at the mouth of Cottonwood creek, for the purpose of working ores from the Cerro Gordo mines.

Mr. A. H. Dorr is now gone to the lower end of Big Lake, for the purpose of selecting a suitable place to erect a furnace to smelt the ore from his famous Santa Maria mine, at Cerro Gordo.

Our old friend and townsman, George Zobelien arrived in town yesterday from a three or four months' tour in the southern counties, and returned perfectly satisfied that Inyo county is a better place than any he visited. George took himself a better-half at Los Angeles, and looks much improved. What a wonderful change it makes it makes in the appearance of an "old bach" to get spliced! How slick and neat they look, eh?

We have a good school in town now: Miss Galiff is teaching a subscripiion school, with about thirty scholars in attendance.

One night last week, about 9 o'clock, some one entered the grain store of Peter Pearson, while the proprietor was enjoying a game of billiards at Fred Grothey's saloon, by tearing off a board from the back part of the store, and went through Peter's money drawer, taking therefrom about $25 in gold and silver coin. There were two Belshaw orders in the money drawer, bu the thief left them, probably thinking that if he took them they might lead to his discovery. Peter takes it easy, as he does everything, but says he did feel somewhat inclined to cuss a little at first.

On last Thursday a man by the name of Hutchison hired a horse and rigging from I. W. Hunt's livery stable, for the avowed purpo-se of going to Swansea. On Saturday morning some parties from that place reported that he had not been there, and on inquiry Mr. Hunt l arned that he crossed the Lone Pine bridge and turned up the valley, and also ascertained that he had stopped at Mathews' place on Thursday nigh, and told Mathews he was going to Bishop Creek. Mr. Hunt went before Justice J. J. Moore and laid a complaint of grand larceny and obtained a warrant for the arrest of Hutchison, and on Saturday evening started in pursuit of his man. Should he overtake him I will give you particulars in my next.

LETTER FROM "SNETHSIGEDEN."

Snethsigeden, February 7, 1871.

Messrs. Editors: Our usually quiet town (to which you gave the euphonious name of Snethsigeden in your last issue), was most agreeably surprised by the arrival of a party from Independence, in search of a judge who is said to preside in that Court where, for time out of mind, Hymen plays the leading part. Mr. W. P. George and Mrs. Margaret E. Blaney, accompanied by their mutual friends, Mr. and Mrs. P. Reddy, made their advent among us, and on the 4th instant, Mr. George and Mrs. Blaney were duly married, Judge Wayland doing the agreeable, and Mr. and Mrs. Reddy acting the role of groomsman and groomsmaid. I should like to give you a description in extenso of the personal appearance and dress of the parties most interested on this festive occasion, but this I must leave to some more worthy Jenkins, better posted in the technicalities of dress and fashion. In a word, however, I will say both principals and accessories were turned out in a style most gorgeous, gotten up out of the very best material, and with an utter recklessness as to expense.

I would add that Mr. and Mrs. George must feel highly gratified at the warm and hearty reception which they received at the hands of their old and tried friends. Mr. George is a member of the Sons, and the entire lodge turned out in their spierdid regalia, to do honor to their brother and tender their congratulations. Our old friends Mr. Sneden and lady threw open to the happy couple the full and free hospitalities of their house. Along about the wee short hours, the anvil artillery was trotted out and much saltpeter consumed, under the able management of the brothers Crough and Mills, waiting our rejoicing and well wisdes to the ears of our guests.

To wind up the festivities of this most pleasant occasion, a grand dance was inaugurated for the gratification of Mr. George and lady, which was attended by all of our belles and beaux, as well as our more staid and steady going people. The dancing was kept up with unabated vigor until a late hour, when bride and groom retired, amid the congratulations and hearty good will of all present. Long may they wave.

Premiums may be paid entirely in cash, annually, semi-annually, or quarterly; or, if desired, one-third may be allowed to remain as a loan on the policy, at interest, until canceled by dividends, or otherwise. The remaining two thirds may be paid annually, semi-annually, or tri-annually.

DIVIDENDS.

The Surplus of the Company is distributed annually among the policy-holders on the "Contribution Plan," each one receiving the full amount which his policy has contributed to the formation of the surplus.

On All Cash policies dividends apply annually after the second year, and may be used in one of the three following ways:

1st.—To reduce the third and all subsequent annual premiums.

2nd.—To purchase additional insurance, payable at the same time as the original policy.

3d.—To purchase additional insurance payable in case of death within one year.

These dividend additions may at any time be converted into cash for the payment of future premiums. They thus form a large and constantly increasing reserve fund, which may be availed of in time of misfortune and pecuniary embarassment.

In the case of policies paid up by a limited number of annual premiums, the dividends do not cease with the term of payment, but continue until maturity.

20,375 Members have been obtained since the Company organized, and notwithstanding the hard times so generally complained of all over the United States, the CONTINENTAL has issued 2,774 more policies in 1869 than in the year previous—being an increase of 46 1-5 per cent.

A Donation Party.

Somewhere in Pennsylvania there is a Presbyterian clergyman whose nominal salary is four hundred and fifty dollars a year.

But as it was six months in arrears the congregation determined to give him a donation party, to help him along.

It came off—the donation party did. The entire flock was on hand, but of the presents there were only six rolling pins, a pen-wiper, and a quarter of a peck of onions.

The minister, of course, had to furnish refreshments; and the company not only discouraged four hams, three and a half pounds of sixty cent butter, and thirteen loaves of bread, but they ate up two pounds of sugar and all next Winter's preserves.

To crown all, four spoons were missing.

The clergyman says he wants to have just one more donation party and he will close up his business and begin life over again as a champion pauper at the almshouse.

He is particularly down on one sister who jammed herself full of ham and preserves and enough other succulent diet to keep the entire family a week, and then lay up against the wall, pretending to feel religious, and singing, "There is rest for the weary."

A Disgusted Lover.

A disgusted lover, who went with his adored Malvina to "one of them cussed huggin' balls" the other night, didn't wait to see the end of it. On the contrary, he "rid his bosom of the perilous stuff" that weighed upon his heart by quoting the following:

What! the girl I adore by another embraced?
What! the balm of her breath shall another man taste?
What! pressed in the whirl by another man's knee?
What! panting, reclined on another than me?
Sir! she's your's. You have brushed from the grape its soft blue:
From the rosebud you've shaken the tremulous dew;
What you've touched you may take. Pretty waltzer adieu!

—To Kill Ants—Hit your uncle's wife on the head with a hammer.

—What should a man carry with him when calling on his affianced?—Affection in his heart, perfection in his manners, and confection in his pockets.

—Another little girl wants to know if fleas are white, because her uncle had told her that "Mary had a little lamb with fleas as white as snow."

—You might as well attempt to shampoo an elephant with a thimbleful of soap-suds as attempt to do a big business without advertising.

—The choir sang "Come, Ye Disconsolate," at a recent wedding in Lafayette, Ind. The bride, who is thirty-two, says she isn't near so disconsolate as she was.

—A person in prison was asked by a friend what it was for. "For telling lies," he replied. "Telling lies! how is that?" demanded the other. "Why, telling people I would pay 'em and not keeping my word."

—A man in Exeter, Massachusetts, refused to have the pegs of a new pair of shoes he was buying for his boy rasped off, because in that case the boy would run all over town, and the shoes wouldn't last him three weeks.

—A Quaker Indian agent, who has recently visited the Cherokees, Choctaws, and other tribes, gives it as his opinion that the Indian females can be elevated, and adds that "hoop skirts are more useful in a family than war-whoops."

—In 1830 the United States had forty one miles of railroad. In 1870 the United States had fifty thousand miles of railroad. Ohio has nearly four thousand miles—more than any other State except Pennsylvania and Illinois.

—For over thirty years an old gentleman at St. Albans, Vermont, has made a practice of, getting out of bed every night at eleven, twelve, two, and four o'clock, to enjoy a comfortable smoke.

—"Strange that the prisoner, on trial for his life, should appear in court with such a smooth countenance!" exclaims Jones. "Oh, he was ironed just before he was brought in," explains Bones.

—A college Professor, having requested that some man should go to the President's office on an errand, nearly the whole class rose to their feet. The Professor's question, "How many of you do you think it takes to make a man?" quickly brought them to their seats again.

—A little girl, on hearing her mother say that she intended to go to a ball, and have her dress trimmed with "bugles," innocently inquired if the bugles would blow while she danced. "Oh! no," replied the mother, "your father will do that when he dicovers that I have bought them.

—One of the miseries of life is to be beaten in an argument, and in ten minutes afterward to think of an expression that would have totally annihilated your opponent.

—"Will you dake sumding?" said a German teetotaler to a friend, while standing near a tavern. "I don't care if I do," was the reply. "Vell, den, let's dake a valk."

—A man who won a fat turkey at a raffle, on Christmas eve, and whose pious wife was very inquisitive about the method of obtaining it, satisfied her at last by the remark that the "Shakers" gave it to him.

—Father—"Who's the pitcher in the Red Stocking base-ball club?" Son—"Why, Brainard" Father—"In the White Stocking club?" Son—"Pinkham." Father—"Who was the first President of the United States?" Son—"I, I don't remember."

An Effectual Rebuke.

On his way home from his last tour in Ireland, Rev. Roland Hill was very much annoyed at the reprobate conduct of the captain and mate, who were greatly addicted to the ungentlemanly habit of swearing. First, the captain would swear at the mate, and then they would both swear at the wind.

"Stop, stop," shouted Hill; "let us have fair play; gentleman, it's my turn now."

"At what is your turn?" asked the captain.

"At swearing," replied Hill.

After waiting until his patience was exhausted the captain urged Mr. Hill to be quick and take his turn, for he wanted to begin again.

"No no," said Hill, "I can't be hurried; I have a right to take my own time and swear at my own convenience."

"Perhaps you don't intend to take your turn," responded the other.

"Pardon me" said Hill, "but I do as soon as I can find the good of doing so."

The rebuke had its desired effect; there was not another oath on the voyage.

—"Do you know the prisoner, Mr. Jones?" "Yes, to the bone." "What is his character?," "Didn't know he had any." "Does he live near you?" "So near that he has only spent one dollar for fire-wood in eight years." "Did he ever come in collision with you in any matter?" "Only once, and that was when he was drunk and he mistook me for a lamp-post." "From what you know of him, would you believe him under oath?" "That depends upon circumstances. If he was so much intoxicated that he did not know what he was doing I would. If not, I wouldn't."

—"Boss, I want twenty-five cents," said a jour printer recently to his employer. "Twenty five cents! how soon do you want it, William?" "Next Tuesday week." "As soon as that? You can't have it; I've told you often that when you wanted any large sum of money you must give me at least four week's notice."

—An ignorant fellow, desirous of "showing off" in a company where the conversation was of a classical character, speaking of Leander crossing the Hellespont for an interview with Hero, designated the feat as "Leander swimming across the the herring-pond to see Nero."

—A gentleman visiting Glasgow for the first time, and falling in with very wet weather, inquired of a person in the street if it always rained in Glasgow. "No," was the answer, "it snaws sometimes."

—A colored gentleman during the recent cold weather was asked if he didn't think it was below zero. "Below zero, chile! zero done froze up long ago, and dar's no use talking any mo' about him."

—Cowper speaks of "the bubbling and loud hissing urn." The same little machine, when it won't do either, bubble or hiss, may be described as taciturn.

'Tis sweet to court,
But, oh! how bitter
To court a gal
And then not git 'er.

The Great Medical Discovery!
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS,
Hundreds of Thousands
Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.
WHAT ARE THEY?
FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or married or those near the change of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.
They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the combined properties of a Purgative, Tonic, Diuretic and Sedative.
THEY ARE NOT A VILE
FANCY DRINK,
Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.
For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.
DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.
Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.
They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.
FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.
PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

MEDICAL.

TO PHYSICIANS.
NEW YORK, August 15, 1866.
Allow me to call your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.
MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.
Buchu as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœia, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.
Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,
With a feeling of profound confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

(From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.)
NOVEMBER 6, 1854.
"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."
WILLIAM WIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S
FLUID EXTRACT
BUCHU
For weakness arising from indiscretion, the exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, some of which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forbidings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enjoy the enjoyments of society.
THE CONSTITUTION
once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. It is compatible with no form of disease, it can be administered to, Constitution or health, alone.
Helmbold's Fluid Extract of Buchu
In affections peculiar to Females, it is unrivaled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary evacuations, Ulceration or Inflammation of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.
Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu
—AND—
IMPROVED ROSE WASH
Will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.
USE
Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu
In all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. It is decided in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.
Those suffering from broken down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.
The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to effect the bodily health and mental powers.
All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.
Sold by Druggists everywhere Price $1 25 per Bottle, or 6 Bottles for $6 50. Delivered to any address. Describe Symptoms in all communications.

A TRIP BY THE ISTHMUS.

(Second Paper).

FOR THE INDEPENDENT, BY J. C. WATT.

For some hours previous to our arrival in Panama the steamer presented an unusual scene of bustle and confusion. Passengers collecting and picking up their traps, running around to each other's state rooms to have a farewell cigar, a sociable chat and interchange of cards, and magnanimously dispensing four-bit pieces to the eager and expectant waiters below—all forming features peculiar to the occasion—announce that something unusual, though certainly not unexpected, is about to take place, which the unwonted activity among officers and men, the hoarse orders rapidly given and obeyed, and the long rolls of rope in process of coiling on the upper deck, the operation being performed to the time of some Celestial, though not divine, ditty—the words of which were completely lost to our barbarous ears—serve to strengthen. Dinner hurriedly eaten, with scant ceremony, and tables presenting but a faint reflection of the former glories of toilet and cusine, plainly indicate—were such indication necessary—the anxiety felt to leave our good old Father Ocean and to tread the soil the foot of Pizarro and his trusty followers has rendered classic.

It was with a feeling of genuine curiosity and expectancy that our eyes first sought and rested on the domes and housetops, gilded bright in the gorgeous colorings of a tropical sunset, of this, the oldest city on the Pacific seaboard, and approaching nearer, that our ears caught the first silvery peal from the far-off cathredral, inviting, with its musical chimes, to approach and offer up their evening prayer to the "Sanctissima Virgin" in the beautiful verses and to the solemn music of the "Ave Maria," the touching strains reaching us in a rich gush of melody softened by distance and the beauty of the glorious surroundings.

For an hour or more we sat listening to this lovely music, and feasting our eyes on the delicious panorama spread out before us, almost believing, for the moment, that we had in truth cast our anchor in a very fairy land.

A general desire was of course entertained by every one to go ashore at once, and have a view of this seemingly lovely city and a ramble along the beach glistening in the sheen of the fast rising moon, and great was the disappointment when informed that passengers must remain on board till the following morning, when a tug would transport them at once to the railroad depot, where, jumping on board the cars, all opportunity of the much desired visit would be lost. This distasteful and, to all appearance, unreasonable arrangement was owing, we were told, to a terrible fracas which had occurred some years before between the natives and a number of rough steerage passengers, who had indulged much more freely than was consistent with good health in the fiery, home-manufactured "aguaradiente," and, maddened by drink and the unexpected resistance, a fierce battle—a la brickbats—resulting in the loss of several lives and the maiming of several others, as the upshot.

We were bitterly bemoaning our hard luck and contemplating all sorts of desperate ruses to escape the vigilance of the guards and get aboard of one of the numerous small canoes in waiting around the steamer, when we were most agreeably relieved from our dilemma by an unlooked for offer from our genial doctor, to accompany him in his private launch, and offering to show us as many of the "lions" as was possible in the short time.

Of course we accepted with thanks, and, with a glance of heart-felt pity at the crowd of envious faces watching and wondering at our departure, seated ourselves in the cushioned stern, and in a few minutes landed just inside the long line of foaming breakers, and proceeded through many a street quaint with by-gone style of architecture to the "plaza," a sort of hollow square formed respectively by the old cathredral and offices, the "Grand Hotel de Panama"—an imposing stuccoed edifice of recent build—the American Consul's private residence and reception rooms, and a number of curious old fashioned stores, where cigarittos and "martelle" seemed to form a large proportion of the stock in trade. This is apparently the center of the town, from whence diverges a number of narrow, up-hill, unimportant streets, occupied by small tradesmen and some few private families, and these streets straggling along unevenly for some distance form the suburbs of the city—not inviting ones, certainly, nor such as might be expected from their romantic appearance from the water, but of which the natives seem to be, nevertheless, sufficiently proud.

Although, owing to the late hour of our visit, the time-worn old city was very quiet, and many objects of interest were undoubtedly passed over in our cursory ramble, enough was yet seen to interest us fully and make us wish that a longer time could be allowed to push our explorations, convinced that a fortnight or so could be passed pleasantly and profitably in our "antiquarian" researches, in following the footsteps of those stout old Spanish pioneers, and in tracing their progress and the effects of that progress from one standpoint to another, through the ages that are past.

Most of the business of the town is transacted during the early portion of the day, and from the cool of the evening until nine or ten o'clock—all stores being closed and mercantile transactions suspended generally during the heat of noon—at which time there is scarcely a human face to be seen on the streets, and the place assumes a deserted, melancholy appearance very observable, and unpleasantly so, to the stranger.

The evening, as in our own country, is the time most especially devoted to the interchange of those social courtesies and friendly visits which form such a pleasant and grateful contrast to the busy hours of the day, and these Spanish Dons, albeit somewhat reserved and formal with strangers, yet, in their own domestic circle, and surrounded by their own families and friends, very agreeable and hospitable. They attend also with scrupulous regularity and conscientiousness those religious ceremonies and observances which form so important a part of their daily lives, and, on the whole, appear to be well satisfied with the even tenor of the ways of the world in general, and of Panama and its surroundings in particular.

After having passed an evening of real pleasure and profit, we retired at a late hour to the Grand Hotel, and rising betimes in the morning, partook of a bona fide Spanish breakfast, well served and heartily enjoyed, and at once proceeded to resume our rambles until warned by the cathedral clock that it was time to repair to the depot and be in readiness for our ride across the Isthmus, a journey long looked forward to with feelings of pleasant anticipation, and now about to be realized. On our arrival at the terminus, the tug boat, with its freight of ill-contented passengers had arrived, and for some time the scene at the wharf and in the baggage room was one fraught with much amusement and quiet self-satisfaction to one who had already had his "impediments" marked, passed, checked and the duplicate safely in his pocket. Such shouting, swearing and confusion; such surly orders, entreaties and questions; in every known language and in every possible accent was something that must be seen and heard to be appreciated, and will be remembered by every one as one of the "novelties" of the trip.

But finally, somehow or other the difficulties are gotten over, the questions all answered and the seats taken in the cars, which by this time have backed down on the long covered pier, and with a shrill whistle and sudden start we roll slowly over the rail-covered tiles, and the memorable ride has commenced. The entire length of the road from Panama to Aspinwall, the terminus on the Atlantic side, is about forty-seven miles, and is comfortably performed in three hours. The cars are of a more "modern" build than could perhaps be expected, of the usual length and size, and the seats made of cane or wicker-work instead of the velvet covered upholstery usual in other countries, probably for purposes of coolness and health.

For a few miles the country is partially open and cultivated, with here and there a snug little frame house, white-painted and broad-porched, surrounded by cocanut and palm trees, and looking rather comfortable and home-like in its secluded quiet. But these few traces of civilization are soon passed and the landscape rapidly changes to one of the wildest and dreariest grandeur. The road winds tortuously through dense forrests of tropical trees, whose rank, luxuriant foliage seems almost to exclude the light of day, and huge parasites, clinging in close embrace and twining around the branches in snaky coils, drip with poisonous moisture and send forth the very spirit of fever in wreaths of steaming vapor. Farther on, in the very depths of this malarial wildness, the far-famed Chagres River is reached and for a distance of twenty miles the railroad follows its sickly course through a constant succession of swampy forest land and an atmosphere dank and pregnant with disease. What an undertaking it was to clear a way and construct a road through such a country, and with what a fearful mortality attendant on it, is known to everyone and needs no comment. It has been stated, indeed, that there lies a dead man beneath every sleeper on the road, and although the remark was not intended as literal, it is still too near the truth.

Passing this dismal tract the country begins to open and clear a little, and low-thatched native huts are occasionally passed, where a troop of small unclad youngsters are generally grouped around the door, whose fat, oily faces and aldermanic proportions seem to laugh and give the lie direct to all imputations on the unhealthiness of the climate—indeed these children are an anomaly which is difficult of explanation.

There are three stations on the road, at each of which the iron horse lays in a fresh supply of wood and water, and during this process the cars are invaded by numbers of young natives bearing on their heads, in huge baskets, tempting clusters of bananas and other tropical fruits, which are offered for sale, and greedily purchased by those to whom they are a novelty. Hard boiled eggs are also passed round, and meet with liberal patronage; and truth to say we have a recollection of putting some half dozen or so in our own belt for safe keeping, the custody of which caused us some bitter pangs later in the evening.

Growing in great luxuriance along almost the entire length of our road was the curious little sensitive plant, green, tender and fern-shaped, so delicately made as to shrink at the slightest touch, and contract and shiver as though in pain or terror at the near approach of a hand or finger. Much talked of and curious to be seen was also the beautiful "Espiritu Santo," or "Flower of the Holy Ghost"—a lily-shaped blossom and the exact image of a dove with folding wings and gently curving head resting quietly within, calm and saintly as the sacred name it bears.

The approach to Aspinwall was heralded by an increased freshness in the air, and a more healthy, buoyant feeling in the atmosphere; and ere long we caught the first glimpse of the Atlantic, looking black and stormy in the midst of a sudden tropical shower, which soon enveloped us in its sable folds, and, for a time, everything appeared very dismal and gloomy, but clearing as unexpectedly as it had come on, the setting sun shone out in rainbow colors, and we drew up at the depot in a perfect blaze of warm sunshine. Here occurred another scene of confusion, but this over we proceeded down the main street of the town to the wharf and on board the steamer "Arizona," where, having disposed of our bag and baggage in stateroom "No. 52," returned on shore to "do" the city and make the most of our short stay. This, however, did not prove an arduous undertaking, for Aspinwall can boast of but one or two streets, and these extremely muddy, dirty and untidy, and in an hour's time we had seen everything that was to be seen.

The population seems to be pretty equally divided between Spaniards and Spanish negroes, the latter predominating; and the vending of native fruits, jerked turtle meat and liquors the most thriving branches of industry. The climate is warm, sultry and unhealthy, and the "Chagres fever" prevails, at certain seasons, to an alarming extent. Altogether, we were not at all sorry when about noon the following day we weighed anchor and stood out to sea, leaving rapidly behind us the coast of South America, and standing boldly up the Carribean Sea, en route for New York. The "Arizona" proved to be a comfortable, roomy steamer, though not so large as the "Colorado," and everything assumed much the same aspect as on the Pacific, with the exception of rough weather, which we experienced in greater or less degree during the whole of our Atlantic voyage.

The first incident of interest occurred in passing the Guano Islands, off the coast of which we hove to and took off the mails, carried out to us by a couple of swarthy Spaniards, in a small, open boat, and leaving with them, in return, a bundle of papers containing the latest news and gossip from the "world" continued our voyage. These Islands are well known, and valuable for the rich guano manure, the deposits of ages, and large quantities are constantly shipped by vessels employed expressly for the business, and carried to all parts of the world.

Cape Maisi, on the eastern extremity of Cuba, was the next land sighted, the steamer passing within a couple of miles of shore, thus affording us a pleasant glimpse of this "beautiful isle of the sea." While still off the coast we were awarded the privilege of witnessing one of the most beautiful sunsets we had ever seen. The glowing orb, sinking slowly and majestically into its watery bed tinged with colors of the richest hue the surrounding ocean, and the masses of heavy clouds overhead assumed, with ever varying tints, every imaginable fantastic shape. Huge castles and ancient fortresses, with towers, minarets, bastions, draw-bridge, complete and drawn out with wonderful distinctness, frowned darkly upon us and seemed ready to deny permission to pass their massive portals—while beyond, stretched out in rainbow form and color, narrow strips of fleecy clouds chased each other across the blue firmanent,

"Girding the leagues of waste
With ribands of molten pearl."

Still further on the summits of the Cuban Cordilleras seemed aglow with living fire, and burned and shimmered lustrous in the glory of the setting sun. Never before had it been our lot to gaze upon a scene of such surpassing lovliness, and long we sat there "wondering, fearing" till the short Southern twilight deepening into night shut out the glorious picture, and recalled us to the more substantial contemplation of—dinner.

A day or two after we passed and exchanged signals with the Company's steamer "Alaska," for Aspinwall, but owing to the heavy sea running at the time could not hold communication with her, as we had hoped. A day or two after the dreaded Hatteras was passed, with its accustomed storm, and then we began to feel that we were nearing home, and our long voyage drawing to a close.

"Barnegat Light" was passed at two o'clock on the morning of our last day out, almost every one rising to catch the first glimpse of "Jersey," and about breakfast time the long line of beach and the glazed roofs of the hotels at Long Branch appeared; and finally pilot boat No. 18 came along side, and the jolly old pilot, jumping quickly aboard, distributed with profane hand a quantity of "morning papers," and calling out the latest war news and the result of the ocean yacht race, passed forward to the wheel and assumed command and responsibility of the vessel.

It is needless to say how impatiently we watched our slow progress around and past Sandy Hook, and the sail down the beautiful bay, nor how eagerly we stepped ashore a couple of hours later—not without a feeling of regret, to be sure, that our pleasant voyage was over, but with an exultant consciousness that we were home once more, and that we had at last accomplished this long but jolly "Trip by the Isthmus."

HOW TO OBTAIN PATENTS TO MINES.

With reference to the proceedings necessary to obtain patents for lode and placer claims under the provisions of the acts of Congress, the following is communicated:

9th. The mining enactments limit the right to apply for and receive patents for mining claims to claimants.

FIRST. Who have occupied and improved their claims according to the local customs or rules of miners, or—

SECOND. Who have by themselves or their grantors, held and worked their claims for a period equal to the time prescribed by the statute of limitations for mining claims of the State or Territory where the same may be situated.

THIRD. Who have expended in actual labor and improvements upon their respective claims an amount of not less than one thousand dollars, and—

FOURTH. In regard to whose possession there is no controversy or opposing claim.

Unless, therefore, applicants for mining patents are properly within these requirements they are not in a condition to avail themselves of the privileges extended by the laws referred to.

THE APPLICATION.

10th. This must be in writing, and must be filed in the office of the Register and Receiver of the Land District in which the claim lies. It must distinctly state the name of the applicant, and whether the claim is applied for by an individual, a association, or an incorporation; the name and extent of the claim; the character of the ore: the mining district, county and state; the date of its original location according to the mining customs; where the same was recorded; whether the applicant claims as a locator or purchaser; a description of the premises claimed, and the nature of the improvements made or labor performed, and finally the application should state that the claimant has posted a "Diagram" of the claim in a conspicuous place thereon, together with notice of his intention to apply for a patent, giving the date of such posting.

11th. With the above application the claimant must file a copy of the "Diagram" posted on the claim, which diagram must represent the boundaries of the premises, as fixed by the local laws, customs, or rules of miners; and when the claim lies upon surveyed land, it must also show its relation to the public surveys.

12th. Diagrams of PLACER claims upon SURVEYED lands must represent the subdivision of the public lands which the claimant desires to enter, as the act requires such entries in their exterior limits, to conform to such legal subdivisions.

13th. With said diagram must be filed a copy of the "Notice" posted upon the claim.

This should state the name of the claimant, describe the claim, give the names of adjoining claims, or if none adjoin, the names of the nearest claims state whether it is a placer or rock claim, if the former the approximate area, if the latter, the estimated extent of surface ground, and the number of feet claimed on the course of the vein distinctly stating the name of the lode and the character of the vein exposed the mining district county, and State in which it lies; whether upon surveyed or unsurveyed lands; if the former in what section, township and range; if the latter the location of the lode relatively to some well known natural object or land-mark in the vicinity, and finally the notice should state that it is the intention of the claimants to apply for a patent for the premises therein designated, and upon which it is posted.

14th. There should also be filed with the application satisfactory evidence that the applicant has the possesory right to the claim agreeably to the local laws or cutoms of miners. This should consist of a certified copy of the laws or customs of the miners of the district in force at the date of the location of the claim, and of a certificate under seal, of the County or Mining Recorder, giving a copy of the record of the original location of the claim, with name or names of the locators, and if the applicant claims as a purchaser, an abstract of title should be filed, tracing the right of possession from the original locators to the applicant for patent. Where applicants furnish satisfactory evidence that they and their grantors have held and worked their claims for a period equal to the time prescribed by the statute of limitations of mining claims of the State or Territory where the same may be situated, such evidence being considered sufficient to establish a right to a patent for a claim so held and worked, upon compliance with other provisions of the law and instructions, the proofs enumerated under this subdivision.(14.) of the instructions are not required.

15th. Proof of citizenship is required. Where the applicant is a corporation, a copy of their charter or certificate of incorporation may be filed in lieu of evidence of citizenship. In case, however, the applicant is an individual or an association of persons unincorporated, affidavits of citizenship or of having filed declarations of intention to become citizens should be filed.

16th. Upon filing these papers the Register and Receiver will give the same careful examination, and if found to be regular the Register will order the publication of the "Notice" for ninety (90) days in a news-paper published nearest the location of the claim, but before ordering such publication, the Register will, in future, require the claimant to enter into an agreement with the publisher, to the effect that no claim or demand shall be made against the United States for the payment of such publication, and the Register will decline to order the publication until such written agreement shall have been filed in his office. The cost of the publication of notice, will therefore not be estimated by the Surveyor General in future cases.

17th. The Register will also post copies of the said "Notice" and "Diagram" in his office for ninety (90) days, and upon forwarding the case to this office will certify that they were so posted.

18th. On the expiration of the ninety days, the claimant or his duly authorized agent, must file with the Register his own affidavit supported by at least one other person cognizant of the fact, that said "Notice" and "Diagram" were posted in a conspicuous place upon the claim for the period of ninety consecutive days, giving the date of the same. The affidavit of the publisher must also be filed to the effect that the "Notice," a printed copy of which should be attached, was published in his newspaper for ninety days, giving the dates on which such publication commenced and ended, and that he has received payment in full for the same.

19th. These affidavits may be taken before the Register and Receiver or any officer authorized to administer oaths within their district, but if taken before a magistrate without an official seal, his official character must be authenticated under seal by the couty clerk in the usual manner.

Arizona News—Indian Outrages.

The Tucson (Arizona) Citizen of February 4th, has the following:

A terrible state of affairs exists throughout the Territory. In the face of opposite representation, the Apaches are multiplying their work of theft and murder. Within the past two weeks they captured a train, killed one man and wounded several others. Another train between Phœnix and Wickenburg was attacked, and a man named George Kane was killed and eighteen mules driven off. Tully, Ochoa & Co.'s train was surprised ten miles south of Tucson, one man killed and all the stock stolen. The mail coach on its last downward trip was attacked near Phœnix. In the vicinity of Tubac, a man named Joe King was shot and mortally wounded, and a number of horses run off. At Florence, thirty-three mules and 100 head of cattle were stolen. General demoralization exists among the farmers. No one feels safe, and many are abandoning their property and fleeing from the Territory, glad to escape with their lives. Representatives from all parts of the Territory are at Tucson for the purpose of devising means of protection from the savages.

An order has been received for the transfer of six companies of cavalry from Arizona to undisturbed Washington Territory.

Nevada Legislature.

The Legislature of Nevada is getting along very slowly with its work, although only twenty days more remain of the session. It is true there is not much legislation required, but what is necessary is highly important for the future welfare of the State—among which we may mention the funding of the State debt, or providing for the payment of what is now due, and to become due within the next two years; to provide for securing the lands granted by the Federal Government; to provide for the Penitentiary, and to settle the disputed title to the premises, etc. These are matters of the utmost importance, and we trust will be satisfactory settled before ajournment. These matters are in the custody of the Legislature, and if it fails to give proper attention to them the people will hold their servants to a strict accountability when they return them. —Gold Hill News.

California Lion.

A ranchman at Double Springs, on the Esmeralda road, has been losing sheep, hogs, and calves, for some time (says The Carson Register), and attributed his loss to the activity of the coyotes until Sunday last. On that day the ranchman's little son was out on the hills with a flock of his father's sheep, when a large California lion made his appearance, walked into the flock, picked up a lamb four months old and started off. The boy ran home and told his father what had happened, when the old man took his gun and started in pursuit. He soon came upon a portion of the lamb, but the lion had fled. The remainder of the meat was poisoned with arsenic, and the next morning the "lion and the lamb laid down togeteer."

THE HOMESTEAD LAW.

The Sacramento Reporter, as we observe by an article copied into and endorsed by The Tulare Times, condemns the United States Homestead Law, pronouncing the system "a lie, a humbug, a delusion, a mocker of poverty, a cheat, a false pretense—and therefore a disgrace." The reason advanced for this conclusion is in substance: A five years residence is required to gain a title; that all the public lands are on the outskirts of civilization, involving an expense of from $800 to $1,000 to reach and cultivate to an extent sufficient to enable the settler to make his living, and further, that it is absurd for the poor mechanic or clerk who has to depend solely on his calling to think of travelling two or three thousand miles to the outskirts of civilization merely to obtain a free homestead and be compelled to live on it five years with no opportunity to ply the only vocation by which he could sustain himself and family, when by merely expending $200 for the same amount of government land nearer home he would save all this expense and not be required to live on his land a day if he did not choose to do so.

Now, according to our idea of the object of this law and of the facts, there is nothing in it to prevent the poor man from taking up a homestead on any government land he can find, nor to prevent him at any time thereafter from leaving it and still retain the title by paying the sum required in the other plan. The intent of the law is to furnish homes to those who wish to make the cultivation and improvement of their lands the object instead of holding merely for speculative purposes, an inevitable result under the proposed change advocated by The Reporter, which would give a perfect title to any man by making yearly payments in small instalments until complete, or till such times as the savings from his profession would enable him to go on and improve it. We contend that no man, be he rich or poor, has any right to obtain possession of government land and retain it year after year, who is not able or willing to make it add something to the good of the commonwealth, as would be the case under the requirments of the present homestead law. If the free gift of the land with this condition is no advantage to the poor man, because he is unable to improve it, we fail to see wherin the right to purchase on any terms could better his condition, except as a means for speculation, which would deprive some other poor man not only of a living from the fruits of his labor upon it, but a desirable home.

We would, however, most heartily second The Reporter's proposition to restrict the right by law of any one man to the purchase of more than 160 acres of government laud. Land speculators have been and are now the curse of our State. Townships and counties too, almost, are owned by these land sharks who keep them in idleness for years, virtually untaxed, to be finally sold at ten or twenty times the original cost, without having had a single dime added to their intrinsic value. Hundreds of working men are thus robbed of their rightful inheritance, as designed by a benificent law, or forced to seek it on the "ontskirts of civilization." A law that permits such wholesale robbery of poor men is the one that should be anathematized after the manner of The Reporter, in place of one that can not possibly deprive any man of his rights, but, on the contrary has given vast numbers valuable homes.

Pacific Coast Business Directory.

Every business house, and all hotels, particularly, ought, for the accommodation of customers to have a copy of Langley's Directory for the States and Territorys of the Pacific coast. The name of every tradesman and business man with Postoffice address in nearly every town and mining camp on the coast; a sketch of each place with relative distances, and a vast amount of other useful matter is to befound in this work of 800 closely printed pages. D. Cohn & Co., agents for this county, or any of Wells, Fargo & Co,s agents will furnish this valuable work to order.

Yolo and Inyo.

Bully for Yolo county! Inyo county was intended. But, then, the pronunciation is nearly alike, when spoken by lightning's voice.—Gold Hill News.

THE WOMEN SUFFRAGE CONVENTION.

During the latter part of last month the first annual meeting of the California Woman Suffrage Society was convened in San Francisco, continuing in session three days. It was a meeting for consultation and deliberation, in the course of which several sensible speeches were delivered, notably one by Mrs. Benedict of Marysville.

For some reason not perfectly clear, this question and its advocates have ever been placed in the most ridiculous light by the press, and the present occasion was no exception to the rule. No fair minded person or lover of fair play, whatever his sentiments in regard to the question at issue, but will share the manifest indignation of The Pioneer at the treatment accorded this convention by the San Francisco dailies. The only argument, if such it can be called, in opposition to this movement not offered in ridicule by these vast intellects, is to the effect that women have not brains enough to make it safe to entrust them with the ballot! If women generally had no more sense than, by inference, the mothers of these unfortunates, we should conclude there was truth in the assertion.

We do not design a lengthy discussion of the main question, pro nor con, but this much we will say: In our humble opinion the evils attending the exercise of the voting privilege by married women would outweigh any possible advantages. If each married couple thought and voted alike in political matters the final result would in no sense be changed, while in case of opposite views, in the bitterness of political contests, the effect in too many cases would be fatal to domestic happiness. By a fiction of law and tradition a couple "in wedlock bound" is but one whose interests through life are so closely identified that any law or custom to the prejudice or favor of either half must equally affect the other. That this theory is not sustained in practice is less the fault of law, which alone could be affected by votes than of custom, a change in which can be brought about by earnest, working women, without bringing the question into the "filthy pool of politics." It is a matter of custom and not of law that discriminates to the disadvantage of the weaker sex in the prices paid for labor. Women ought, by all that is just, to be allowed the same pay for her labor that is given to the other sex in like cases, but that is not a matter subject to ballots. While conceding the perfect right, morally, of women to vote, to bear arms in defence of home and country we do not believe the exercise of either or both rights would promote her happiness in the smallest degree. Be that as it may, the fact is sufficiently evident that, whether by statute or custom, her privileges are less than her rights; and any movement by organized bodies or other means having in view the recognition by society of these rights is deserving of common respect, at least. From what took place in San Francisco relating to this convention, our readers may judge from the following of the degree of respect shown. The Alta spoke of the meeting thus:

Woman Suffrage.—A meeting yclept "The California Woman's State Suffrage Convention," was held yesterday at Dashaway Hall. There were present about a dozen men and probably three times as many other women. A child was well pinched in an ante room, and it had the desired effect—sent the mother home to attend to her domestic duties. The Committee on Credentials reported, leaving the representatives from San Francisco out in the cold. Mr. Loveland spoke of the opposition to woman suffrage, and recommended "that the original movers of the organization work harder and more lovingly."

Succeeding issues of the same paper contained similar disrespectful and lying notices; as did The Chronicle and Bulletin. In the course of the proceedings a Mr. Collins closed a speech with the following:

In spite of all the papers that ever lived, in spite of hirelings who prostitute their talents, there is enough of magnetism and power in California, to give woman the right of suffrage.

Here was a chance not to be sneezed at by the beardless braves and moulders of public opinion, the Chronicle and Bulletin reporters. Said one of them to Collins: "Do you mean to class me with prostitutes?" "By no means; my remarks were entirely general in their application," was the reply, when one of the young braves told him he was "a G—d d—d liar and here is my card." This sentiment was fully endorsed by Tecumseh No. 2, who said, "those are my sentiments." These ferocious, virtuous chaps know a thing or two, viz., for such displays, the advantage of selecting a meeting composed mainly of women, as compared to a gathering of ward politicians.

Emily Pitts Stevens of The Pioneer has the talent to take care of herself and her cause, if allowed a fair show. She gives the dailies above alluded to the benefit of the following:

Why should our daily press do otherwise with women suffrage than oppose, ridicule and demean it? When slavery was the ruling power these hounded the abolitionists and early Republicans, as the friends of Tracy and Grant and Broderick and Baker can testify. When the South threatened to secede and the commerce of the Pacific was threatened, these patriotic sheets saw no evil in a divided nation, and a Pacific Republic was a thing to be desired. When they saw patronage in a diametrically opposite policy, of course they followed the lead of their employers and patrons as squalling and hungry swine the disbursers of swill. When the great Pacific railroad was in a struggling condition for money, men and means, it was a Dutch Flat swindle; but when the hour of success came, and the rails were to be joined which united the shores of two oceans, the cowardly defamer of Stanford, Crocker & Co., became the flunky suppliant for permission to bear the last tie and spike to the point of union, and toadyism was triumphant.

FROM FRANCE

The German Army will enter Paris on the 19th (to morrow), an event greatly dreaded by the Parisians, many of whom are leaving the city. Favre has asked for an extension of the armistice and it is expected his request will be granted.

The Times says that all the information received from Paris indicates a longing for peace at any price. The News says that the Parisians will vote to-day in entire dependence on the good faith of the Germans, as it is impossible to complete negotiations between the meeting of the Assembly and the 19th, when fighting may be resumed. It is said the German preparations in that event to overrun France are formidable.

We have no news of the National assembly which was to meet on the 12th The English papers expect that a majority of Monarchists will be elected.

IMPORTANT TO PRE-EMPTORS.

By the kindness of Judge McClinton, of Aurora, we are enabled to present to the consideration of pre-emption settlers the subjoined important information.

Section 2 of an act approved July 14, 1870, to extend the provisions of the pre-emption laws to the Territory of Colorada, and for other purposes, reads:

"That nothing in the act of Congress, approved March 27, 1864, entitled "An act for the relief of settlers on lands reserved for railroad purposes," shall be construed to relieve such settlers from the obligation to file the proper notices of their claims, as in other cases; and all claimants of pre-emption rights shall hereafter, when no shorter period of time is now prescribed by law, make the proper proof and payment for the lands claimed, within eighteen months after the date prescribed for filing their declaratory notices shall have expired: Provided, That where said date shall have elapsed before the passage of this act, said pre-emptors shall have one year after the passage hereof in which to make such proof and payment."

This act leaves the provisions of law as heretofore respecting "OFFERED LANDS," viz.: filing within thirty days, and payment within twelve months after settlement.

The settler on surveyed "unoffered land" must file his or her declaratory statement within three months from the date of his or her settlement on such land, and within eighteen months from the expiration of said three months, make the proper proof, and pay for such land.

Where settlers had already filed before the passage of the act, they are required to make proof and payment within one year from such passage; therefore, all filings made prior to that date will expire, by limitation of law, upon unoffered lands, on the 14th of July, 1871.

The settler on "unsurveyed land" must file his or her declaratory statement within three months from the date of the receipt at the district land office of the approved plat of the township embracing the tract upon which he or she has settled, and, within eighteen months from the expiration of said three months, make the proper proof, and pay for such tract.

The proviso of the act of June 2, 1862, requiring filing within six months from survey in the field, and providing for filing with the Surveyor General, is repealed.

The foregoing is the substance of Commissioner Wilson's instructions to registers and receivers. Following are Judge McClinton's remarks, and as he makes land matters a specialty, they may be deemed authority:

"Persons who have heretofore made their filings in Stockton or Visalia, for lands now embraced within this land district, must prove up and pay in this district, on or before July 14, 1871. Lands in this district all belong to the 'unoffered' class."

The Register and Receiver, at the Aurora Land Office, tried to get the time for proving up extended, so as to give settlers the benefit of the time the office was closed, but the Commissioner decided that the time could not be extended.

Off for Kearsarge.

Twenty mine and mill hands are about leaving Gold Hill for the Kearsarge Mine, near Independence, Inyo county, California, two hundred and fifty miles south of Gold Hill. They go by way of Carson City, Aurora, Hot Springs and Bishop Creek, and travel by the regular line of stages from Carson. The Kearsarge is owned in Gold Hill, Silver City and Virginia City, and when the mine begins to "shell out" its silver bricks, which will be in a few months, change will be more plentiful than it is at present—Gold Hill (Nev.) News, Feb. 7th.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Every organ demands sustenance and support from the stomach. If the stomach can not supply the aliment required, the whole system languishes. To rouse and regulate this great organ, there is no preparation at present known that will compare with Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters; and as two-thirds of all human ailments originate in indigestion, it follows, logically, that most of the diseases flesh is heir to are curable AT THEIR SOURCE, by this powerful vegetable restorative.

Hot Springs.

Mining matters in and around Hot Springs have received a new impetus, since the shipment and sale of ores to Swansea has commenced. Seven different mines are being worked, with good results. Mr. Wheeler has sent 70 tons of ore to Swansea, and now has some 10 or 12 tons more in transit; and, what is better, unlimited quantities in sight in the mines. Albert Mack has sold to the same company 24,436 pounds of ore, of an average assay of $500 per ton. The lowest lot assayed $245, and the highest running up th $880 per ton, the ore coming from the Rockingham, Sentinel, Cornucopia and Comanche mines. The major part of the ores of this district, with the exception of that reduced in that place, has been hitherto sent to Reno and San Francisco, but under existing arrangements it will henceforth be worked at home, as it were, an advantage which will be readily appreciated. Mr. Brady will in future receive and sample ore in Benton, and is putting up a rock breaker there for purpose; and may put a galamadore in operation, also, for the reduction of the ore to slag before shipment.

F. & A. M.

Pursuant to a notice published in another column, a number of Freemasons met at the office of E. H. Van DeCar, Esq., on Saturday evening last. After consultation, it was resolved to make application for a dispensation to organize a lodge at this place; and committees were appointed to solicit the co-operation of Masons residing in the county—of whom, it is understood, there are about seventy-five. Also, a committee was appointed to obtain information in regard to procuring a hall for the accommodation of the Fraternity. The meeting was called off until Saturday evening, March 4th, when reports from committees will be received, and definite action taken thereon.

An Immense Work.

If our hearing of the matter is correct, there has been inaugurated at Cerro Gordo, without the least parade or fuss, and undertaking destined to develop the mines of that district to a depth that will prove for all time their extent and richness. It is nothing more or less than a tunnel nearly or quite a mile long; starting in at Lower Town it will probably strike a well known silver ledge in 2,200 feet, and at its terminus tapping the great lead belt at a depth of 800 feet. We are not apprised of the names of all the projectors, but know that some of the parties interested are abundantly able to carry the work through, and that work is already commenced. May the most unbounded success award the untiring, daring men executing it.

The Tunnels.

The Wittekind boys have about 80 feet to make in their tunnel before reaching the ledge. The Osceola tunnel will probably strike the ledge some time during this week. The Belmont tunnel is now running in small veins of ore, and will soon reach the main ledge. The Crowning Glory mine presents the most flattering appearance, with 80 tons of fine ore on the dump, and at least 100 tons more in sight. The tunnel has been connected with the shaft, securing good ventilation and easy, advantageous working.

Again Operating.

The works of the Owens Lake Silver-Lead Company fired up last Saturday, and on Tuesday shipped to Los Angeles, while almost hot from the molds, 200 bars of bullion; and the furnaces will be kept in constant operation from this time forward. Mr. Brady has now arrangments effected whereby a supply of ore is insured, and there is certainly no reason why the New York capitalists who have established these works should not reap rich harvests of wealth in return for their investment.

That Horn.

Among the relics of ancient stage days is a post-horn, tooted by its owner in and around town whenever the notion may strike him. Sounded while a stage is nearing town it is all right, for there are possibly some blessed with a nature so dreamy as to imagine it to be the whistle of an incoming railroad train, but to keep everybody on the qui vive by the heralding of other "steamers" for an hour or two before they are due, is rather an indication of a horn too many, ain't it?

Low Rates.

Messrs. A. Loomis & Bro., the popular merchants of Lone Pine, make official announcement this week of great reduction in the prices of groceries, dry goods and general merchandise. We advise our readers to consult their advertised prices of sugar, and then go and purchase from their large stock, as everything is sold at a corresponding low rate.

Another Discovery.

The irrepressible prospector, Jimmy Sharp, has discovered a ledge of gold-bearing quartz, in the Inyo mountains, nearly opposite this place, that has every indication of being quite valuable. He calls the lode the "Independent." We hope he may realize an independent fortune out of it.

Beaudry's.

Beaudry's furnace, said to be the most perfect operating one of the three running on Cerro Gordo ore, is now shut down for five or six days, while waiting for slag from the galamadore. With two or three of these roasting furnaces to supply it, the cupola would reduce to bullion 15 tons of galena, and 3½ tons of silver ore per day.

Returned.

Superintendent Brady, of the O. L. S. L. Company, arrived last week, from a visit to New York.

The Bilderbeck Tragedy—The Murderers—Full Particulars—Officers in Pursuit.

Following are the particulars of the circumstances under which Sheriff Burns, of Los Angeles county, made the arrest of Gardiner and Bowman, as we learned from one of the Sheriff's posse, while they were in this place yesterday: John Gardiner, chief in this bloody affair, at one time resided in Lone Pine, in this county, and kept a Spanish dance house for a livelihood. While there he became acquainted with "Billy" Bilderback, and upon meeting him in Los Angeles took him out to his (Gardiner's) place at Tayunga Pass and showed him a wood ranch, and advised him and his brother to take it up and go to cutting wood, which they eventually did. Gardiner, in the meantime, was cutting wood and hauling it to Los Angeles, but as it became scarce upon his place, it is known that he wished to become possessed of the property of the Bilderbacks, on the ground that they were only there to hold the ranch for him, but they refused to leave or give him possession. Near Gardiner lived a man by the name of Bowman, another known by the soubriquet of "Buckskin," and another named —— Henry, all of his stripe. There was also living near the above quartette a young man, likewise a wood chopper, whose name we have not learned. This boy was one evening at the cabin of Gardiner, where he met Bowman, and while talking to him heard shots fired in the direction of the Bilderbacks' cabin; expressing his surprise thereat, Bowman told him "that was nothing only Buckskin and Henry shooting the Bilderbacks, and you had better say nothing about it if you know when you are well off." Gardiner returned soon after with Buckskin and treated them to some liquor, and seemed well pleased at something that had happened. After a few minutes his eye fell upon the young man, and after whispering a few words to Buckskin, he (Gardiner) remarked to the young man that he ought not to live alone, and that he could go up and live with Buckskin and his squaw, to which Buckskin gave his consent, and told him to go to his cabin and wait for him. The boy did so, and fearing that Buckskin intended to kill him when he came along, took his blankets and went over to Buckskin's house. When the man returned he asked him angrily "why he didn't wait! as he had told him to." The young man told him he had packed his own blankets over, so as to save him (Buckskin) the trouble, and received the reply that "that was all right." The boy became alarmed at Buckskin's motions, and determined to make his escape as soon as possible, and started off, when he came upon his would-be murderer lying in the bushes, who rose up and told him to go back into the house and stay there, or something would happen to him. The boy said "Buckskin, you don't intend to kill me!" The man replied "If you stay in the house and mind your own business you will be all right, and I won't kill you." Buckskin then got on his horse and went back to Gardiner's. After he had been gone some time the young man started to town, some twenty miles distant; being afraid of pursuit he left the road and took to the hills, and shortly afterwards discovered Buckskin and Gardiner following him up on horseback. He did his best to hide his tracks from them, and succeeded in evading them until nightfall, and then started again in the direction of the town, as he supposed, but the morning found him at a house only four miles distant from his original starting point. Telling the person what was the matter, he again set out for Los Angeles, where he arrived but a few minutes before Gardiner. Gardiner tried to entice the boy outside the city, but he refused to go. Gardiner then told him that he must leave the country, and gave him $18 and a pistol, seeing him aboard the cars for Wilmington. To this point the boy proceeded, and upon his arrival related the circumstances to a friend. Being advised to report the matter to the officers, he did so, and Sheriff Burns immediately arrested Gardiner and Bowman—Buckskin, his squaw and Henry having left for parts unknown. After a considerable search, the bodies of the murdered men, John and Oscar Bilderback, were discovered, wrapped in their own blankets, and buried in the middle of the road. Gardiner had, in the meantime, been hauling off their wood, passing over the bodies of his victims with every load. Deputy U. S. Marshal Dunlap and Deputy Sheriffs Bryant and Hays of Los Angeles, with their "posse comitatus," passed through town yesterday, in search of Buckskin and Henry, the murderers. Mr. Kean, a teamster on the road between here and Los Angeles, while on his down trip met a party that answered the description of the suspected parties who turned out of his way and passed him a half a mile on one side. Mr. K. has returned with the posse and took them to the place where he passed them on his down trip, and found the tracks of Buckskin and the squaw which were readily recognized, also the track of a man wearing boots, who is supposed to be the man Henry. Buckskin is a low-lived desperado and has lived with this squaw for a number of years, having brought her from Oregon with him when he was forced to leave that State for some of his numerous mis-deeds. We understand that the officers have got some clue of the villians at this point, at least they seem to be up and doing. The guilty fugitives have been traced to near this place, and probably before this paper reaches its readers the dastardly murderers will be in the stern hands of the law, and may consider themselves as getting more than their just due if it is allowed to take its course to a deliberate hanging.

Horse Stealing Extraordinary.

A thousand rumors have reached us within the past day or two, reporting the stealing of horses at points all the way from Cerro Gordo to Lone Pine. Among other accounts is one, that Colister lost one and Mulkey three horses at the Lone Pine bridge. Charley Begole, W. L. Moore and C. Mulkey passed northward last Thursday night in sursuit. It is satisfactory to know that an hour or two after going to press we can learn full particulars from the Lone Pine stage.

Columbus.

Affairs in and around Columbus are assuming a decidedly lively and encouraging phase, new and valuable discoveries being made every day. The average result of the ore worked at Col. Youngs' mill for the past season will amount to $500 per ton net. Mr. Hanks has recently refused $30,000 offered by San Francisco parties for his mine, the Monte Diablo.

Shut Down.

Belshaw's furnace was closed down last week for a short time, on account of the boiler having been burned through, after a run of thirty-seven days. Damages are being repaired, and the works will soon be in operation again.

Bullion Shipment.

During the week ending Saturday, February 21, there were shipped from Cerro eighteen loods of bullion, averaging 10,000 pounds to the team.

Bullion.

There are now at Belshaw's furnace 1,000 bars of bullion, waiting shipment, while at Beaudry's there are 6,100 bars on hand.

County

Warrants, payable at the Treasurers office.

Well Pleased.

We received a call yesterday from A. Mack, Esq., of Benton (or rather Partzwick or possibly Hot Springs), who is on a business trip through this section. He expresses himself as immensely pleased at the appearance of things in Inyo, more especially in Cerro Gordo. White & Williams' lead mine, with a breast of seventy feet of galena, struck him as being a rich little thing of itself.

Suit for Slander.

In the District Court, on the 10th instant, suit was commenced by Mrs. Ellen Moran against T. W. Dexter, for defamation of character, laying damages at $10,000. This is the first suit of the kind ever entered upon in the county, and as the parties are well known, will be looked forward to with much interest. Eminent legal counsel have been engaged on both sides.

Died.

Surgeon White has just received a letter announcing the death of David Ormrod, who sent from this county to the Insane Asylum, died within ten hours after being received at that institution. It is passing strange that no inquiry has ever been made into the cause of the singular death of these two persons.

That Dance.

It will be well for old Inyoans to go to the Birthday Ball, at Benton, for the purpose of meeting there their Aurora lady and gentleman friends, who will be in attendance—a sort of reunion for all hands. Lokleitems cusses the work which keeps him away.

Forwarding.

The attention of parties engaged in the freighting business, or those ordering goods from San Francisco, is directed to the advertisement of Wm. M. Osborn, Forwarding Merchant, cor. Fourth and Fort streets, Los Angeles.

Not Captured.

The deserters mentioned last week have not, as yet, been retaken, although numerous parties from the Post have been out after them.

The Deleware Senator.

A singular circumstance occured in the election of a United States Senator in Delaware. There were three candidades—all brothers—Governor Saulsbury, Willard Saulsbury, (present incumbent), and Eli Saulsbury. The Governor is the eldest, and finding he could not defeat Willard, who is charged with drunkeness, combined with the younger brother and elected him to the position. The Saulsburys certainly have Deleware in their grasp.

Silver in the Tehachepi Pass.

The Kern County Courier has the following.

It is reported that a very large lead of galena, containing the same percentage of silver as the celebrated mines of Cerro Gordo, has been found near the eastern terminus of this Pass. Our informant has seen some of the ore alleged to have been taken from it. but was unable to obtain full particulars.

A Terrible

Railroad accident occurred on the Hudson River railroad recently. An oil train collided with a passenger train on or near a bridge, setting fire to both he latter and burning them up. Three sleeping cars were destroyed and nineteen persons killed outright and many more severely injured.

The Great Medical Discovery!

Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

MEDICAL.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, August 15, 1868.

Allow me to call your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.

Buchu as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopoea, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of profound confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

(From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.)

WHILE THE DAYS ARE GOING BY.

There are lonely hearts to cherish,
While the days are going by;
There are weary souls that perish,
While the days are going by.
But if a smile we can renew
As our journey we pursue,
O, the good we all may do,
While the days are going by.

There's no time for idle scorning,
While the days are going by;
Let your face be like the morning,
While the days are going by.
O, the world is full of sighs—
Full of sad and weeping eyes—
Help your fallen brother rise,
While the days are going by.

All the loving links that bind us,
While the days are going by,
One by one we leave behind us,
While the days are going by;
But the seeds of good we sow,
Both in shade and shine shall grow,
And shall keep our hearts aglow,
While the days are going by.

BEAUTY.

'Tis not the form's exquisite mould,
The silken curl's voluptuous flow,
The lightsome step, the witching eye,
The small white hand and snowy brow.

Can that be beautiful that fades
Like rainbows from the clouds of dun?
That withers at the touch of time
Like flowers beneath a burning sun?

What are the charms so boasted of?
A fleeting glance, a passing smile,
A form whose graceful linaments
Conceal, too oft, the heart of guile.

A vain and vacant smile may play
On rosy lip and dimpled chin,
The eye may brightly glance away
Yet give no token of a mind within.

But ah! the mind, the undying mind
Hath holier beauty of its own—
A charm that lingers on to bless
When outward loveliness has flown,

Aye, lingers when the cheek is pale
And care has dimmed the eye of mirth,
Unaltered by the frosts of time
Or changing circumstance of earth.

ALSACE AND LORRAINE

These provinces are demanded by Germany as a portion of the price France should pay for peace and as a guaranty of her future good behavior.

The Rhine provinces of which these are a part, have long been a bone of controversy between the two countries, France coveting those held by Germany and Germany those possessed by France. On the breaking out of the war it was evident that behind the pretext of Napoleon lay his wish and the the desire of his people to readjust the Rhine settlement. Had he succeeded there is no question that the German Rhenish provinces would have been annexed to France, instead of which she loses Alsace and a part of Lorraine. The part of the latter claimed is the portion known as the departments Meuse, Moselle, Meurthe, and Vosges.

Alsace lies between the Rhine on the east and the Vosges Mountains on the west, and is divided into what is known as the Upper and Lower Rhine. Alsace and Lorraine together extend north to Rhenish Bavaria and south to Switzerland, and contains about 3,360 square miles. This vast area is particularly productive; it abounds with mines and is a great manufacturing center. The principal cities are Colmar, Strasburg, and Mulhausen. The population was Celtic at the time of the Roman conquest, but the Alemanni crossed the Rhine and Germanized Alsace. It was integral with the German Empire until the peace of Westphalia, when a portion was ceded to France. In 1681 Louis XIV seized Strasburg and by the peace of 1697 the whole of Alsace was ceded to France. But the transfer did not change the character or language of the people, for ever since Alsace became French territory the inhabitants have preserved their German nationality and still speak the German tongue. Their books and papers are printed in both German and French.

Lorraine anciently was an extensive province. It then included all the territory between the Rhine, Scheldt, Meuse, and Soane rivers, and its important history commenced about the middle of the ninth century. Modern Lorraine is not so extensive; for the region now known as Rhenish Prussia was separated from Lorraine in the tenth century, and the remainder was divided and known as Upper and Lower Lorraine. The latter subsequently became an Austrian possession, and now forms more than half of Belgium and two provinces of Holland. Upper Lorraine was governed by its own Duke until 1736, when it was transferred to ex-King Stanislaus of Poland. On his demise, which occurred in 1766, it was united to France and called the Province of Lorraine. More recently it was divided into the departments known as the Meuse Moselle Meurthe and Vosges, In these departments both French and German are spoken; but in some localities only one of those languages are common among the people. Being of a German origin they are more German than French in their customs and traditions. The departments contain the cities of Metz, Epinal, and Nancy. The first named is an ancient and fortified city on the Moselle, at its confluence with the Seille. The fortifications are constructed on an extensive scale. There are in the city two military schools, one for artillery and one for engineering. Besides these there is a powder-mill and one of the largest best regulated hospitals in Europe. The principal business conducted in this place is the manufacturing of lace and brushes. Nancy also possesses extensive manufactories, chiefly for the embroidery of cambric and woolen goods. It is a very old town, and stood a protracted siege in 1477, at which Charles the Bold was killed. Epinal is the capital of the department of the Vosges. Strasburg is a fortified city, the capital of the Lower Rhine, and is about three hundred and twelve miles from Paris. The fortifications are very powerful, and the Rhine is bridged at this place. The population is nearly 60,000. The city contains extensive manufactories, and is connected by rail with all parts of France and Germany. Colmar is the cotton manufacturing centre of France. The population of Alsace and Lorraine can scarcely fall short of three millions.

The foregoing will give our readers some idea of the importance of the German acquisition by the peace about to be concluded. It will be seen that Alsace and Lorraine once belonged to Germany, were wrested from her by France, and may now be regarded as substantially recovered by its ancient owner.—Ex.

A Good Herb.

The Elko Independent has discovered new virtues in the white sage, which it thus sets forth:

"A range where white sage grows abundant is the first thing sought after by persons engaged in stock raising, on account of its fattening properties. Meat, too, fattened upon it posesses a finer flavor and retains more of the natural juices than that fed upon other grasses of the country. A chemical analysis of white sage shows it to contain about eighty-five per cent. of nutritious matter, such as go to make fat, etc. But it is not alone in regard to its great virtues as food for stock that we propose to speak; but in these days of humbuggery, quack medicines, etc., any article that will supplant the many nostrums that are of no earthly use, by giving the needy a cheap, safe and certain article for the same purpose, is at least a saving to the community in that direction. We allude to its hair restoring qualities. For this purpose alone it so far surpasses the preparations usually found in drug stores as to make them utterly valueless compared with the really restorative principle that it posesses. A decoction of white sage—which may readily be obtained by boiling it a few hours over a slow fire—will accomplish more in restoring bald heads, fastening falling hair, and renovating and reviving healthy action to the scalp, than a whole store of the usual remedies advertised for that purpose. Hundreds now in Nevada can testify to this fact, and a trial will convince any doubting Joseph that what we say of it in this respect will be borne out by results, if he will give it a fair trial. The man who first brings white sage before the public as a hair restorative will not only drive every other preparation for that purpose out of the market, but will secure for himself a colossal fortune."

Border Incident.

The editor of The Deer Lodge (M. T.,) Northwest has seen a letter received by Colonel Wheeler, U. S. Marshall of Montana, from Robert Hereford, late Assessor at Helena, and now interpretor for the Bannacks at the Crow Agency, on the Yellowstone, giving an account of the recovery of a white girl from the Bannack Indians after a captiviy of eight years. This letter is dated January 5th. It appears two men, Tilford Kutch and Thomas Coltor, had arrived at the Yellowstone under the authority of Colonel Wham, Commandant of some of the Eastern forts to search for the girl, who was captured by Bannacks on Raft river Owyhee county, I. T., in 1862. Hereford accompanied them to Bannack camp where the girl was found. Her name is McIntyre. She is 14 years old, small of her age, has light hair, and is browned by sun and storm until she looks like a quater breed, which the Indians claim she is. She expressed a desire to go with the white men to her home, and was taken to the interpretors house. Ten Doy and Tayee, Bannack chiefs, were surprised at the demand of their captive, but on representtaion of the facts, they yielded her up, and in a few days she will be sent to her home.

A Settler.

When the Erie Canal was first started, the subject of investing in it was discussed in a Quaker business meeting of the men. It was opposed by an influential member—no other than Elias Hicks—on the ground of its being a speculation. Among other objections he urged that: "when God created the world if he had wished canals he would have made them." Upon this a "weighty friend" (a Quaker term) rose up and said slowly, in the intoning voice in which the Quakers always speak in meeting. "And Jacob digged a well" and sat down.

The Work of 1800 Men.

Eighteen hundred men make a locomotive engine in one day—boiler, cylinders, frame, driving-wheels, truck, stack, cab, pilot, and tender, complete—the speed of forty miles an hour and the power of a thousand tons created in a day.

A Success.

Thompson's steam wagon was on the grounds of the Agricultural Society, in Stockton, February 11th, testing its powers in plowing; practical farmers say it is a complete success.

—A New York tailor was startled the other day by the return of a bill which he sent to a magazine editor, with a notice that the manuscript was respectfully declined.

Absence of Mind.

There is a man in Camden N. J., who is provoked. A few nights since he went out to drive in his cow. Arriving at the pasture-ground, he found that the cow was gone, but the bell which should have been around her neck was lying on the ground. He placed it in his pocket and forgot all about it. Every now and then it would give a smothered jingle, and he would think it was his cow, and would start off in a fresh direction. He followed the bell, as he thought, until twelve o'clock that night, and walked twenty miles. When he reached home, the cow had been there five or six hours and his wife had went over to the city to advertise for him in the "Lost and Found" column of The Ledger. Perhaps he wasn't mad when he found that bell in his pocket! His wife thinks he was a little extravagant in talking of the affair, but then she may be mistaken.

Inyo County.

The Independent complains of the injustice done Inyo county by the Census returns, being credited with less than half her real population, and her warrants being depreciated 50 per cent. The total indebtedness of the county is $28,000, with cash on hand to reduce it to $26,000; since August last, the debt has been reduced 22 per cent.; during the past year the taxable property has more than doubled; and in two years the debt will be discharged, so that at present Inyo is paying two dollars for one, beside the interest. This state of affairs can be easily changed, and will be, if the citizens interest themselves in the matter.—Los Angeles Star.

Rocky Mountain Coal.

The transpotation of coal over the Central Pacific Railroad from Ogden has become a large business, and one rapidly increasing. Already about 150 of the company's flat cars have been altered into coal cars, and more are to have the necessary alterations made. By Saturday morning's freight train 14 car-loads of coal arrived in the city.—Sacramento Union, February 13.

—An exchange says that Horace Greeley's little boy, who attends an uptown school, and will tell the truth any way you can fix him. The other day the teacher spelled out the word "g-r-a-c-e," and asked the young man to pronounce it. He gave it up, when the teacher, to refresh his memory, asked him, "What did your father say this morning before eating his breakfast?" The boy thought a moment, and finally said, "Pa said, 'd—n these eggs, they're rotten!'"

—Two San Francisco barbers, engaged to fight a duel, agreed to start and walk around a block, and, when they got within sight of each other, to blaze away. When they turned the corner out of sight, both started on a run in different directions, and one has sent from Alaska for his winter clothes, and the other has written to his wife from the city of Mexico, asking her to send his linen coat and palm-leaf hat.

—An editor down East thus speaks of a contemporary: "He is too lazy to earn a meal and too mean to enjoy one. He was never generous but once, and that was when he gave the itch to his apprentice. So much for his goodness of heart. Of his industry, the public may the better judge when we state that the only day he ever worked was the day he mistook castor oil for honey.

—Great results can not be achieved at once; and we must be satisfied to advance in life as we walk, step by step We must sow before we can reap, and have to wait long, content meanwhile to look patiently forward in hope; the fruit best worth waiting for often ripening the slowest. But "Time and patience," says the Eastern proverb, "change the mulberry leaf to satin."

—Skinflint—who "gives nothing to street beggars"—buttoned his pockets on being approached by a soldier, and said: "My dear fellow, I never can repay the debt I owe you—the debt we all owe you for your noble self-sacrifice! Money can't do it! It is no use trying!" With this patriotic utterance he walked away.

—A shoemaker was fitting a customer with a pair of boots, when the buyer observed that he had but one objection to them, was that the soles were a little too thick. "If, that is all," replied the shoemaker, "put on the boots, and the objection will gradually wear away."

—One Maine editor has sued another Maine editor for the defamation of character, and the defence is understood to be that, in the first place, the plaintiff had no character to speak of, and that, even if he had, nothing the defendant could say would injure any body.

—An exchange says there is no danger of there ever being a large supply of female type-setters in the market. As soon as a girl becomes proficient, and a valuable compositor, some male printer marries her, and that puts an end to her work in the printing office.

—Knott and Shott fought a duel. The result was that they changed conditions. Knott was shot, and Shott was not. It was better to be Shott than Knott.

—An editor out west is so short sighted that he rubs out with his nose the marks he makes with a pencil.

PETITION FOR MAIL SERVICE.

The citizens of Columbus have forwarded to Washington a petition containing some 200 signatures, asking for a tri-weekly mail service, on a route beginning at Wadsworth, thence south in an almost straight line through a number of mining camps to Columbus. In conjunction with this, citizens of Fish Lake, Montezuma, Palmetto and Deep Spring districts have asked for an extension of the same, through the localities mentioned, to Big Pine, connecting at that point with the Independence and Aurora mail. The last named petition, however, is for a semi-weekly, horse-back service.

None of these places except Columbus have any regular mails at all. The Columbus mail is carried from Hot Spring over a long and very circuitous road. It is proposed to discontinue this, or rather, to make Big Pine the starting point for the route asked for in the petition, by which means a great saving of time and distance will be gained, besides furnishing these important mining camps with much needed mail facilities. Heretofore and at present the people of Deep Spring and part of Fish Lake districts, lying within our county lines, have had to depend entirely on accidental communication with the county seat. Before the close of the present year the population of all these places will be greatly increased, although they number enough now to entitle them to all they ask. It is to be hoped these petitions may receive prompt attention by our representatives in Congress, for should the new route be established it will be something near 100 miles shorter to the railroad from this place than the one now in use, connecting at intermediate points mining and agricultural districts, now without mail accommodations of any kind.

Is Promised a Ride.

Neighbor Fairchild, of The Reese River Reveille, has excited the ire of certain sensitive hombres of Belmont, Nye county, Nevada, who in return have promised him a free ride (on a rail) should he ever take it into his head to visit that populous city of four dozen people. Some fifteen or twenty of these Belmonters have likewise notified him that they have no farther use or relish for his paper, and moreover that the people of Belmont intend to build a road whereon the semi-annual bull-team that conveys freights to Belmont may hereafter travel, and never more gladden the nostrils of Austinites by a sniff of alkali dust raised by Belmont hoof or wheel.

In answer to any who may wish to know the reason for this determination to squelch The Reveille and grow grass in the streets of Austin, we understand it is owing to opposition on the part of The Reveille to premature organization of new counties; as an example of probable results, Nye county was alluded to as not having children enough in any one settlement to maintain a school, and, consequently, that the children of that county enjoyed no better educational advantages than if they were Shoshones—in fact, for want of population, there was neither a church or school building in the county. Now it appears theyreally have one school which once had seventeen scholars in attendance. Hence the promised ride.

Musical.

It has been written and a thousand times quoted that

"Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast," and it is beyond question that a finer appreciation of the enjoyments of life is induced by the inspiring influences of music. The Arion Piano Company of New York this week gives a column advertisement of their supurb instruments, and we copy remarks of "Britton's City & Country" upon the merits of their pianos. There is scarcely a family in this county but who are, or will be within a year, abundantly able to supply themselves with a piano, so highly conducive to genuine home enjoyment, interest and amusement.

Going to Try It.

Breed & Crosby, of Virginia City, Nevada, have ordered a steam wagon, which they intend to use in freighting on the grade from Reno to that place. Should this operation prove a success on that heavy grade, we see no good reason why these wagons may not come into common use over any ordinary good road. We shall await results with interest.

REDEEM THE WASTE PLACES.

We have received a copy of a speech entitled as above, which was delivered by the Hon. S. B. Axtell before the House of Representatives, January 27. The question before the house was the bill extending the time for the construction of the St. Croix railroad, but Mr Axtell confined his remarks mainly to the California and Arizona railroad and Owens river branch. We have seen nothing that so clearly and ably sets forth the real needs and wishes of our people as this speech. A memorial from citizens of Los Angeles relating to the matter in hand was read, which with the main portions of Mr. Axtell's remarks we shall publish next week. He also read an extract from the San Francisco Bulletin concerning mining enterprises, in which the amount of bullion from Cerro Gordo last year to the Selby works is placed at 200,000 pounds We alluded to this matter at the time but will repeat that the actual amount shipped from Cerro Gordo to San Francisco, if not to the Selby works, was nearly fifteen times the amount named. We do not propose to speak of this matter further than to say, that flattering as were the honorable gentleman's conclusions in regard to the value and extent of the mines to be reached and benefited by these proposed railroads, his showing scarcely equalled facts.

Yet, under the new policy that is likely to govern action in Congress, by far the greater portion of this wealth must remain untouched for decades, for fear of a railroad land monopoly. In objecting to this penny-wise policy, Mr. Axtell says, the only value any lands can be to railroad companies must come, through their sale and to actual settlers. A railroad company is just as likely to become a dangerous power or monopoly, if able to build and operate a road without land subsidy as with it. The most overshadowing corporations in the country to-day, are railroads that never received a foot of land or any public subsidy. The concentration of capital for any purpose must partake, more or less, of a monopolizing nature but concentration of capital in all great enterprises is a necessity; without it we can have no railroads or other similar public advantages and for want of it subsidies are demanded. Without help of this character but few railroads can or will be built in all this great west where they are so much needed, at least during this generation. We are under no obligations to keep lands and mines of so much value in their pristine condition simply for the benefit of future generations. If we are to do so no better plan can be devised than that advocated in this anti-subsidy policy. With very few exceptions, none of these lands, not already occupied, will ever be of any possible value to the "actual settler," much less to the genera government, save through advantages that can only be obtained by some such plan as that indicated in this speech. In fact, without some such effort our mining interests must suffer and these lands will not be settled at all.

In making such grants who then can be loser? Certainly not the miner, nor the government, nor the actual settler, for whose interest such anxiety is manifested. In truth, those present and those to come have everything to gain and nothing to lose in getting railroads built on the terms proposed in the bill relating to the Arizona road. So long as it is possible for Congress to accomplish so much good at such small cost, as in the passage of this bill, it ought by all means to be done. If it is desirable to keep counties out of the clutches of railway corporations, brought about through the very objectionable system of cash subsidies, then give this bill favorable consideration, for their every interest demand these improvements, and if not attainable under one system the other is certain to be adopted unless barred by law.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

Our attention has lately been called to the great need of a wagon road from this valley, across the Inyo range, to Deep Spring Valley and other points east of the range. Parties competent to judge say the necessary expenditure to make a good road, not including the cost of a bridge across Owens river, would not exceed $1,000. The only feasible route would connect with the county road at or near Big Pine. As an item of very considerable importance it may be safely assumed that all the lumber required in Deep Spring, Fish Lake, Palmetto, Montezuma and Columbus districts would be taken over this road. It would likewise afford a shorter route for return freights from Wadsworth, on the railroad.

A proposition, not long since, was submitted by responsible parties to construct a toll road there. We are told that this offer met the hearty approbation of every man in Deep Spring district, although a remonstrance claiming to represent them was soon after placed on file in the Clerk's office. In consequence, and under the impression that this remonstrance represented the wish of the citizens most directly interested, no further action was taken.

The lumber and other trade of the places above named is certain to amount to a considerable sum, all of which would go to the advantage of our valley, if this proposed road was built. It is to be hoped the parties who submitted propositions to build the toll road will be permitted to go ahead, but if they do not choose to do so, then some energetic person ought to take the matter in hand and try and accomplish it by subscription. In view of the very important interests involved, together with the comparative insignificance of the sum of money required, we are sure it can be done. It appeals especially to the interest' of Big Pine, and possibly quite as much to that of Independence.

THE BILDERBACK MURDER.

The Los Angeles Star, of February 11th, gives the following additional details of this most atrocious murder, a somewhat detailed account of which we published last week. The Star relates at length particulars attending the first suspicions of the foul deed, together with the efforts made to find the bodies of the murdered men, which was done by probing the ground by means of an iron rod. Coyotes had scratched holes in the road in two places where, on examination the remains of a cow that had been stolen and butchered by Buckskin and his associate Thug, were discovered. Afterwards, at the crossing of a small gulch, where earth had been filled in to facilitate crossing of teams, the bodies were found on driving down the iron rod. They had been literally mashed into a hole too small to contain them, otherwise. The scene of the murder is known as the Little Tejunga canyon. Following circumstances we give in the words of The Star:

Spades and picks had been provided, and in spite of the almost insupportable stench arising from the decomposing bodies of the

the victims of the most cold-blooded murder ever committed, were disinterred, to appear as mute witnesses in the courts of this world, against their murderers, whose souls will, in the last day, stand before the judgement seat of a tribunal from whose decision there is no appeal, and from which they will receive JUSTICE.

Cold in death, and far advanced in the first stages of that decay which is the inevitable end of all things mortal. Laying the younger upon the older, mangled and crushed by the feet of their assassins, who had trampled them into their narrow resting place, in order to save themselves the "trouble"—slight in comparison with that in which fiendish outrage upon two unarmed defenceless lives will surely cause them—of making the grave, to which they confided their horrible secret, a little wider and a little longer, lay the bodies of the murdered dead. Carefully and tenderly, strong men, sorrowing for the untimely death, took out first the remains of Henry, the younger, for the purpose of making investigations, by which they hoped to bring to justice his slayer. A ball evidently from a rifle had entered his right side from behind, and ranging diagonally through the body, penetrated the heart and both lungs emerging from the front of the left side, just over the heart; on his head had fallen two heavy blows, crushing the skull. His death must have been almost instantaneous.

Oscar, the elder brother, probably aged twenty-six or seven years, was then examined. In his left arm, near the elbow, was found a ball from a Henry rifle; beneath the blade bone of the left shoulder there was another; another had grazed his back; through his right thigh still another. None of these wounds were sufficient to produce death; they disabled him as he was running from his murderers, who then caught him, gagged and tied him to the dead body of his brother, and with an axe beat his head and face to jelly; at least, such is the inference deducible from the result of the investigation. In the breast pocket of his coat, and near the heart which will never beat again, was this letter from his mother. May God, in his infinite mercy, temper the wind of adversity for that poor mother, and send her help from heaven to bear up misfortunes, against which the stregth of mortals can avail nothing.

MECHANICSBURG, Oct. 24, 1870.

My very dear son:

I have not heard a word from you since you wrote me you were sick. Oh, I feel so uneasy about you—I fear the worst. You would write me if you could.

I still think, every day, to morrow I shall get a letter, but as yet none comes.

I will write a short letter until I hear from you.

We have had quite a fire here since I wrote you: the old hotel burnt to the ground, so we are without any hotel in Mechanicsburg. In the Spring there will be one built, not before.

It is getting late.

Friends are all well, as far as I know.

Love for yourself, and may God bless you, is my prayer.

Oh, Henry, write to me, if but a line.

From your Mother.

You think this is a short letter, but I am so uneasy about you that it seems to me I can't write. God save you!

THE INQUEST.

Daniel Burchard (an old man who has been living in the canyon, working for different parties for about two years), was sworn, and testified that he was acquainted with the deceased. He identified the bodies as those of Henry and Oscar Bilderback; testified that on Monday, January 16, Geo. Goodhue had told him that the two brothers had been killed by Alfred Henry and Frank the hunter, and that Gardiner was going to kill him. We asked him how he knew, and he replied "the hunter told me." Frank, the hunter, always dresses in buckskin, and is called "Buckskin."

[The rest of the testimony elicited was subtantially the same as published by us last week. Eds. Independent.]

In the hole in which were found the murdered men, was a bag containing a lot of bread, a piece of cooked meat and some baked pumpkin, from which the inference is drawn that they were killed before their dinner hour.

The Next Ruler of France.

All reports, says The San Francisco Bulletin, seem to agree that the monarchists and imperialists are largely in the majority in the French Assembly, and that of the former the Orleanist are the most numerous, if they are not the majority of the whole Assembly. Perhays the Republican delegates may hold the balance of power. In that case they will use it to prevent the restoration of the Napoleons. They will naturlly prefer a limited constitutional monarchy under an Orleans Prince to the personal regime of the late Empire. It is to be hoped the legitimist, or Buurbon element, has no strength in the Assembly; although a German journal says that the contest lies between the Bourbons and Orleanists. The Count de Chambord, the legitimate descendant of the Bourbon Kings, is a man of 55 years, who inherits the prejudices of his family, and is pronounced ultramontane in politics and religion. A recent letter from him indicates that he would use power to restore the temporality of the Pope.

Borax.

The supposed borax deposits of this county are pronounced worthless, as we learn from The Scientific Press. Those of Columbus district, Esmeralda county, Nevada, are a great success, an interesting account appearing in The Bulletin of the 17th instant.

MARRIED.

On the 22d of February, by A. C. Hanson, County Judge, at the residence of W. R. Tibbits, PAUL W. BENNETT to SARAH B. POTTER.

Accompanying the above announcement came the compliments of the happy District Attorney, in the shape of wine and cake. The entire force of The Independent office unite in extending the new firm their profoundest regards and well-wishes.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Who, when his brother asks for bread, would give him a serpent? Yet how often when the sick ask for medicine, they receive poison. Mercury, iodine, strychnine and prussic acid, are prescribed daily, and the larger the dose the more heroic the practice! Shun all deadly minerals, and concentrated vegetable poisons. Let Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters be the first resort of all who suffer from general debility, indigestion, constipation, billiousness, intermittent fever or rheumatism. They will need no other medicine.

PATENT ARION PIANO.

A Few Reasons WHY THE ARION PIANO IS Superior to All Others.

THE ARION PIANO-FORTE HAS GREATER Power than any other Piano Forte manufactured.

It Will Stand In Tune Longer,

And in its mechanical construction it is more perfect, and therefore, more durable than any instrument constructed in the usual modern style.

The arrangement of the Agraffe, the manner of stringing, the peculiar form and arrangement of the Iron Frame,

Supersedes all Others.

The use of a bar (which is part of the Iron Frame), on a line with the heavy steel stringing, gives

Great Strength

Where most needed, and in this respect all other Pianos fail.

The construction of the WREST PLANK, into which the Tuning Pins are inserted, is such that it is impossible for the pins to become loosened, or the Wrest Plank itself to split, as is too often the case in other Piano Fortes.

The Extraordinary Evenness

Throughout the entire scale, the excellent Singing Quality, the

Length and Purity on Vibration.

All go to prove what we claim, viz.: that the

Arion Piano Forte

Is the BEST INSTRUMENT Manufactured.

THE PATENT Arion Pianos

ARE USED EXCLUSIVELY IN THE

American Conservatories of Music,

Of New York City.

THE MOST SEVERE TEST A PIANO CAN RECEIVE IS CONSTANT USE IN A CONSERVATORY.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

It affords me much pleasure to give you, in these few lines, a very sincere testimonial for the Piano Fortes of your manufacture. We have now used the "PATENT ARION PIANOS" in our Conservatories for a year, and have had a fair opportunity of testing their durability during that time. The Pianos have been played upon almost constantly, from morning until night, and a Piano must indeed be a good one when it will bear such constant use without showing signs of defection. As for REMAINING IN TUNE, it outrivals any Piano known to me.

Their peculiar sweetness of tone in the treble (as compared to other Pianos with the ordinary metal agraffe arrangement), is so striking that I have had pupils remark, while taking their lessons, that although they had at home what they supposed to be one of the best makes of Pianos, still the treble was very wiry toned compared with the "ARION."

What makes them still more desirable is their uniform volume of tone, which enables an Artist to perform a composition in its true character.

In total, I can conscientiously endorse all that is claimed by the ARION PIANO-FORTE COMPANY for their superb instruments, as I consider them superior to any other make.

Congratulating you upon the great success you have obtained in the manufacture of so perfect an instrument, I remain yours,

Very truly,

HENRY SHROEDER, DIRECTOR.

New York, September 3d, 1870.

AGENTS WANTED,

We want first class and responsible agents in every city and town where we have not already appointed them.

We Have Just Published

Our Annual Illustrated Pamphlet, which contains a full description of the interior construction of the PATENT ARION PIANO FORTE, and all the other leading Pianos of the principal makes; illustrated with cuts, thus contrasting the ARION with all other first class Pianos, and proving

WHY AND WHERE

Our Pianos are superior to any in the market.

Our pamphlet contains engravings of all the different styles of Instruments that we manufacture, giving a full description of each, so that a person can select the style they may desire to order, with the assurance that they will receive just as good a Piano as if they were in our warerooms to select it. We have sold over FIVE THOUSAND Pianos, many of them being shipped great distances, and we have never yet received the first complaint. As we give a written guarantee with every Piano we manufacture, for five years, the purchaser runs no risk.

☞ Don't fail to write for our pamphlet which we mail free, and when you write state what paper you saw this notice in ☜

N. B.—We caution the public from purchasing a cheap Piano which has recently been put in the market, bearing the name "Arion." All genuine Arion Pianos bear the name "Patent Arion," and can only be purchased from our New York Warerooms, or our authorized Agents throughout the United States.

On Their Track.

The party referred to in our last paper as being in search of the murderers of the Bilderbacks, consisting of J. D. Dunlap, Deputy U. S. Marshal, Budd Bryant, Thos. Hayes and George Gleason, Deputy Sheriffs, Estephen Sanchez, —— Kean and another gentleman have been engaged in prosecuting their search for "Buckskin" and Henry up to last Thursday, when all returned to Los Angeles except J. D. Dunlap, who remains here with the determination of taking his men, or exhausting every available means in the attempt. On Friday, the 17th instant, a party of some eight or ten from this place went out and passed the following Sunday in search of them, but could find no trace. It is evident that the band have heard of their pursuers, and are now hid away in the mountains, probably somewhere in the Black Rocks. But the snow must drive them out, and we have but little doubt of their final capture. Following we give a complete description of the men and their outfit, to the end that, should they by any possible chance escape the vigilance of the officers, no one can harbor the inhuman fiends except to effect their capture. We hope our brethren of the press may pass them around: Davis, alias "Buckskin," alias "Bill the Hunter," alias "Frank the Hunter," is a large boney, powerful man; near six feet high will weigh about 180 pounds; dark complection and dark hair; straight and walks erect; has scar on left cheek below and back of the eye. Also, deformed toe on the left foot, second from the small one—it turns up on a half circle, and he is obliged to cut a hole in his boots or moccasins to accommodate it; face wrinkled; is between 35 and 40 years of age, and has an Oregon squaw with him who speaks good English, and at the present time is enciente. Buckskin and squaw at one time lived near white Pine, where he was known as a desperate, miserable fellow. Afterwards lived at Fish Lake Valley, up to about the time of the Asa Wilds killing, when he and his squaw went to near Fort Tejon, and about 6 or 7 months since went the little Tajunga canyon in Los Angeles county, and put up a wickiup, and remained there until three days after the murder of the Bilderbeck brothers. He has followed hunting principally, and dresses entirely in buckskin, even to his hat, and that is encircled with a narrow fringe of the same material. He has very large feet, and, judging from his moccasins, wears No. 10 or 11 boots. He boasts of having turned the feet of many a white man up to the sun before this, and said also that he had been driven from many places, and that he would "be d—d if he intended to be run from here," meaning Tajunga canyon. Alfred Henry, his companion in crime, is from Salt Lake, and went to Los Angeles with the Budd Smith party, about a year ago last August; and drove team from Los Angeles to Soledad, for Pico & Harper. It is not believed that he is a native of Salt Lake, but came from Montana or Idaho. His description is as follows: Sharp blue eye, with a hang-dog look, and can not look one in the face. Has coarse, black hair; full whiskers; is 5 feet 8 inches in hight; square built, stands straight; red cheeks, and was dressed in gray sack coat, No. 8 wire-quilted boots; white, slouched hat, with bullet shot through the crown; blue overhauls, or possibly snuff colored fashionable pants, with stripe down the legs. If so, the pants were stolen from George Goodhue. The outfit of Buckskin consisted of: 1 small Spanish bay mare (usually rode it himself); 1 gray half-breed mare; 1 black Spanish mare; 1 two-year old mule; 1 yellow mule colt; 1 sorrel horse colt, and possibly 1 white horse and rode by Henry, belonging to Gardner. The clues are conclusive that the party are in this neighborhood at the present time, and it behooves every good citizen to see that these blood stained villians are brought to justice, for they are a class that will murder you for a change of wardrobe—will murder you in your house, in the road or any where else, to save themselves from the doom their deeds so richly merit.

Horse Thieves.

About two weeks ago a couple of horses belonging to a man by the name of Woods, residing at Swansea, were stolen by two men named respectively J. O. B. Williams and Wm. King. A Deputy Sheriff, for Cerro Gordo, started in pursuit and came across the fugitives near Haiwa meadow, capturing the horses which were kindly abandoned by the thieves. But the same parties declined to surrender themselves when called upon to do so by the Deputy, some two or three hundred yards distant, and stepping, into the rocks, presented pistols and said that was their terms of surrender, if any was wanted. The Deputy, however, didn't want any, and returned, satisfied with the glory (?) of capturing the horses and accoutrements. The gents then took Walkers Line for the South, meeting the southern stage somewhere on the road, in which our worthy Sheriff was a passenger. Having learned of the affair, Mr. Elder determined to capture them, and as they passed the stage off to one side in the chaparral, Mr. Elder started back after them on foot, accompanied with Mr. Passmore, Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Sheffard, of Little Lake. Going back about two miles, the party discovered their men at a camp fire, and cautiously slipping upon them, commanded them to stand up. But the two jumped and run in opposite directions amid a volley of small shot, leaving a hat, boot and six-shooter. King and Williams, (the thieves) did not come together again but Williams, wrapping his feet in his overshirt, travelled on some 14 miles further and entered the camp of two or three teamsters, at Sand Canyon. The parties, it seems, were cognizant of the circumstances, and after breakfast arrested Williams, tying him with a stiff rope and placed him in a wagon with a shot gun, which was given them for the purpose of affecting Williams' capture. With the utmost ease, Williams loosened the rope, and picking up the gun, intimated to the driver that he "guessed he would carry the gun awhile." The teamster begged for the return of the gun, as it was a borrowed one, and offered to give Williams money and provisions if he would leave it, but recieved no other reply than that thing was old. Receiving some badgering by his companeros, the teamster finally left a man to watch the thief and started to Indian Wells to procure help to recapture the gun. Meanwhile Sheriff Elder and party arrived, and started in pursuit of Williams, who had gone up Sand Canyon Creek. Following up the trail, they finally reached a place where it was completely lost, and after searching for two hours, their man stepped out of the drift wood and announced that he surrendered. The other man, King, was followed by Passmore to Indian Wells, from which point he escaped with a parting shot fired at him. The Sheriff last Thursday brought in Williams, and a party consisting of Messrs. Mulkey and Begole are in pursuit of King, and will doubtless take him.

It is an Ill Wind

That blows good to no one, and though the wind that blew up the late snow storm was ill enough for the most of people, it is highly appreciated by the Piute population who owing to the snow are enabled to corral all many "labbits."

LETTER FROM DEEP SPRING.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

DEEP SPRING VALLEY, February 16.

MESSRS. EDITORS: I will endeaver to comply with your request, and state through the columns of The Independent what progress is being made in this camp. Mr. Walker and myself have been busy remodeling the mill and building a furnace, but owing to the inconvenience in getting proper material and the rough state of that which we are compelled to use, we have not got along as we expected. We have the foundation of our furnace laid, and some of our men are building the smoke stack, which will be about twenty feet above the furnace; a man is also at work cutting stone for the hearth, and in ten or fifteen days we will have the furnace ready to fire up. We have also replaced the pans and settler thrown out by Mr. Paul and others.

I find that many people have a wrong idea as to our proposed mode of working, and by way of explanation, will say that we propose to crush the ores dry, then by roasting destroy all, or as nearly as possible, the base metals by driving them off in the form of an oxide, and reducing the various forms of silver (as they naturaily exist) to a chloride, when the ore is in its most simple form for amalgamation, which in this case will be done in pans. Barrels are preferable, but owing to their cost and the fact that the pans are on hand in which equally good results can be obtained, we use them, but at greater cost to us. We do not, as has been stated, propose to work all classes of ores, as we do not intend working ore which contains more than 20 per cent. of lead, nor very low grade ore, as these must be kept until such time as labor and other things are much cheaper. And further, we must have some other way than by pack train to get our machinery and provisions into camp, in order to work cheap ores.

Of the mines I will say this: That there are more good ledges here than in any other new district now known; I will name a few of them. The Blue Bird, located by Mr. J. S. Broder, is on or near the divide between this valley and Fish Lake valley. This is an excellent mine, in which, quite recently, a rich strike has been made. On Cottonwood creek, which is about five miles north of Wyman and running parallel thereto, is the Cyclops, located by Mr. Broder and others as early as 1863. It is a valuable mine, its metal being principally gold, in which it is very rich. Preparations are being made to extract five tons per day. Some of the ore is decomposed, and the gold can be seen in large quantities through the rock. Next we stop at the Leavenworth, located by Mr. John Burgan and others, about one mile west of the Cyclops. This ledge is an exception. It is about two feet thick, has well defined walls, and the ore is uniform in value. It is of a high grade, being antimonial silver ore, with not more than 10 per cent. of gold, and is certainly very easily reduced or "worked." Further up the hill is the Black Hawk, also owned by Mr. Burgan. This ledge is not so large or thick, but like the Leavenworth, is well defined with good walls, and contains very rich antimonial ore, assaying as much as $1,000 per ton. We have an extension on this mine, but where it extends to is hard telling, but we amused ourselves (I say "ourselves" because I was not alone—dare not go out over these hills alone, they are so steep it is sometimes necessary to have help to get up or down) prospecting. We found three ledges which prospect fairly, both in size and quality, and erected a monument on or near them to notify all parties that we were there, etc. On our way home we passed in sight of the Twin Pine, owned by Messrs. Davis & Millington, who have ten or twelve tons of fine ore on the dump, awaiting reduction. This is a good ledge, and belongs to the Wyman creek side of the mountains.

As for prospecting I can not see what better place a prospector might want than this camp. Some parties from White Pine who were here a short time since and are about to return soon, say this is a better place to prospect than eastern Nevada, and that it is not overdone here as it is there.

As soon as my assaying apparatus arrives (Mr. Walker is now on his way here with it) I will be able to give you the figures as to the value of ores, which will be more satisfactory to your reader than statements without giving exact values. It is supposed by some that it is cheaper under all circumstances to reduce ores by smelting; this is not the case, as it is only cheaper where fluxes naturally exist, and that is not the case here. At least it has not been discovered as yet, and therefore we must depend upon milling our ores, and of that class of ore there is plenty.

We much need a wagon road from Owens River, and it seems to me that some of the people of your valley should build a road. It certainly would not cost more than $1,000 to make a very good road, but I suppose they do not feel like taking any chances, but wait until they have a "dead thing." They do not dream that some other party might come along and see a "good thing" by way of a road.

The citizens of this place and Fish Lake valley are about to petition the Post Office Department for a mail route from Big Pine to Columbus, to be carried on horse back twice a week each way; and we hope that none of the citizens of Fish Springs will remonstrate. Application has been made for a tri-weekly mail from Columbus to Wadsworth, which would give us, and also Independence, our mail several days sooner than by Reno.

The New Store.

Notice will be taken of the new advertisement of Rothschild & Co., which appears this week. Although "Dave" and "Jim" are so nicely ensconced in their new store, with everything in the shape of staple and fancy merchandise piled around them, they don't feel a bit proud, but want old and new friends to call around all the same. They certainly have a well appointed and finely stocked and furnished storeroom, displaying their commendable enterprise, and showing that good patronage has been accorded them, which should be continued.

Weather.

Wednesday morning last, our eyes were greeted by a sight not often beheld in this locality; namely, a mantle of snow over spreading Mother Earth. During the two succeeding days it attained a depth of four inches in this place, at Bishop Creek more than a foot; at Cerro Gordo about the same; in the mountains from one to ten fathoms, more or less.

Moving Out.

A large band of Texas cattle from Bishop Creek, numbering perhaps 300 head, passed by town on Thursday, bound for a more southern range. They belong to Messrs. Wilson & Anderson. Our valley is somewhat overstocked for winter range, but from the mildness of the winter up to the present, stock have done very well.

A Dance

Was given on the night of the 22d., by Mr. & Mrs. George, proprietors of the Exchange Hotel. A general invitation was given. Stress of business prohibited Lokleitems being present, but from what these say who were there, a very pleasant and social party enjoyed themselves until a late, or rather an early hour.

For the Week Ending Thursday, February 23, 1871.

Reminiscences.

Next week our readers may look for a readable sketch of Indian history, contributed by an original writer. We have also made arrangements whereby we can give some articles of historical interest, concerning early times in this Valley, from the pens of several good writers.

Captured.

The other horse stealer, mentioned elsewhere has been captured, after a severe fight in which he wounded himself. Particulars next week.

Grand Jury.

A venire has been issued and returned for Grand Jurors, to dispose of the case of the horse thieving gentry.

HARP AND PIANO.

[From Brittan's City & Country, Newark, N. J.

The rudest form of the Harp, as it existed before the time of Moses, was but the dim prophesy of the magnificent Piano Forte of to-day. The history of this instrument is full of poetic interest and is associated with the elegant arts, the devotional exercises, and popular amusements of many nations and countries. Its authentic history covers a period of more than 3,000 years. The instrument is pictured on the tombs of Egyptian kings, among the mountains at the west of Thebes; it is often mentioned in Grecian and Roman history; and it was employed in rendering the orphic chants of the Hebrew poets and musicians. The gallant knights of Europe, for two centuries, went a wooing under its inspiration; and the romance and minstrelsy of the Troubadours of southern France and northern Italy are inseparable from the history of the Harp. And now, among all the musical instruments and cherished objects to be found in the homes of the most enlightened nations, the Harp—in the superior form of the best PIANO—is of all others the one that ministers most essentially to the happiness of our social life.

The ear and the judgment are often singularly influenced by our personal preferences, or a previous conviction. People who are not ordinarily prone to profanity yet swear by Henry Ward Beecher, and accept him as the universal oracle, to be believed in and quoted alike by Christians and Infidels. The newspapers all print the grotesque sayings of Mark Twain as the quintessential extract of real wit. People who love to run in a groove, praise Steinway and Chickering, until those gentlemen came to be regarded as the only worthy representatives of all the excellence to be found in stringed instruments such as they manufacture. Indeed, it was some time since taken for granted that all the Gold Medals and Premiums including the Legion of Honor, and the sterotyped testimonials of a legion of interested witnesses, must, as a matter of course, be awarded to those parties, who certainly have assisted toward perfecting the most valuable musical instrument in the world.

The proprietors of the ARION PIANO FORTE, comprehending this chronic habit of mankind, and believing that their Pianos were really superior to all others suggested the fairest possible method of testing the relative merits of the several instruments exhibited in competetion by the different makers. This trial occurred immediately after the Paris Exposition, in presence of the officers of the American Institute. The instruments of different manufacturers, including Chickering's, Steinway's, the ARION and others, were all covered (except the keys,) so that the eye could not distinguish one from another; thus leaving no opportunity for the expression of a biased judgment. After a fair trial of all the Pianos, which occupied two hours, the judges—distinguished and eminent musicians—concurred in the selection of one instrument as superior to the others, which, on the removal of the covering, proved to be the ARION. With a view of rendering this trial the more decisive the players and judges then retired from the room. In their absence the Pianos were again covered and their positions changed. The reader is left to imagine the surprise and mortification of the chief competitors when the second trial ended in the selection of the same instrument.

There is little occasion for further comment. It is well known that excellent opinions may be obtained for a liberal commission on the sales that such opinions may be instrumental in accomplishing. But in this case there was neither private interest nor personal prejudice to influence the judgment. No fairer test could have been devised; and the result of this memorable trial certainly confers ubon the proprietors of the PATENT ARION PIANO a distinction of far greater practical importance than the Legion of Honor.

The steamer in question so far from being "a third-class steam frigate of 1,275 tons." is a first-class war vessel, and one of the most magnificent afloat —if indeed she be afloat. She is about 3,400 tons burden upwards of 330 feet long, and carries 21 large guns. On her trial trip she made 19 knots an hour, and is consequently the fastest sailer in the navy. These items we derive firom a naval officer who ought to be posted in such matters.

The Great Medical Discovery!
Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands
Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.
WHAT ARE THEY?

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion of Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Viscera Organs.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE
FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.
Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

MEDICAL.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, August 15, 1868.

Allow me to call your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.

Buchu as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of profound confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

(From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.)

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WIGHTMAN,
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

For weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Natures which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forbodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

THE CONSTITUTION

Once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity ensues.

Helmbold's Fluid Extract of Buchu

In affections peculiar to Females, is unequaled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incidental to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu
—AND—
IMPROVED ROSE WASH

Will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superceding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copavia and Mercury, in all these diseases.

USE
Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu

In all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to effect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. Price $1 25 per Bottle, or 6 Bottles for $6 50. Delivered to any address. Describe Symptoms in all communications.

PEOPLE WILL TALK.

You may get through the world, but 'twill be very slow,
If we listen to all that is said as we go,
We'll be worried and fretted, and kept in a stew,
For meddlesome tongues will have something to do,
For people will talk.

If quiet and modest, you'll have it presumed
That your humble position is only assumed,
You're a wolf in sheep's clothing, or else you're a fool,
But don't get excited, keep perfectly cool,
For people will talk.

If generous and noble, they'll vent out their spleen,
You'll hear some loud hints that you're selfish and mean,
If upright and honest, and fair as the day,
They'll call you a rogue in a sly, sneaking way,
For people will talk.

And then if you show the least boldness of heart,
Or a slight inclination to take your own part,
They will call you an upstart, conceited and vain;
But keep straight ahead, don't stop to explain,
For people will talk.

If threadbare your dress, or old-fashioned your hat,
Some one will surely take notice of that,
And hint rather strong that you can't pay your way,
But don't get excited whatever they say,
For people will talk.

If you dress in the fashion don't think to escape,
For they criticise then in a different shape;
You're ahead of your means or your tailor's unpaid,
But mind your own business, there's naught to be made,
For people will talk.

Now, the best way to do is to do as you please,
For your mind, if you have one, will then be at ease;
Of course you will meet with all sorts of abuse,
But don't think to stop them, it ain't any use,
For people will talk.

A STORY OF THE VALLEY.

An Indian Chief's Romance.

WRITTEN FOR THE INDEPENDENT, BY J. T. R.

Joe Bowers was recognized by the Owens River white tribe to be a "good Indian," and one day he expressed his desire to go to the "Big Home" of the white face, and learn how they gathered their "wiah" (grass seed) and to get better posted in thieving by rule, as he felt he was nowhere in that qualification, for the whites had already squatted, under protest, on a large portion of his dominions.

For various considerations, we, in company with another person, were induced to take him down to the city. There were rich mines in the vicinity of his castle; the number of his braves were sufficient, together with his impregnable fortresses, to protect him. And we, having an interest in the famous Cinderella mine, were to take along a lot of ore. We well knew that when Joe saw San Francisco he would, on his return to the White Mountains, surprise his own tribe and those farther east, by showing forth to them the forces the Owens River whites held in reserve, and consequently allow the whites free locomotion the very same as was given to the princes, princesses and the heir apparent to the house of Joe.

Upon our arrival in San Francisco, early in the morning, we left Joe sitting on the steps of the What Cheer House. Nearing the hotel after a few hours absence, we were a little surprised to find a large crowd gathered around the door, and on elbowing our way in to see the object of curiosity, we smiled to behold him, the very picture of majestic wildness, a half smoked cigar in his left hand and his right pointing to his royal household. His buckskin coat, pants of the same material, ornamented moccasins, and plumed hat, composed of crow feathers bound with a red band and studded with white buttons, reposed upon his royal brow. The perspiration was pouring from his august cheeks, while endeavoring to answer in pure and plain Owens River vernacular, the inquisitive crowd, who were asking, in all the languages of the continent, who he was, where he came from, or did he know of any valuable locations. Our traveling companion was also beseiged with question of similar import, but it was very evident that one man from Inyo county had puzzled all the San Francisco professors of languages, and was still holding his own, in spite of the many who were fast arriving with fresh tongues.

We thought some one of wit, or one of those great guessers who are always on hand, would find out where Joe came from, and Joe certainly put the crowd down as dunces. He gesticulated beautifully and looked around for some of his valley acquaintances, but in vain, for there were only three men that year who could or were able to leave the valley. One of these (if a slight digression will be allowed) made a very narrow escape, and was only saved by the traveling man that is ever seen accidentally coming along. In this case, our itinerant rescuer, as he came wending his way, observed a pair of boots pending in air over a hot spring, and drawing nigh, beheld a man with his head down. He immediately pulled with all his might and pulled forth a member of the bearded sex, who, after clearing the way for his vocal sounds and a little ablution of facial organs, thanked him kindly as the Lord's own agent, telling him he was on his return from Owens Valley, where his cash became scarce, and having a great regard for his black, silken curls, made a hat of raw hide. Getting into an Indian surprise, he, without any arms, was the only survivor, and the raw hide had already made a severe dent into his cranium, and he had beencompelled to go into the soaking business for relief.

Captain Joe soon despaired at the situation he was in, thinking no doubt that his companions had left him at the mercy of an ignorant rabble; his wife and children would go naked and drudge like common folks for a living. Pitying him, we made our appearance, on which he expressed his gratification by calling our name in a loud, gutteral tone and by shaking hands. We were compelled to give a few facts to the crowd, whose wonder was only increased when they heard he was the Head Chief of that unexplored region situated between Owens River and Death Valley, and that he had come down to sign a treaty of alliance with the Governor, to whom he was bringing a present of some chunks of gold he had found.

After a few days in the city we went to see a lady friend, whose girlish days we knew, and for whom we entertained a brotherly affection, and in old homely style called Maggie. It puzzled us much upon our meeting to find her as single as the rib the whole race started from. It had been three years since we last saw her, and being as fine a looking womar as could be seen in the city—tall and symmetrical, a face radiant with health and beauty, dimpled chin, lips formed by nature to smile, large, lustrous black eyes, black, waving hair, is our unbotanical heroine. She was now four years in her mourning weeds, living on an income left by her deceased husband. Hers was a joyous life; masculine attentions were showered upon her. The tempest of love raged furiously in many hearts. Yet she, unlike a great many of her sex, never broke in very small pieces that microscopic organ that has been found only in a few men, and science revealeth not in women. The immense fund of joke and literal wit she used in company relieved the heart disease in many, who were very glad to be able to defend themselves from the laughter she exposed them to, without mustering up ability to approach a little delicate subject. It was difficult to attack the fortifications of her heart in anyway. The tried sympathy on her, pretending her cruelty to them was killing. But you can't "catch an old bird with chaff;" she was too old to go into business on that kind of capital, and she would not invest her own without mutual consideration. She was no little girl, for some worthless scamp to whisper in her ear that her father and mother prevented his company, and then ask for pity from an innocent creature, whose sympathy would conduct her into misery, and marry somebody mean and worthless for the purpose of having an object to exercise it on. There was another class of men who condescended to spare a little time with Maggie, and she acted foolish in not taking one of them. They wore a business air, taking out their watches every few minutes, and then would look wonderfully wise and serious, as if their numerous engagements were to be to the minute exact. This class generally when they walk around carry their heads on one side; the most cursory observer can see that it is from the weight of brain they have, like an ear of wheat when ripe. Their hearts, too, must be of great endurance, or else would be crushed by brain pressure, and therefore deprive an immense sight of love to the gentle sex. These were the pink of perfection. The manufacture of poetry under the smiling sunshine of her eyes was wonderful indeed; the morning papers were surfeited with it. She was guised by her own made poets in every angelic form imaginable; the very clouds were brought down to drape her with, and many poetical hearts flew to pieces in sparks like hot iron under a blacksmith's blows. These left her presence in vain. The number of mining deed and shares of stock, and the exhibition of different kinds of very valuable documents, enough to wrap up a German State and send it through the United States mail, were brought into play.

Half of the women would die with regret if they only knew that nine-tenths of all masculine labor is performed for their sake, without adequate thanks being returned, but their ignorance of the entire facts prevent them from falling at the feet of the lords of creation for mercy, or hugging half the male population to death. But the wise sex have labored along silently, building immense castles, rambling through the labrynths of their own imagination, performing sundry household duties, laying down little tid bits of chat, and making large allowance for family troubles. An immense sum of money would be the result of this work. Most all men invest fourteen years of brain labor in these enterprises, until at thirty they find out their angels have no wings. This sum should be added to the hard cash paid for dyes, cosmetics, etc., to which must be annexed an estimate of the cost of clothing and fancy articles, together with a calculation of the time that we consume in going to and from them, and all would make up a sum truly startling, even before they say the fatal "yes." And then we only receive legitimate leave to work the balance of our days, receiving, for variety's sake, interludes of curtain lectures, with full stops of broom sticks and hot water.

But San Franciscans never could breach the approaches to our Maggie's heart; and it was left, much to the pride of Inyo, to furnish a renowned pioneer to awake the tender emotion of the much prized lady. Returning to her presence, after the first salutations were passed, and after a mutual interview of circumstances transpiring for the past interval, we commenced chiding her in a brotherly manner about her monastic life, incidentally relating the fact that we had a traveling companion of reliable riches and wealth—a little old, but living an abstemenious life, and not corrupted by the vices that generally encircle the rich; was a hearty, hale fellow of good cheer when he found acquaintances he could talk to as friends. We told her his name, Captain Joseph Bowers. She said she had never heard of him before. We expressed great surprise, and said: "He is known as a great pioneer and early comer into this country, and as a man rather reticent in his manner, loving the solitude of his immense tracts of land. His extreme modesty is such as newspaper correspondents are prohibited, by reason of his positive orders, from giving any notoriety to him, and even now he lives retired in the Russ House, never putting his name on the books, although he is only known to a few military men in the city. Have been in his employ some time, doing nothing but roaming over his property and examining into the vast resources of his land claim. He has not the slightest idea of his wealth. We came down to see the Governor about land matters, to prevent his entire claim being taken by houseless wanderers, cutting his fine timber, tramping his grass, and causing his cattle to decrease by shooting them down. Land is very scarce in one portion of his property. The towns of Bend City and San Carlos are hopeful; they made extensions to the said cities until the surveyors died of hard work, and the only land now for sale is water lots. The Captain, seeing the future of the valley, is determined to put a stop to such shameful work." Friend Maggie listened attentively, asking us a few questions about how he got so rich, and wondered why such men did not marry. We told her he was very early in the country, and like all pioneers, had the chances in his favor, and the ladies that he came in contact with were not pleasing, and he thought they loved his splendid retinue. Although "he don't put on style much, he has any amount of servants and several places to reside in, for innovation sake, as he thinks it essential to the freedom and happiness nature instilled into him." We soon saw, by Maggie's manner, that the big figures were impressing her seriously; we could look at her but seldom, being afraid our joke would be turned into selfish admiration; but we had an old debt to pay back, and this nerved us much. After some concluding remarks on the abuses of married life, we took our leave, promising to return in three or four days. Doing so, we found Maggie in her usual happy mood. Spending some time in thoughtful conversation, Captain Bowers' tender business was introduced, seeming much to her pleasure, for she had her share of wisdom. Immense tracts of land, servants without number, several picturesque residences, freedom of locomotion, and a most romantic husband, enjoying health and a nature so plastic that he never annoyed himself with women's rights, and such foolishness, was not to be had every day in California. So Maggie's heart melted down like a boiled turnip, and was ready for moulding in any shape to catch the Captain. After a little wordy engineering, we told her we would introduce him if she would promise to fix herself up in the finest style—that beauty could be vastly improved by the modern appendages to nature, like a bright star peeping through the fleecy clouds—and that if we could be fortunate enough to see the match made, our own fortune would be insured, as then we would be secured in the agency we then held, knowing that she would always act as a sister to us, and could mould the Captain to her desires. She promised to comply, and appointed the hour of 7 P. M. four days from thence as the time.

In the evening of that day we left the What Cheer House, where the Captain held his soirees, and in his company proceeded on the important business. In a few minutes we were in Minna street, which is chiefly inhabited by private families, and walking in quick step, Indian file, the Captain behind. His singular appearance caused the street gamin to shout "see the Indian Chief!" following us up. Their noise brought the occupants to the doors and windows, and we were compelled, being within a block of our destination, to get on a street car and go in right angle to the street in question. Going up to Mr. Wingard's, he being an old acquaintance of the Captain's, Joe's appearance created a hearty laugh. As soon as it became dusk, we made tracks for Maggie's residence. We rang the bell, and, as luck would have it, Maggie's sister-in-law came to open the door. Whispering to her the trick we were playing, she thanked us much and was glad to assist; going to Maggie's room, she informed her that we were in the parlor. The Captain himself condescended to sit on a sofa, a little angling from the view of a person just entering, while we sat in a position to attract her attention until she would fairly enter, as Joe's head-dress, which he very impolitely wore to meet his belle, would scare her off. She entered, bowing very low to , us and looked as serious as any other woman going to marry the second time. While her hand was in ours, we expressed our heartfelt pleasure in having the opportunity to present her to Captain Joseph Bowers, at the same time politely turning her around, in a bowing posture, until the picture met her view!

She sank as pale as death in the chair beside her, and waited a few moments to realize her position, while we sat down laughing. In this we were aided by her sister-in-law, who watching us. We told her of the parentage of the Captain. She, at first, thought it was a painted man. She said she was ruined—all her acquaintances would hear of it; her sister-in-law would publish it. But she promised to forgive us if we would entrap a young lady who was residing in the same house. Giving our consent, she anxiously waited for the bell, so as to allow no mistake to be made by any attendant. Very soon the young lady entered, and was taken in charge by Maggie, who escorted her off to her room, and told her that there two young men in the parlor, one of whom was a military Captain, possibly a little old, but anxious to get married, and giving a more exagerated description of the Captain than we had given to her. She, herself, had already made a match with one, and therefore would loan the young lady her jewelry with which to capture the Captain. She made the young lady fix and redress herself several times within an hour. Joe, by this time, had tired of his soft seat, and lay Indian fashion on the carpet, almost behind the door. The ladies room entered, Maggie holding her companion by the hand, introducing her to us first, and then, while expressing Captain Bowers' name, moved around a little until she saw the prize stretched at full length almost at her feet. She bawled in the most fearful manner, running for life, tearing her silk dress with the knob of the door, and leaving Maggie and us bursting with laughter. Comments were afterwards made that the love of riches made more fools of women, and brought more unhappiness to men than all other ends they would endeavor to attain.

To see down a Well.

It is not generally known how easy a matter it is to explore the bottom of the deepest well, cistern, or pond of water, by the aid of a common mirror. When the sun is shining brightly, hold a mirror so that the reflected rays of light will fall into the water. A bright spot will be seen at the bottom, so light as to show the smallest object plainly. By this means we have examined the bottom of wells fifty feet deep, when half full or more of water. The smallest straw or other small object can be pertectly seen from the surface. In the same way one can examine the bottom of ponds and rivers, if the waters be somewhat clear, and not agitated by winds or rapid motion. If a well or cistern be under cover, or shaded by buildings, so that the sunlight will not fall near the opening, it is only necessary to employ two mirrors, using one to reflect the light to the opening, and another to send it down perpendicularly into the water. Light may be thrown fifty or a hundred yards to the precise spot desired, and then downward. We have used the mirror with success, to reflect light around the house, to a shaded well, also to carry it from a south window through two rooms, and then into a cistern under the north side of the house. Half a dozen reflections of light may be made, though each mirror diminishes the brilliancy of the light. Let any one not familiar with the method try it, and he will not only find it useful but a pleasant experiment. It will perhaps reveal a mass of sediment at the bottom of a well that has been little thought of, but may have been a frightful source of disease, by its decay in the water.

LITIGANT PAPER FOR INYO COUNTY,

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

Saturday, March 4.....1871.

FOR A COUNTY ROAD.

We understand a petition will be laid before the Board of Supervisors, during the April session, asking for a county road, starting at the head of the Fish Slough, thence down Owens river on a line with the old road, as near as practicable, intersecting the present county road at or near the "French Ranch."

It is claimed that a better and cheaper road can be made on the proposed route than the present county road, as the heavy hill at the arastrars and the deep sand south of the Taboose will be avoided. The farming interests of Fish Springs and Black Rocks are almost entirely on the line of the lower road and eventually nearly all the permanent improvements will be on or near the river and this new road, consequently those who are compelled to pay road taxes would prefer to have the money expended on the road they are obliged to use. In time circumstances will make the opening of this road an imperative necessity, so the sooner the order is made the better for all concerned, as it will be a great advantage for the farmers to know as soon as possible the line of the road, that they may make improvements accordingly.

The American Artisan.

Every political party, church, society, agricultural and mechanical organization in this enlightened age and country has each its own special newspaper organ and advocate. Of those devoted mainly to the interests of mechanics, inventors and kindred objects, but few have attained that degree of excellence that would entitle them to a place in every household, but among the few we would most cordially accord this right to the well known "American Artisan," each number of which contains original engravings of new machinery, recipes for the field, house and workshop, portraits and sketches of distinguished inventors, etc.

The Artisan is a 16-page weekly and is published by Brown, Coombs & Co., 189 Broadway, New York. Terms, $2 per annum, or 8 copies 1 year for $5

Narrow Guages.

The Nevada State Senate bill authorizing the counties of Elko and White Pine to grant aid in the construction of a narrow-guage railroad from Elko to Hamilton was passed in the House on the 14th inst. Also, the Act granting the right of way to Page, Bateman, Dodge and their associates, to construct a narrow-guage railroad from Palisade via. Mineral Hill, Austin, and Eureka to Hamilton, was passed the same day.

Bancroft's Guide.

We have received the February number of this book for travelers by rail, stage and steam navigation in the Pacific States, containing complete time and distance tables, sketches of all the principal points of interest and similar matter of value. It is published monthly by A. L. Bancroft & Co., San Francisco.

Mill Destroyed.

The Bay State mill, located at American Flat, near Virginia City, Nevada, was totally destroyed by fire, February 22d. It was insured for $40,000, so we apprehend the owners will not mourn its loss in sack-cloth, though they may in ashes.

The "Heathen Chinee."

Dr. Hop Lock, a well known China physician of Virginia City, Nevada, and Chung Chow are under arrest for the murder of another Celestial named Lee King.

Died.

Arthur Shearer, editor of The Tulare Times, died February, 13th. He was a pioneer and much respected.

At Santa Cruz on the night of February 20th, a severe storm accompanied by thunder and lightning raged. Passengers from San Jose by private conveyance reported the San Jose stage detained in the redwoods by fallen trees, the result of the storm.

The Washington correspondent of The Chicago Evening Post has this announcement: It is now a settled fact that the President will take an overland trip to California in the Spring after Congress adjourns.

Some Chicago capitalists have bought the Santa Barbara mineral springs, with a view of making them a fashionable resort for invalids from the Eastern States.

THE COMING ELECTION.

Under the existing law the present Congress will expire to-day, March, 4th, and the next will commence on the day following. The terms of Axtell, Sargent, and Johnson, close with the present Congress, and this State will be without a Representative in the House from the 4th of March to December.

The next election will be held on the 6th of September, and already the newspapers and politicians are naming persons for the various positions to be filled. A full set of State officers, four Congressmen, and twenty-one State Senators are to be chosen. In addition to the foregoing, complete sets of county officers are to be elected throughout the State. Upon the Legislature will devolve the duty of redistricting the State for Congressmen, and State Senators and Assemblymen, on the basis of the census recently taken. The Legislature will also elect a United States Senator in place of Cole, whose term expires March 4th 1873.

In view of the number and grade of the officers to be chosen, and the business that will certainly come before the Legislature, the election will be the most important that has ever been held in the State, except during the period of the rebellion. The apportionment of Congressmen and members of the Legislature is a matter of much consequence. Whichever party wins the fight will have it in its power to so gerrymander the districts as to place their opponents at a great disadvantage in future elections. This circumstance, and the election of a United States Senator, invests the contest for the Legislature with unusual interest. The great importance of the election will create a lively interest in the result, and it is probable that the canvass will be a most animated and exciting one, and draw out a full vote.

MAIL MATTERS.

Our readers are probably not aware of the fact that the advantage of a semi-weekly mail which we now enjoy is likely to be lost to us, and instead of an advance in this very material interest, there is a strong probability of a step backward. We learn that Mr. Dexter's application for pay for the extra service above a weekly mail has been refused by the Department, so that our additional mail is due entirely to private enterprise. In the refusal to grant this service we feel as though the people of this section of the state have been unjustly treated. Since Mr. Dexter submitted bids to bring us a semi-weekly mail, contracts have been let to furnish Tulare county with a daily mail. While we rejoice at the good fortune of the people of that section, we consider our right to an equal share of government notice and patronage just as good as theirs, but instead of receiving as much we are denied even as much as a sixth. We do not understand the reason for such unjust discrimination; we only know such are the facts. Now, what is to be done? The passenger traffic will not justify the expense of running two stages per week, while pay is allowed for but one. We need at least two mails each week. In order to keep the two stages running, it is to the interest and therefore the duty, of every person in this section, to bestow patronage accordingly, and especially, as nine-tenths of all the mail matter for this county, even that from the southern part of the State, comes by the northern route.

WANTS US ALL TO COME.

The Nevada Legislature, last week, passed a concurrent resolution requesting the State of California to cede to Nevada all of her territory lying east of the Sierras. This would take Inyo, Mono, part of Alpine and Lassen counties. Besides these, they want Owyhee county from Idaho and a goodly portion of Brigham's dominions. In fact, Nevada wants to spread herself generally, and while trying to do so there is no good reason why she should not cover all the rocks and arid plains enclosed between the Rocky Mountains and Sierra Nevadas for eastern and western boundaries, with the northern and southern marked respectively by the Columbia and Colorado rivers. These lines would afford good natural facilities for fencing against further inroads of reckless people bound to rush into the State of Nevada, only to be starved to death through taxation. This suggestion we submit to the consideration of the same committee that reported the "Grub Bill."

Jas. S. Mooney of Mono county is a Democratic candidate for State Controller at the next election.

REDEEM THE WASTE PLACES.

The House having met as in Committee of the Whole for debate—

Mr. AXTELL. My friend from Arizona [Mr. McCormick] has kindly given me a few moments of his time that I may submit some brief remarks in the line of those which he himself proposes to make, in relation to the great region of country which he in part represents, the vast wastes of land lying west of the Mississippi; a vast territory, larger than the old thirteen States, embracing nearly two-thirds of all the United States lying west of the Mississippi river, but now in the condition so beautifully described by Tennyson when he speaks of—

"A waste land in which no man comes,
Or has come since the making of the world.",

A land roamed over by Indians, inaccessible, given up to desolation. A land embracing vast stretches of country, to travel through which, even by railroad, occupies days and nights. A land spreading out so extensively as to suggest to the observer the idea of boundlessness.

In that vast country there are but few navigable rivers, the natural highways of men; there are but few fertile and wooded plains abounding in all the necessaries of life. Many of them embrace large tracts of desolate country; and it seems to me a self-evident proposition that the individual actual settler never can occupy this domain, never can redeem it and bring it into civilization, except by Government aid. I regret that gentlemen residing in cities, surrounded by all the comforts and luxuries of life, look with so cold an eye and so unsympathizing a heart upon the territories and the new land west of the Mississippi. Men of the older States, where the land has been brought under cultivation—where the soil has been not only rendered habitable by those who have heretofore settled it, but has been transmitted to their sons as the very garden of the world—look coldly and unsympathizingly upon this vast territory west of the Mississippi.

It is true that the Government has built us one railroad—no more for us than for you, because whatever develops and civilizes a country, whatever helps to transport troops and munitions, to carry Government agents and officials, is a public necessity. The Government has assisted in building one railroad; but allow me to ask, how far must a man who lives in Texas travel in order to reach Omaha for the purpose of taking the Pacific railroad? What answer is it to a man living in Illinois and desiring railroad facilities to tell him there is a road in Tennessee? What satisfaction is it to a man living in Washington to be told that there is a railroad in Ohio? Can it be pretended that one line of railroad across the continent is all the aid that that country needs for development?

I have sought the floor on this occasion to state here before the country my conviction that the Government of the United States, in placing itself in hostility to the Pacific railroad and its interests, in manifesting an unfriendly disposition toward it, now in its infancy, before there has grown up along the road trade by which it can be maintained, has committed a mistake. The road should be kindly dealt with and fostered. By and by trade will grow up. Already mines are being developed. Many loads of the precious ores brought from the mountains are not only enriching commerce but aiding to sustain the road. If we will extend our kindly sympathy to this road, if we will enlarge instead of withdrawing the privileges heretofore granted, if, we build up its securities and make them strong in the markets of the world, rather than show an unfriendly disposition, we shall thereby foster that which is our own, that in which the whole people have an interest.

Allow me to say that it is a mistake to assert that railroad men are monopolists of the public lands. I know that they are the most active and earnest agents in securing the sale of the public lands for settlement and in promoting immigration. The lands are valueless to the railroads until they are settled. It is futile to talk about men holding, for an indefinite period, large bodies of unproductive public domain, subject all the time to taxation. The alternate sections along the railroads are always reserved by the Government for actual settlers; and whenever settlement has grown up to any extent, the lands held by non-residents, being taxed, become worse than unproductive; become actually a dead loss.

All railroad men desire that land shall be sold and settled at once. A railroad gives a man settling along the line facilities which he could not otherwise have. It affords the means of travel, and encourages the settler to come and settle upon the adjacent lands. These railroad enterprises give long time in the sale of their lands. They are earnestly and anxiously building up the means to make business for their roads.

Why, sir, a railroad into Arizona will have more influence in subduing the Indians you will presently hear about from my friend, the Delegate from that Territory [Mr. McCormick] than all the troops you may send there; and either the Government must build it by money taken from the Treasury or it must build it by donations of land. And allow me to say, sir, if one half of the public domain was given to bona fide companies would build good roads, with a supervision over fares which we can always exercise, this one-half of the public domain would not be given away. It is there, and will always remain there. It is one half of the public domain redeemed from the wilderness and given to civilization, one half brought out from a howing and a useless waste, which it is now, and made the homes of civilized men.

Now, Speaker, there are two systems in this country in relation to railroads, and one is to let the settler struggle with all his difficulties, to let the first generation of men die out, killed off by the Indians, to let the second generation raise themselves up and break their hearts packing over the mountains to get outside toward civilization, so that then the third and fourth generations will be able to build the roads themselves. That is the difficulty with the actual settlers. Will some of my agrarian friends, who are the loud mouthed advocates of actual settlers here, tell me what kind of a settler a man is who is not an actual settler? What is to prevent a man settling any where he likes upon the public lands? I should like to see some of these men who are located in the older States, and who talk so much about actual settlers, compelled to drive a mule team one hundred miles across the plains and settle down upon the public lands. Who steps any man from settling there? What kind of a settler is an actual settler? There is no land in all that far western section of country belonging to the government which is not open to settlement; but you cannot get a man to settle twenty miles away from a railroad; and the consequence is that all the rest of public domain away from the lines of railroads is given up to Indian depredations.

Then again, Mr. Speaker, we hear a great deal about monopolies. I desire to say, and it is a great weakness with Californians to talk about their own State, that there are men in that State who will put the sickle this year into 30,000 acres in wheat. Single individuals there have 30,000 acres in wheat. One man there, a friend of mine, has 100,000 acres of land under cultivation. One man there is the owner of over 100,000 head of cattle, and I have ridden over his plains twenty miles in one direction. Gentlemen talk of monopolies. The railroads are not the monopolies of the public lands. College scrip, school scrip, and the one hundred and one donations of the public land for which you have given land warrants, have been the foundation of land monopolies. Those warrants have been laid all over the country out there, so that you have made it impossible upon those bodies of the public land for settlers to go and settle upon them. The consequence is that you have kept our great State, larger than all New England, Pennsylvania, New York, and New Jersey, with only some four or five hundred thousand inhabitants. My friend from Illinois does not want railroads out there, because they will take from New York and the other older States some portion of their population, which we so much need. I give warning to all these gentlemen that they cannot dragoon us into supporting a policy which retains population in the great cities and in the great States. We are determined to have these railroads. We of the new States are determined, by the aid of these railroads, to bring in population and subdue the wild Indians who are devastating our frontiers.

Mr. Speaker, in the few moments allowed to me by my friend from Indiana I propose to speak of our public land policy, and to illustrate it by facts drawn principally from my own State. California is seven hundred miles in length, lying upon the seacoast, with an average breadth of two hundred miles, and contains over 120,000,000 acres of land, of which only 32,000,000 have been surveyed. Excluding the area granted by the General Government for different purposes, also the surface covered by Spanish and Mexican titles, and the quantities embraced in sales and locations, there yet remain 100,070,177 acres of public land within the limits of the State liable to disposal.

These facts I obtain from the report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office for 1870. Although the State possesses unequaled attractions, and has been known to Europeans and colonized for over one hundred years, it has to-day only about six hundred thousand inhabitants. What has retarded her growth and settlement, and what will increase her prosperity, are questions proper to be discussed here and elsewhere, not in the interest of California alone, but in the interest of the whole Union. We have upon our long line of sea-board but one principal port, San Francisco, and we have but few navigable rivers, and these immediately contiguous to this port. From the coast to the interior there are none. It seems self-evident that we must supply these deficiencies of nature by works of art. Upon the coast we must create harbors; we must bring the interior to the sea by railroads.

Again: California has no seasonable rains. Drought is her calamity. This we must overcome by a system of irrigation. Our water-sheds are numerous, our lakes and streams abundant. The water economized by reservoirs and distributed by a system of irrigating canals would not only fertilize the soil, but clothe the country in perpetual verdure. The outlets of mountain lakes can be walled up, and thus inexhaustible supplies of water saved from the Winter rains to refresh the thirsty plants in summer and fill the arid valleys with smiling plenty. Vast mountains of rebellious ores lie distant from the sea in regions destitute of coal and timber. The works for smelting and handling these must necessarily be upon the sea-board.

I subjoin and will print in The Globe, with the permission of the House, some facts upon this point. Let it suffice to say here that we require governmental aid to improve our harbors; we require aid to construct a railroad on the thirty-second parallel to San Diego, and thence, via. Los Angeles, to San Francisco; we require aid to construct reservoirs and irrigating-canals in various parts of the State, both in the great valleys and in the mining counties, and to build railroads into all the great agricultural valleys; and we require and are determined to have public men who will favor all such great public measures.

FACTS ABOUT BULLION MINES

And the commerce of Wilmington. Los Angeles county, California, the nearest port to the Cerro Gordo bullion mines, situated some two hundred and seventy-five miles in the interior, all of this bullion being at present hauled to the coast by mule teams, there being but twenty miles of railroad at present in all that country. To show the capacity of this country, its varied productions and its various wants, I will read an extract from The San Francisco Bulletin of January 10, 1871:

"LOS ANGELES, January 9.

"The business transacted by the Los Angeles and San Pedro railroad for the past year, which gives a near approximation to the whole business of this district, is aggregated as follows: exports, 7,050 tons, including 283,000 gallons of wines and brandy; 7,000 bales wool; 25,000 sacks corn, barley, and rye; 15,000 boxes oranges and lemons; 6,000 hides; 2,000,000 pounds bullion. Imports, 19,600 tons, exclusive of 6,000,000 feet of lumber. One hundred and forty-seven steamships and fifty-six sailing vessels came to the port of San Pedro during the year."

This two millions of bullion was hauled a distance of over two hundred and seventy-five miles by mule teams. I wish every man who opposes railroads was compelled to drive one trip. And this port of Wilmington, the natural outlet of this vast wealth, although capable for a small sum of being made a safe and commodious harbor, has never recieved one dollar of Government aid. A railroad over these two hundred and seventy-five miles, from the port of Wilmington, in Los Angeles county, to these rich regions of argentiferous galena, would be a great national blessing, for whatever benefits whole communities and develops the resources of a country is a national work. I quote in this connection a portion of a memorial addressed to this House by the citizens of Los Angeles:

Local means are insufficient and private enterprise inadequate to accomplish the whole design. Passing east and north from San Bernardino, the route enters on a region nearly devoid of white population, but notoriously rich in minerals. Reports of the resources of some of the districts, we respectfully submit herewith, with such statistical information as the newness of the country and the meagreness of material allow. Large portions of this region are almost made of cheap ores, the working of which, the present expense of transportation, supplemented in some measure by the exposure to Indian outrage on life and property, prevents, even under existing disadvantages, permitting the working of the richest leads only. The trade from Wilmington to Owens River, via. Los Angeles, gives constant employment to fifty ten and twelve mule teams between the two last named points, over a heavy, difficult road of a length of about two hundred and seventy-five miles, and the weight of the bullion transported—for even the richest ore would pay little if transported in its crude state—largely exceeds that of the supplies furnished. This Owens lake country the proposed branch will open, while the trunk will redeem from worthlessness to richness the northern parts of Arizona and of San Bernardino county and southern Nevada.

Although to reach and bring to light the mineral wealth of these regions is the principal object in extending the road thither, they are not without agricultural resources also. They are not a desert without oases, good soil and water appearing in places, not always in sufficient extent and frequency to permit agricultural export, but certainly enough to insure a large source of home supply and greatly reducing the expenses of mining, to extensively enlarge thereby the number of profitable leads.

Your honorable bodies need no reminder to consider the national advantages following any increased facilities to the military service in its operations in a region most of which is still virtually in possession of the aborigines.

It is not intended nor required, nor would the expense of material and its transportation warrant that this work should be of the heavy class necessary for the transcontinental road, but is proposed to be a substantial narrow guage track, such as have already gained an established reputation for efficiency in Europe and the Atlantic States, and of a capacity ample for the required service, even on the most extravagant estimate. This class of road has of late been frequently noticed with high commendations in scientific prints, and in England, especially, is coming into extensive use for the carriage of coals and ores, precisely the service for which this project is principally advanced.

This, in brief, is the plan of the undertaking, and such the benefits to be expected from its accomplishment, which, with the subjoined reports, &c., we respectfully submit, praying the careful consideration thereof by your honorable bodies, and such congressional subsidy as on such consideration the beneficial results of the enterprise will, we are assured, abundantly appear to deserve.

The State of California is greater in extent than the whole of New England, New York, and Pennsylvania combined. The only question is, how can we render this domain productive? No one dreams of parting with it; all desire to make it available. Do you propose to hold it for the simple purpose of realizing $1 25 an acre from its sale, leaving all its millions of precious wealth undeveloped? Would you do this if it was your own private estate? or do you reserve it for the actual settler, or to remain, as it has for thousands of years, a lair for the coyote and Digger? I say extend your lines of survey over it at once, that each man may clearly know the boundary of his land; give one half of it in alternate sections to any responsible railroad company who will build a good road, restricting them in their charters to reasonable fares, to be regulated from time to time by Congress; give liberally in alternate sections to all companies who will construct reservoirs and canals, binding them in their charters to sell the water at reasonable prices without favor or discrimination; and sell the balance of the lands to the highest bidders for cash and thus encourage settlement and development, redeem this land from desolation, and give it away to settlement.

Can any man devise any better plan to do this than by giving a portion of these lands, which have remained idle and unproductive since the flood, to create a fund with which these wild places can be brought under the dominion of man, redeemed from desolation, and compelled to pour their stores of wealth into the lap of commerce? How absurd sounds the assertion that the nation is parting with these lands, when we are simply bringing them under our practical dominion! The Government does not, can not part with this vast estate. Not a foot of soil has ever been given away or sold away from the Union. Our cities, with their princely palaces, our cultivated farms, as well as these arid, sterile, silver mountains, are all alike the property of the United States! all alike pledged, to the last dollar, for her support and her defense.

Nature gave these vast plains to solitude; let us redeem them and restore them to the dominion of man. She gave them to the coyote and the Digger; let us redeem them to civilization, and give them to the family, to the school-house, and the church. These lands are ours, and will remain ours as long as the stars shine in the sky, and gleam on our flag. Whether poor and unproductive as now, or rich with developed millions of smiling wealth, depends upon the policy we adopt, upon our wisdom to foster and develop, or upon our folly to delay and retard!

SADNESS AND ITS CURE.

WRITTEN FOR THE INDEPENDENT.

There are times when the soul feels weary of its earth struggles, and, childlike, seeks for rest and words of consolation from others. Sad, indeed, is the fate of those who have outlived the hearts that once beat responsive to their own, whose loved voices no more greet the ear, but lie silent and crushed beneath the cold clods of the valley; while they are forced to turn away from the world's cold gaze and hide their tears in solitude, leaning alone on the bosom of earth, with no eye to pity but that of the Infinite. How many Gethsemanes have never been recorded, and how many bitter tears rolled down unseen from faces doomed to suffer and to die! O the unrecorded agony of hearts, breaking with untold grief, with none to wait and watch with them in the dark hour of trial! Why are souls thus made to suffer, often for no other cause but fidelity to truth? Why are we thus made to drink the bitter cup of sorrow, and to be crucified even unto death, if it be not to purify and resurrect us unto a higher life?

The agonies of death are as nothing in comparison to these soul conflicts. Death then would be welcomed with joy, if it came unbidden; but to seek it is desertion from life's great battle, so we steel the heart and nerve the brain to conquer in the strife.

Reader, have you not, sometime in the pressure of some great grief or sudden bereavement, wished for death and longed for its coming as the tired laborer longs for the evening shadow?

Once in my life I thought of deserting life's battle; when, kneeling to pray my last, sad prayer, these words came to me almost audibly: "go out into the sunshine." I arose and went out as if forced to obey. Wandering on, I finally sat down on the bank of a little rivulet, and its waters as they rushed merrily on their winding way inspired me with a love of life; and there came a little bird close by me and sung as if its heart was filled to bursting with joy and gratitude, and then these words came with a power I can never forget: "Live for a purpose!" And I then and there resolved, come what might, these two commandments I would ever obey, and never more think of giving up the struggle of life until I was called to lay its armor down by Him who called me to be and to do.

Since then I have passed through far severer trials, but have never despaired of better days to come.

And now I would say to those over whom dark clouds of sorrow and disappointed hopes may be hovering, these moments can not last forever; turn your faces to the sunlight and the shadows will fall behind you. Do not think that no one pities you, for every heart that has felt suffering sympathizes with you, either consciously or unconsciously; for it is a law, but little understood, that the moral atmosphere in which we live affects our happiness and mental condition as the temperature of the air we breathe affects our physical health and comfort, and there may be those, waiting only the changes time will bring, to help you bear your burdens. Live then for some noble purpose, for

Is industry below."

Desperate Convict Fight.

The Gold Hill News of February 27, gives the subjoined, from which it will be seen that Charley Jones, formerly of this vicinity, distinguished himself.

Quite a desperate fight occured yesterday between some of the convicts in the State Prison, near Carson. Tom Hefferman, in for life, and Russell, in for five years, were the starters of the row. Russell attacked Hefferman with a butcher-knife, giving him two cuts in the arm and one severe and perhaps fatal one in the breast. Other convicts interfered, and more cutting and stabbing would have been done had it not been for Charley Jones, another convict, in for ten years, who when the affray was at its hight, rushed boldly into the crowd with a heavy iron poker, laying about with it freely on all sides, and effectually closing the battle in a very short time. It is said to have been a desperate bit of a fight while it lasted. Hefferman, it will be remembered, was one of the leaders of the break of December 1st, and got shot in the back. Russell was also concerned in the plot, but when the attempt and grand rush was made to escape, he failed to "stand in" and do his part. Hefferman has consequently held a deep grudge against him ever since, which finally culminated in the desperate affray above related. Hefferman's principal wound is a very bad one, and, as we have already stated, may terminate fatally.

The Southern Pacific Railroad.

The Senate bill (passed last session) authorizing the construction of the Southern Pacific railroad, passed the House, February 22d, and with some amendments, goes back to the Senate for final action. There is no doubt but that it will become a law, if called up before the expiration of the present term. Following are the provisions of the bill as it came from the House:

It requires the corporators to meet in New York within ninety days, and open subscription books and organize a company, when $2,000,000 of the stock must be subscribed or $200,000 paid in. The capital of the company is limited to $50,000,000, unless Congress authorizes an increase. The purchase and consolidation of any existing railroad company on the route, with all their franchises and land grants, are authorized, although forbidden the the purchase of any competing line to the Pacific, and the right of purchase or acceptance of State or individual grants of land for the legitimate purposes of the company. It concedes the right of way for four [two hundred] hundred feet wide through the public lands forty acres of land wherever necessary for station purposes, together with twenty alternate sections per mile of public lands through the Territories, and ten sections per mile in California, granted to the company with the provision, that if the land is not sold within three years from the completion of the entire road, it shall be subject to settlement and pre-emption at not over $2 50 per acre. The construction bonds are secured by mortgage on the road, rolling stock and franchises, and the land bonds are secured by mortgage on the land grants authorized. The construction of the road to begin on both ends. Land patents will be issued on the completion of every twenty miles, and the entire road is to be finished in ten years. Only iron and steel rails manufactured from American ore, except that already purchased, are to be used. The Government is to have the use of the road on the same terms as private individuals and to have precedence in its service, and Congress has the right to fix the passenger and freight tariff, though it shall not exceed those of the Central and Union Pacific Railroads. Full liberty is given to other companies to connect and intersect with the Southern Pacific, and the latter is forbidden to discriminate in favor or against any such companies. The Directors of the company are forbidden all share or interest in contracts for the construction, equipment, or running the road, and any such existing contracts are annulled.

From Los Angeles.

From The Star of February 18th we take the following items:

We are gratified to learn that the rain fall of Friday night, and Saturday, extended over the entire county and that in several places the rain fall was greater than in this city, where facilities for irrigation enable us to dispense with it to a great extent.

We were shown, yesterday by Dr. Gelcich, a rifle ball made of pure silver, rounded by hammering (not moulded), which was extracted by him from the body of a man wounded by the Apaches in Arizona.

On Friday evening, a water spout broke, on the mountains, at the Soquel canyon, near Santa Ana, while a heavy shower was falling in that vicinity. The water suddenly flooded the canyon three or four feet deep, and emptied out on the plain, flooding a large portion of the country. Singular to say snow fell at the same time on the low hills, while the tops of the mountains remained free from the white robe. The waters in the canyon subsided as suddenly as they came, and the snow remained on the ground long enough to have its remarkable presence noted.

The Capture of King.

"Bill" King, one of the two engaged in stealing the horses from Swansea, as reported upon last week, was captured at Roberts' station under the following singular circumstances: After the capture of his companion, Williams, the officers dispatched word to every body along the road to keep a lookout for King. Charley Begole and C. Mulkey had just returned to Lone Pine from a trip northward after the same men, and upon hearing of the whereabuts of King started out again almost immediately in pursuit. They found no difficulty in tracing him from the time he left Indian Wells—where he received a parting word from Passmore's shot gun—out into the mountains. They correctly surmised that he would soon be compelled to return to some point on the road for something to eat, but he had confiscated some biscuit at the Wells, and lasted longer than they thought for. However, they left a man to follow his trail over the hills and returned themselves to the road he would be most likely to take; and their search was rewarded by the discovery of his tracks, now on the road, and now away from it. Proceeding rapidly, they reached Roberts' station to learn that King had been captured, and was being taken to Havilah. It seems that he had entered the house of Roberts in the morning and got his breakfast. Knowing the man, Roberts, from the opposite side of the table, presented a shot gun and ordered him to surrender. King jerked his six-shooter and replied "these are my only terms!" Roberts pulled triggers, but both caps snapped. Dropping the gun, he instantly grappled King, in such a manner as to hold his arms down. In his efforts to use it, King fired his pistol, the ball taking effect in the fleshy part of his right leg, below the knee, ranging downward. But in the excitement his wound was unnoticed, and he kept up his efforts to shoot Roberts and effect his escape. While in the struggle Roberts called upon a squaw living with him to assist by using a knife, which she did not do, however, but helped her liege lord otherwise. The affair was singularly tetminated by a compromise, both parties agreeing to quit, and King starting off. After a time he found that he had been shot, and it was so painful that he returned and gave himself up as a prisoner to the Indian woman (Roberts being away). He then engaged a man with a wagon to take him to Havilah for treatment, paying $5 therefore, and was in the hands of the officers at that point when his pursuers arrived. Mr. Begole immediately returned, leaving Mr. Mulkey in charge of the man, who will probably reach Lone Pine with him to-day.

The DeArcy Case.

Our readers will remember that some two months since an advertisement was published charging Charles DeArcy with the theft of a pair of horses and a wagon, for the recovery of which and the apprehension of DeArcy a reward of $100 was offered. DeArcy went to Austin, where he first became aware of the charge against him and at once surrendered himself to the authorities at that place, from whom he was released by virtue of a writ of habeas corpus. He then returned to this county, where his family had continued to reside, but not without pursuit from officials and others on the route, who from posted descriptions were anxious for his capture. The team he was compelled to leave in Austin except one horse that he rode back. Immediately after his return he reported to Sheriff Elder at Lone Pine, who then took out a warrant and arrested him. The case was brought before Justice Gunnison of this place, P. Reddy, Esq., appearing for defendant, and Judge Van DeCar for the people. After full investigation of the facts in the case Mr. DeArcy was honorably acquitted, it appearing in evidence that he had made a bona fide purchase of the wagon from Mr. Llavki, the horses being his own. Mr. DeArcy feels the false position in which he has been placed in this matter, both in regard to his good repute in society and loss pecuniarily, in consequence whereof a slander suit will probably be commenced; therefore we refrain from further comment.

Nolle Prosequi.

Some two weeks since a couple of quartz operators, named respectively ——Tracy and ——Dowling, employed at the Swansea furnace, feeling the need of some slag with which to commence smelting ores out of a mine of their own located elsewhere, attempted to supply themselves by taking a mule load of broken pieces of bullion from the Swansea furnace. By some means, Mr. Darrow became aware of their intent and corralled them in the act of packing off the bullion. They were taken to Lone Pine and stood a trial on a charge of petit larceny and fined $50 each. Subsequent examination of the bullion proved it to be much more valuable than was first supposed, upon which, under the mistaken advice of a lawyer, they were re-arrested and brought before Justice Gunnison on a charge, this time, of grand larceny but for obvious reasons were at once discharged.

A Bad Field.

As a field for successful horse stealing Inyo county may be considered a failure. Numerous attempts have been made in the past few months to steal and get away with horses, but in every instance the operators have come to grief. Owing to the peculiar "lay of the land" and the sleuth-hound tenacity of some of our officials and private individuals, horse theives have no comfort whatever. We offer them this advice gratis: If bent on leaving us take Walker's Line in preference to another man's horse, or otherwise go to work like honest men; furnace orders are better than soup tickets in San Quentin.

An Extensive Work.

The contract for cutting the canal to conduct water to the Eclipse mill has been awarded to Jas. White, Jackson & Co., who broke ground Thursday last. The canal will be something over six miles in length, three feet deep and ten feet bottom width, with a carrying capacity of 3,000 inches. The head obtained will be about 36 feet, affording ample power for all the extensive machinery the company design using.

Wool.

We desire to direct the attention of farmers and sheep raisers to the card of Miller & Co., of 10 Davis street, San Francisco. We know that these parties do a square, liberal business, and have facilities for procuring the very highest prices for wool consigned them. Sheep raising is carried on here to some extent, and the shipment of wool to San Francisco would doubtless prove profitable.

Lone Pine Saloon.

The ever popular Charley Begole, of Lone Pine, this week advertises the fact that he is duly prepared to furnish spiritual comforts to all those favoring his establishment with a call.

Hunt's Hunt.

Several weeks ago a Lone Pine correspondent gave the particulars of the hiring of a horse from the livery stable of I. W. Hunt, at Lone Pine, by a man named George E. Hutchinson, for the alleged purpose of going to Fergusons' Landing, and recording the fact that the said Hutchison thought it unnecessary to return him. This occurred on the 2d of February, and on the 4th, Mr. Hunt started out in pursuit, having learned that the man had gone northward on the other side of the river. Hunt started out, reaching Bishop Creek that night, and went from thence to Columbus, but to learn nothing of his man. Returning to Hot Spings and Bishop Creek, he struck out northwest to Mono Lake and Aurora, and again back to Hot Springs. Here he ascertained that the horse had been taken from the thief by McBride, Holmes and Rhoades, at Rhoades' Salt marsh. After constant riding for nearly two weeks, this would have decided most men to let the thief go and return with the horse—but not so with Mr. Hunt, for he was determined upon his capture, and went on to Gillis' Springs and then back to the Salt marsh. Found here that Hutchinson had gone by way of Cloverdale to Belmont, and immediatly started, reaching Belmont on the 21st, having passed his man on the road with a hay-team belonging to Bill Farrington. Mr. Hunt upon reaching that point immediately sought Under Sheriff Flagler, and made known to him his business and the circumstances. From this gentleman, Sheriff Stein and the watchman at the jail, Mr. Hunt recieved every assistance in their power, and expresses himself as under the greatest obligations to them. Upon Hutchison's arrival, the officers easily made him prisoner, and he was started on the back track two days afterward, interposing wordy objections all the time until ironed, when he concluded that he would accompany Mr. Hunt back. The persevevering pursuer arrived here on the 2d instant, having occupied a month's time in effecting the capture, and expending money to the value of two horses. Hutchinson was accompanied most of the time while on his tracks by a man named Stevens, alias "Cockeye," and seemed to have luck on his side all the way through.

Election of Officers.

The first regular semi-annual meeting of Independence Engine Co. No. 1 takes place at the Sazarac Saloon next Monday night. The officers are to be elected for the ensuing term of six months, and as an apparatus will doubtless be received during that time, it is a matter of some importance as to the selections made: and members should be in attendance.

Murder in Lone Pine.

On last Thursday a couple of Chinamen had a difficulty in Lone Pine, in the course of which one named Tu Hop drew a revolver and shot the other through the heart, killing him instantly. He then made his escape. Parties are in pursuit of the murderer, and there is little doubt of his capture.

Crowded Out.

The proceedings of an important meeting of the Board of Supervisors will appear next week. An article from an esteemed contributor is also delayed by reason of the crowd on our columns. The Independent has not exactly a "new dress," this week but its other clothes on, anyway.

Masonic Meeting.

The members of the F. & A. M. residing in and around Independence will meet at the office of E. H. Van DeCar, at the Inyo House, this evening, pursuant to call published elsewhere.

To Deep Spring.

Mr. Dunlap to-day started over to the Deep Spring Valley country, having received information leading him to think that the murderer Buckskin is in that region.

SPECIFIC TERMS OF PEACE

We take the following from The Daily Union of February 25th:

Thiers and Bismarck have signed the peace protocol submitted by Germany. The details that have reached us are as follows: France to cede Alsace and as much of Lorraine as includes Metz and Nancy on the western boundary, which covers nearly all the provence. France is also to pay a moneyed indemnity to cover the cost of the war of 320,000,000 thalers; and the German army recede from the proposition to make a triumphant entry into Paris—a threat which was probably more the suggestion of diplomacy than real intention, the abandonment of which may have induced the French to fall in with the substantial demands of Bismarck more readily than they would have done had it not been presented. Nothing has been said about holding any part of Champaign or any other department in military possession as security for the moneyed indemnity, and we infer the question has been abated. The indemnity is not a quarter as heavy as The London Times some weeks ago reported it. A German thaler (or one dollar) is equal to three English shillings and the English shilling is equal to 24 cents of our money. A thaser is therefore 72 American cents, and 320,000,000 thalers amount to $230,400,000 of our money. It has been repeatedly stated that the Germans would allow abatement equal to all the fines and contributions hitherto levied on the towns, cities and departments of France. Including the Paris levy these may aggregate nearly $50,000,000. In that case there would be but $180,000,000 left to be paid by the nation, half of which is likely to be exacted at once or in a few weeks, and for the other half they will have a credit of five years, to be paid in installments.

The Emperor of Germany leaves Versailles for Berlin on Monday, and in a short time the armies will follow him home, so that Paris will be left open to the National Assembly and the work of reorganizing the Government of France under a new constitution can proceed without menace or molestation or influence from foreigners. When the German army reachis the Moselle it will be at home—so much farther has the successful "Watch of the Rhine" moved their frontier westward. France is now confined within the limits of the nation 210 years ago, and Germany has got back her own with $230,000,000 some 700,000 stand of arms and several thousand cannon as interest. Of course the towns of Toul, Nancy, Strasbourg, Thionville, Metz, Phalsbourg etc., etc., will be occupied by German garrisons and made as strong as as military science and Moltke's genius can make them. Hereafter an invasion of Germany by France will be a more serious undertaking than it has been hitherto, since these strong fortresses will have to be reduced as the first step in a campaign.

—From all parts of the State we hear of welcome rain. Considerable damage has been done in many places by heavy gales. Some houses were blown down in San Francisco, Sacramento and Virginia City, Nevada. In the former place it is reported four men were killed by falling debris.

Arizona News.

Added to the Indian horrors is that of an apparent determination of Mexican and other outlaws to plunder and assassinate the citizens along the Gila road from Arizona City, 150 miles eastward.

On December 24th, Mexican bandits massacred Charles Reidt, James Lytle, and Thomas Oliver at Mission Camp; sacked the station, stole six fine horses and escaped to Sonora and have not yet been captured, though the Government has offered $100 reward and citizens $500 more.

About the 2d inst., John Kilboid died from the effects of poison, believed to have been administered at the instance of a Mexican woman.

On the 20th ult. half a dozen more men were poisoned but survived, at Gila Bend. It was believed to have been the work of Thomas W. Jones, acting in concert with Mexican outlaws. Governer Safford promptly offered a reward for the capture of Jones, and twenty four hours thereafter he was taken within thirty miles of the Mexican line, whither he was trying to flee for safety

The Governor has also addressed a message to the Legislature requesting authority to place not to exceed 20 men in the field in such emergencies, to pursue, capture and return the desperadoes.

From The Tucson (Arizona) Citizen of February 7th we have the following:

January 2d Governor Safford sent an agent to Sonora in accordance with the statutes of Arizona, with a warrant and requisition for three Mexicans who murdered Reidt, Lytle and Oliver at the Mission Camp, December 24th. The right men were found and a formal demand made upon Governor Pesquiera of Sonora for them, and the demand was refused. This is an official endorsement of the murder of American citizens by Mexicans upon our soil by Mexican authorities, and the worst fears for the future are apprehended near our southern line and along the Gila river.

The Indians stole 110 head of cattle within five miles of Tucson last Saturday, 4th insant, and attacked hay-cutters near Pimo Reservation last week.

A bill will be introduced into our Legislature authorizing bonds to the amount of $200,000 to be used in suppressing Indian and other depredations. As the Territory is out of debt and cash in the treasury the bonds ought to sell readily, and it is believed they will be readily sold to our own citizens.

"I Taps This Bank."

An amusing instance of woman's pluck transpired in one of our saloons recently. The wife of a well known Irish resident, who at times indulges in a friendly game of draw poker, who on the occasion alluded to, was with several others enjoying his favorite pastime. The interesting moment had arrived when he was planting the "rocks" for fifty "better." Suddenly an apparition appeared in the person of the victim's better half. With a rush, she reached the table, cleaned it of the "pot," collared her husband, and with countenance red with anger, remarked; "I taps this bank. Yees is a purty lot of blacklegs, wastin' yer money on the divil's own poker, that might buy wud to kape yourselves and yer families warm while yees live—for the Lord knows yees won't go begging for fire after-ward. If I catches yees playin' wid my husband agin I'll poker ye!" She then "jumped the game" with her husband, and no doubt gave him a merited and model lecture after reaching home.—Santa Cruz Times.

Freemasonry in War.

During the memorable battle of Mars la Tour (the second day's battle at Metz) about 2 P. M., the third company of the 9th battalion of Prussian Rifles were ordered to dislodge the enemy from a copse of wood about 150 yards in front. The men advanced under a galling fire, which in less than two minutes cut down half of them. Notwithstanding, they advanced on a run with a hurrah! and reaching the wood, charged the French who were of the 64th regiment of the line, about two hnndred strong. Many were taken prisoners and the balance fled, save a company of thirteen, who stood their ground, got behind a large log, refusing to surrender and unable to get away. They were all cut down except three, one of them a corporal. Half dozen Prussians jumping over the log were about to bayonet them, when the corporal gave the "sign of distress." Instantly noncommissioned officer Bertram called out "Don't harm him, he is my brother!" and with his own rifle parried the bayonet aimed at his breast. The Frenchman was disarmed and led away, but his life was saved through the silent language of the Craft.—Ex.

Ramie Plant.

The Santa Clara Argus says: The Ramie Plant has been successfully cultivated at Hayward's, Alameda county, by Messrs. Meek & Finch who have established a nursery there. These gentlemen, we are informed, have already filled orders for thirty thousand cuttings, fifteen thousand of which were for various parts of California and the remainder for the Sandwich Islands. The plant will flourish in soil suitable for the growth of corn, and its cultivation is attended with less labor even than that product. We are assured that in suitable soil, the plant will yield three crops of fibre per year, of from nine hundred to one thousand two hundred pounds each, in the crude state worth in Europe from twenty-five to thirty-five cents per pound. This being true, there can be no doubt that its cultivation will richly reward those who embark in it.

—One-fourth of the globe is said to be granite.

MUSICAL.

PATENT ARION PIANO.

A Few Reasons WHY THE ARION PIANO IS Superior to All Others.

THE ARION PIANO-FORTE HAS GREATER Power than any other Piano Forte manufactured.

It Will Stand In Tune Longer,

And in its mechanical construction it is more perfect, and therefore, more durable than any instrument constructed in the usual modern style.

The arrangement of the Agraffe, the manner of stringing, the peculiar form and arrangement of the Iron Frame,

Supersedes all Others.

The use of a bar (which is part of the Iron Frame), on a line with the heavy steel stringing, gives

Great Strength

Where most needed, and in this respect all other Pianos fail.

The construction of the WREST PLANK, into which the Tuning Pins are inserted, is such that it is impossible for the pins to become loosened, or the Wrest Plank itself to split, as is too often the case in other Piano Fortes.

The Extraordinary Evenness,

Throughout the entire scale, the excellent Singing Quality, the

Length and Purity on Vibration.

All go to prove what we claim, viz.: that the

Arion Piano Forte

Is the BEST INSTRUMENT Manufactured.

THE PATENT

Arion Pianos

ARE USED EXCLUSIVELY IN THE

American Conservatories of Music,

Of New York City.

THE MOST SEVERE TEST A PIANO CAN RECEIVE IS CONSTANT USE IN A CONSERVATORY.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

It affords me much pleasure to give you, in these few lines, a very sincere testimonial for the Piano Fortes of your manufacture. We have now used the "PATENT ARION PIANOS" in our Conservatories for a year, and have had a fair opportunity of testing their durability during that time. The Pianos have been played upon almost constantly, from morning until night, and a Piano must indeed be a good one when it will bear such constant use without showing signs of defection. As for REMAINING IN TUNE, it outrivals any Piano known to me.

Their peculiar sweetness of tone in the treble (as compared to other Pianos with the ordinary metal agraffe arrangement), is so striking that I have had pupils remark, while taking their lessons, that although they had at home what they supposed to be one of the best makes of Pianos, still the treble was very wiry toned compared with the "ARION."

What makes them still more desirable is their uniform volume of tone, which enables an Artist to perform a composition in its true character.

In total, I can conscientiously endorse all that is claimed by the ARION PIANO-FORTE COMPANY for their superb instruments, as I consider them superior to any other make.

Congratulating you upon the great success you have obtained in the manufacture of so perfect an instrument, I remain yours,

Very truly,
HENRY SHROEDER,
DIRECTOR.

New York, September 31, 1870.

AGENTS WANTED.

We want first class and responsible agents in every city and town where we have not already appointed them.

We Have Just Published

Our Annual Illustrated Pamphlet, which contains a full description of the interior construction of the PATENT ARION PIANO FORTE, and all the other leading Pianos of the principal makes; illustrated with cuts, thus contrasting the ARION with all other first class Pianos, and proving

WHY AND WHERE

Our Pianos are superior to any in the market.

Our pamphlet contains engravings of all the different styles of Instruments that we manufacture, giving a full description of each, so that a person can select the style they may desire to order, with the assurance that they will receive just as good a Piano as if they were in our warerooms to select it. We have sold over FIVE THOUSAND Pianos, many of them being shipped great distances, and we have never yet received the first complaint. As we give a written guarantee with every Piano we manufacture, for five years, the purchaser runs no risk.

☞ Don't fail to write for our pamphlet which we mail free, and when you write state what paper you saw this notice in.☜

N. B.—We caution the public from purchasing a cheap Piano which has recently been put in the market, bearing the name "Arion." All genuine Arion Pianos bear the name "Patent Arion," and can only be purchased from our New York Warerooms, or our authorized Agents throughout the United States.

The Great Medical Discovery!

Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the peculiar virtue of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

☞For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

"THE BURIAL OF SIR JOHN MOORE."—A FAVORITE POEM CRITICALLY ATTACKED.

A contributor to The London Athenæum, who signs himself "B. B. G," undertakes to prove that we are all wrong in admiring Wolfe's celebrated stanzas beginning "Not a drum was heard." He says: "Compared with the facts of the case, the first stanza, 'Not a drum was heard,' etc., is probably correct. There is, however, no evidence; there is no mention of the presence or absence of soldiers and military honors. The first line of the second stanza, 'We buried him darkly at dead of night,' is totally incorrect. The circumstances which immediately determined the time of the funeral occurred shortly before 8 o'clock. The decision was to be made, the minister of religion was to be invited, necessary arragements were to be made at the side of the grave, and the body was to be brought out. It was undoubtedly past 8 o'clock on the morning of January 17th when the funeral took place. The sun had risen at twenty five minutes past 7. The funeral, therefore, occurred in broad daylight. The second line, 'The sods with our bayonets turning,' is sheer nonsence; and it is gratuitous nonsense; an untouched town like Corunna and an untouched fortress like its citadel always abound with pickaxes and spades. The third line, 'By the struggling moonbeam's misty light,' is a poetical flourish. The moon was only one day old, and was invisible during the night of January 16th. The military historians advert pointedly to the darkness of the night. The fourth line is true (in regard to the digging of the grave).

"The first line of the fourth stanza asserts, 'Few and short were the prayers we said.' The whole funeral service of the English liturgy was read by the chaplain with the solemnities usual in England. The last stanza but one states 'But half of our heavy task was done when the clock told the hour of retiring.' The impression which these are intended to convey, as to the imperfection of the grave digging and the funeral, is totally incorrect. It is evident that at the time when the defeat of the French at every point was announced (which was before dark, or before 6 o'clock on the evening of January 16th), Sir John Moore's death was near. The discussion as to the place of his burial seems to have taken place very soon after he expired. It is probable, therefore, that the men were employed to dig the grave by 8 o'clock—at any rate long before midnight. The work proceeded uninterruptedly till nearly 8 on the morning of January 17th; it was executed by willing men, under the eye of officers who adored the late General; and the soil in which they worked was not the natural hard earth, but the made ground of an artificial rampart. It is probable, therefore, that the grave was very deep. In a work like digging a grave of somewhat indefinite character, a determining cause is sometimes wanted to decide the time of leaving off; and the stray cannon shots of the French afforded such a decision; but there is no apperance of hurry. I have already alluded to the deliberate and solemn character of the religious service. The British troops held undisturbed possession of the town till the morning or middle of January 18th, or between twenty and thirty hours after the actual funeral; and there would not have been the smallest difficulty in carrying the body for interment to England; but it was deemed an imperative duty to follow out Sir John Moore's known wishes as near as possible.

"It appears to me that this poem has obtained a celebrity very far beyond its merits.

"I will now explain the source of another poem on the same subject. Fifty or sixty years ago, when the provinces were much less closely connected with London than at present, and each county town was a real metropolis to its own neighborhood, it was customary for the principal booksellers in such towns to publish annual pocket-books, which, in addition to the proper contents of a calender, contained original enigmas, charades and general poetry, contributed by the publisher's friends. (It was in one of these, I think, that Thomas Moore's earliest poetry appeared.) The following poem was published in an Ipswich pocket-book; its date must have been about 1813. I give it from recollection, acquired without the effort of getting it by heart. It is possible that I have made small verbal mistakes, but there is no serious error:

THE BRITISH SOLDIERS PASSING THE RAMPARTS OF CORUNNA.

Pause, pause weary steed; now the day is declining,
And the sun gilds the western horizon afar;
As his last ray of glory is splendidly shining,
It beams on the grave of the pride of the war.

Oh, dear is the spot to the soldier's proud heart;
The grave of the General his bosom reveres;
No shame will a blush to his rough check impart
As he stops for awhile to bedew it with tears.

How glorious the days when we saw him surrounded
By his troops, whom he often to victory led!
How bitter the pang when we saw him fall wounded
And apparently serene, though in anguish he bled!

Unconquered the hero; the prospect of death,
Its torture, its agonies, firmly he bore;
His country, his friends, had his last dying breath,
And his heart beat for them till that heart beat no more.

One duty remained; the sad tribute was ours
To enshrine the dear sacred remains of the brave;
And while night doubly gloomy o'ershadowed the hours,
In silence, in sorrow, we dug him a grave.

At morning, amid the loud cannon's hoarse roar,
While revenge, sternly glowing, dried sorrow's sad tear,
Unconfined, unshrouded, the hero we bore:
And, wrapped in his mantle, we buried him here.

But, farewell, sacred spot! weary steed, pause no more;
From the grave of my General I slowly depart;
Though his ashes may rest on Spain's foreign shore,
His memory will still be embalmed in my heart.

"This poem contains nothing ridiculous and nothing inacurate, and its general tone is more pleasing to me than that of Wolfe's ballad."

At the North Pole.

Captain Hall, the Arctic explorer, in his recent lecture in New York, was reported thus: When he shall stand on the North Pole there is one thing which will trouble him how shall he keep his chronometer regulated; how shall he tell whether they are gaining or loosing? Every direction then will be south. There will be no north, no south, no east, no west. The north star will be directly over his head, or nearly so, and on the first day of March the sun will just appear above and go round and round, day by day, never rising or setting, but gradually attaining a greater altitude, until finally it will get to a height of 23½ degrees, and then gradually get lower, until on the 23d of September it will then disappear, to be seen no more for six months. What object can he site to regulate his chronometers? He has asked the question of the best talent in the country, and no man can answer him. In the winter of 1872, he will be where no sun can shine, but in a fine place for people fond of eating, for it will be dinner-time—always at twelve o'clock.

Got the news of the probable outbreak of war between France and Prussia at the visit of an American ship, September 12th, and unless by accident, they will hear nothing further of the war until next Summer. Los Angeles Items.

The following we clip from The News of February 25:

A lot of heavy machinery, destined for the Eclipse Mine, at Independence, Inyo county, is now at the railroad depot awaiting transportation by team to the mines.

Last week a man by the name of Nash was killed by an Indian, somewhere in the foothills near Portersville, Tulare county. It seems the Indian spilt his head open with an axe while asleep.

There is a probability that extensive sales of valuable mining property, situated in Yellow Pine district, will be effected in a few days. Negotiations are already pending between parties and the representatives of San Francisco capitalists, who desire to secure a foothold in so rich and promising a district.

On the last trip up of the William Taber the clerk's office was broken open and a drawer robbed of about $40 00. Thief not caught.

On the premises of Pio Dabilo, between Main and Alameda streets, in the upper part of the city, are growing several gigantic castor trees—they can scarcely be called plants, as two of them measure six feet in circumference at the base. They must be several years of age.

It is reported that one of Thompson's road steamers is to be tried on the route between this city and the Yellow Pine mining district, with a view to introducing that means of transportation if it can be made practicable. This engine has elsewhere proved a complete success and if it can be used here will result in material advantage to the country.

We hear from all parts of the county encouraging reports of the effects of the late rain, though coupled with significant wishes for another visitation of the same kind. The small grain, say old observers, is safe now, but the grass needs a little more. The lower lands are green and the higher struggling to put on their spring clothes.

On Thursday last, Dr. Nicolaus Herold, a German physician of San Bernardino, was killed by a German who had been a United States soldier, and recently discharged. We have not been informed of the particulars of the killing, but Dr. Herold was not a man likely to have commenced a deadly affray. He was esteemed skilful in his profession and was a leading member of the San Bernardino Turn Verein; he had himself at one time belonged to the United States army, and formerly to that of Prussia. The slayer fled in the direction of this city, and is described as a young man about 24 years of age, five feet seven inches in hight, light complexion and moustaches; he has a scar on his hand and speaks Spanish well. When last seen he had on gray pants, a soldier's jacket with dark buttons, black hat and heavy shoes. It is to be hoped that he may not be able to escape the vigilance of our officers. We are indebted to Sheriff Burns for the above information.

—An Arkansas planter, who has carefully noted the work of about sixty Chinamen, reports that they are better cotton pickers than the negroes, and that they are very industrious and obedient, and at the same time cleanly in their habits and persons. They work for fifteen dollars a month and board, and live principally on rice and molasses.

—The Chicago Tribune has started a sensible crusade for the simplification of legal forms. It claims on good authority that if legal papers simply said what they wanted to, and nothing more, $100,000 would be saved by the people of Illinois every year in the cost of recording them.

—The Atlanta Sun asks: "Why are we not to-day the richest people in the world?" The Louisville Journal presumes it is chiefly because there are other people in the world who have the advantage of us in point of property.

—The inquiry as to where all the pins go to, has been satisfactorily answered. The theory is, that they go into the ground and become terrapins, by the Darwinian process of development.

—Charles Lamp told Barry Cornwall when they were once making up a dinner-party together not to invite a certain lugubrious friend of thiers. "Because," said Charles, "he would cast a damper even over a funeral."

—A farmer in Scipo, New York, has a turkey that has laid one hundred eggs in one hundred days, never missing a day on account of sickness, or a circus in town, or anything.

—It is said that not less than $10,000 is sent every month from East Tennessee to the swindlers in New York who advertise to supply their dupes with counterfeit money.

—Don Piatt calls some of the Senators "featherless owls." "To who does this screecher apply the epithet?" asks The Chicago Post.

—Is it proof of an economical disposition, if a young lady indulges in tight lacing to prevent waist-fulness?

—Round dances are said to be going out of favor in England, the more dignified square dances resuming their sway.

—It is stated that more than two hundred students of the German universities have been killed during the war.

RATIFICATION OF PEACE.

The European war is ended, and may considered as a thing of the past. Historians now begin the task of recording it for the enlightenment of ages to come. Like modern wars on the Continent, it has been short and decisive, entailing enormous losses of life and property, resulting in the defeat and dismemberment of what was rightly considered the first nation in the world. Ratifications of the treaty of peace were exchanged March 2d, and the Prussians evacuated the city the following day. The Parisians refused to fraternize in the smallest degree with the Germans, it requiring constant vigilance of the authorities to prevent open conflicts. The excitement was very great, the populace wreaking vegeance on several men and women who were seen communicating with German soldiers Owing to the haste in which peace matters were arranged, the German Emperor had no opportunity of entering Paris in person, at which Bismarck is much disappointed. Article 1 of the terms of peace specifies the line of demarcation. Article 2 provides that France will pay Germany five milliards francs, one milliard at least in 1871, and all the rest in the space of three years from ratification. Article 3 provides that evacuation is to commence on ratification of the treaty by the Assembly; that the German troops will then immediately quit Paris and the left bank of the Seine, and also the Departments of Cher, Indre, Loire and Seine Inferieure. The French troops will remain behind the Loire till signing of the definite treaty of peace, except those in Paris, where the Government is not to have exceeding forty thousand troops; the Germans to evacuate the right bank of the Seine gradually after the signing of the definite treaty and payment of half a milliard francs. After the payment of two miliards the Germans will only hold the Departments of Marne, Ardennes, Meuse, Vosges, Meurthe and Belfort. After the payment of three milliards the Germans will only keep 50,000 troops in France; but if a sufficient money guarantee be given, the Germans will evacuate completely at once. Otherwise three milliards will carry interest at five per cent. from the ratification of the treaty. Article 4 provides that the German troops shall make no further requisitions; that the French Government will find food for the army of occupation in the ceded Departments; that favorable arrangements be made with the inhabitants. that time be given them to move if they please, and that no obstacle be placed in the way of emigration. Article 6 provides that all prisoners shall be immediately liberated on the ratification of the treaty, and French railways will lend carriages and engines at the same prices as to the French Government. Article 7 provides that the treaty shall be definitely signed at Brussels immediately after the ratification. Article 8 provides that after the ratification the management of all Departments occupied will be handed over to French officials, subject to German commanders and in the interest of German troops. Article 9 provides that it be well understood that the Germans have no authority over the Departments not occupied by them.

Ports of Delivery.

On motion of Axtell the Senate bill to create ports of delivery at Eureka and Wilmington, was taken up and passed by the House March 3d.

Fatal Accident.

William Hannan was killed March 1st by a small cave that occurred in the Succor mine, near Gold Hill, Nevada.

Adjourned.

The Nevada Legislature adjourned sine die at midnight March 4th, leaving a large amount of important business on hand.

Railroads.

Illinois has more miles of railroads than any other State, but the cost of her roads and equipments was less than of those in Pennsylvania.

Terrible.

Florence Nightingale pronounces the desolation in Paris to be "the most appalling distress this century has seen."

THE SACRAMENTO UNION AND THE RAILROAD QUESTION.

Senator Stewart has assumed the role of special pleader in the interest of the Pacific railroad, and as such, has used all his powers in an effort to induce the Government to forego accrued and accruing interest on the Central and Union Pacific railroad bonds. Against this and similar robbing schemes The Union is making a gallant fight. That journal has become a power in the land, because it has uniformly been the champion of the people versus thieving corporations. According to The Union, should Congress accede to Stewart's desire not to compel the owners of the Pacific road to pay the interest on their second mortgage bonds as it falls due from year to year, the people of the United States must be taxed about $3,600,000 a year to pay it, and the companies, receiving a credit for that amount for 30 years (when the bonds fall due), will at the end of that time be in debt to the people about $60,000,000 on the bonds and $108,000,000 for accumulated interest; in all, making due allowance for possible deductions, not less than $156,000,000. As this is at least $56,000,000 more than the whole road will then be worth, and as the first mortgage bonds (held chiefly by members of the two companies) must be paid before the Government can touch the road for a dollar, Stewart knows very well the $156,000,000 will be a total loss to the people of the United States, unless it is paid gradually by the annual instalments insisted on by the Attorney-General and the Secretary of the Treasury.

The views advocated by The Union in regard to cash subsidies to railroads, we believe to be sound policy and good sense, and to that extent in the present issue before the people, we fully endorse them; but beyond this we do not go. We have ever held the belief, as we do now, that no better use can be made of the public domain than in giving a fair proportion in aid of railroads and other enterpises of like nature. We have not the space for argument in support of this belief at this time, except briefly to notice a statement by The Union in reference to Pacific railroad monopoly in lands. In this statement it is asserted that the value of the 23,000,000 acres given to that road is not, at the lowest estimate, less than $28,500,000, and at the Government price for the alternate sections, $57,000,000. From a pretty intimate knowledge of these lands from one end of the road to the other, we do not believe one-fourth of the smallest of the two sums named will be realized in the next half century if ever. On the line of this road for a distance of about 1,600 miles, it is only here and there at long intervals that a piece of good land, large enough for an ordinary farm, can be found that will sell for any price, by far the greater portion being perfectly valueless. Even if these were not all on the market, a monopoly based on the ownership of such lands would amount to nothing. But independent of this, the people of the United States have done enough for these railroad men, without submitting to the additional imposition required by their attorney, which would amount to the free gift of $60,000,000, pay the interest on it the rate of $3,600,000 per annum for 30 years, besides the 23,000,000 acres of land, whatever it may be worth. We, in common with all Californians, take pride in the courage and energy of the men who originated and pushed to completion this great undertaking, but we, in common with The Sacramento Union and the great majority of the people of this State, feel that the grasping, selfish policy pursued by these same men has long since reached a limit in our obligations. Though a small thing of itself, the nature of the management of this institution is shown in the fact, that at the first intimation of a cross purpose on the part of the newspaper that done more in support of the enterprise at the start than all others combined, it was rigidly excluded from their trains. These men could have hit upon no better plan to advertise their pitiful management.

To Pre-emptors.

In another column of this paper will be found a very important circular, explanatory of the act concerning pre-emptions, passed July 30, 1870, a copy of which we published February 18. As all the lands in this district are of the "unoffered" class, and mostly held under pre-emption, settlers will do well to read this circular carefully and govern themselves accordingly, as in eighteen months from date of pre-emption or twenty-one months after notice of settlement, pre-emptors must prove up and pay for their lands, or they will be restored to private entry. In the latter case the land is subject to purchase by the highest bidder, without regard to possessory or pre-emption titles.

CHRONICLES A DISCOVERY.

A gold-bearing quartz ledge has been discovered near Independence, Inyo county, Cal.—Virginia City Enterprise, March 1st.

You don't say so! You are an erudite and observing editor, to make mention of the singular discovery of "a gold-bearing quartz ledge near Independence," and deserve distinction for being a Bohemian of remarkale appreciation of events and for knowing the eternal fitness of properly recording them. Now, is the discovery of one mine so wonderful a thing as to attract special attention, when our ledges are numbered by thousands? Man's knowledge of the natural resources and wonders of this country is limited, yet we might speak of a few things known to us of which you rest in blissful ignorance. First in importance to our mining community are rich gold and silver ledges in every known mountain range in the county. Through a dozen mining districts contiguous to the valley these metals are found in usual conditions. Cerro Gordo has Buena Vista mountain, with its huge interior filled with argentiferous galena. Within ten miles of this place two enormous ledges of the finest iron ore await capital and a railroad. In this county is situated the highest land in the United States, with summit and slopes covered with unlimited quantities of timber. Pass down our fertile valley and you will reach a dead sea, covering 125 square miles, the waters of which are so mineral-charged that in them life can not exist, which absorbs the pure water of the scores of mill-streams that drain a hundred miles of the Sierra Nevadas. Just across the Inyo mountains is a valley of the purest crystal salt, 20,000 acres glistening in the sun like a sea of diamonds. Why, down in the southern portion of the county is a place where hell itself crops out. Hissing flames sweep over its surface, the surrounding ground gives way to the feet and gaps for the venturer, while foul oders of burning brimstone drive the intruder hence.

Next time say something worth while when you want to speak of this country!

PASSED.

The bill authorizing the construction of the Southern Pacific Railroad has passed both Houses of Congress, and now only requires the President's signature to become a law. The title of the road is changed and it will hereafter be known as the Texas Pacific Railroad. Two amendments have been added to the bill, providing for the construction of two branch roads, on the same terms as the main trunk; one to be known as the New Orleans Branch, the other as the Southern Pacific of California, connecting with the main line at Fort Yuma, thence via. Los Angeles and Tehachepi Pass to the San Joaquin. With a road completed through that Pass we may hopefully look for a branch to this region in a very short time. On receipt of the news the people of San Diego had a grand procession and speech making jollification, and well they might.

COUNTERFEITS.

Some weeks since a gentleman of this county handed us a copy of one of those swindling electrotype letters, issued by one John F. Hamilton, of New York. We noticed it at the time, in an article headed "Confidential." Since that date several other parties here have received fac similie copies of the same precious document. Some of the recipients are disposed to give the matter grave consideration, under the impression that their names have been furnished this swindler, Hamilton, by acquaintances who have recommended them as persons who would gladly enter into the nefarious business, as proposed in this letter. Naturally, an honorable man who has hitherto felt that his integrity was undoubted in society, would feel humiliated to think that there was any person who held him in such low esteem as to recommend him as a person likely to take part in such swindles. For the relief of such persons we will state that their names have been obtained without the intervention or recommendation of personal acquaintances, so it is not necessary to give themselves farther trouble on that score. The advertising columns of newspapers afford all desired facilities for obtaining the names and address of most of the prominent men in every town and village in the United States. A copy of nearly every paper published may be consulted at the advertising agencies in New York, in which city these schemes all originate. Our object in noticing this thing is not to prevent any one from being swindled by this harpy "whose ways are dark and tricks are vain," because, any one who acts such offers is, in intent, a swindler himself, so that his certain discomforture would merely be a source of amusement, but to relieve honest men from implication in their own minds. To show exactly how confidential and personal this letter is we subjoin a copy, which, on comparison, will be seen to tally precisely with all the others from the same source.

Should any person, however, feel anxious to test the matter, he can do so in perfect faith that he will never be made a party in the utterance of counterfeit money, for the simple reason that this New York institution does not manufacture the article, and of course none is sent in return. The absurdity of the proposition itself ought to be sufficient to condemn it, but it is not, for hundreds of petty rascals are yearly victimized by the big rascal in New York, and on that account we are sorry to expose him. Here is the document:

DEAR FRIEND: While conversing with a gentleman from your locality recently, you were named as a shrewd and reliable person and one likely to enter into a business, the nature of which will be explained in this letter. At all events, he said, whether you go in or not, you would keep a still tongue, and would not expose me. He told me that under no circumstances must I inform you who recommended you; and as I claim to be a man of honor, I will never violate a pledge. I have on hand, and am constantly manufacturing large quantities of the best counterfeit money ever produced in the world. The sizes are $2, $5 and $10 bills, and 50 cent stamps. They are printed on first-class bank note paper. The signatures are perfect, and the engraving is admirable. Not one banker in 500 can detect them. I will take a solemn oath that the bills which I send you will never be detected unless you make known your business to persons who have no right to know it. I shall charge you $10 in good money for every $100 of mine. If you have confidence in yourself, and desire to push matters, you had better order as much as you can get rid of in a month or two. In that case, if you buy as much as $500 at a time, I will sell it to you for $20 cash down and allow you 30 days credit for the remaining $30. If you purchase $1,000, I will sell it to you for $40 cash down, and will wait 30 days for the remaining $60. If you want to make a desperate, but successful struggle for a fortune in a few weeks, I will send you $5,000 for $180 cash down, and will wait 30 days for the remaining $320. Under no circumstances will I send less than $100 (price $10) at a time. When you send me any money, or a letter, go to the nearest railway station, ask the express agent for a money envelope; insert your letter, seal the envelop, and see that it is properly directed to me. Don't send me a letter through the postoffice. The express agent never heard of me, and he will have no idea of the nature of your business. I would prefer that you would send me money in advance. If you are unwilling to so, I will ship whatever quantity you wish by express, and the agent will hand you the sealed package as soon as you pay him the money. That is, I will collect my money on delivery of goods, (C. O. D.). I will make it appear that your package contains jewelry. If you can spare time, come and see me. Call at my private office, No. 52 John street, Room 5, up stairs, New York. I will then take you to my manufacutory and let you select whatever quantity of bills you desire. No person in the building knows what business I carry on. Therefore you are just as safe as if you were going into a theater. If any person suspected my business I would not have you call. Now, sir, if you manage this business properly, you can clear $20,000 in a year. You have unusual advantages for passing the bills with perfect safety. Always ruffle them up to make them appear dirty and old. You can pass one of my bills at every store, and as the change you receive will be genuine, you will be enabled to clear at least $200 a month. Not one in 10,000 of your neighbors can distinguish a genuine bill from one of mine. Therefore you are foolish for not grasping an opportunity to make money, that may never occur again. I could name a man in your country who made a fortune in the same way. All his neighbors wonder how he made it But he keeps a still tongue. Probably you know who I mean. I deal on the "square," and if you are true to me you will never regret it. I pray you will not betray me in case you do not go in. You will find by dealing with me that I have the best counterfeit money in the country, and that I deal more honorably than any other man in the business, because I deal on the "square." I would not ask you for any cash down for your first order, only to secure myself for the cost of engraving, printing, etc. Read my terms carefully and remember them. Bear in mind that I will give no more credit than I state in this letter. One or two of my counterfeit bills have already been passed on you, and you have in turn passed them on others—therefore you should be familiar with their appearance and quality. Of course you did not know they were counterfeits.

Read the following instructions carefully. Be sure and follow them. Then no mistake can be made. If you come on, call at 52 John street, office No. 5, up stairs. But if you send me money, or a letter by express, direct it to my manufactory as follows:

JOHN F. HAMILTON,
No. 212 Broadway, New York City.

TREATMENT OF PRE-EMPTION CLAIMS.

GENERAL LAND OFFICE,
December 30, 1870.

GENTLEMEN: In view of the act of Congress approved July 14, 1870, limiting the time within which payment must be made in pre-emption cases, the following rules are prescribed for your guidance:

1st. You will admit all filings for offered lands presented within thirty days after alleged settlement where the land has not been disposed of prior to such alleged date of settlement—provided the applicant is not disqualified by a previous filing, and in other respects has the right under the pre-emption law.

2d. Where the tract is subject to "ordinary private entry" the pre-emption filing is no bar to the conditional entry of the land, either by cash, homestead, or other legally authorized disposal—it being understood that any such disposal, according to long established practice, will be subject to the right of the pre emptor to prove up and consummate his entry within the twelve months allowed by law, without being compelled to give further notice to other parties, who at the time of such entry had notice of the existence of a prior alleged pre-emption claim.

3d. Where the land has once been offered and afterwards withdrawn from private entry, making public notice of at least thirty days under direction of this office necessary to its restoration to ordinary private entry, and where such land has not been withdrawn from homestead or pre-emption entry, you will pursue the course indicated in the 2d rule, so far as homestead and pre-emption entries are concerned—filing within thirty days, and proof and payment within twelve months, being required for pre-emption claims on this class of lands.

4th. Upon surveyed "unoffered lands" not withdrawn from pre-emption, you will also admit all filings properly offered within three months after alleged settlement, or within three months after the filing of the township plat of survey in your office. You will then hold the tract subject to pre-emption or homestead entry, or to any selection authorized by law, without requiring proof of the abandonment of prior filings—the disposal being always understood to be subject to the right of the pre-emptor to prove up and pay for his claim within the twenty-one months or the filing of the township plat, as the case may be.

5th. The foregoing will not be construed to prevent any party who may desire speedy adjustment of his claim, from bringing contest against adverse claimants, upon affidavit, as heretofore; and when proper affidavit shall be filed with you, and suitable provision made for the expense of the contest, you will, without waiting for reference to this office, duly notify all the parties whose claims appear on your records, and hold the usual investigation, at the expense of the party bringing the contest. At the close of the hearing you will report to this office all the papers, with copies of the preliminary affidavit, notices and proof of service, personal if practicable, otherwise, by such publication, at the expense of the parties, as will be deemed legal notice in land cases in the State or Territory, under the laws and the practice of the courts; your report to be accompanied with your joint opinion and decision.

6th. You will treat all filings upon lands which have once been "offered" as abandoned after the lapse of twelve months from the alleged settlement, which is the statutory limitation, and all filings upon "unoffered lands" as abandoned after the lapse of twenty-one months after such alleged settlement or the filing of the township plat, unless within the period fixed by law proof and payment shall have been made, or legal tender of such proof and payment shall have been made and refused; of which tender and refusal you will take care to make proper endorsement in each case.

7th. This office will duly examine all entries, and, where adverse filings appear, will hold them suspended until the legal expiration of the adverse claims; and when two or more entries are found to conflict, will dispose of them according to merit, ordering investigation when necessary to a determination of the respective rights of the parties.

8th. The pendency of contest alleged pre-emptors who have merely filed for a tract, and who have not made actual entries, does not withdraw the land from market; but any right acquired by third parties subsequent to the initiation of contest, will be regarded as subject to the right of the contesting parties, and liable to be defeated by an award to either contestant of the tract claimed. This rule is issued in accordance with a decision of the department proper, dated October 22, 1870.

9th. After notice of restoration to private entry, and before the date fixed for such restoration by published notice, no settlement or other act, subsequent to such notice, can give any preference right to lands embraced in such notice; but the order of the commissioner is imperative in its nature, and operates as a withdrawal from pre-emption, homestead or other disposal, except in accordance with the terms of the published notice. The land in such cases must be restored; and, if there is competition, must be sold to the highest bidder, according to law. The same effect is given to a proclamation for a public sale, from the date of its receipt and promulgation by the district officers.

10th. After decision by this office, you will in all cases allow the parties sixty days from service of notice, within which to appeal to the honorable Secretary of the Interior; and, at the expiration of that period, report promptly the action had pursuant to such notice.

Careful attention to the foregoing will save much unnecessary correspondence and litigation, and greatly simplify the treatment of pre-emption claims; and you will please conform your action hereafter to the rules herein prescribed, referring to this office, as heretofore, in exceptional and doubtful cases.

JOS. S. WILSON, Commissioner.

AID FOR FRANCE.

The following communication has been forwarded to Governor Haight from the New York Chamber of Commerce:

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.
NEW YORK, February 20th, 1871.

To his Excellency Henry H. Haight, Governor of California—Dear Sir: The Chamber of Commerce of this city has appointed a committee to devise measures of relief for the suffering people of France. An appeal has been prepared, of which we enclose a copy, and which has been widely circulated by means of the press and other agencies.

Subscriptions thus far have been received amounting to nearly $100,000, but more, very much more, is needed to extend even partial relief to the want and destitution which now exists in France; and we feel convinced that a full knowledge of the facts that have come to light in regard to the misery of that unhappy people, would secure an immediate and generous response from every quarter of our own country.

It is not sympathy with the cause of France, but sympathy with her distress that animates us in this work. The American people must not show themselves wanting in that readiness to mitigate human suffering where ever it exists, without regard to differences of nationality, which has ever been their noblest characteristic.

We hope to receive from the farmers of the West contributions of flour, grain, meal, and especially seed wheat, which last will be urgently needed by the farmers of France for the sowing of their devastated fields in the Spring. Free transportation has been promised us in some instances, and we hope to receive it generally from the railway companies; and arrangements have been made here for the storage, lighterage, and loading, free of all charge. An especial appeal to the farmers of the West has been prepared and published, and by the kindness of the Associated Press and Western Union Telegraph Company it will, we hope, meet every farmers eye in the land.

The Government has given us assurances that national vessels will be furnished for the transportation of any supplies coming from the West, and other parts of the country, and it now remains chiefly with your generous people to decide whether we shall be able to avail ourselves of this offer.

We respectfully but earnestly ask your co-operation in this humane and Christian work, and hoping that you will, as far as lies in your power, bring it prominently forward and urge upon all the necessity of a prompt and earnest response, we remain, dear sir, with great respect, faithfully yours,

CHARLES H. MARSHALL,
Chairman of Committee.
CHARLES LANIER,
Treasurer.
ANSON PHELPS STOKES,
Secretary.

Gone from Our Gaze.

Last night, about 10 o'clock, two prisoners, named respectively George E. Hutchinson and Job Williams, confined in our county jail for horse stealing, made their escape under the following circumstances: Complaining of a bowel complaint, they requested P. Ryan, who had them in charge, to take them outside. For want of a convenient building he took them into the channel of the creek, some fifty yards from the jail, into which the prisoners retired with their shackles clanking about their feet, Ryan remaining on the bank, perhaps fifty feet distant, but owing to the darkness of the night, out of sight of them. After waiting a reasonable length of time he called to them, but receiving no reply began to look about for his diarrhœa patients. Not finding them he reported the facts to some parties across the street, when a light was procured and a search instituted to see in what manner their discharge had been effected. The investigation revealed the fact, that the patients had been physicked entirely clear of their shackles and out of hearing of our wide awake officers. On examination it was found that a link in each pair of the irons had been filed through, showing very conclusively that these prisoners have been kept under the strictest surveillance, as it is a well known fact that at no time have they been permitted to receive over fifteen or twenty visitors per day, and of course, could have had no opportunity to receive presents of files and such like. No files were needed, however. They merely had to tie a small string to the end of the spring-bolt in their shackles, pull it a little and presto! change! and vamos the ranch, which they did do. Every body knows the reason the dog didn't catch the rabbit, but everybody does not know that a contrary reason was how Ryan lost his prisoners. Search was instituted immediately, but to no purpose until after daylight this morning, when the tracks of the jail-birds, whose original capture cost private individuals so much time, labor and money, were discovered down near the river, and that was all. Under Sheriff Talcott is in hot pursuit, and for the better convenience of tracking and hauling his prisoners home, went in a two-horse buggy. From his well known tenacity of purpose, when making arrests, it is confidently expected he will catch them—when old age weakens them so they can't travel. King, the wounded prisoner, is not subject to the complaint that carried off the others, so he is yet spared to us. A petition is on foot to furnish him with buggy and horses, when he gets ready to leave us. All are invited to subscribe out of sympathy for his sore leg and loneliness.

Not Arrested.

The Chinaman who murdered one of his countrymen in Lone Pine last week was seen going south by a gentleman who arrived in town yesterday. He met him at Haiwa Meadows. Mr. Mulkey and Charley Begole started out from Lone Pine after him on Thursday, and Mr. Chinamans' capture may be considered certain.

Big Mining Sale.

The deeds were recorded on the 9th instant transferring all interest of the owners, J. B. White and P. Williams, in the Buena Vista tunnel, 800 feet in the Jefferson mine, 1,000 feet in the Monday mine, and 1,000 feet in the Enterprise, to Victor Beaudry and M. W. Belshaw, for the sum of $20,000.

Grand Jurors.

The grand jury who have just completed their labors, consisted of I. S. Freeborn, Foreman, T. W. Hill, Henry Hopper, W. A. Greenly, W. S. Mathews, B. L. Brown, John Simpson, J. A. Rittgers, A. K. Briggs, John Wallace, I. Davison, and W. G. Squires. We give elsewhere, their report, as submitted to the County Judge.

The Strangest Yet.

We hear from the best authority that two or three well known gentlemen in Cerro Gordo have had a growth of hair produced on their formerly bald heads, by the waters of a certain desert spring, away east of that place. Remarkable if true and our informant vouches for the fact.

Another Lead Mine Sold.

Mr. James Brady, last week purchased of Dr. W. C. Columber, for the Owens Lake Silver-Lead Company, 800 feet in the Front mine, paying therefor $4,800, the deeds being placed on record March 7th. There are 1,000 feet in this mine, the remaining 200 feet being owned by Thomas Parker, Esq., of Virginia, Nev.

Look Out.

A certain school official in this county had better send that small balance due this concern without further delay, and save us the trouble of placing the facts in the possession of the public.

Recorder's Election.

April 1st next the election for Recorder of the Lone Pine mining district will be held at Cerro Gordo. All parties interested in the district are entitled to vote, if they are of a mind to go there for the purpose.

Aurora.

Anxiously we've looked and longed for some word of the doings of a host of friends in and around Aurora. You Jim, Luth, two or three Judges and the balance of you, what's the matter?

GRAND JURY'S REPORT.

To the Hon. County Court of Inyo County: We, the Grand Jury, impanneled on the 6th day of March, 1871, in and for the County of Inyo, beg leave to make this, our report:

We have examined faithfully into all complaints that have been made to us, or came before us, and have found true bills of indictment as follows, viz.: 1 for murder; 2 for assault and attempt to murder; 4 for grand larceny—which we present without malice, and leave none unpresented through fear.

From testimony before us of a reliable character, we find that on or about the 15th day of December last, two prisoners—arrested on suspicion of robbing bullion in a neighboring State—were taken by a Deputy Sheriff of this county from Lone Pine for the purpose of putting them in the county jail at Independence. When about a mile from Lone Pine and on their way to jail, they were ordered back by the Sheriff, and taken back to Lone Pine. About 7 o'clock P. M. on the same day they were again taken in a wagon, ostensibly for the same purpose, and accompanied by the Deputy Sheriff. When five or six miles from town they were stopped by armed men, taken out of the wagon, carried some distance away and there maltreated by being partially hung and strangled. They were kept an hour or so under great torture, then returned to the Sheriff's wagon and allowed to go on. The circumstances of the case are such as to warrant us in saying that the same was an outrage against law, order and good society, and merits our unqualified disapproval, as we are sure it does of all good citizens. And we feel that we would not be doing our duty without severely censuring all parties connected with this outrage; and especially the Sheriff and the Under Sheriff, who have at least laid themselves open to suspicion of being connected with these lawbreakers.

During our session we have had but little complaint to make against attendants upon us. We especially wish to thank the District Attorney for his prompt and polite attention.

In the course of our duty we had to summons a large number of our fellow citizens as witnesses. All but one answered faithfully; this one man refused to appear before us. We have handed him over to the County Court.

We have examined into the state of the county buildings, and find that the county court room needs repairs—more comfortable seats and a stove. We also find that the county jail is in rather a filthy condition, and altogether too small for the number of prisoners now in it. All of which we recommend to be attended to.

We appointed a committtee from our body to examine into county officials' books and accounts, but the time of the Grand Jury has been so much occupied with criminal cases that such committees had not time to report before our adjournment.

Believing that we have done our duty as far as we have gone, both faithfully and honestly, we hereby cheerfully resign the important trust committed to us by the people.

I. S. FREEBORN, Foreman.

Sale of the Miama.

The Miama mine and Miama tunnel, and 1,130 feet in the Union mine, all in Cerro Gordo, was last week sold by Henry C. Hart to V. Beaudry and M. W. Belshaw & Co., $10,500 being the consideration.

New Narrow-Gauge Road.

This charter having passed the Legislature the corporators are making arrangements to organize and commence the work, immediately, of grading from Palisade to this place. The Chief Engineer and his party will be on the road at an early day, and advices from those interested lead us to believe that railroad communication will be established between Palisade and Eureka by the 1st of September next. An offer has been made by a railroad contractor to grade the road 84 miles at $2,500 per mile. Before the road can possibly be completed the furnaces of Eureka will furnish for transportation to Palisade 100 tons of bullion every twenty-four hours, and hundreds of tons of ore will be shipped monthly to San Francisco for reduction. All freight for Hamilton and Pioche will come this way, and the road will at once, have a paying business. It will be a new era in the history of Eastern Nevada, and every citizen has reason to congratulate himself that the days of trouble are nearly over, and that the men who have this enterprise in hand have the will and the money to put it through at once—Eureka Sentinel, March 1st.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

If a life-renewing fountain, like that sought for by De Soto, should burst from the earth at every man's door, thousands would turn their backs on the healing springs within arms-reach to run after pretended remedies. The observant, everywhere, accept Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters as the greatest medical blessing of modern times, but on the other hand multitudes dose themselves with poisons, while this well-spring of health is accessible to all. It purifies the animal fluids, regulates every function of the body, calms the nerves, invigorates the vital organs, and is an unfailing specific for indigestion.

Given under my hand this 25th day of February, 1871. JOHN A. HANNAH,

"It Never Explodes."

Mr. Gray, an ingenious gentleman of Sussex county, Delaware, invented a new non-explosive, burning fluid, and invited his friends to come and witness a test of its qualities. He gathered a select circle around a barrel of the fluid up in a garret, and to prove how non-explosive it was, he stirred it with a red-hot poker. In six seconds the inventor and his friends were seen to emerge from the roof, with trap doors and chimneys and things on their heads, and scud away to the north west, towards the river. While enjoying a birds-eye view of the State of Delaware, at an elevation of thirty-thousand feet or more above the level of the sea, Mr. Gray observed to the friend nearest him that he thought perhaps he had made a mistake in mixing to much benzine in the fluid. Mr. Gray did not wait to hear his friend's reply, because he apparently had an engagement higher up, and he seemed in a hurry to go. His widow will sell the patent for the non-explosive fluid very cheap; and she needs the money very badly, because Mr. Gray scattered so much around Sussex county when he came down, that she had to bury him gradually during the next three weeks.

—Old Dr.——is a Kentuckian, fond of a cigar and a little game of cards. In his employ was a young man, who, though confessedly a Methodist, had so far backslidden as to play a little some times. The two were sitting in the house one rainy day, having a game of euchre. The Rev. Mr.——, the resident Methodist minister, dropped in, and, after glancing at the Doctor's hand, passed around behind the young man, took a seat and quietly watched the game. The young was about to play a certain card, when the minister whispered to him "Don't play that; if you do, you'll be euchred sure." Whereupon the Doctor, waxing irate, said, "See here, Mr.——, I ain't playing this game against the whole Methodist Conference. If the Conference wants to put up a V, I'll play them a rub." The reverend brother was soon discovered to be a "mistake," and was deposed from the ministry.

—For a long time the Patagonians, it was understood, were real giants. Then this was denied; observers it was asserted, had looked at them though the magnifying medium of a fog. But a letter from a member of the Magellan Colony speaks of some of them as standing six feet six or seven inches, and "from head to heel symmetry itself." Nor is it unusual to find a Patagonian weighing as much as two hundred and eighty-five pounds. With all their splendid physical characteristics, the race is degenerating "through the use of tobacco and liquor." Moreover with all their bodily strength, the people are said to be exceedingly cowardly. Most of their wounds are given from behind. Hitherto they have recovered marvellously soon from their wounds; but with their degeneration the process is slower.

—John H. Surratt, in his lecture at Baltimore, related a singular incident which occurred to him while serving in the papal army: "He said that, as he and a party of his comrades were sitting together, it was proposed that each in his turn should tell how he came to be there. When his turn came, he evaded the truth by saying that a love of adventure had brought him. But a Frenchman said: "I know what brought you here; you are Booth; you killed President Lincoln, and you came here to hide." The Frenchman knew nothing about Surratt or his history, and his remark was the prompting of a mysterious impulse that he could not explain.

—That was not a trifling exaction, made of a gentleman who was rather closely pressed in a social company to sing a song. He had a voice like the tearing of a strong rag, and knew it. "I see what you are after," he said, "you want to make a butt of me!" "Not a bit of it," responded one of his tormentors, "we only want to get a stave out of you!"

—Mr. John Ruskin has published a new work on political economy, an extract from which informs us that Mr. Ruskin wants to destroy "most of the railroads in England and all the railroads in Wales;" and that he also thinks it would be well to "destroy, without rebuilding, the new town of Edinburgh, the north suburb of Geneva, and the city of New York."

—The Supreme Court of Iowa has decided that if a jury mandrinks intoxicating liquors during a trial the verdict may be set aside and a new trial ordered.

—The passengers in a snow-bound train, in Wisconsin, had to tunnel through the snow, in order to reach the nearest villiage.

—The United States last year produced ninety millions gallons of molasses—ten millions less than the year before.

—When a man's business is rapidly running down, it is time for him to think of winding it up.

MUSICAL.

PATENT
ARION
PIANO.

A Few Reasons WHY
THE
IS
Superior to All Others

THE ARION PIANO-FORTE HAS GREATER Power than any other Piano Forte manufactured.

It Will Stand In Tune Longer,

And in its mechanical construction it is more perfect, and therefore, more durable than any instrument constructed in the usual modern style.

The arrangement of the Agraffe, the manner of stringing, the peculiar form and arrangement of the Iron Frame,

Supersedes all Others.

The use of a bar (which is part of the Iron Frame), on a line with the heavy steel stringing, gives

Great Strength

Where most needed, and in this respect all other Pianos fail.

The construction of the WREST PLANK, into which the Tuning Pins are inserted, is such that it is impossible for the pins to become loosened, or the Wrest Plank itself to split, as is too often the case in other Piano Fortes.

The Extraordinary Evenness

Throughout the entire scale, the excellent Singing Quality, the

Length and Purity on Vibration,

All go to prove what we claim, viz.: that the

Arion Piano Forte

Is the BEST INSTRUMENT Manufactured.

THE PATENT
Arion Pianos
ARE USED EXCLUSIVELY IN THE
American Conservatories of Music,
Of New York City.

THE MOST SEVERE TEST A PIANO CAN RECEIVE IS CONSTANT USE IN A CONSERVATORY.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

It affords me much pleasure to give you, in these few lines, a very sincere testimonial for the Piano Fortes of your manufacture. We have now used the "PATENT ARION PIANOS" in our Conservatories for a year, and have had a fair opportunity of testing their durability during that time. The Pianos have been played upon almost constantly, from morning until night, and a Piano must indeed be a good one when it will bear such constant use without showing signs of defection. As for REMAINING IN TUNE, it outrivals any Piano known to me.

Their peculiar sweetness of tone in the treble (as compared to other Pianos with the ordinary metal agraffe arrangement), is so striking that I have had pupils remark, while taking their lessons, that although they had at home what they supposed to be one of the best makes of Pianos, still the treble was very wiry toned compared with the "ARION."

What makes them still more desirable is their uniform volume of tone, which enables an Artist to perform a composition in its true character.

In total, I can conscientiously endorse all that is claimed by the ARION PIANO-FORTE COMPANY for their superb instruments, as I consider them superior to any other make.

Congratulating you upon the great success you have obtained in the manufacture of so perfect an instrument, I remain yours,

Very truly,
HENRY SHROEDER,
DIRECTOR.

New York, September 31, 1870.

AGENTS WANTED.

We want first class and responsible agents in every city and town where we have not already appointed them.

We Have Just Published

Our Annual Illustrated Pamphlet, which contains a full description of the interior construction of the PATENT ARION PIANO FORTE, and all the other leading Pianos of the principal makes; illustrated with cuts, thus contrasting the ARION with all other first class Pianos, and proving

WHY AND WHERE

Our Pianos are superior to any in the market.

Our pamphlet contains engravings of all the different styles of instruments that we manufacture, giving a full description of each, so that a person can select the style they may desire to order, with the assurance that they will receive just as good a Piano as if they were in our warerooms to select it. We have sold over FIVE THOUSAND Pianos, many of them being shipped great distances, and we have never yet received the first complaint. As we give a written guarantee with every Piano we manufacture, for five years, the purchaser runs no risk.

☞ Don't fail to write for our pamphlet which we mail free, and when you write state what paper you saw this notice in. ☜

N. B.—We caution the public from purchasing a cheap Piano which has recently been put in the market, bearing the name "Arion." All genuine Arion Pianos bear the name "Patent Arion," and can only be purchased from our New York Warerooms, or our authorized Agents throughout the United States.

The Great Medical Discovery!
Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS,
Hundreds of Thousands
Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.
WHAT ARE THEY?

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a Circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar virtue of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion of Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Vascral Organs.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE
FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

☞ For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

DEVELOPMENT.

AS DEFINED BY MODERN SPIRITUALISM.

The following verses are the dreadful results of a newspaper reporter's attendance at spiritual meetings. The young man is now slowly recovering on a low diet of Webster's Dictionary:

Man, in his gross and undeveloped state,
Loiters along unspiritual ways,
Finding no mediumistic power to incohate
Within his mind desire to emanat haze.

But when the influence of concentric light,
From spheres sporadical, where the spirits dwell,
Converges on his germs of inward sight,
The buds of spirit power begin to swell.

And soon development of higher life
Unfolds to him its beauties bright and new;
He sees chaotic at mies of strife
Melt from the plane of his enfranchised view.

Then, as he climbs perfection's spiral stair,
And gains the attic of the seventh sphere,
He breathes delightful spiritual air,
And feels fluctiferous joy his bosom cheer.

From this exalted heriscopic hight,
The beauties of the spirit world he views—
Its vistas vast, its flowers of fadeless light,
Pearled with the essences of heavenly dews.

Around, above him there is light and love,
Above, around him spirit friends appear;
He seems to see Creation's circles move,
And holds the key to nature's planisphere.

Earth forms of life, of thought, of hope,
Incinderated of their grosser load,
Peripheric rise in peristaltic flight,
And seek their semi-floculous abode.

There in progression's cosmocal expanse,
With nature whispering in his spirit ear,
He sees chaotic systems round him dance,
And embryotic vastness disappear.

Hail the new life!—affinity's grand plane;
Where incandescent incrassation rules,—
They growing glories generate amain,
And crown thee king of paraphrastic fools.

Thus our development exalts and moves—
By Coma let to Luna in disguise;
And thus developed man the wonder proves
That spirits rap and write counfounded lies.

MEICK.

ROUND THE CORNER.

It was thought of old, when a man was cold
And dressed for his last long journey,
A parson should come to direct him home
By clerical pow'r of attorney;
But one man of grace from a holy (?) place,
One who acts as a Gospel factor,
Could not condescend his breath to expend
O'er the corps of a dead play-actor.
How could he have read all his Master said,
And turned from a sorrowing mourner,
With, "Not in our way, perhaps it will pay
The little church round the corner."

A soul with a stain and the brand of Cain,
When truss'd for the hangman's halter,
Is dismissed with grace to a holy place
By the sons of—the Christian altar;
But a man of worth who had cheer'd the earth
By promoting harmless laughter,
Is thrust in the cold from the sacred fold,
With no hope in the Great Hereafter.
But all are not lost of the Christian host,
So we'll silence the jeeri g scorner,
And honor pay one for an act well done,
At "the little church round the corner."

SIX DAYS IN HEAVEN.

[From The Pittsburg Leader.]

The Rev. H. Sinsabaugh relates the following singular circumstance: On the 7th of November, the Rev. Joseph Pershing, of the Saltsburg circuit, began a series of meetings at Kelly's Station, on the West Pennsylvania railroad, where the Methodists have a small unfinished church and a feeble society.

During the second Sabbath evening of the meeting, Miss Emeline Taylor, a daughter of Mr. John Taylor, of White's Station, a young lady of quiet and amiable disposition, came forward for prayer. She remained at the altar for quite a length of time, appearing to be calm in mind, and yet earnestly and devoutly looking for the mercy of God. About 9 o'clock her prayer seemed to have been answered. Her face wore an expression of unusual brightness as she, looking upward, repeated several times with distinct emphasis, "Oh, that beautiful place over there!" She became entirely unconscious, and was carried to to a house near by, it not being thought advisable to remove her to her father's house, which was three miles distant. In this condition she remained for seven days, in the meantime, taking no nourishment whatever

On Tuesday she began to speak in a low voice, and for half an hour told of the scenes of another world, after which she remained silent for several hours.

The first of whom she spoke were two ministers; one was the Rev. A. H. Thomas, of the Pittsburg Conference; the other was the Rev. Mr. White, of the Presbyterian Church, once the pastor of the church at Saltburg.

Many expedients were used to restore her to consciousness, among which were singing and animated religious services, but all without the desired effect. On Friday her friends became very much alarmed, owing to the opinions expressed by the physicians, that having been so long without food she would never be restored. The effort was made to give her some nourishment, but in vain. She was asked whether she would ever be able to rise, when she replied, "My Saviour has not yet told me." At different times she had spoken of her Saviour as present with her as her guide and her instructor. Shortly after this she told them that her Saviour had just informed her that she might return to earth on Sunday night at 9 o'clock. This statement occasioned joyful surprise to her anxious friends. The father said that should it thus come to pass, he would believe all she would say concerning the future state.

On Sabbath evening, a large company of the neighbors had gathered to learn the sequel. There was no clock in her room, nor any way in which she could mark the flight of the hours, for her eyes had remained closed from the first. At three minutes before 9 she raised her right hand and waved it as if giving farewell to persons vanishing in the distance, and she raised her left hand in like manner, and at precisely 9 o'clock she opened her eyes, spoke a greeting to her friends, began praising the Lord, and called upon those around to join her praise for His great mercy. When asked if she was hungry, she replied that she was not so in the least; that she had been fed with milk and honey, and, indeed, her strength was so wonderfully renewed that it seemed that she had been fed by an unseen hand.

The original paper on which these statements were written as they fell from her lips is in the hands of Rev. J. Pershing. It is a most remarkable narration of events, and a description of scenes that she still avers were as real as any other in her whole life.

A Remarkable Escape from Prison.

[From The Lancaster (Pa.) Intelligencer, Feb. 24.]

A convict named James A. Hamilton made his escape from the Lancaster county prison about 10 o'clock on Sunday morning, and has not since been heard from. He was confined in iron-clad cell No. 59, situated near the further end of the left-hand range of cells on the second floor. An examination of the cell shows that he must have worked a long time before effecting his escape. He worked at shoemaking, and several weeks ago complained that his bench was too low for him, requesting that a couple of short strips of 1-inch boards might be placed on the floor under the legs of his bench, so as to raise it that much higher. This request was granted, and Hamilton at once went to work with his knife to cut through the floor of his cell, concealing his operations by placing the strips of pine exactly over the cut, and setting his bench upon them while working at his trade in the daytime, or when there was any danger of being interfered with.

Having in this way removed a number of flooring boards in the southeast corner of his cell, he encountered the masonry of the arched cell below him. This he removed little by little, and probably replaced it, loosely from night to night. Having quarried away the masonry from under the floor to the depth of about a foot and the length of three feet, and broad enough to admit his body, he next attacked the three-feet thick stone wall of the prison. Making a breach in it was not so desperate an undertaking as at first sight it would seem to be. The mortar used in the construction of the wall is of a very inferior quality, there being so little lime in it that it can readily be crumbled to pieces. Still, he must have worked hard for many nights to remove the mass of stone and mortar necessary to make the aperture through which he escaped.

The debris amounting, we think, to about a cart load, was this morning found carefully piled under his bed. His bed rested on slats six feet long and five or six inches in width. These he had split, or rather cut, in two lengthwise with his knife, and had mortised a number of holes through each of them, and had made a number of rounds to fit the mortises, so that a good ladder could be made of the pieces in a few minutes with which to scale the wall. He made a miscalculation, however, for the long slats would not pass through the hole in the wall, on account of its peculiar shape and position. Leaving this ladder behind him, he descended from his cell to the yard by means of a very thin but strong cord made of shoe thread.

Once in the yard he went to the wash house, into which he entered though a shutterless window by breaking a pane of glass, and removing a nail on the in side which fastened down the sash. Here he got a bed-tick and some old cloths. The carpentor shop is a second story room over the wash-house. Breaking into it, the prisoner selected sufficient lumber to construct a ladder with which to scale the jail-yard wall. The ladder was made by lashing together with strips of bed-ticks and old clothes four long narrow boards, reaching to the top of the wall, tying across them the staves of a barrel which the prisoner had broken up for that purpose. Placing the ladder against the wall near the Orange street gate, he went over a free man, and has not yet been captured.

Hamilton has long been regarded as the most dangerous and desperate inmate of the prison.

Improving a Legacy.

The Paris Droit tells a funny story about a man who drove a fat horse and a lean dog to market one day during the siege. He met a butcher who asked him how much he would take for the horse, and to this query the man made reply that he would sell the horse and dog together for 1,000 francs. "But I don't want the dog; there is hardly a pound of meat on his bones," said the butcher. But the man would only sell the two beasts together, and said, "I will sell the dog for 995 francs." "Are you mad?" quoth the butcher. "But," continued the man, "I will throw in the horse for five francs more." Finally the butcher, who was sadly in need of meat, bought the two at the price asked and departed. But a policeman had seen the barter and thought it suspicious, so he arrested the man, who explained matters by saying that he was a servant whose master had died and commissioned him to sell the horse for the benefit of the heirs, while he had bequeathed to him his dog. This was the reason of his refusal to sell the beasts separately. The heirs however have sued him, for he gave them the five francs received for the horse, keeping the 995 francs for his own use.

—An exchange says: "Dennis (Mass.) has chosen four lady school directors." Dennis is a bigamist.

A "Muscular Christian."

This story is told by The Boston Traveller:

Some few years ago a gentleman who was employed as superintendent in a really charitable institution in New York, went into one of the markets of that city, and selected a quarter of beef for "home consumption."

"Shall I send it home, for you?" asked the market man.

"No, I thank you, I will carry it myself."

The market man regarded him with an incredulous look, and remarked, "What! you carry a whole quarter of beef?"

"Yes, sir," was the quiet response.

The market man again regarded his customer with attention, and no doubt made up his mind that he was overrating his strength. Then he said:

"Well, sir, if you will undertake to carry this quarter of beef home yourself, I will give it to you for nothing."

"Are you serious?"

"I am serious," replied the market man.

"Then" returned the customer, "just help me get it on my back, and we'll see if I can't carry it."

This was done, and without let down or rest, the gentleman carried it to the institution with which he was connected, the market man accompanying him, lost in amazement at the unexpected development of strength and endurance.

On another occasion the same muscular Christian, having purchased twenty five pairs of shoes for the institution under his care, began gathering them together in order to carry them off.

"Are you," said the merchant, "going to carry these home yourself?"

"Certainly, I am," was the reply, "and if necessary would carry twenty-five pairs more."

The merchant looked thoughtful for a moment, and then turning to his clerk (he knew the occupation of his customer), said:

"John, you may put up twenty-five pairs more of those shoes for Mr. T——. And, John, do not make any charge for them."

Of course the customer who had carried the quarter of beef did not fear to shoulder fifty pairs of shoes.

This strong man—strong in faith as in works—is the Rev. R. G. Toles, now and for some years back the efficient superintendent of the Home for Little Wanderers in this city.

A Model Editor.

The following requisites, according to an exchange, constitute a model editor:

1st. He must be able to fight his weight in wild cats and come off without a single scratch.

2d. He must be able to drink with every one that asks him, and never "fail in the action."

4d. He must go armed with at least two pistols and bowie knife, and never go off half cocked.

3d. He must entertain and express such views on all subjects, as will suit the views and tastes of all his readers, it matters not what their views on the subject may be.

5th. He must know exactly how to construct his articles so as to please everybody and offend no one.

6th. He must know how to lie fluently, and when he tells a lie to stick to it with becoming dignity.

7th. He must write temperance articles for temperance men, and at the same time advocate the cause of saloon keepers.

8th. And lastly, he must be all things to all men, and a devil of a fellow generally.

A Female Absalom.

The New York Tribune says: The danger of wearing false hair is illustrated in a new and forcible way by the recent experience of a Massachusetts dame. Fancying that her natural charms required artificial enhancement, she innocently purchased one of those mysterious and tail-like appendages of the female head known, we believe, by the technical name of "switches." It was a "switch" equally beautiful and becoming, and for a brief space all was hair and happiness. But presently madame began to feel an unpleasant sensation about the throat every time she assumed the foreign locks—in point of fact a choke. She would in her own striking and piscatorial language, "get as red as a boiled lobster and gasp like a porpus," dreadful symptoms, which disappeared as soon as the "switch" was removed. What was this mystery no mortal could explain; so madam, being a true Boston woman, called a "medium" and the "medium" called a spirit, from the vasty deep. Then did this spirit unfold a long and excursive tale, which, condensed, was to the effect that "she was the woman from whose head the hair had been cut just after she was—hung!"—and that a choke would always attend the wearing of that particular switch. Remembrance this instructive spirit observed that all false hair retained more or less of the personality of its original owner, and that this was the cause of much insanity and many criminal indiscretions in women. Which is an explanation rather more startling than lucid.

Set Aside.

Our readers may remember that in the contest between the Central Pacific and California Pacific railroads, as to the right of the latter to cross the tracks of the former and establish a depot in the City of Sacramento, the Commissioners appointed for the purpose rendered a report to the effect that the California road should pay the Central Pacific the outrageous sum of $360,000. A motion was made in the District Court, March 9th, Dwinelle, presiding, to have this report confirmed. The motion was denied, as it doubtless ought to have been, and the big monopoly has received another check. The California road were required to file a $100,000 bond for future contingencies, and will at once proceed to establish a depot on Fourth street.

A Huge Water Fight.

An excitement of no small moment bids fair to spring out the scheme of a San Francisco company to tap Lake Bigler and divert its waters from their natural outflow and conduct them westward, to the very little advantage of that section and untold detriment to Nevada. The Nevada press say this is one of the dangers threatening the future prospects of that State, and must be combatted with all the power of the State. The State Legislature having failed to provide for legal steps to prevent, it is proposed to interrupt Von Schmidt's tunneling operations by the aid of shot-guns.

Extensive.

Too biggest scheme yet heard of is broached by a correspondent of The New York Tribune. It is nothing more or less than the construction of a ship canal across the continent from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The plan suggested is to connect the head waters of the Missouri with those of the Columbia, making locks around the falls and deepening the channels of the streams, so that steam navigation can be continuously prosecuted from ocean to ocean, or from St. Louis to the Pacific coast.

At Half-Mast.

The flags of the engine companies in this city and Gold Hill will be at half-mast to-day in respect to the memory of Thomas Flannery, a member of Monumental Engine Company No. 6, who died in San Francisco yesterday of injuries received in the Hale and Norcross mine some three weeks ago.—Virginia Enterprise, March 10th.

Poor Tom! How often has he been called upon to show the same sad respect to comrades gone before; and now the same flags eloquently droop in sorrow—the bell, which so often thrilled his brave heart, and inspired heroic fireman's deeds, now in bitter grief peals out its mournful tones for him.

Survey Completed.

Visalia dates of March 10 state that the Engineers of the Antioch and Visalia Railroad have completed the survey of their road into that place. They report that the grade will not exceed six feet to the mile in any portion of the route surveyed. It is almost an air line from Antioch to Watson's ferry on San Joaquin slough, and thence to Visalia.

Anti-Woman Suffrage.

Additional memorials have been sent to Congress, signed by women, against the extension of suffrage to their sex. About six thousand have thus far protested against woman suffrage, and efforts are being made to procure other signatures throughout the country. It may be, however, that the greater part of these signatures are owing to instructions from the brutes of husbands.

The Joint High Commission.

The Joint High Commission, appointed for the adjustment of all our difficulties with England, including the Alabama and Fishery questions, had a preliminary meeting at the State Department, Washington, on the 1st instant. The differences will be thoroughly examined, and doubtless a square, honest settlement effected.

The Difference.

While we are voting land grants to open a continent to the people, England is voting money grants to fasten on herself an idle royal family, which rides her down like Sinbad's Old Man of the Sea. The contrast is eloquently significant.

Rough.

A western paper has an article on "The cure of idiots." A contemporary says that paper is always dragging family affairs before the public.

A WORD TO THE FARMERS.

The mining interests of our county have begun to attract the attention capital that is certain to cause a considerable addition to our population. Already a number of extensive and important operations connected with mining are projected and being carried on, for the proper execution of which an increased number of men will be needed. Altogether, the prospects in the immediate future for mining developments are of the most flattering character. In consideration then of these prospects, we believe it to be our duty to urge upon farmers the propriety of seeding every inch of ground they can spare. At no time in the history of this valley, taking the year through, has the supply of any article of farm produce equalled the demand, nor is there the least probability that such will be the case. Consumers have not yet learned to look upon the home supply in any other light than as simply incidental, always heretofore and at present, depending mainly on importations for necessary articles, many of which might be raised at home. It is to this circumstance—the habit of depending on imported supplies—more than to the fact of an over stock at any time that has occasioned farmers trouble in disposing of their crops, and this difficulty will continue until consumers feel sure their needs can and will be satisfied at home. As long as we have the whole Pacific coast from which to obtain supplies, which, landed at our doors, cost no more than that raised at home, consumers are entirely independent of the latter, and no matter how short our home supply, prices will not, to any appreciable extent, be affected; therefore the farmer's profits depend on the quantity of his marketable crop: in other words, it is useless to expect big prices because we do not raise enough at home to supply the market. The only way for our farmers to obtain control of the market is to keep it supplied, and after having done so, if they can not compete profitably with farmers elsewhere, whose produce has to be hauled hundreds of miles to market, it is high time to drop the business as an aggravation and a delusion. But don't stop plowing and planting in the fear that the market is going to be overstocked; that is scarcely a possible thing under present circumstances and prospects.

FACT vs ASSERTION.

"L. H." in a communication which will be found in another column, says:

Of all the flimsy assertions against woman's enfranchisement, that of its going to break up family relations between husband and wife is the most so—since the argument will prove it to be founded in man's selfishness and their assumed power of ruling over their wives, and denying them the freedom that they claim for themselves.

Admitting, as "L. H." asserts, that the argument is based on man's selfishness, the assumed fact does not alter probable results, and the question then arises whether the desired boon of a direct voice in political affairs, would compensate an otherwise contented wife for the loss of her domestic peace. Possibly, in cases like that of the "small politician" mentioned by "L. H.," the loss would not be worth speaking of, but fortunately for domestic happiness generally such extremely narrow minds are comparatively rare.

Many of the most uncompromising, determined and relentless political characters in the world's history, were women. Would not the same traits be found to exist in family political antagonisms, in the present age? In every day life how much is there apparent in women's treatment of each other to induce the belief that the supposed domestic infelicity, contingent upon the possible family differences in political matters, should be attributed exclusively to man's selfishness? The uncompromising spirit shown in the management of the different Women Suffragist societies does not look encouraging for "L. H.'s" view of the case. In the natural organization of the social world, the respective duties of the sexes are perfectly defined, and can never trench one upon the other in any important particular, without results incompatible to the best interests of both. It should be and is the duty of law makers to see to their enforcement, and if the last is a duty the first should be a right. In international affairs the right to dictate action should rest with those on whom the responsibility falls. Does "L. H." or any of even the most ultra woman suffragists expect to enforce and defend laws as between nations as well as individuals? Unless willing and able to maintain a fight it would scarcely be fair to claim the right to make it. Mother Eve voted to do a certain thing, hence this question and other troubles.

ASSERTION vs. FACT.

WRITTEN FOR THE INDEPENDENT.

Of all the flimsy assertions against woman's enfranchisement that of its being to break up family relations between husband and wife is the most so—since the argument will prove it to be founded in man's selfishness and their assumed power of ruling over their wives, and denying them the freedom of opinion that they claim for themselves.

Meeting the other day with a small politician, strongly opposed to woman's suffrage, he reiterated the above assertion with much emphasis, and went on with the usual quotations from Scripture to prove that woman was made for man, and it was expressly declared that her desire should be to her husband and he should rule over her; and that it was useless for men or women to think of setting aside God's law—the man to rule, and the woman to obey.

I replied by asking "if he was afraid if woman had the ballot that his wife would control his vote?"

He spoke up very indignantly, "no, indeed! I would like to see the woman that could control my vote or my opinions!"

"Then," said I, "you are, doubtless, just as willing your wife to vote and advocate her opinions?"

"Not by any means! For I would not allow my wife to vote for a man I did not like, and if she did so against my expressed wishes I would leave her, as I would not live with her."

"Does she say the same to you, and has she ever tried to prevent your voting as you pleased, even in making laws that bore unjustly upon her, and would more especially whichever your protection should be taken away by your death?"

"Of course not; she knows better than to meddle with my voting or with politics of any kind; and, let me tell you, women have not the judgment to ever understand these things."

"Neither do all men who vote understand all the principles of government, and women will desire to know more of these subjects when it will be of use for them to be informed upon them."

"But," said he, "politics and its wire-pulling machinery women could not not manage, and it would tend to make them unwomanly and dishonest."

"Are men then so pure and upright that they can remain uncontaminated by the intrigues of wily political tricksters, who get up nominations and platforms for the dear people and elect men and carry out measures of a different kind from the wishes of the electors?"

Just so long as men shall think that they possess divinely-delegated rights to rule the earth and one-half the human race without representation, just so long there will be a masculine and one-sided government of oppressors and the oppressed.

The danger of disturbance to the home peace will result in the future from rights withheld from women, far more than in granting them; for a deep sense of injustice and of vital wrongs are stirring up even the most stolid to think; and when these mills of God begin to grind, all that is false and in opposition to the development and soul-growth of men or women will be ground to powdered dust. L. H.

Where's Darwin?

On the Island of Borngo there has been found a certain race of wild creatures, of which kindred varieties have been discovered in the Phillippine Islands, in Terra del Fuego and in South America. They walk almost erect on two legs, and in that attitude measure about four feet in hight. They are dark wrinkled and hairy. They construct no habitations, form no families, scarcely associate together, sleep in caves or trees, feed on snakes and vermin, on ants, eggs and on each other. They can not be tamed or forced to any labor, and are hunted and shot among the trees like the great gorilla, of which they are a stunted copy. When they are captured alive their uncouth, jabbering sounds like inarticulate language. They turn up a human face to gaze at their captors, and females show instincts of modesty; and in fine, these wretched beings are men.

A New Furnace.

Iron ore taken from the Black Hills, near the highest level of the Union Pacific Railroad, has been smelted at Omaha, and found of excellent quality, yielding 80 per cent. of superior metal. The Omaha Herald thus describes a new smelting furnace, which dispenses with the fan or blower:

The new furnace is about 25 feet high and 5 feet in circumference, tapering towards the top. About half-way up is a circular steam supply-pipe that introduces into the interior of the flue about a dozen jets of steam. This steam creates a vacuum that draws the blast through the live coals below with tremendous velocity, securing by such simple means the intensement necessary for smelting the metal. The new furnace has been running about two weeks, and is so great a success that several more are to be constructed and the old furnaces entirely abandoned. This new process will reduce the cost of smelting to such an extent that an effort will be made to utilize the invention by smelting the ores of the Black Hills on the spot.

The French Situation.

Paris dates to March 10 state that Thiers will soon dissolve the Assembly, and appeal to the people to decide the future government. Ducrot, Chauzy and Faidherbe are working for the Empire. Bonapartist meetings are numerous in the provinces. Changarnier is seriously ill. The navy has been greatly reduced, and the dockyards at L'Orient and Rochefort have been rented by private companies. The foreign squadrons have been recalled. The Montmatre insurgents have erected an immense barricade in the Rue de St. Pierre, and an attack was expected very soon.

Discontinued.

From The Post Office Gazette we learn that the postoffice at Columbus, Esmeralda county, Nevada, has been discontinued.

Daring Robbery Near Virginia.

[From The Gold Hill (Nev.) News, March 4.]

About four o'clock this morning the first of the incoming regular passenger coaches from Reno was stopped by highwaymen on the Geiger grade some five miles north of Virginia, and the treasure boxes captured. This episode occurred at a point half a mile this side of the White House, and a hundred yards this side of the noted "Robber's Rend," where the great stage robbery of four or five years ago took place. Mr. F. Deidsheimer, who was one of the passengers, and sat on the seat with the driver, Billy Hodge, tells us that the highwaymen were three in number—at least, he says no more—and, they suddenly made their appearance from the roadside, ordering the driver to stop. They were masked, and armed with shot guns. Two of them came up on either side of the coach, presenting their guns respectively at the driver and himself, while the other stopped in front of the horses till his companions had things secured, when he came to their assistance. The first order was "Throw down that box!" The driver complied by tossing down one of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s treasure boxes. The spokesman immediately said, "Throw down that other box!" "Oh, nonsense," says Billy, "you don't want that; 'tain't no use to you." "Throw it down," demanded the highwayman, with an unmistakable movement of his shot gun. Down came the box in a hurry, and with the parting admonition to "Drive on d—d quick!" Billy Hodge whipped up his horses and made the quickest trip into Virginia ever known of before—just twenty-eight minutes. Immediately as the stage left, the robbers took the boxes to the roadside, and with a pick and sledge they found near by, where some workmen were engaged in repairing the road the day before, they broke open the boxes, seized the money packages and whatever else they thought worth taking, and made off. Some fast freight wagons were coming up the grade only a couple of hundred yards or so behind, followed by the other stages and some private carriages, therefore the highwaymen had to hasten matters all possible; the whole affair occupying only about five minutes. Genl John B. Winters and two or three other passengers were inside the coach, but the robbers had no time to molest them. Deidsheimer says the most he was afraid of when he saw those big muzzled shot guns pointed at him from each side was that the rascals might mistake him for an express guard or messenger, or that the guns might accidentally go off themselves. He never felt less like fighting in his life. As soon as Billy Hodge could arrive into town he notified the police, and also C. C. Pendergast, Wells, Fargo & Co.'s agent at Virginia. The most active measures were at once taken to capture the robbers if possible. Chief Downey sent officers Merrow and Potter to a certain point in the mountains, a mile or two from the city, where the robbers would be likely to pass if they came in that direction, while Downey himself, with Detective Ben Lacky and officer McCready went around in another direction toward the scene of the robbery. It so happened that the first two officers mentioned had just arrived at the point designated for them when they perceived a man coming. He saw them, but too late, and had to surrender unconditionally, after attempting to hide his shot gun by shoving it in the snow, where it was afterwards found. He proved to be one of the robbers and is now safe in the county jail. His name is Johnson, alias Roland, alias Lyden, etc., and is the same man who was arrested not long ago on suspicion of robbing the safe in Cornell's drug store, at Virginia. In his pockets were found $[illegible] in coin and $251.75 in greenbacks, all of which was identified by the packages and other proofs as belonging to Wells, Fargo & Co., or in the box at the time of the robbery. This was all the money recovered. How much more is missing can only be ascertained when the express box is opened, but it is feared more than $20 is missing. The broken treasure boxes were found this morning within a few yards of where the robbery occurred, the papers and documents contained within them being scattered loosely about, having been thoroughly ransacked for valuables. Everything was gathered up and brought to the Virginia office. Our energetic police still continued their pursuit, and a little before noon to-day Lackey arrested a man named Dunn, recently a bar keeper in the Delta saloon, Virginia. He was in bed at his room in the city, but the proofs against him are very conclusive that he was one of the robbers. Chief Downey informed us that he would be pretty sure to capture the third robber before night. Much and most unqualified credit is due to the police, as well as to Mr. Pendergast, for their prompt and energetic efforts in this affair. They certainly displayed admirable sagacity also, and the result is particularly discouraging to any enterprising brigands who may desire to engage in future stage-robbing operations on the Geiger grade.

Counterfeit Coin.

The following, from The Union, may be of value to some people; it matters nothing to printers, worth speaking of, as they are scarcely troubled with coin of any kind:

It is reported that there are counterfeit two dollar-and-a-half pieces, coined in Philadelphia in 1851, afloat. The counterfeit is unusually red in color, being probably alloyed with copper. Its peculiarities are as follows: The "chignon" of the Goddess, on the bogus piece, touches a star; on the genuine it does not. The nose and mouth of the Goddess are poorly imitated. On the reverse side the lowest spear point rests between the letters "I" and "U," in the word "America," while on the genuine coins the point is between the "U" and "A." Acid has no effect on the piece.

The Devil Broke Loose.

A man was killed in cold blood in Virginia last night. Another man in Gold Hill, last night, came near being deservedly killed for getting on a drunken frolic and kicking up a fuss in different saloons. He was arrested and confined in the station-house, and had his trial before Judge Putnam this afternoon. Mrs. Orum was also tried in the same court, on the charge of cruelly beating and trying to hang her own daughter, a little girl of six years. Her husband made the complaint, and the little girl testified on the stand. The devil in the shape of a drunken sot, was loose in Story county last night.—Gold Hill News, March 6.

Washoe Stocks.

The San Francisco Chronicle of March 4th says:

The sales at the Broker's Board during the past week have been extremely large, and prices have been more than usually fluctuating. The most noticeable features have been the sudden jump of Imperial from $7 at the close on Friday afternoon to $21 on yesterday's opening, and the steady and rapid increase in Crown Point, which, during the week, touched $80.

The Vegetable Products of San Domingo.

The Department of Agriculture has received its first installment of the vegetable products of St. Domingo, which will make interesting additions to its already extensive herbarium and attractive museum. The adaptability of the climate to the growth of the chinchona, which furnishes the quinine of commerce, is an important fact, and one in which the Commissioner has always felt a deep interest. The following is the letter from Dr. Parvy, the botanist of the Department, to the Commissioner, General Capron:

ST. DOMINGO CITY, February 13th, 1871.

I have been closely occupied in making observations and collections of matters of interest connected with the agricultural and natural resources of this district. As the first fruits of our labors I send you by the steamer Tybee, direct for New York, three boxes, two of which contain dried plants, the larger one articles for the museum, including native fibers, cordage, commercial woods and articles of native produce as will bear transportation. The fiber called kamote is the product of the fourcroya cubense, and yields enormously. I hope to send some bublets of the plant that may be grown in the greethouse. This is not the best fruit season, and most of the native fruits will not bear transportation, but at the last place at which we may stop I shall endeavor to procure some of them for modeling.

All investigations tend to show the vast resources of this country, which are hardly touched by the imperfect method of culture and want of enterprise. Our collection of plants I think will exceed five hundred species, and we hope to lay in a good stock of seeds and live plants before leaving. I have found Shumaker very obliging. I have visited him at his delightful residence on the sea beach. He has the fourcroya cubense growing in his grounds, and is engaged in experiments to produce the fiber from the green plant by machinery. My assistant, Brummel, has been away on an expedition into the interior for twelve days, and is expected back this week. My associate, Wright, is also absent on an expedition across the country. I can not ascertain what will be the movements of the Commission, but judge there will be no particular haste about returning. I shall improve all the opportunities that the different movements may offer. There is no doubt a large section of the mountainous districts adapted to the growth of the chinchona, the frequent rains and cool misty atmosphere, elevation above the sea, absence of frost, etc., supply all the conditions of its succesful culture. A fair topographical map would enable one to lay down the chinchona district with tolerable accuracy. The woods of the country are numerous and exceedingly valuable; they will constitute a great source of its wealth. I have found coffee growing wild by the road side. On all these points I hope to present some interesting data on my final report.

Murder in Virginia.

We condense the following from an account of a brutal murder, which occurred in Virginia city on the night of March 5th, as reported by The Gold Hill News:

At 11 o'clock last evening William Smith was killed by Arthur Perkins, at Virginia, the tragedy occurring at the International saloon. Bill Smith is well known in this section as a happy-hearted, jolly individual, following the occupation of a miner and prospector generally, and one of the most generous, harmless persons imaginable. He had drank with several friends, taking champagne. Subsequently he was in the International saloon, and laughingly expressed sympathy with the Prussians. At the time of the fatal shooting he was standing near the front door, leaning upon the counter of Packsher's cigar stand, in company with two or three other persons, when Perkins stepped up to him and said, quickly and excitedly, "What do you want?" and "How do you want it?" Smith replied, "I don't know as I want anything," and at the same moment Perkins drew a Colt's six-shooter and fired while repeating his questions. Smith staggered back a step or two and fell on his back dead, close to the door, shot through the head. The pistol must have been shoved directly into his face, the ball entering the left eye and passing out at the back of his head, making a hole so large that his brains as well as blood flowed out freely in a large puddle upon the floor. As the victim fell Perkins stepped back, exclaiming "By G—d, I fetched him!" But directly coming to a better appreciation of the horrible deed he had perpetrated, he stepped forward, saying, "My God, I didn't mean that!" The murderer was immediately arrested by some of the bystanders and taken to the station house, where he remarked to Chief Downey: "I give myself up to you. I have killed a man, and it was an accident so I give myself up to you. I didn't mean to kill him, it was an accident."

Perkins was subsequently removed to the county jail, and afterwards to the State prison, near Carson, to escape the avenging fury of citizens who proposed to anticipate the law by hanging him. His real name is Arthur Perkins Heffman. He was born in New York and raised in California, and is about 25 years of age. He is a piano player, and played for some time in Scott's dance saloon, on South C street.

Hard Fate.

The Federal authorities have made a demand on the State Prison Warden for the surrender to them of the Pecquop car robbers, Taylor, Morton and Baker, who, if surrendered will be tried for their lives this week before the United States Circuit Court. The prisoners are now serving on a thirty years sentence in the State Prison. The weight of authority and legal opinion seems to be that the State can not surrender the robbers, and that the Federal Court can not get possession of them for trial until the expiration of their term of sentence. It will be rough on the boys to cut stone for thirty years and then pull hemp.—Carson Register.

Engineers Elected.

The election of the Virginia Fire Department held Saturday, March 4th, resulted as follows: James Malone, of Eagle Engine Co. 3, for Chief Engineer, received 238 votes; Jacob Young, of Young America Engine Co. No. 2, for the same office, received 128 votes. Scholl, of No. 2, for First Assistant Engineer, received 146 votes; J. N. Carter, of Washoe Engine Co. No. 4, for the same office, received 219 votes. P. J. Bell, of Knickerbocker Engine Co. No. 5, for Second Assistant, received 350 votes—scattering 2. After the result was announced, anvils were fired by the friends of the victorious, the fire bells were turned loose and the "boys" had a regular jollification throughout the city for a few hours.

After Their Necks.

United States Marshal Lammon has served his warrant of arrest on the men arrested by the State authorities for robbing the stage on the Geiger grade. They are to be tried for their lives for robbing the United States mail by force of arms. When the warrant was read to Johnson in his cell, he turned toward the Marshal and asked: "Would you arrest a dead man?"—Carson Register.

—A roasted onion bound upon the pulse on the wrist will, it is claimed, stop the most inveterate toothache in a few minutes.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Same as ever! "For five years," writes a gentleman at Harrisburg, Pa., "I was on a wild goose chase after remedies for dyspepsia. I have taken enough 'infallible cures' to float a jolly boat, and the more I swallowed the faster I got no better. Luckily, or rather providentially, it came into my head to try Dr. Walker's Vegetable Vinegar Bitters. This was about five months ago. In less than six weeks not a twinge remained to remind me of the complaint. I am perfectly well, and have only one regret—that I did not discover the true specific sooner."

Under Sheriff Talcott.

In our remarks last week, concerning the escape and chances of capture of the two horse thieves, we animadverted rather strongly on Under Sheriff Talcott, solely through a misunderstanding of the immediate facts. On inquiry as to the steps being taken for the recapture, we were led to believe that Talcott had started in pursuit in a two-horse buggy and so stated it. Soon after the issue of our paper, (the whole occurrence having come to our knowledge but a short time before going to press), we ascertained that he had left town on horseback some hours previous to the escape, and for the purpose of making another arrest, and of course not in pursuit of the escapes at all. Had the facts been as we stated on what we supposed was good authority, no sensible man, aware of an officer's duty but would have considered the act deserving of stronger condemnation, than was conveyed in our remark. In the same connection and the only additional point worth notice was the implied doubt of his desire or willingness to make arrests of desperate characters. The only circumstance within our knowledge to give color to this supposition, and the real foundation for the charge of a disregard of duty, grew out of his failure to arrest Ault. It is well known that public sentiment in Ault's neighborhood was favorable to his escape, and as Talcott did not make the arrest when it was apparently in his power to do so, common report has accredited him with the same sentiment, even to the extent of neglecting sworn duty. Reliable men with no obvious motive for misrepresentation, have repeatedly asserted that Mr. Talcott met and conversed with Ault without offering to serve the warrant until it was out of his power to effect it. A communication appeared in this paper over the signature of the principal sufferer in the original transaction, charging by implication if not directly, a lack of inclination on the part of certain officials to arrest and bring the offender to justice. No authenticated denial of any of these charges has ever come to our knowledge, though we at different times endeavored to obtain the real facts. These uncontroverted statements of several months standing were further confirmed by a letter from Ault himself, altogether making out a pretty strong case against Mr. Talcott, and that alone was the base of his implied lack of determination. Before going further we will here remark that our personal relations, both private and official, with Mr. Talcott and every other official of Inyo county has ever been of the kindliest nature, and the only motive we could have for assailing him was in the belief that such apparent short comings our duty required it. We will now give what we believe to be the actual facts in regard to the non-arrest of Ault. About a year previous to the time of this attempted arrest Talcott casually met Ault. At that time the latter was in full health and flesh and face covered with heavy beard. Talcott never knowingly met him afterwards. Following the crime for which much was to be arrested, having shaved clean, emaciated and by acquaintances failed to readily recognize him. Owing, probably, to the symptoms before alluded to, Ault's friends misinformed Talcott as to the color of the horse he was riding, and though he actually did meet and, we believe, speak to him, Talcott had not, for the reasons before mentioned, the remotest idea that it was the person for whom he was in search; an hour later he was made aware of the facts in the case, but too late for any reasonable hope of success in pursuing. Though not pertaining directly to the matter in hand we will here state that an officer who pursues a criminal beyond his own county lines does it wholly on his own responsibility and expense. There are other matters connected with the occasion of these remarks that we would notice did space permit. In view of actual facts we believe the foregoing explanations a simple act of justice to all parties, and therefore are most cheerfully accorded.

The China Murderer.

Tu Hop, the Chinaman who shot and killed one of his countrymen at Lone Pine, has been sharply pursued by several citizens of that place, effecting two escapes from parties detaining him, and finally was considerate enough to put an end to his wretched existence. Making his way to Swansea, he was imprisoned in the cellar at the boarding house of the O. L. S. L. Co., by that renowned strategist, Gen C. C. Bell, but somehow got out while that individual was attending to his manifold business duties. Eluding pursuit, he made his way to Little Lake, where he was again made prisoner, by Mr. Kennedy, proprietor of the station at that place, who locked him in a room and placed a Mexican on guard. When Messrs. Begole and Mulkey came along after him, they went to the room for the fugitive and found that, during a snooze of his watcher, he had made himself scarce. They tracked him for some four or five miles, and found him lying in a crevice in the rocks, smoking. Ordering him out, the Chinaman responded by cutting furiously at his throat, severing the windpipe and laying open the neck almost to the bone, but without cutting the jugular. They dragged him out, expecting his death; but he didn't die, although anxious to, for been motions begged his captors to shoot him. After several days of existence in this horrible condition he concluded Tu Hop off into eternity—and may the Joss of the "Heathen Chinee" have mercy on his soul!

Organized.

At the meeting of the F. & A. M. held on the evening of March 4th, they determined to apply for a dispensation to organize. The upper hall of the building at the Post, known as the "Settlers' Store" will probably be used as a lodge room for the present.

Mining Sale.

Mr. Brady, for the Owens Lake Silver-Lead Company, yesterday purchased of Mr. Thomas Parker, attorney in this place the remaining 200 feet in the Front mine, at Cerro Gordo.

Religious Services.

Mr. John Tamblin will preach at the School House at this place to-morrow, Sunday, March 19th, at 11 o'clock A. M. The public are invited.

Ill.

We regret to learn that Mr. V. Beaudry, of Cerro Gordo, is lying very seriously ill at that place.

May's Saloon.

Elsewhere may be seen the new advertisement of that scientific mixologist, Thomas May.

New Goods.

Rothschilds & Co., have received any quantity of new goods this week.

Cerro Gordo.

Beaudry's works are now shut down, for the purpose of adding a new galamadore. Belshaw's is in full blast, as usual. Work is resumed on the Buena Vista tunnel by the new owners, Belshaw & Beaudry, and is producing large quantities of galena. On the Belmont side, the mine of that name is working a force of eighteen men, and are extracting twenty tons of silver ore per week, of the average worth of $100 per ton on the dump. Work on the lower tunnel, now in 640 feet, has been suspended for the present, and they are now examining the ledges already cut by it. The Wittekind tunnel is in 170 feet, and being driven ahead as fast as possible, but the rock is very hard, and costs $54 per foot to cut it. The Crowning Glory is proving fine property for its new owners. Eighteen men are employed, who are steadily taking out large quantities of pay ore. It is estimated that this mine can be made to produce sufficient ore to supply the O. L. S.-L. Co.'s furnace with necessary silver ore. Hahn, the invincible, has made a new strike—the Schiller, and is extracting considerable quantities of good ore. The Oceola tunnel is in about 200 feet, but has not yet reached the ledge. The Omega tunnel, starting into the hill southward from the San Lucas canyon, just over the divide, is in about 780 feet, and being driven ahead at the rate of 20 feet per 24 hours. The proprietors of this tunnel have recently purchased one of the principal lead locations on the hill, and their prospects for striking an immense mine of metal at a great depth may be considered as certain. Work is progressing on the long tunnel which starts in at the Lower Town.

Not Any in His.

We hear it told of a desciple of Esculapius who recently determined upon making Cerro Gordo his field of operations, that during his first night in town he became somewhat salubrious and under the influence of divers potations. Late at night he tried to effect an entrance into a well known saloon, which was occupied by a private party of revelers. Trying the front door, he found it locked. His experience of the back door was the same. Musing upon the singular perverseness of doors, and probably divining the nature of things, he returned to the front entrance and tried it again. At this juncture a Henry rifle was accidentally turned loose inside. Down the hill sped the doctor, and to the first man he met detailed the case thusly: "My friend-al (hic) came here to buy a stock of drugs (hic) and practice medicine (hic), and want to do it—but (hic) d—n me if I want an interest in a shooting gallery!"

Officers Elected.

We neglected to give last week the names of the officers elected by Independence Engine Company No. 1, at their meeting held on the 6th instant. To serve for the ensuing term they have selected: President, A. C. Hanson; Foreman, J. E. Parker; First Assistant, H. C. Morse; Second Assistant, Joseph Fernbach; Secretary, A. J. Close; Treasurer, H. M. Isaacs. The election was attended with interest, some of the positions being sharply contested for. The affairs of the company are in a favorable condition, and we doubt not that "One's fellows" will soon have a "mersheen" and apparatus complete, with which to checkmate the fiery foe.

Weather.

During the past week the weather has been alternately warm and cold. We attribute this variableness mainly to the carelessness of our foreman in leaving out of our last issue our meteorological tables that had been prepared, and were already for the press, costing considerable time and trouble in the preparation. As we now have no report we can't be responsible for the weather next week.

The Thieves.

We are not advised of the whereabouts of of Sheriff Elder in his pursuit of Williams and Hutchison, who escaped from the jailor at this place, last Saturday. They were traced as far north as Slinkards, but whether beyond that we do not know. It is said that parties are aiding them to escape; if so, and proven, they had better hunt another climate. But Mr. Elder will bring them back.

Silver Sprout Meeting.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Silver Sprout Mining Company is advertised to be held at the office of the company, No. 206 Front street, San Francisco, on Monday next, March 20th. This company have valuable property in this county, and should not allow it to lie idle. But send your notices to this office, gentlemen.

St. Patrick's Day.

The anniversary of the birth of Ireland's patron saint passed off very quietly everywhere. At Lone Pine a dance was had at the Lone Pine hotel, where all present enjoyed themselves. At this place, a few dancers gathered at the Exchange hotel, and indulged in a social hop.

Arraigned.

Wm. King was arraigned on charge of grand larceny, and plead not guilty. A venire for 48 trial jurors was issued by the County Court, returnable on Monday at 10 o'clock. It is not probable a jury will be obtained without considerable difficulty, if at all.

Fun.

Benton has now a dancing school in full operation, with a regular attendance of nearly twenty devotees of Terpsichore.

The Utah Mines.

The White Pine News of March 4th has the following: A gentleman just returned from a trip to the mines east of us reports miner's wages as very discouraging. He notes the case of one old Treasure Hill miner who was working for $2 a day, and was discharged because men could be got for $1 50. He says some are got for even $1. These facts may be encouraging to men of capital preparing to go there; but they leave White Pine," the Poor Man's Paridise."

The Crop Prospect South.

The San Joaquin Argus has the subjoined: Since the late heavy rains throughout the valley prospects for good crops of grain have greatly improved, and farmers seem to be in the best of humor. With the help of a few more showers during the next sixty days, our people will be able to harvest the heaviest crop ever raised in San Joaquin valley.

Canal in Kern County.

Of the Kern county irrigating canal The Courier says: Its entire length will be fourteen miles, and the first three miles, embracing the most difficult portion of the work, are nearly completed. Several mills will be driven by water taken from the canal, one of which is near Bakersfield. It is estimated that 30,000,000 acres of land can easily be irrigated, and by a slight additional expense a much larger territory.

The Eclectic.

The March number of The Eclectic has a large number of really excellent and instructive articles under the head of "Life and Death," all indicating the great progress of medical science and affording profitable reading for any person of intelligence. Matters under the above head appear to be a specialty of this magazine and if properly appreciated would alone constitute it a work of value. The Children's and other departments are fully up to its previous standard. A two-dollar greenback invested as a year's subscription to this monthly for family use will most certainly afford a fair return.

Address, John M. Scudder, Cincinnati, Ohio, or this and other publications may be obtained through Agent Jas. M. Meredith, of Aurora.

Appleton's Journal.

A new serial story of Southern Life, by Christian Reed, a very popular author, will be commenced March 18th in Appleton's Journal, and appear weekly until completed. Including this story interesting miscellany and beautiful illustrations, $4 invested as a year's subscription to the Journal will secure 1,664 pages of good reading.

This publication offers peculiar attractions to miners to while away leisure hours. Twenty dollars will procure six copies.

Send to Jas. M. Meredith at Aurora or D. Appleton & Co., New York, or leave names at this office.

THE ARION PIANO-FORTE HAS GREATER Power than any other Piano Forte manufactured.

It Will Stand In Tune Longer,

And in its mechanical construction it is more perfect, and therefore, more durable than any instrument constructed in the usual modern style.

The arrangement of the Agraffe, the manner of stringing, the peculiar form and arrangement of the Iron Frame,

Supersedes all Others.

The use of a bar (which is part of the Iron Frame), on a line with the heavy steel stringing, gives

Great Strength

Where most needed, and in this respect all other Pianos fail.

The construction of the WREST PLANK, into which the Tuning Pins are inserted, is such that it is impossible for the pins to become loosened, or the Wrest Plank itself to split, as is too often the case in other Piano Fortes.

The Extraordinary Evenness

Throughout the entire scale, the excellent Singing Quality, the

Length and Purity on Vibration.

All go to prove what we claim, viz.: that the

Arion Piano Forte

Is the BEST INSTRUMENT Manufactured.

THE PATENT

Arion Pianos

ARE USED EXCLUSIVELY IN THE

American Conservatories of Music,

Of New York City.

THE MOST SEVERE TEST A PIANO CAN RECEIVE IS CONSTANT USE IN A CONSERVATORY.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

It affords me much pleasure to give you, in these few lines, a very sincere testimonial for the Piano Fortes of your manufacture. We have now used the "PATENT ARION PIANOS" in our Conservatories for a year, and have had a fair opportunity of testing their durability during that time. The Pianos have been played upon almost constantly, from morning until night, and a Piano must indeed be a good one when it will bear such constant use without showing signs of defection. As for REMAINING IN TUNE, it outrivals any Piano known to me.

Their peculiar sweetness of tone in the treble (as compared to other Pianos with the ordinary metal agraffe arrangement), is so striking that I have had pupils remark, while taking their lessons, that although they had at home what they supposed to be one of the best makes of Pianos, still the treble was very wiry toned compared with the "ARION."

What makes them still more desirable is their uniform volume of tone, which enables an Artist to perform a composition in its true character.

In total, I can conscientiously endorse all that is claimed by the ARION PIANO-FORTE COMPANY for their superb instruments, as I consider them superior to any other make.

Congratulating you upon the great success you have obtained in the manufacture of so perfect an instrument, I remain yours,

Very truly,
HENRY SHROEDER,
DIRECTOR.

New York, September 3d, 1870.

AGENTS WANTED.

We want first class and responsible agents in every city and town where we have not already appointed them.

We Have Just Published

Our Annual Illustrated Pamphlet, which contains a full description of the interior construction of the PATENT ARION PIANO FORTE, and all the other leading Pianos of the principal makes; illustrated with cuts, thus contrasting the ARION with all other first class Pianos, and proving

WHY AND WHERE

Our Pianos are superior to any in the market.

Our pamphlet contains engravings of all the different styles of instruments that we manufacture, giving a full description of each, so that a person can select the style they may desire to order, with the assurance that they will receive just as good a Piano as if they were in our warerooms to select it. We have sold over FIVE THOUSAND Pianos, many of them being shipped great distances, and we have never yet received the first complaint. As we give a written guarantee with every Piano we manufacture, for five years, the purchaser runs no risk.

☞ Don't fail to write for our pamphlet which we mail free, and when you write state what paper you saw this notice in. ☜

N. B.—We caution the public from purchasing a cheap Piano which has recently been put in the market, bearing the name "Arion." All genuine Arion Pianos bear the name "Patent Arion" and can only be purchased from our New York Warerooms, or our authorized Agents throughout the United States.

All Kinds Of Musical Instruments Supplied.

COMPOUND FLUID

Extract Catawba

GRAPE PILLS.

Component Parts—Fluid Extract Rhubarb and Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Juice.

FOR LIVER COMPLAINTS, JAUNDICE, BILIOUS AFFECTIONS, SICK OR NERVOUS HEADACHE, COSTIVENESS, Etc. PURELY VEGETABLE, CONTAINING NO MERCURY, MINERALS OR DELETERIOUS DRUGS.

H

THESE PILLS ARE THE MOST DELIGHTFULLY pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts, magnesia, etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the FINEST INGREDIENTS. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear miraculous to the weak and enervated, whether arising from imprudence or disease. H. T. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar coated Pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. THE CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, being pleasant in taste and color, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated. Price Fifty Cents per Box.

E

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

HIGHLY CONCENTRATED COMPOUND

Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla

Will radically exterminate from the system Scrofula, Syphilis, Fever Sores, Ulcers, Sore Eyes, Sore Legs, Sore Mouth, Sore Head, Bronchitis, Skin Diseases, Salt Rheum, Cankers, Runnings from the Ear, White Swellings, Tumors, Cancerous Affections, Nodes, Rickets, Glandular Swellings, Night Sweats, Rash, Tetter, Humors of all Kinds, Chronic Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, and all diseases that have been established in the system for years.

L

Being Prepared Expressly for the above complaints, its Blood Purifying Properties are greater than any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. It gives the complexion a Clear and Healthy Color and restores the patient to a State of Health and Purity. For Purifying the Blood, removing all Chronic Constitutional Diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, and the Only Reliable and Effectual known Remedy for the Cure of Pains and Swelling of the Bones, Ulcerations of the Throat and legs, Blotches, Pimples on the Face, Erysipelas and all Scaly Eruptions of the Skin, and Beautifying the Complexion. Price, $1 50 per Bottle.

M

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

CONCENTRATED

FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

THE GREAT DIURETIC,

Has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given, Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick Dust Deposit, and Mucous or Milky Discharges, and for Enfeebled and Delicate Constitutions of Both Sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, etc

Used by persons from the ages of eighteen to twenty five, and from thirty five to fifty five or in the decline or change of life; after confinement or labor pains; bed wetting in children.

B

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood Purifying, and cures all the diseases arising from habits of dissipation, and excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the blood, etc., superseding copaiba in affections for which it is used, and syphilitic affections—in these diseases used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

LADIES.

In fainting and nervous peculiar to Ladies, the EXTRACT BUCHU is unequalled by any other Remedy—as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Sterility, and for all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from indiscretion or habits of dissipation. It is prescribed extensively by the most eminent Physicians and Midwives for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes and all ages (attended with any of the above diseases or symptoms).

O

H. T. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU CURES DISEASES ARISING FROM IMPRUDENCES, HABITS OF DISSIPATION, ETC.

In all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience, and no exposure. It causes a frequent desire, and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, Allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous matter.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found that they have been deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "powerful astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all affections and Diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. Price, One Dollar and Fifty Cents per Bottle.

L

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH

Can not be surpassed as a FACE WASH, and will be found the only specific Remedy in every species of Cutaneous Affection. It speedily eradicates Pimples, Spots, Scorbutic Dryness Indurations of the Cutaneous Membrane, etc., dispels Redness and Incipient Inflammation, Hives, Rash, Moth Patches, Dryness of Scalp or Skin, Frost Bites, and all purposes for which Salves or Ointments are used; restores the skin to a healthy state of Purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principal claim to unbounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a Toilet Appendage of the most Superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, Safety and Efficacy—the invariable accompaniment of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the the EXTRACTS BUCHU, SARSAPARILLA AND CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, in such diseases as recommended, can not be surpassed. Price, One Dollar per Bottle.

The Great Medical Discovery!

Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful stimulant to the torpid organs of Digestion, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Viscral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

☞ For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

The Little Game in Washington.

[Washington Correspondence of the N. Y. Sun.]

The lobby's poker rooms here are on 15½ street, not far from the residence of Ned Price, who used to deal near Willard's but gave it up to be a lawyer, and gain great causes at draw-poker.

Fernando Wood plays a big game of poker, betting high and never flinching. Nesmith, of Oregon, is a racy player. Most of the Southern and Western members, native to the manor, play constantly.

Probably twenty poker tables are running every night of the week, including Sundays, among Congressmen.

Frank Blair was a stalwart poker player as far as his resources went; but Frank has never had above $1,000 at a time, although he has been lavish with his patronage. Of late he has been uncommon'y hard up, and his little game has not therefore attracted attention.

John Logan was long a ferocious poker player, and the smartest hand with a deck of cards in the world, but he has experienced religion and reformed. The following scene occurred some time ago, after he had passed his full period of probation in the Methodist church.

Enter to John a rather indurated and worn publican and sinner, saying, before company:

"Jack, I hain't seen you since our game at draw poker, when you won my little two hundred."

"S-h-h h," said Logan.

The publican and sinner was mum.

"I have been," said Logan, after an awkward pause, "received into full membership in the M. E. Church, and though I once did play games of chance, I don't do it any more."

"Jack," said the publican and sinner, "why warn't you received into full membership before you bagged my little two hundred?"

The District Attorney's Assistant, young Dick Harrington, has been tearing out the faro banks here, doing few of them any harm, for poker has completely superseded faro, and the poor professional rats look seedy enough loitering around the taverns. Jack McCarty, who used to have a good deal of prominence in semi-Congressional circles here, was completely exploded a few weeks ago. His shebang on E street was torn out by Major Richards' acute policemen, and the spotlessness of that gorgeous white overcoat with the black velvet collar is seen no more plying between the Capitol and Rum row. There is no longer a handsome faro room in Washington, and the last episode of public gaming here was the murder of Sunny James at the door of his own place on carnival night, by a rough named Horatio Bolster, whom he had pummelled. The whole fraternity is making tracks for Baltimore.

STORY OF THE GREEN CARPET-BAGGER.

A good story just at this point is told about a green carpet bagger, who came to Washington some time last session with a considerable pile of greenbacks and more curious cunning, and who fell in one night with a set of cappers and ropers in for a faro bank not far from the National Hotel. They took him around in a very genteel way, treated him copiously, and showed him some sights, and then, when they thought the proper time had arrived, proposed to fight a little game of the tiger. The carpet-bagger, nothing loth, followed them to their headquarters, and in order to make it appear perfectly fair, they proposed that the man who had the largest amount of money should be the dealer. The green carpet-bagger revealed his pile, which the crowd were anxious to see, and to their delight it proved to be the biggest pile.

"You are to be the dealer!" cried all.

"Oh no boys," protested the green carpet-bagger, "I can't deal: I don't nothing about it. I've bucked many a time, but I've never dealt; I can't deal."

They all protested that as he had the biggest pile and had won the chance, he must be the dealer.

"No! no!" cried this very green carpet-bagger, "I'll give ten dollars, twenty dollars, yes, fifty dollars, to any man who will deal in my place."

They all insisted that he should deal. He took up the cards in an awkward way, shuffled them many a grimace, and as he was about to put the cards in the box from which they were to be drawn, his hand accidentally slipped and revealed, under the top card, the king of heatrs so that they all saw it. Every gambler immediately coppered on the king of hearts.

The green carpet-bagger at once cried out:

"Now, now, come, boys, come, this won't do; you are taking advantage of me. There is something wrong or you wouldn't all bet that way together. I won't play unless I can have another shuffle."

They all insisted that the game should go on just as it was, and after many protestations that it was not a fair thing to take in a stranger so, the green carpet-bagger proceeded to deal.

He slipped off the top card, and there beneath, sure enough, was the king of hearts.

They all pushed forward to sweep off the money, but the very green carpet-bagger, drawing off the king of hearts, exposed another king for the third card. This made splits.

"I'll take half of that pile, boys," said this greenest of green carpet-baggers. And he passed out with a mild expression of countenance to look at the statue of Freedom on the summit of the Capitol. They play no more with green carpet-baggers here.

The Suez Canal.

The first year's operations of this great commercial enterprise show an average monthly receipt of about $100,000, or $1,200,000, per annum. These figures are stated by officials of the company, though no annual report has been rendered from the headquarters of the company, in beleaguered Paris. The calculation of a passage of 3,000,000 tons of shipping the first year, then, has not been realized. At ten francs per ton—the toll demanded for transit—the sum reported as the first year's receipts represents only between 500,000 and 600,000 tons.

A remarkable fact in regard to this canal is that it is mostly used by screw steamers, a class of vessels not in use when the project was first broached. Without this modification in naval propelling force the canal would find a heavy balance on the debtor side of its financial exhibit. It is probable that the receipts so far have met the expenses. If so, the increase of business will probably yield some moderate dividends to stockholders in future.

Learned Something.

A venerable couple in Scott county, Iowa, recently received a lesson in practical chemistry by accident. The old lady took a drink of lye in mistake for vinegar, and, being in doubt whether her taste was perverted or she had got hold of the wrong jug, she gave her husband a swig of the same to get the benefit of his opinion on the subject. Presently their throats and mouths began to burn, when they discovered that it was lye they had been drinking, and swallowed some oil to allay the pain. The oil combining with the lye formed soap, which stimulated the salivary glands, to excessive action causing a flow of foaming soapsuds, from their mouths that was as alarming as it was disagreeable. A physician who happened to call while this process was in full operation relieved them by the application of proper remedies; but it was several weeks before they were able to enjoy their food again.

Poor Poll!

In the fire which destroyed 600 singing birds in New York, recently, a gifted parrot was heard ejaculating, "Polly wants a drink." When the wires grew hot and scorched his feet, he attempted to seek relief by clinging with his bill to the roof. But this was too untenable and burned his tongue, so he let go and dropped to the bottom of his cage, hoarsely uttering "You know how it is yourself!"

—A poor soldier in New Hampshire, who, after three applications, succeeded in getting $100 bounty, sent at once $10 to an uncle who had loaned him that amount when he was in desperate need. A few days ago the uncle died, and by his will left the almost penniless soldier all his estate, valued at $200,000, giving as his reason for so doing that he had many times lent money to his relatives and he alone had repaid him.

—Persons who have not been in the habit of drinking buttermilk consider it disagreeable, because it is slightly acid, in consequence of the presence of lactic acid. There is not much nourishment in buttermilk, but the presence of the lactic acid assists the digestion of any food taken with it. The Welsh peasants almost live upon oat cake and buttermilk. Invalids suffering from indigestion will do well to drink buttermilk at meal times.

—A young man in Oswego who started to attend a masquerade party attired and accoutred as he supposes Satan usually is, unhappily entered the wrong house, to the consternation of the inmates. The old gentleman, father of the family, especially, was greatly alarmed, and with a wild shriek, "Maria, save the children!" he made his exit through the rear door, closely followed by Maria and all their little ones.

—Last summer a Boston establishment tanned fifty anaconda-skins for boot-leather. The boots are valued at fifty dollars a pair. The largest of these skins was forty feet in length. The tanning processes were similar to those observed in the manufacture of alligator-leather, the product being a very beautiful and high finished quality of leather, glossy, mottled, pliable, and, from the appearance of the grain, exceedingly durable.

—"Be solemn," said Tom Corwin, "if you want to succeed. The world looks up to the ring-master and down on the clown. It despises a man who entertains it. Be as solemn, therefore, as an ass. All the monuments have been built to solemn asses."

—An advertisement of cod liver oil winds up: "Patients who have once taken it can take no other." A candid confession.

—A letter writer says that General Von Moltke, when in repose, looks like a man in a tragedy about to do a foul deed.

—"Do you like codfish-balls, Mr. Wiggins?" "I really don't know, miss, I can't recollect ever attending one," replied Mr. W., hesitatingly.

—"Darling it's bedtime. All the little chickens have gone to bed." "Yes, mamma, and so has the old hen."

An Educated Monkey.

A monkey, which was permitted to run free, had frequently seen the menservants in the great country-kitchen take down a powder-horn, that stood on the chimney-piece, and throw a few grains into the fire to make the maids scream, which they always did on such occasions. Pug waited his opportunity and when all was still he clambered up, got possession of the well-filled powder-horn, perched himself gingerly on one of the horizontal wheels placed for the support of saucepans, right over the warm ashes of an almost extinct wood-fire, screwed off the top of the horn, and reversed it over the grate. The explosion sent him half-way up the chimney. Before he was blown up he was a snug, trim, well-conditioned monkey; he came down carbonated. The weight with which he pitched upon the hot ashes in the midst of the general flare-up, aroused him to a sense of his his condition. He was missing for days. Hunger at last drove him forth, and he sneaked into the house, looking scared and devilish; but, like some other great personage, he never got over his sudden elevation and fall. If ever Pug forgot himself and was troublesome, you had only to take down a powder-horn in his presence, and he was off like a shot, screaming and chattering his jaws like a pair of castanets.

Out

In Chester county, N. C., lately, a clock peddler was tramping along, hot, dusty, and tired, when he came to a meeting house wherin sundry Friends were engaged in silent devotion. The peripatetic tradesman thought he would walk in and rest. He took a seat upon a bench, doffed his hat, and placed his clocks upon the floor. There was a painful stillness in the meeting house, which was broken by one of the clocks, which commenced striking furiously. The peddler was in agony, but he hoped every minute the clock would stop. Instead of that it struck just four hundred and thirty times by the actual count of every Friend in the meeting, for the best disciplined of them couldn't help numbering the strokes. Then up rose one of the Friends, at the end of the four hundred and thirtieth stroke, and said: "Friend, as it is so very late, perhaps thee had better proceed on thy journey, or thee will not reach thy destination unless thee is as energetic as thy vehement time-piece."

Croup.

The following remedy for croup is going the rounds of the papers. It is said to give almost instant relief, even in cases where other remedies have failed. It is nothing more than allspice tea. It seems at once to cut the phleghm loose and relieve the child.

—The West Wisconsin Railway, which runs on an air-line from St. Paul to Milwaukee and Chicago, is one hundred and fifty-four miles in length, and owns a million acres of first-rate farming-land granted by Congress, and estimated to be worth ten million dollars, which is more than the whole of its bonded debt. It is no wonder that the bonds of that railroad are in demand.

—Professor Davidson, of the Coast Survey, says that Mount Ranier, a peak of the Cascade Range, in Washington Territory, is definitely ascertained to have an elevation of 14,000,444 feet. California is now trying to discover a peak within its borders higher than this, and we think we have it in Mount Whitney.

—A gentleman who was shut up in Paris during the late siege says that he ate rat at a restaurant, served up in a salmis with gravy and toast, and found it excellent. He says: "I have no objection to repeat the experiment to-morrow. The flesh was white and delicate, like young rabbit, but with more flavor."

LITIGANT PAPER FOR INYO COUNTY.

JAS. S. PARKER. | P. A. CHALFANT

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

Saturday, March 25.....1871.

WHAT IT DOES MEAN.

Some exceptions having been taken to the correctness of our conclusions in reference to the meaning of the act dated July 14, 1870, concerning pre-emption and homestead claims, and as it may be of importance to settlers to have a fair understanding of the matter, we again allude to it in the wish that if still in error we may be set right.

We believe that our statement that all the lands in this district are of the surveyed "unoffered" class was correct. Commissioner Wilson's circular, dated December 30, 1870, says in paragraph 4, that filings may be admitted for a period of three months after filing of the township plat, or date of settlement, and then the tract is held subject to homestead or pre emption entry or other selection authorized by law; for a period of twenty-one months from date of filing, the pre-emptor has a right to prove up and pay for his claim. Paragraph 6, of the same document, further states that after the lapse of the twenty-one months, all such filings will be considered as abandoned, unless, within this period proof, or payment or legal tender thereof, shall have been made.

This brings us to the point in our previous statement to which exception was taken, viz. that the settler neglecting to make proof and payment within the prescribed time, has no title to his land that would prevent others from taking the same. If it does not mean that such neglect forfeits all right, under the law, to the land, we can see no use for any law on the subject at all. If subject, after the expiration of the twenty-one months, to neither purchase nor pre-emption, what need is there for the holder to make payment during that time? Paragraph 9 of the circular states that land in certain cases must be "restored," and if there is competition, be sold to the highest bidder. Land that has never been "offered," as in this district, may not come under this rule, but if, after the expiration of the statutory limitation, our lands here, can be neither pre-empted, purchased, nor "restored" to private entry, we are curious to know what its real condition is; if subject to none of these conditions, possession must be nearly as good as a United States patent.

Vigilantes.

The numerous fires that have recently occurred in Virginia City, Nevada, prompted a close watch by citizens, by which means one of the scoundrels named Willis was caught in the act of firing Piper's Opera House, during a performance, and when the building was filled with women and children. He was placed in jail, from which he was taken that night by Vigilantes, and by the persuasive power of a hangman's noose, volunteered a full confession by which the authors of these devilish outrages were made known. Perkins the murderer, and several others are implicated. Willis is to make a full confession which will be received with great interest.

Terrific Tornado.

One of the most terrible tornados that we have ever heard of recently passed over East St. Louis, Missouri. It did not last longer than three minutes, but in that short space of time many hundred thousand dollars worth of property was destroyed, some fifty persons badly injured and a number killed outright. In its fury locomotives and cars were hurled from the track like bales of straw. Not a house, tree or movable object in the track of the storm bnt was partially or completely destroyed. The frightfulness of the scene is said to have been unparalleled.

New Music

We have received from Geo. F. Root, author and publisher, Chicago, the song and music of "The Cry that Comes Across the Sea." It is a stirring appeal for help for France, and should be sung by all and have a place upon every music stand in the land. The writer has heard George in his own music many times, but we imagine none of his war songs has reached the popularity of "The Cry that Comes Across the Sea."

Our Salesman.

Linforth, Kellogg & Co., of San Francisco, are the publishers of a monthly catalogue entitled as above, which presents a remarkably neat appearance and must be of great value and convenience to hard-ware dealers.

LAW AND ITS ADMINISTRATION.

Statute law is supposed to be based on reason; its administration on common sense. Necessarily general in its nature, its real intent and application in special cases is often attended with difficulty; hence, lawyers, the jury system, its devious workings, and contradictory rulings from the Bench. From such causes, we have diametrically opposite effects, and established precedents for totally different views of similar points, and as a consequence, a wide spread contempt for the law itself.

In criminal jurisprudence, it is an established principle that innocence is supposed until guilt is proved. As no good end can be attained in the punishment of innocence, the law properly throws around it every possible safeguard, but a too close adherence to this principle defeats the primary object of law, which is the punishment of the really guilty.

It is right and proper in every sense, for the presiding Judge to confine his rulings strictly to the letter of the law, according to his best judgment of its intent, whether in accord with his private feeling and wishes or otherwise, but cases of doubt should be decided on a common sense basis, for if not governed by this rule, entire communities are made to suffer that a supposed criminal, possibly innocent, may be mercifully dealt with.

We hold that neither law, nor common sense, nor well established precedent, ever justified exclusion of a trial juror who makes oath that he has no cause of bias, nor entertains none, except from the possible inference of guilt derived from the knowledge that a grand jury had found a true bill against the person whose case he is called upon to try. Admitting this as a rule in the selection of juries, the wheels of justice are clogged at the outset. The actual presence of the prisoner in the box is an acknowledgment of indictment, and must necessarily, in all aggravated charges especially, make an unfavorable impression upon a juryman, though he may, until sworn to answer questions, never before have seen the prisoner nor have heard of the case. This feeling should be attributed to the natural abhorrence of an honest man against the crime itself, and not to bias against the person charged with its commission. Any person of intelligence enough for a juryman must know that an indictment is founded mainly, if not solely, on ex parte evidence, and notwithstanding any probable unfavorable impression derived therefrom, is not accepted as proof of guilt. When very near every available man in the county has been summoned to appear as a juror, and does so at great expense and inconvenience—only to find himself disqualified for no better reason than that from his knowledge that an indictment had been found he received a somewhat unfavorable impression—is it any wonder that he should be impressed with the notion that either the law or its administration is something of a humbug?

In the case now before the County Court (People vs King), we do not mean to say that all, nor even a large proportion of the three or four venires were exhausted on just such flimsy pretexts, though such instances did occur or we are much mistaken; nor that the strict letter of the statute was violated by Judge or counsel; nor to impugn the integrity or honesty of purpose of any member of the Court, but we do mean to say, that in justice to the community as viewed from a common sense stand point, a much less fastidious course in the selection of jurymen might have been safely adopted. Under the rule adopted in this case, which is sustained probably, by a very strict rendering of United States Supreme Court decisions, the tendency is to impose jury duty upon the least informed; though we do not mean to say that this is the invariable result by any means, but that that is the tendency no one will deny. Under the most liberal interpretation of the rule, most of our best Judges have adopted the common sense view and have decided that a disqualifying bias is only of that character that a reasonable amount of proof can not remove, and that an imperfect knowledge of circumstances concerning a matter to be tried gained from flying or newspaper reports simply, does not disqualify. It was under this rule that the third jury in a notorious case of murder was empannelled. This was in the case of Campbell, before Judge McKinstry.

Violations of law and order by Vigilantes, are oftener due to over-nice technical discrimination, which enable malefactors to escape their deserts than any other cause. Supposed criminals captured hereafter in this county may thank their lucky stars, that in the face of all these obstacles a jury was finally obtained and the case put on trial, for we have no doubt but that a feeling dangerous to "law and order," would otherwise have been engendered.

LETTER FROM "PICTON."

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

PALMETTO, March 15, 1871.

MESSRS. EDITORS: Since my last epistle no startling event has occurred to disturb the equanimity of the detachment at this post. Sergeant Matton has relieved Sergeant Remsnyder in command, but otherwise everything has gone forward with the military regularity of an old-fashioned clock. In truth unless the "noble red man" should forget his prudence altogether and issue forth tomahawk in hand, slaying and scalping as he traveled, not much can be chronicled from this district as things are at present; or until capital comes, purse in hand, and raise to the surface the immensity of wealth now hidden in the bosom of the earth.

PALMETTO DISTRICT.

It is much to be regretted that this region is not better understood by those who are able to undertake mining enterprises on a scale commensurate with the extent and richness of the mines. In a former letter I adverted to the character of the mines in this district. As an entirety it it is traversed by auriferous and argentiferous lodes; and, although at the first glance the bleak barrenness of the valleys has a depressing influence, the expert in quartz mining enterprises casts his eye over the surrounding hills and discovers abundance of timber, and quickly ascertains that water is obtained at a depth of forty feet, while good wagon roads can be made in any direction with little labor. Is it possible that this portion of Nevada is to remain unworked by American enterprise forever, and is to be inhabited by only Piutes and Shoshones, when capitalists are looking to every point of the compass for new fields for investment in California? Unless some live man comes along to start a custom mill somewhere near this place, the miners who yet remain will have to abandon their finely developed ledges, and give up in despair the hope as well as the labor of years.

GOLD MOUNTAIN DISTRICT.

The presence of our force is having the effect to develop new fields for the adventurous, and will probably encourage the remnant of the Palmettans to make an exodus for the new mining district of "Gold Mountain." This place is situated some eighteen miles east of here, and was discovered some two years since, but could not be worked on account of Shoshone hostility. With the arrival of this detachment, all difficulties arising from Indians disappeared—hence as soon as the snow is gone a rush in that direction may be anticipated. These mines are said by those who "know whereof they speak" to be very rich in gold, and there are good silver indications likewise. At the present time gold quartz is the only specialty. Two miners leave this place for the new diggings in a few days, with the purpose of working the rock by arrastra. They have experimented sufficiently to satisfy themselves that good wages can be made, even by that slow process. In view of this fact it is hardly worth while to state that, where good remuneration is obtained by such an ancient mode of working ore, modern appliances would extract a colossal fortune in a short time.

THE SHOSHONES AND PIUTES.

We have constantly a large number of visitors from the Piutes of the Joe Bowers persuasion, and of late their presence has become a visitation worthy of an especial litany for deliverance from our friends. But the Shoshones avoid our vicinity as if we had in our possession the far-famed Upas. We are not sorry for this; it relieves the force of a nuisance that becomes intolerable, in the shape of a good-for-nothing Indian to be kicked out of the way at every turn. This peristent avoidance of a soldiers' camp is significant, notwithstanding. It proves potently that they are, or have been, guilty of high crimes and misdemeanors against Americans or their allies, and perfectly willing, if not able, to at any moment act in a hostile manner. Whenever John Lo keeps clear of a camp of soldiers, a sharp eye and arms in good order become a matter of necessity at once, and is proof positive that he is an enemy—that he has done, or meditates to do, some acts of hostility which render the atmosphere of a military camp particularly unwholesome. There exists a quasi war between Cowitch's tribe and that of Joe Bowers, and perhaps this explains their seeming enmity to ourselves. This is the received interpretation, for were the soldiers withdrawn, a relentless war would quickly break out between the two great powers. Even now warrior after warrior, especially of the Shoshones, disappear to the "happy hunting grounds," with very little preparation for the journey. There is an old Piute here known as "Billy Rogers," who acknowledges to the whites that he has, within the last six months, despatched four of the "opposition" on an excursion to the other side of Jordan, with bare spots on the top of their craniums, because they stole his corn and pinyon nuts, and burned his wigwam, last Autumn.

INFORMATION UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

The mail facilities of this post are not worthy a boast. To be compelled to ride weekly sixty miles on a mule for a few letters and papers, when the thermometer is below zero, is anything but an entertainment for pleasure, and not to be compared with a May picnic in the greenwood, along with bright eyes. Some amusing "straying from the right way" have occurred in connection with this mail carrying between Palmetto and Silver Peak; a portion of the road is a mere trail, easily obliterated by a slight fall of snow, as to be indistinguishable from the general surface of wild sage and stunted pine. An irrepressible member of this detachment, whom his comrades have dubbed by the soubriquet of "Doc," has commemorated one of the episode in verse, a la Longfellow. We do not believe that the affair is truly rendered by the incorrigible Doctor. As he is so prejudiced against intemperance as to attribute every accident, misfortune, calamity and catastrophy to the agency of whisky, directly or indirectly. I heard once of an Englishman who ascribed every unfortunate event in life to a woman, and it mattered not whether it was a case of murder, a broken leg or a shipwreck, he ever inquired "Who is she?" Our comrade always exclaims at the recital of every case of ill-fortune "Whisky!" In the present instance he insists that if the poem is not quite literal, it is far nearer the mark than Longfellow's celebrated epic—where a young fellow is portrayed as rushing wildly to the top of the Alps at dead of a Winter night, with the colors of the Seventh New York Regiment in his hand, and shouting like mad "Excelsior!" The poem is too long for the limited space of your valuable sheet, hence I will only furnish the four first stanzas as a specimen of the whole:

The shades of night came like a sneak,
As, on the road from Silver Peak,
A traveler with the mail was seen,
Who had, beside, a large canteen
Of whisky.

His brow was mad, his eyes below
Appeared to scan along the snow—
He said in tones like a clarionet,
"I'm bound to find the trail—you bet!
With whisky."

In a farmer's home he saw a light,
A pine-log fire gleam warm and bright;
He soon was seated on a bench,
And muttered something much like French
For whisky.

"Try not the pass" the ranchman said,
"Dark lowers the snow cloud overhead
The trail at night is hard to find"—
The mail man answered "Never mind;
Bring whisky," etc., etc.

The mail carrier is indignant at the whole poem, and says it is all "balderdash," "fabrication," "bosh," and that he had no canteen nor any money to expend for whisky; and as to the trail, that it is very doubtful if he found it whether he took it, owing to the danger of falling into a prospecting hole or shaft, or some such sort of thing"—

"Fall into a shaft!" interrupted the Doc, "Fall into a shaft! What does that amount to? Why, Sir, I fell in love once, and easily escaped with a black eye and the loss of a couple of front teeth. Fall in a shaft! Preposterous!"

The last argument was fatal; hence the subject was dropped. As a consequence the cause for missing the trail will ever remain as great a mystery as "Who struck Billy Patterson?" or the authorship of the "Letters of Junius."

"QUIEN SABE."

From present indications and taking all things around as in consideration, it is probable we may remain somewhere about this place for some time to come. In that event you may receive further account of our welfare. Still, the Commander of the Post at Independence is the Centaurian—hence when he saith to one to go he goeth; and to another come and he cometh, and to another do this and he doeth it. Therefore, being ignorant of the future, I will refrain from further words, saying simply au revoir.

PICTON.

In Mourning.

The Arizona Miner, of March 4th, comes to us with its columns draped in mourning and with an address to the "great American people," asking them to exert all proper influence with the present Administration to "stop the further flow of white blood in poor, long suffering Arizona, and enable her to overthrow and subdue the red miscreants who are, to day, better prepared for continuing their remorseless war upon us than at any previous time and who will, eventually, make one desperate effort to kill or drive us from the Territory, if earnest, vigorous war is not speedily made upon them, and they be made to feel that the few American citizens now in Arizona are but the vanguard of a nation that can and should, speedily sweep the last savage murderer now in existance into eternity." This appeal is followed by a list in chronological order, of all the murders and robberies committed by the Indians in that Territory for the last seven years, which fills a whole page of the paper. It is a wonder to us that the necessity exists for the appeal of the people of Arizona, and that Government has not ere this made a serious effort to protect them. The eastern press, when discussing this matter point to the cost of the military establishment maintained in that Territory, and have often suggested that the country cost more than it is worth and that it be given up to the Indians. This is not only fallacious but mean and heartless. In spite of the great dangers attending prospecting, the discoveries already made have established the fact that Arizona is one of the richest of the mineral sections of the Union, and the lives already lost are far more precious than all the money disbursed by government. However, we fear that our Arizona friends will have to do the best they can until the Texas Pacific railroad runs through their country. That will bring a certain cure to all their troubles; but they need not expect much more protetion from Government than they have been receiving heretofore.—Reese River Reveille.

Encouraging.

It is an encouraging feature in the history of our city, that, at the Methodist Church, on Sunday evening last, of a congregation of over one hundred persons, the great majority were newcomers to our city. We hail this class of population, and hope it may largely increase and multiply among us. What we want, is that class of Church going God fearing people, who constitute the bone and sinew, the industry and enterprise of a country—that class whom Goldsmith designated as a country's pride—Los Angeles Star.

The Palisade and Eureka Narrow Guage.

We are pleased to be able to announce that Hon. F. M. Proctor, the engineer, and one of the corporators of this road is organizing his party, and will at once commence the survey of the route from Palisade to Eureka He expects to have the survey completed to this place in 30 days, and no delay will thereafter take place until the cars are running up Railroad Canyon. Many tons of base bullion will be manufactured here, and the road will have a profitable business at once. —Eureka Sentinel. March 18th.

Indictment Sustained.

On last Friday the counsel for the defense in the case of the People vs. Peter Heron, made a motion to set aside the indictment on the ground that the order for the Grand Jury was illegal; the law providing that the venire shall be for thirty jurors, while the Judge had ordered thirty-two to be drawn. The Judge decided that the objection was not of sufficient importance to justify the quashing of the indictment. The case is set for trial on next Saturday.—Fresno Expositor.

New Hampshire Election.

Dates from Concord to March 16th state that returns from 218 towns indicate that there has been no election of Governor by the people. Pike has 33,339 votes; Weston, 33,881; Cooper and scattering 1,074. The House stands, 162 Republicans, 164 Democrats and 4 Labor Reform. The Senate stands, 4 Republicans 5 Democrats and 3 vacancies. The Executive Council stands two and two with a vacancy in the First District. Probably all the Democratic Congressmen are elected

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Gently does it, without pain or irritation, Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters relieve the constipated bowels; at the same time so thoroughly toning their inner membrane and restoring their mechanical action, that it seems as if they had been reorganized on an improved plan! Yet the result is solely due to nature, reinforced, and sustained by the best Vegetable alterative and tonic that ever passed the lips of the sick and suffering.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

 All advertisements, to insure insertion in these columns, must be handed in on or before 6 o'clock P. M., Friday.

The Kearsarge Party,

Consisting of John B. Winters, Charles Van Gorder, Mr Diedshiemer, Mr. Lockhardt, Mr. Clauson and Mr. Harris—all old Gold Hillers—are now in town, having been up cavorting around in the snow and examining into Kearsarge matters generally. All hands express their highest satisfaction at the appearance and actual condition of the new ditch, machinery, mill, the tramway cut, and last but not least, the mine itself. The water ditch is completed, running full of water, and is a much better work than it was thought possible to get, considering the rough, rocky nature of the ground. Timbers for the tramway are nearly all out, while the machinery, etc., connected with the water wheel is on the ground. The pans and machinery of the San Carlos mill, and four other pans, have been purchased and will be added to the mill as soon as they can be put in, increasing its capacity to work thirty tons per day before a stamp is dropped. About April 1st Mr. Thompson will arrive from Virginia with a force of workmen to put up the tramway, and as the refitting of the mill will go on, the whole works—mine and mill—will start up May 1st, to rattle out fortunes for the persevering and plucky owners. The most careful selections of every character of ore from ledge matter in all parts of the mine give an average assay value so high as to leave margin for very large profits on the working of the whole—the cost of reducing the ore under the tramway and water power system being estimated at $12 per ton, which is too high, for careful figurers say that $9 will cover the entire cost of both mining and milling Mr. Winters returns home next Monday, Mr. Van Gorder remaining in charge for a few weeks, when the General will return and assume permanent management.

Aurora Land Office.

Both the Register and Receiver of this land district, office at Aurora, have been in town for a few days during the past week. The office has been closed since March 4th, owing to the expiration of the Receiver's commission at that time. Being re-appointed, it was thought necessary to file new bonds before resuming business, but a letter from Willis Drummond, Land Commissioner, under date of March 9th, authorizes the continuance of his duties under the old until the new bonds are filed and approved. The office is now ready for business and will remain so, without further delays.

Very Observing.

We have heard many stories of the sayings of precocious juveniles, but few better than the following, which occured in a locality not a thousand miles from "Snethsigeden." A somewhat bald-headed gentleman, whose name we shall designate as C——, was holding upon his lap a Miss of the mature age of four. Noticing her intently watching him for a few moments, he required the cause. "Why, Mr. C——" said she, "I can't see where your for'ed ends!" Phancy his pheelinke.

Important Change.

T. W. Dexter, the proprietor of the stage line from Aurora to this place, has purchased Collister's line to Lone Pine and Cerro Gordo, and from and after April 1st will run it as a tri-weekly. The stages run so as to make direct connection with other direct communications with San Francisco, without stopping—an important consideration to most travelers. See the time table elsewhere.

Corrected.

CERRO GORDO, March 22.

EDS. INDEPENDENT: I note in your last issue a well told story about a sojurning doctor in this place. Now it was all correct except that the gentlemen was not "somewhat salubrious," does not get so, and will not run. KWYKI I.

Well, what's the difference? The hero was absolutely unknown to us, and we gave the yarn as it came. Artemus Ward once said that a joke now and then greatly improved a comic paper.

Correspondents.

We have of late received several communications signed by the nom de plume only. It is an established rule in publications that in every case it is absolutely indispensable that the real name should accompany all communications, and will be strictly adhered to by this paper. The names are kept inviolable, but must be sent to receive notice.

A Solid Improvement.

The Masons advertise for proposals for the erection of a two-story stone building, 26 by 50 feet inside. Plan and specifications can be seen at the office of E. H. VanDecar, at the Inyo House. Several proffers are made donating a site free, and the selection will probably be made to-night.

Ore From the White Mountains.

The Superintendent of the Owens Lake Silver Lead Company has contracted for 100 tons of silver ore from a mine in the old Keyes district, owned by M. L. Clarke and others, of Bishop Creek. The ore is reported as rich, and is from one of the long idle districts of the White mountains.

Surveyor.

The Surveyor General, James R. Hardenburg, has appointed Wm. McBride, Deputy U. S. Surveyor for this county. We believe he is endeavoring to have Mono county included in his territory, when he will devote all his time to the business.

Bullion.

Between seventy-five and eighty tons of bullion have been shipped from the Swansea works during the past four weeks. The flood of metal never lets up, and more teams are on hand to take it away than ever before.

"Chips"

Eugene Rascoe, formerly of Virginia, Nev., well known to many of our readers as "Chips," has leased the McBride Ranch, some sixteen miles from Benton, where he proposes to hold forth.

Harper's.

James M. Meredith, the enterprising news dealer of Aurora, has favored us with the April number of that excellent magazine, Harper's monthly, and The London Illustrated News, etc., etc., which may be had of him.

Re-opened.

Messrs. Morse & Robinson have re-opened Morse's old shop, on Edwards street, and are prepared to do blacksmithing and wagon work for everybody, at reduced rates, and for cash only. See their advertisement.

Cerro Gordo Store.

A new advertisement of V. Beaudry's pioneer establishment appears this week. Our Cerro Gordo readers will take notice.

The Silver Sprout Company.

An assessment of $6 25 per share has been levied upon the capital stock of this company, payable immediately, in coin or in stock of the company at the rate of $12 50 per share. The effect of this arrangement is to raise $6 25 upon every share, or the throwing of one-half the stock into the hands of the company for sale, and is placed upon the market at $12 50 per share. We have received from the Secretary the prospectus of the company, an elegantly printed pamphlet, which gives a description of their property and invites the enlistment of capital, and says:

THE SILVER SPROUT MINING COMPANY,

Incorporated under the laws of the State of California, and owning property in the Kearsarge Mining District, located on the eastern slope of the

MAIN BELT OF THE SIERRA NEVADA MOUNTAINS,

Inyo county, State of California, being situated about one half mile from the mines now worked by the Kearsarge Mining Company and known as the Kearsarge cluster—developments of which prove the regularity and permanency, as well as richness in gold and silver of the mines of the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada—are desirous of increasing the amount of capital for the development of the same, and to that end have concluded to put one-half of the capital stock of the company on the market, upon terms which can not otherwise than prove a safe and profitable investment. The locality is the "back bone" or highest portion of the Sierras. Nature's work, in every respect, is upon the grandest scale, and it requires a corresponding amount of capital to develop the same, which the company now seek to obtain, feeling confident that the returns will be in accordance. The district is unquestionably

ONE OF THE BEST ON THIS COAST,

Both for reliability and richness—the precious metals containing about two thirds silver to one third gold. The mountains are regular, and all the main lodes have well defined solid walls, which is one of the best evidences of permanency and security for capital. The property is owned by a few individuals, (who have expended up to this date over $80,000 for the purchase, development and improvement of the same, and who can not now appropriate the amount of capital required for prosecuting the work further, in a judicious manner), which is represented by 5,000 shares of the par value of $700 each, and consists of a cluster of sixteen leads, on two of which only developments have been made, viz:

ON THE SILVER SPROUT LODE

A shaft sixty feet deep has been sunk, and a tunnel of sixty-five feet in length run, from which several hundred tons of ore have been extracted, which produced at different "practical workings" as follows:

One lot	$ 28 66 per ton.
One lot	$ 37 62 per ton.
One lot	$ 43 15 per ton.
One lot	$ 80 00 per ton.
One lot	$159 88 per ton.
One lot	$296 44 per ton.
One lot	$534 80 per ton.
One lot	$734 00 per ton.

ON THE LAMB LODE,

Which averages five feet in width, a tunnel of 125 feet in length has been run, from which 75 to 100 tons have been extracted, which produced also at different "practical" workings as follows:

One lot	$ 25 45 per ton.
One lot	$ 32 58 per ton.
One lot	$ 42 46 per ton.
One lot	$ 67 17 per ton.
One lot	$188 00 per ton.

Together with a ten stamp mill, in complete running order, with five stamps in place, and five in good order and ready to be set up when required; also the right to use the "Paul Dry Amalgamating Process." The mill is driven by water power, which is, at all seasons of the year, ample to run a 20-stamp mill. The company also own a ranch in close proximity to their mill, consisting of 160 acres of the best agricultural land in the valley.

THE SILVER SPROUT MINES,

Are situated about one thousand feet higher than the Kearsarge cluster. The extreme distance from the northerly wall of the more northerly lode to southerly wall of the more southerly lode does not exceed 550 feet, therefore a tunnel of that length would cut through all of the leads, all of which cut the mountain range at right angles. The situation for drainage and working can not be surpassed, the slope of the mountain being at an angle of about 45 degrees, consequently a tunnel of any length would tap the mine at a corresponding depth. The yield of ore, it will be seen, is sufficient for a successful and paying property, but in consequence heretofore of the lack of means for making more extensive developments, together with facilities for transportation of ore, etc., whereby expenses might be reduced more than one half, it has not been as profitable as the figures would indicate.

NOW WHAT THE COMPANY PROPOSE TO DO

Is to sell one half of their stock, or say 2,500 shares at $12 50 per share. It being understood that every dollar thus obtained shall be expended in the future development and improvement of the company's property to the extent desired.

THE PAYMENTS FOR STOCK

Are to be in United States gold coin, as follows: 10 per cent. on subscription after which payment, stock to be delivered when paid for, as follows:

15 per cent. in 30 days from date of subscription.
15 per cent. in 60 days from date of subscription.
15 per cent. in 90 days from date of subscription.
15 per cent. in four mos. from date of subscription.
15 per cent. in five mos. from date of subscription.
15 per cent. in six mos. from date of subscription.

A discount of five per cent. will be allowed those paying for their stock in full, at date of subscription.

It will be observed that by this mode the company sells property which cost them $40,000 for $31,250, thereby giving the parties now subscribing the benefit of $15,625 upon the expenditure of the whole amount as proposed, which is really equivalent to purchasing $55,625 interest in property for $41,250. It being further understood that should be made self-sustaining, and the company thereby enabled to declare dividends, then no further demands are to be made on subscribers. Dividends will be in that event (after the same is declared) be allowed to liquidate any balance that may be due on account of subscription of stock.

There are

NO CONFLICTING TITLES TO THE COMPANY'S MINES.

Sufficient work having been done to secure a perpetual title, in accordance with the district mining laws, in addition to which proceedings have been taken to secure a U. S. Patent thereon.

THE COMPANY ARE FREE FROM DEBT.

And have money in the treasury. Subscribers may rest assured that they will enlist in the enterprise without any liabilities to present immediate and continuous prosecution of the work, which it is proposed to commence as soon as sufficient funds are in the treasury. Any number of shares which it is proposed to sell, can be subscribed for by any one person, and those desiring stock as above, can apply for further particulars, at any time during business hours, at the office of the company, No. 206 Front street, San Francisco, where a subscription book is now open.

[We would unhesitatingly add our opinion that the mines of this company, are, as far as we can learn from parties familiar with them, both extensive, permanent and rich, and that Silver Sprout stock at $12 50 is a good investment.—EDS.]

Big Pine.

The Big Pine Cash Store, D. Naylor, proprietor, announces a new stock of general merchandise, and business on a cash basis. Big Pine is destined to become a big place, not many years hence.

Board of Trustees of Independence School District.

As a notable exception in the history of officials, we take pleasure in noting the high terms in which members of the above Board are spoken of in certain circles. John Broder, P. Reddy, and the senior of this paper, have each expressed very flattering opinions as to the efficiency of its members, and as the competent judgment of these gentlemen on such matters, is unquestioned by any member of the Board, we doubt not our motive in this direct reference will be fully appreciated. But why, it has been asked, were not those borrowed benches in the school house, returned to the Court House, as per request of Deputy Sheriff Goodale? That the Board performed their whole duty in the premises, will be seen from the following: On being notified to return the benches the President notified the Clerk, who, in turn, notified the working member, who fulfilled his duty according to the 9th Cal. Rep., and negotiated with a gentleman of the Piute persuasion to take the benches home, who declined to do it for two reasons: first, that an order on the General Fund for his pay, amounting to four bits, was no good, and second, that a Bench warrant was required. As these last had all been used up on defaulting jurors, we don't see how the Board of Trustees are to be blamed, but the Deputy Sheriff "knows how it is himself."

Huge if True.

A correspondent writes us from Cerro Gordo of what he claims is the biggest strike of silver that has ever been made in California. On the 18th instant, a party consisting of P. Cassidy, T. McDonough and P. Devlin struck on the Crowning Glory Hill, a body of ore of the enormous width of 60 feet, and cropping out high above the surrounding ground. Assays made by Mr. Senter of the Belshaw works, resulted in 123 ounces of silver per ton, and a large per cent of copper. "The owners commence blasting down the metal next Monday," adds the correspondent. If there is anything in the marvelous story, we hope to be able to give further description next week. The account comes to us pretty straight, but must have confirmation before fully accepting the statement as true.

Improving.

It can not be questioned that business and times are livening up to a degree more in accordance with the unbounded resources of the county. In mining matters more transfers of property have been made within the past month than ever before in our knowledge. Commencing with the Crowning Glory sale, followed with the sales of the Jefferson, the Miama, Union and the Front, we now have it from the very best authority that Kearsarge is being sought after. As a specimen of the sound judgment of editors generally, we will state that Phillip Lynch, Esq., of The Gold Hill News, and A. M. Elgington, of Virginia, recently purchased the interest of Wm. Leete in the Kearsarge, paying therefor the sum of $3,400.

High.

According to his arrangement of the type, one of our reliable compositors, in a squib on the outside, makes Mt. Ranier, in Washington Territory, fourteen million four hundred and forty-four feet high, just thirteen million, nine hundred and eighty-six thousand feet higher than the real figures warrant; and then thinks we have a still taller mountain in Mount Whitney. How high is that?

Farming.

The farmers of Bishop Creek and in fact all over the valley, are busily at work planting, putting in small grain mostly. Considerable more acres will be under cultivation this year than ever before, with fair prospects of the best of crops.

Cultivation of Ramie.

[From Circular of Sweeny & Co., San Francisco.]

Ramie, or Sea Grass, has long been imported from China and extensively used; but it is only lately that we have discovered a cheap process of preparing it for the finer fabrics which make it the most profitable crop to cultivate at home.

HOW TO CULTIVATE IT.

This plant is a species of bushy hemp. It is the inner bark that supplies the fibre, which is now extensively used for fine "stuff goods," composed of silk and of worsted interwoven with Ramie.

No crop takes less labor after the first year, because once rooted, it does not require to be replanted every succeeding year, the ratoons multiply, the bush becomes denser, the fibre finer and stronger, and the yield greater.

In the Southern States, they select for the Ramie, a soil of loose texture, such as sandy loam, for the plant makes a vast expanse of roots. On this account they plough to a depth of ten or twelve inches. They consider it essential that the subsoil be retentive of moisture.

After the first year, the Ramie yields three crops a year, of 800 to 1,000 pounds each.

Any land moist enough for Indian corn and hops will do as well with Ramie. The planters of Lousiana say that it resists drought.

HOW TO PLANT AND CULTIVATE RAMIE IN THE FIELD.

Plant in the rainy season.

Some plant in rows three feet apart, setting the roots two feet, sometimes three feet apart in the rows. A system that gains favor, is to make beds four feet wide the whole length of the field, leaving pathways of three feet on each side, and at intervals, a cartway for harvesting.

After the land is dressed, a light furrow is run along the center of the four feet bed, and in this are planted the roots slantingly, covering three inches and letting an end project a little above ground.

To plant one acre will require from 3,000 to 4,000 roots, according to distance.

In the first year, a single acre will give plants enough for fifty acres.

TO PROPAGATE FROM CUTTINGS IN NURSERY CULTURE.

The roots should be planted in nursery beds, six feet apart every way. The plants come up with 12 or 15 stems, forming a bush. When three feet high, these should be bent gently to the ground, forming a circle around the parent stem; and as much as possible of their length should be covered with earth, except a few top leaves. In five weeks after, these layers will be rooted. They must then be cut away from the parent stem and set out in ground.

The mother plant when relieved from these first stems, will send up ratoons so numerous as to form a bush of 100 stems. They are ripe for propagation when the green color changes brown. The whole crop can then be cut off closely as possible to the ground. The green top parts are to be cut away: the brown part is to be set out as layers, in fields prepared for its reception. Lay them horizontally, with a small external exposure at the end, then cover with three inches of earth.

It is only the first growth, that the plant requires weeding. After the first cutting, it outgrows all weeds and needs very little attention. The refuse left in preparing fibre for market, suffices to to manure the plant by forking it under.

There is no frost in this climate that hurts the Ramie.

THE HARVEST.

As we have said, the Ramie yields three harvests a year. In Louisiana, six feet is the average of the plant.

It is cut like sugar cane, with a machette; and it is found desirable to cut it well into the ground, so as to show no trace of stubble.

At the Mississippi State Fair, President Wesson urged all planters to go into the cultivation of Ramie. He said "a few years ago when the Ramie was first introduced into this country, we had no machinery adapted to the manipulation of its long fibre; it was therefore unprofitable. But now we have machinery that, in 24 hours after it is taken from the field converts into beautiful fibre."

It should be understood that English manufacturers prefer to buy it from us in the first stage of unbleached preparation, when it is now worth $400 a ton there.

Till lately there was no American machine to cheaply prepare the fibre, now we have Le Franc's Ramie Dresser, which is perfect in preparation and economy. It weighs 1,000 pounds and costs 350 dollars. It consists of a series of rollers and scrapers, by which 400 pounds of fibre is cleaned in a day. The stalks cut to-day are to-morrow clean fabric, ready baled for market. This machine has given new impetus to Ramie-planting in Louisiana, where it is now the most profitable agriculture.

WILL IT GROW IN CALIFORNIA?

Judge Graham planted 1,500 roots at Haywood, Alameda county, in the Spring of 1870. Never was growth more luxuriant. The ratoons were layered down when ripe, and now he has 80,000 roots for sale, after supplying his own increased wants for 1871. Of all things that grow in California, no plant beats the Ramie. It grows rank as all nettles do in this country.

ADVANTAGES OF CULTIVATING RAMIE.

The plant has no enemies. The crop pays far better than cotton or any other farming production now cultivated. It is a superior fibre in every respect. It works equally well with silk and with worsted chain. It takes fast colors and it always has a silky lustre: it surpasses all other fibres in wear. There is an assured market for Ramies in England.

MUSICAL.

PATENT ARION PIANO.

A Few Reasons WHY THE ARION PIANO IS Superior to All Others.

THE ARION PIANO-FORTE HAS GREATER Power than any other Piano Forte manufactured.

It Will Stand In Tune Longer.

And in its mechanical construction it is more perfect, and therefore, more durable than any instrument constructed in the usual modern style.

The arrangement of the Agraffe, the manner of stringing, the peculiar form and arrangement of the Iron Frame,

Supersedes all Others.

The use of a bar (which is part of the Iron Frame), on a line with the heavy steel stringing, gives

Great Strength

Where most needed, and in this respect all other Pianos fail.

The construction of the WREST PLANK, into which the Tuning Pins are inserted, is such that it is impossible for the pins to become loosened, or the Wrest Plank itself to split, as is too often the case in other Piano Fortes.

The Extraordinary Evenness

Throughout the entire scale, the excellent Singing Quality, the

Length and Purity on Vibration.

All go to prove what we claim, viz.: that the

Arion Piano Forte

Is the BEST INSTRUMENT Manufactured.

THE PATENT

Arion Pianos

ARE USED EXCLUSIVELY IN THE

American Conservatories of Music,

Of New York City.

THE MOST SEVERE TEST A PIANO CAN RECEIVE IS CONSTANT USE IN A CONSERVATORY.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

IT affords me much pleasure to give you, in these few lines, a very sincere testimonial for the Piano Fortes of your manufacture. We have now used the "PATENT ARION PIANOS" in our Conservatories for a year, and have had a fair opportunity of testing their durability during that time. The Pianos have been played upon almost constantly, from morning until night, and a Piano must indeed be a good one when it will bear such constant use without showing signs of defection. AS for REMAINING IN TUNE, it outrivals any Piano known to me.

Their peculiar sweetness of tone in the treble (as compared to other Pianos with the ordinary metal agraffe arrangement), is so striking that I have had pupils remark, while taking their lessons, that although they had at home what they supposed to be one of the best makes of Pianos, still the treble was very wiry toned compared with the "ARION."

What makes them still more desirable is their uniform volume of tone, which enables an Artist to perform a composition in its true character.

In total, I can conscientiously endorse all that is claimed by the ARION PIANO-FORTE COMPANY for their superb instruments, as I consider them superior to any other make.

Congratulating you upon the great success you have obtained in the manufacture of so perfect an instrument, I remain yours,

Very truly,
HENRY SHROEDER,
DIRECTOR.

New York, September 3d, 1870.

AGENTS WANTED.

We want first class and responsible agents in every city and town where we have not already appointed them.

We Have Just Published

Our Annual Illustrated Pamphlet, which contains a full description of the interior construction of the PATENT ARION PIANO FORTE, and all the other leading Pianos of the principal makes; illustrated with cuts, thus contrasting the ARION with all other first class Pianos, and proving

WHY AND WHERE

Our Pianos are superior to any in the market.

Our pamphlet contains engravings of all the different styles of instruments that we manufacture, giving a full description of each, so that a person can select the style they may desire to order, with the assurance that they will receive just as good a Piano as if they were in our warerooms to select it. We have sold over FIVE THOUSAND Pianos, many of them being shipped great distances, and we have never yet received the first complaint. As we give a written guarantee with every Piano we manufacture, for five years, the purchaser runs no risk.

☞ Don't fail to write for our pamphlet which we mail free, and when you write state what paper you saw this notice in. ☜

N. B.—We caution the public from purchasing a cheap Piano which has recently been put in the market, bearing the name "Arion." All genuine Arion Pianos bear the name "Patent Arion," and can only be purchased from our New York Warerooms, or our authorized Agents throughout the United States.

All Kinds Of Musical Instruments Supplied.

THESE PILLS ARE THE MOST DELIGHTFULLY pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts, magnesia, etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the FINEST INGREDIENTS. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar coated Pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. THE CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated. Price Fifty Cents per Box.

CONCENTRATED

FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

THE GREAT DIURETIC,

Has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given, Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick Dust Deposit, and Mucous or Milky Discharges, and for Enfeebled and Delicate Constitutions of Both Sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruptions on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, etc.

Used by persons from the ages of eighteen to twenty-five, and from thirty-five to fifty-five or in the decline or change of life; after confinement or labor pains; bed wetting in children.

B

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood Purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, and excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the blood, etc., superseding copaiba in affections for which it is used, and syphilitic affections—in these diseases used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

LADIES.

In many affections peculiar to Ladies, the EXTRACT BUCHU is unequalled by any other Remedy—as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Sterility, and for all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from indiscretion or habits of dissipation. It is prescribed extensively by the most eminent Physicians and Midwives for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes and all ages (attended with any of the above diseases or symptoms).

O.

H. T. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU CURES DISEASES ARISING FROM IMPRUDENCES, HABITS OF DISSIPATION, ETC.

In all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience, and no exposure. It causes a frequent desire, and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous matter.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found that they have been deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "powerful astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all affections and Diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. Price, One Dollar and Fifty Cents per Bottle.

L

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH

It speedily eradicates Pimples, Spots, Scorbutic Dryness, Indurations of the Cutaneous Membrane, etc., dispels Redness and Incipient Inflammation, Hives, Rash, Moth Patches, Dryness of Scalp or Skin, Frost Bites, and all purposes for which Salves or Ointments are used; restores the skin to a healthy state of Purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principal claim to unbounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a Toilet Appendage of the most Superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, Safety and Efficacy—the invariable accompaniment of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the the EXTRACTS BUCHU, SARSAPARILLA AND CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, in such diseases as recommended, can not be surpassed. Price, One Dollar per Bottle.

Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

Thrilling Narrative of Sufferings in an Open Boat.

[From The New York Sun.]

The terrible accident in mid-ocean which involved the death of Captain MacDonald, Mr. Davies, first mate, and Mr. Walter, second mate, of the steamship Europa, full particulars of which were published in Tuesday morning's Sun, render doubly interesting the subjoined narrative of Mr. Davies, first published in The Glasgow Herald of December 15, 1868 Mr. Davies was the second officer of the Hibernia when she was lost November 25, 1868, 700 miles off the Irish coast. Mr. Davies says:

When we left the Hibernia we had in our boat two barrels of biscuits three casks of water, and several tins of preserved meat. Two hours after leaving the ship we found the boat was so full that we deemed it necessary to throw one of the barrels of biscuit overboard to make room for the passengers. The boat was a lifeboat, twenty-two feet long, with six or seven feet beam. One woman had two children, of three and five years of age respetively, and another of six months old. Our boat was leaking badly when we started, and it kept two men constantly bailing.

Soon after leaving the Hibernia we fell astern of the other boats, being only able to pull two oars, owing to our crowded condition. When the first mate's boat was capsized we attempted to get around to assist them, but being nearly swamped in doing so, we were obliged to attend to our own safety. During that day we pulled before the wind, but at night we lay to by means of a floating anchor, and endeavored to make the boat as trim as possible. We tried to make the women as comfortable as we could by spreading tarpaulins over the forward part of the boat. Nobody asked to get anything to eat the first day, all being too anxious to think of eating. On the following Thursday morning we got a lug sail on the boat, and made the best of our way to the Irish coast before a southwesterly breeze.

Nothing of note occurred that day but the following night an old man who had shown symptoms of derangement, jumped overboard, saying he was going to bed. On the third day the breeze fell very light, and we had to take the oars. Next morning one of the passengers, supposed to be Francis Rogers, threw himself overboard.

A woman, supposed to be his sister, pleaded that some of us should throw her into the sea after him, but we endeavored to soothe her and succeeded in some degree. Rogers was evidently out of his senses. He had quarrelled with us because we had nailed the compass to the thwarts. He wanted the knees of his trowsers darned, as "he could not," he said, "go home with holes in them."

Up to this time provisions had been given in moderate quantities, and each person had a daily allowance of a pint of water. We had now to shorten the allowance. We had to keep pulling both on the fourth and fifth days, and did not make much progress. Sunday was calm all day. The children hi herto had been tolerably lively; the infant was fed on mashed biscuit, its mother having no milk, and the others got biscuit and preserved fruit. The want of sufficient water now began to be felt, and owing to the close packing of all in the boat, and the frequent wetting, cramps were very genearal.

We were forced to keep everything in one position as much as possible to avoid capsizing.

Up to the Monday no one had seriously complained of the discomforts, and all were in tolerable spirits. The seaman did all in their power to inspire hope, and the Quartermaster, Blair, spun yarns to keep their spirits up. On Wednesday the second engineer sang the 100th psalm, and many joined with him. That day the wind blew hard from the southwest and we had to bring the boat to by using the sail and two oars as a floating anchor, and in doing so lost both sail and oars. It was useless to seek for them, it now being dark; so we had to make a sail out of a piece of tarpaulin, and be content with one oar and a half that we had in the boat. The wind blowing fiercely the tarpaulin was torn into rags, and we substituted for it bed covers which were soon destroyed.

Samuel Brewster, an old man, died on Wednesday after going raving mad. Many of our number now showed signs of madness, probably from despair and exposure to extreme cold. Some became violent and threatening in their conduct, and we had to use force with some of them, and gradually we got them calmed down. Early on Thursday morning a child five years of age died, and shortly afterward its mother expired. Another child took lockjaw and died also. The bodies were thrown overboard. The effect on the survivors was very visible.

All this time we were making slow progress toward the Irish coast. A torn tarpaulin had been mended in the best fashion we could, and served in a kind of way for a lug sail. Provisions and water were now given in small quantity. One of the barrels of biscuits was found to be much soaked with sea water, and one of the fresh water casks had leaked half of its contents. We had to disregard the appeals for drink and the consequence was that several seaman, among the rest took to quenching their thirst with salt water in spite of our remonstrances. This was continued until a number got perfectly mad. Walter McFarlane, fireman, was one of those who persisted in taking salt water and his conduct became so dangerously outrageous that he had to be tied to the bottom. He died in this state

On Friday we had sailed 450 miles. The tarpaulin sail had given away half a dozen times and was as often mended, on the whole the boat had gone very well. This day the infant died. Our situation had become miserable in the extreme. The sea was breaking over the boat in clouds of spray, wetting every one to the skin, and all were sitting in pools of water. There was nothing now to cover the women, as we had used everything for sails. Cramp had seized all of us more or less, and our legs were greatly swollen, and consequently were very painful. The fresh water was so scarce that less than a pint had to serve four persons for a day, and provisions were equally scanty. Some of us were raving and violently mad. A woman died as the evening closed in, but the fact was not noticed at the time, and the body was still in the boat when we experienced the greatest of all our calamities.

About eleven o'clock a heavy wave struck the boat, and those on board in their drowsy condition falling suddenly in a mass to the lee side, she went over and all were struggling in the water The boat floated upwards, and Reilly managed to struggle up and seat himself on the keel. He assisted Blair to get up, which the latter did with some difficulty, as a drowning passenger had laid hold of his leg. Reilly then assisted Mr. Davies, who had also to shake himself clear of some one clinging to his foot. No others had got hold the boat, though several were heard for a time shouting or swearing as they swam about in the darkness. One poor soul had got under the boat, and he was heard nearly half an hour. He was apparently holding on by the thwarts and breathing the air that had been enclosed when the boat rolled over, or which reached him through the chinks in her timbers. About 12 o'clock a heavy sea struck the boat, and the three who were sitting astride the keel, were again immersed in water, Blair was the first to recover his position, and by his assistance the the other two were brought up on the boat. The sail was floating alongside, and we got hold of the ropes attached to the mast, and watching a favorable opportunity, managed by pulling upon the ropes to get the boat righted. She was of course full of water, and we bailed her at first with flat pieces of wood, and afterward with two tin cans which we found attached to the thwarts. At length by hard labor we got her clear. Everything was lost out of the boat except one oar, the mast, the tarpaulin sail, and the yard, and we were thus left without provisions or water. When daylight broke we again made sail as well as we could on the boat, and again steered our course to the eastward with favorable wind.

By Sunday evening we were beginning to get down-hearted. We saw a sail, the first we had seen, but she did not observe us, and darkness shortly afterward closing in, we had no light with which to attract attention. We were downcast at this, but about six o'clock we were suddenly cheered by seeing a light to the eastward which turned out to be from Tory Island lighthouse. We made for the light, though it was blowing strongly from the southwest with a heavy sea running. On getting close to the land we found ourselves among dangerons breakers, and we were forced to make our way out again to save our lives. We ran out some five miles and brought to wait for daylight. About this time some heavy showers fell, the first of any consequence we had met with since the wreck, and we employed every means within our reach to catch a little fresh water of which we stood so terribly in need.

At daylight on Monday morning we once more set our sail and made for the land determined to get ashore at all hazards. We ran along the shore for some distance till we saw a likely place in Mubray bay, on the west side of Fannet Point. Having a favoring breeze, we made a race for the shore, and run the boat up with such force that the receding wave left her stern dry upon the beach. After coming ashore, we found our limbs swollen to such an extent that it was utterly impossible to move.

New Anecdote of the Revolution.

When Washington determined to cross the Delaware and surprise the Hessians at Trenton, his plans were discovered in some way by a Tory family living on the Pennsylvania side. A young man of this family was dispatched across the river to warn the Hessian commander, Colonel Rahl. He reached Trenton in safety, and, going to Colonel Rahl's headquarters, asked for an interview. This was refused by the sentry at the door, who said that the Colonel could not be disturbed, that he was particularly engaged. After several ineffectual efforts to obtain an audience, the young man went away leaving a note, with the request that it should be given to Rahl immediately. This note contained the information that Washington would cross the river that very night. It was carried to the Colonel, who was engrossed by a game of chess. Hearing that it had been left by a young man, and apprehending no danger, he put it into his pocket, and went on with his game. Before morning light he was aroused by the fierce attack of the Americans, who drove in his pickets, and came suddenly upon the main body of the bewildered Hessians, who fled in all directions. Colonel Rahl mounted his horse, gallantly but ineffectually endeavored to rally his disordered troops, and, as he rode back towards Trenton, after going some distance into the country, he was mortally wounded by a musket ball. He fell from his horse, was carried into a house (still pointed out), and died. In his pocket, after death, was found unopened the very note the young man had left him the night before. So the story runs.

The Thompson Road Steamer.

Mr. A. Barnaby, agent for this coast of the American manufacturer of the Thompson Patent Road Steamer, is now in the city. Mr. Barnaby is here for the purpose of endeavoring to effect the introduction of the invention into this lower conntry, which needs it so greatly. A new engine is now on its way from the East, for Stockton, and the San Joaquin country, and others will follow as soon as the rapid demand elsewhere will allow the manufacturer to supply them. The steamer has alread been introduced into Utah, where it is successfully used for purposes identical with those for which it is needed here. It has proved a success wherever tried, and there is no reason to suppose that this section of the country would prove an exception. The experiment is worth trying and will doubtless be tried. Certainly nothing would conduce more to our local prosperity than securing the large inland trade of which the introduction of a Road Steamer would give our city the permanent control. Mr. Barnaby is stopping at the Pico House, and will furnish information and particulars to any one desiring them—Los Angeles News, March 18th.

—Try this some of you girls and boys: Fasten a nail or key to a string, and suspend it to your thumb and finger, and the nail will oscillate like a pendlum. Let some one place his open hand under the nail, and it will change to a circular motion. Then let a third person place his hand upon your shoulder, and it becomes in a moment stationary.

—Mr. Beecher tells us of a class in his mission school which offered a banner for good behavior. One youngster made some kind of a disturbance one Sunday before school, when the rest took him out and punched him till he promissed to reform! That class got the banner.

—"Who is that foreign lady with the extremely low-neck dress?" asked a gentleman of a by-stander at a party the other day. "That is Miss Chemiseoff, a Russian lady," was the reply, "and an appropiate name it is."

—Rain is annually becoming more frequent in Egypt, in consequence of an extensive increase in the cultivation of palm there.

—An undertaker in a neighboring village announces a complete assortment of "underground overcoats."

THE CITY OF PARIS IN THE HANDS OF A MOB.

Almost on the heels of the retiring Germans, a mob arose in the city of Paris in opposition to the Theirs Government. A number of the surrounding forts were taken possession of by the mob, and army officers and citizens were killed. Fears were entertained that the mob spirit would break out in other large cities of France, but so far they have not been realized. A reaction against the mob is taking place, and order being restored. The object of the insurrectionists is not at all clear, as they as well as the Government are Republicans. The Government is hourly growing stronger and will probably maintain itself. Napoleon is just across the Channel, at Dover, England, eagerly watching events and doubtless hopes to see in them his own opportunity. Reports are current that his chances for the Empire are steadily growing brighter.

Vigilantes in Virginia City, Nevada.

From The Gold Hill News of March 26, we learn that Arthur Perkins Heffman, the incendiary and murderer, was taken from the jail in Virginia City, on night of the 25th, and summarily executed by Vigilantes. They molested none of the other prisoners in the jail, the whole proceeding being quiet, orderly and determined. At the head of a detailed account The News says:

It is well known to the public that a Vigilance Committee has had an organization in Virginia City for some weeks past, the many murders, robberies and diabolical acts of incendiarism having caused many citizens to adopt measures for the better protection of their lives and their property than the law and its administration afforded, by reason of the existence in our midst of a large number of irresponsible vagabonds, who have made Storey county their headquarters.

Pacific Coast Advertiser.

Bean & Black, the popular advertising agents, publish at 410 Montgomery street, San Francisco, a monthly paper named as above at the low rate of one dollar per annum. The object of the paper is conveyed in the head line as follows: "Advertising is to Business what a good Fertilizer is to the Earth—It makes cent per cent returns." We endorse the paper, as the shrewd business man must its motto.

LAW MATTERS, AGAIN.

As our remarks of last week, under the head of "Law and its administration," have not been very approvingly received in certain quarters we propose to refer to the subject again.

We claimed that certain rulings, though perhaps strictly in keeping with decisions of the highest tribunal of the land, was at variance with what we denominated as the law of common-sense: that, though thus justified, results were dangerous to the peace and good order of society, by reason of the belief thus inspired that law, in certain cases, was only a shield for criminals, and per contra, a means of punishing communities. In view of these charges we claimed that a more liberal interpretation of law in the matter of juror qualifications would have been justified by usage in many courts, and most certainly by the law of common-sense, the only term by which we can express that principle that stands in opposition to mere legal technicalities or quibbles, by means of which the morally guilty so often escape punishment. It would take all the legal talent of this county to convince the people at large that that law was rightly construed which would prevent even an investigation of a criminal charge by barring jurymen, otherwise qualified, except by reason of their knowledge of an indictment, and an indefinite degree of prejudice based thereon. We except, from a common-sense view, to that ruling or law, though it should be sustained by volumes of Supreme Court decisions. We have but little doubt but that precedents may be produced to disqualify jurors on such grounds, but we do not believe that it is common law, because it is not reasonable. One of the jurors excluded under this rule, to whom especial reference was had, was Mr. Powers of Bishop Creek, unless we are much mistaken in the name. We are told that under the answers given his admission to the jury box would have justified a writ of error and eventually, in all probability, great additional expense to the county. Possibly; but in consideration of actual transactions in other courts, to one of which we referred, we do not believe it would have afforded tenable ground for any such action. But if sustained in law and usage, then we challenge such law and usage on the ground on which all our objections are founded. We will here state, in justice to the Judge, that we are sure, could this case have been referred to his judgment and decision stripped of legal trammels, there would have been no cause of dissatisfaction nor none expressed in any quarter; that errors of the same character of those we have noted, as non professionals look at these things, are only too common through the land, and if possible should be checked. We read that all attempts to render the law tolerable of construction by the masses, with the hope of arriving at uniform conclusions will be futile, because it is in its very nature and essence intricate and metaphysical. Judging by the many conflicting rulings by professionals, the remark applies to them as well, and therefore each dispenser of law is held by the masses responsible for effects, and will be condemned or sustained in accordance with the supposed departure from or adherence to common-sense views, with little or no regard to mere technicalities.

But we, as one of the plaintiffs in the case, claim in some measure a representative right outside the bar, to note objections to a course or system by which the plaintiffs' rights are jeopardized. We do nothing more in so doing than is done in every Court by Counsel, with this difference: they maintain objections to rulings on statute law alone, while we do so from other grounds. The eminent legal talent and probity of either Court or Counsel, to whom we are indebted for the system of law applied in the McFarland-Richardson and Cole-Hiscock cases, can not be questioned. The result in each of those trials was an insult to the peoples' estimate of the law's intent and power, though the cause of action in both cases may be justified on moral grounds. A venire including thousands of names was exhausted to obtain, under the rule, qualified jurors. The verdicts were, in effect, that it was no crime to do murder, if insane at the moment, though perfectly rational immediately before and after the act. If the end justifies the means, as in these and very many similar cases, the same rule ought to be good for opposite results, but people at large must not be expected to worship fixed rules susceptible of so many variations. In law, as in nature, similar causes should produce similar effects, but of all the uncertainties of life, results of law rendering are the most so. Codification and simplification is engaging the attention of able men, but complete success is said to be impossible. Unless, as we have tried to show, dispensers of law do not fall back upon first principles and ignore as near as possible mere technical possibilities, the evils in its administration will continue to multiply until a complete revolution will be a necessity, or important matters, as in too many instances already, will be settled without the intervention of courts of law. If the people, who have a vital interest involved, have occasion to note an apparent disregard of proper rules, there is no more offense intended, or need to be taken, than if offered by counsel inside the bar.

LETTER FROM ROUND VALLEY.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

ROUND VALLEY, March 17th, 1871.

MESSRS. EDITORS: Dame Nature intended that secluded little spot in the mountains, called Round Valley, to be a quiet spot and a quiet place it is. Does that mortal exist, that can gather from so quiet a place, a single readable item for a newspaper? Politics ignored, religion free and easy, no horse and blanket stealing and not even a row between "Johnny Crapeaud" and "Hans" over the fate of either Nap or Bill. But one subject, and one alone, engrosses all. Horse, horse, horse, is the subject, and this, like Aaron's rod swallows up all the rest.

But the usual quiet of our rural community has been, during the past week, slightly disturbed by an influx of extremely vigilant county officials. The escape of two horse thieves, and their probable capture is now engrossing a considerable share of attention here. They have been reported in the foot hills near this place for some days, and every man, woman and boy in the valley knows exactly where the said thieves are but no two can exactly agree as to the particular locality.

Up to this time the ubiquity of these prisoners baffles all description as well as all the officers. The moccasined footprints of poor "Lo" are eagerly followed in the vain hope that an escaped horse thief is just ahead. An old copy says, "Disappointments sink the heart of man, but the renewal of hope gives consolation." So this chase proves. Finding "Lo" instead of the jail-birds is a sad disappointment, but another track is found, hope is renewed and consolation comes. While I am penning these few lines, Bob —— has rushed into the room and given this definite account of the exact spot where the "hoss" thieves were seen last evening: "Ed. told me that Jim told him that John said that George said that Bill told him that last night he saw the tracks of two men going up a canyon, and that the tracks looked as if the men had walked slowly from weakness caused by that diarrhœa which the prisoners had the night they left the Hotel de Elder."

Every law-abiding citizen desires to see these criminals as well as all others brought to punishment, but it is very probable they will never be caught. If not, it may work this advantage: county officials may hereafter exercise more vigilance in securing prisoners placed in their charge. It has already worked a slight advantage here, at least, to your humble correspondent. It has furnished another topic of conversation, and I have not heard "horse" mentioned more than 342678103224 27 times during the past week.

While dwelling upon crimes and criminals, I will drop you a few items concerning some of the principal actors in the Bilderback homicide. I have been well acquainted, not only with the Bilerbacks, but also with all their murderers, except Buckskin. Herschel Bilderback (erroniously called Oscar in the papers) was formerly a resident of Independence in this county. Many of your readers will remember him as the boy who attended the saloon at the Inyo House during the Summer of 1869. He was extremely talkative, of a lively and pleasant disposition. He killed a man in Arizona prior to his arrival in Inyo county, the particulars of which affray I never learned, except that it arose from a political dispute, and that the killing was entirely in self defense. While he resided in Los Angeles county he was considered quiet and peaceable, but by no means safe to "jump up" for a fight. His brother Henry was still more quiet but equally brave, and this with their being well armed and anticipating an attack from their murderers, renders it almost certain that they were ambuscaded.

The description of Al. Henry, given in your paper, is very correct; but the Los Angeles county Sheriff is, perhaps, on the wrong track if he is devoting much time to searching in the mountains of Inyo county. This man Henry knows that there are many people in this county who would readily recognize him. He belongs to the Latter Day Saints, and it is more than probable that he has bent his steps towards the mountains of Utah, where he is better acquainted with the topography of the country, and where he will have more chances for protection.

ALL ABOUT ROADS.

I hope it will not be considered arrogance in me, if I make a suggestion to the people of this place and Bishop Creek. The anti-fence law existing in Mono county is still in force in that part of Mono attached to Inyo. In a section of country where there are but few fences, the people never properly appreciated the importance of good roads. Every person could drive his team, unobstructed by fences, on any ground which suited his convenience. This has been especially the case in this section of country in the Winter season. But as the farmers get able they are commencing to fence their farms for their own convenience, and the result is that, there being no established roads, those which have been heretofore used by common consent, are being closed up or turned aside into swampy or rocky ground.

Will some of our public spirited citizens take this matter in hand before it is too late? Roads can now be established at little cost or inconvenience, but if the matter is not attended to speedily, much of the country lying north of Big Pine will be under fence, and but few if any will be willing to grant the right of way through their cultivated fields. AMOR.

—The Senate has voted to appoint a Joint Committee of seven Senators and nine Representatives to investigate and report on the condition of the South. The same body also voted to repeal the law for the meeting of the new Congress on the 4th of March, instead of the 1st of December as heretofore.

One of Queen Victoria's daughters was recently married to a son of the chief of the Clan Campbell. Much public enthusiasm was manifested.

Pacific Coast Appropriations.

The Washington correspondent of The Sacramento Record gives the following list of appropriations made by Congress for the benefit of the Pacific coast:

In the bill for sundry civil expenses, an appropriation of $70,000 was made for surveying public lands in California, at rates not exceeding $15 for standard lines; $12 for township, and $9 for section lines, with a proviso that the commissioner of the General Land Office, in his discretion, may hereafter authorize the survey of public lands in said State, and also in Oregon and Washington Territory, densely covered with forests and thick undergrowth, at augmented rates, not exceeding $18 per mile for standard parallel, $15 for township, and $12 for section lines. Nevada was voted $45,000 for surveys, and Oregon $50,000, of which $15,000 is to be used west of the Cascade Mountains.

For the survey of the western coast of the United States, which includes a hydrographic development of the dangers of ocean navigation between San Diego and Panama, there is an appropriation of $240,000.

For the Benicia Arsenal $87,429, which includes permanent barracks, guard house, five engine houses, and grading and improving the arsenal grounds.

For repairs of all kinds at Mare Island, $100,000; for permanent improvements, $300,000. This appropriation for improvements at Mare Island is, of course, greatly in excess of the older yards. The amount appropriated for Norfolk Navy Yard, under this head, is but $60,000, and for the Yard at Washington $80,000.

For continuing the Custom House at Portland, Oregon, the sum of $100,000 is appropriated.

For the completion of the building at Astoria, Oregon, $10,000.

For the Branch Mint at San Francisco, $500,000.

Fiat lux is written all over the omnibus bill this year, and a great deal of the light that is commanded to shine on the Pacific coast. The sum of $90,000 was voted for a light house at Cape Foulweather, Oregon; $5,000 for Fauntleroy Rock Beacon, Crescent City harbor, California; $90,000 for continuing and completing the lighthouse at Pigeon Point, $10,000 for the establishment of a first-class fog signal at the entrance of San Francisco harbor. Then there is to be a $20,000 light fog signal at San Pablo. The House appropriation of $85,000 for a lighthouse at Anacapa was lost. Another fog signal at Point Conception, one at Point Anna, and one up Puget Sound.

For the Brach Mint at Carson City, Nevada, there is $30,000.

In the Legislative, Executive and Judicial bill there is an appropriation of $268,045 to meet the salaries and contingent expenses of the Branch Mint.

Mare Island again, in the Naval bill, takes $39,432 for salaries and supplies in its various departments.

In the Harbor bill, the $200,000 for Wilmington was retained.

In the Fortification bill, $50,000 is appropriated for Fort Point entrance to San Francisco harbor; $75,000 for the fort on Alcatraz Island, in the same harbor; and $100,000 for Lime Point.

The timber land bill was lost in the Senate; the mining bill was smothered in the House. Jerome C. Davis' irrigating canal, and also the El Dorado ditch, failed to come up. The Southern California Judicial District bill went under. Julian tried hard to get his swamp land bill up at the eleventh hour but it was choked into its coffin.

Adolph Sutro is still here, and keeps up good spirits, notwithstading the fact that, though he has bored Congress a good deal, he has not yet succeeded in boring his tunnel.

Connecticut.

Is the next state to vote this Spring, following New Hampshire, on the 3d proximo. It is the most wavering of all New England States, and is liable to frequent mutations. In 1868 it gave English (Dem.), for Governor, 1,764 majority. This was at the Spring election. In the following Fall Grant for President carried the State by 2,936 majority. In 1869 Jewell (Rep.) had 411 majority. In 1870 the tables were again reversed, and English (Dem.) was elected by 843 majority. It will thus be seen that the State is very close, and that a few hundred votes have generally decided the result. In the Forty-first Congress the delegation of Connecticut consisted of three Republicans and one Democrat, the majorities being respectively 729, 424, 2,399 and 1,160.

Mining Matters.

During the past week the wildest excitement in stocks has prevailed, with very extensive sales at the highest prices known for years. Prices however have drooped materially toward the close, as can be seen by reference to our regular stock report of to-day. There is nothing of extra importance to report in the way of mining developments since our last Saturday's mention, except that the new body of the Crown Point still shows improvement, and evidently extends through into the Belcher. The Yellow Jacket 1,000 foot level body also looks better and more extensive. This excitement is based more upon stock manipulations than anything else, yet in reality the mines are looking better than they have for years.—Gold Hill News, March 26th.

—The financial measure of most importance adopted by Congress last Winter is that authorizing the issue of $500,000,000 of five per cent bonds. This is a measure of great magnitude, and was adopted, after full discussion as the best financial policy.

—The poorest use a man can put his time and talents to, is to waste them in chasing a lie to see who told it.

LAND MATTERS.

In another column will be found an official notification of Township plat filings, and subjoined an extract from Register Butler's letter by which settlers can gain a clear understanding of the land situation in this section. Mr. Butler says:

* In the first place, prior to the circular of July 14, 1870, settlers upon surveyed "unoffered" lands were not compelled to prove up and pay for their lands until the land was thrown in the market. All lands in this district are of the "unoffered" class, therefore under the original law they were not compelled to prove up and pay for their land until the land was thrown in market. By a late Act of Congress all lands on the Pacific coast were withdrawn from market and will undoubtedly remain so for years to come. Therefore the Government had to issue some order compelling settlers to prove up; the order was issued July 14th, 1870, requesting all pre emptors who had filed on "unoffered" land prior to July 14th, 1870, to prove up and pay for their lands in twelve months from the passage of the Act; any subsequent filing, prove up and pay twenty one months from date of settlment. You stated in your issue of the 11th instant, "that pre-emtors must prove up and pay for their lands or they will be restored to private entry." The above is a paragraph in which I differ with you. I say that it does not restore it to "private entry;" the land is only subject to pre-emption or homestead. A party failing to pay for his land in the stipulated time would exhaust his right of pre emption, for the law prohibits a second filing under the same Act by the same party. A party after exhausting his pre emption right by non payment can make a homestead entry on the same tract of land, provided, there has been no other filing upon the land subsequent to the cancelation of his pre-emption, the land would not be restored to "private entry," after a party had failed to pay in the stipulated time, but would be subject to other parties to file pre-emption or homestead, and would be liable to defeat the first party, as he had failed to comply with the law. The only way to obtain title to surveyed "unoffered" land is by Pre-emption, Homestead or some State Selection; the latter would cost about five dollars per acre.

Iron Road Building.

The statement has been made in our columns that large quantities of iron are on the way for the Southern Pacific Railroad of California, and that the track will be extended 20 miles beyond Gilroy by July. This will make the San Francisco road complete for 100 miles and will open a wider agricultural country to direct communication with this port. The exact route of the road further south is not determined, but it is safe to assume that its course will lie through Fresno, Tulare and Kern counties, to the Tehachepi Pass, which is the point designated in the recent Act of Congress for connection with the California branch of the Texas Pacific, which branch will go through San Diego, San Bernardino and Los Angeles counties.

Simultaneously with the prosecution of the Southern Pacific, work will be going on upon the California and Oregon Railroad, upon the Sonoma extension of the Vallejo, or California Pacific, upon the Copperopolis Railroad on the San Joaquin Valley Railroad, and perhaps two or three minor enterprises. Altogether the present year is likely to witness great activity in railroad building in California, accompanied, we hope, by an increase of immigration. The latter will be partly realized through the influence of the railroad and land owners, who are anxious to sell portions of their property to actual setthers, and as we have heretofore shown, have made arrangements for new steamship connections with Europe to facilitate this object.—S. F. Bulletin.

Buckskin Discovered.

The following from The Los Angeles News of March 18th will be read with interest:

F Ganahl, Esq., who left this city on Wednesday, for Arizona, telegraphed last night to Sheriff Burns, as follows: "Send a man to Wolf's store at Temecula and you will get Buckskin. He is in Santa Margarita Canyon and must come to Wolf's or Mund's, at San Luis Rey, for grub. His squaw is sick. Bryant is at Mund's, between the two you will get him."

In all probability the murderer will be caught. He is a desperate character and may prove dangerous to arrest. Mr. Ganahl deserves the thanks of the entire community for his prompt measures to secure the apprehension of so noted a desperado.

Deep Spring Mill.

The reverbatory furnace of the mill of Messrs. Hiskey & Walker, at Deep Spring valley, fires up to-day, and the mill will start up next Monday. Some forty tons of of ore which was left at the mill by former operators will be run through first, when the packing of rock from the Blue Bird, Cyclops, Leavenworth, Black Hawk, Twin Pine and other mines will commence. The success of the mill in working these ores may be considered as a foregone conclusion—as a thing absolutely certain—and a bright future certainly awaits this promising district. Prospecting is being carried on with great activity, by new comers and old residents, new strikes being reported every day. The very mat rial offset to the district, which now prevents and hinders operations, is the lack of wagon communication. The present trail from this valley to that point follows a perfect natural road with the exception of one place, which can be opened for probably less than $1,00 . Is it possible that the farmers, merchants and lumber men of this valley will suffer the important trade of Deep Spring, Gold Mountain, Fish Lake, Palmetto, Montezuma, Silver Peak and Columbus Districts to be lost by reason of this road not being built? The upper portion of this valley is the natural base of supplies for all that country, but the danger of permanently losing the trade is imminent, for the Deep Spring people are striving for a connection with the C. P. R. R. at Wadsworth, with a fair prospect of success.

Homicide at Whisky Flat.

On the 25th ultimo a man by the name of Joseph Farren arrived in Benton from Fish Lake valley, and inquired for a man named W. Baxter, and claimed that Baxter had robbed him of $60. Not finding him there, he proceeded to the station known as Whisky Flat, where he came upon "his man." Here Baxter was thoroughly searched, but nothing was found upon him except a four-bit piece—not even a pen-knife, and it is said that he had just previously borrowed a case knife, to cut tobacco. They started out together in the direction of Benton, and a shot and a man's voice was shortly heard by those at the house. Ferren returned and gave himself up, saying that he had shot Baxter because he had drawn a knife upon him. The man was placed in custody and taken to Benton, the victim being left dead. A party from Benton, consisting of George Hightower, Albert Mack and one or two other gentlemen, repaired to the scene of the tragedy, giving the man a decent burial, and noting the important localities and particulars of the case. Ferren was taken to the county seat, Bridgeport, and delivered to the authorities of Mono, in the limits of which the bloody affair occurred.

Questionable Policy.

We learn that pursuant to notice a meeting was held in Lone Pine on the 30th ultimo, to take county affairs into consideration. A resolution is reported to us as the proceedings of the meeting, with the request to publish. Now, gentlemen, we submit that the article in question is of too damaging a nature to be thrown broad cast without a statement of the causes and provocations calling for it. The motives actuating it may well be questioned when a resolution without preamble—an assertion without substantiation—is the result brought out. If this serious matter is justified by the facts leading to it, then the law provides a method for carrying your request into effect. But send a report of your proceedings to the parties most interested (and we infer from your note that you have not), give them a decent show in the matter, and then we will publish your resolutions and the whatever facts may go to justify them. If such facts exist, state them to the parties first, and then to the paper; if your charges are not well grounded, then this this damaging implication is too serious a matter to be rushed into print. Do this and our columns are open for all hands next week.

Magnificent Specimens.

"Happy Jack" yesterday left at this office some specimens of gold rock from the Cyclops mine, in Deep Spring valley, which surpass anything in the way of rich ore that it has ever been our lot to behold. Knots of almost the size of a man's thumb of the pure, shining yellow gold appear upon its surface, and the rock is a decomposed red ore, and even where the stuff is not visible is very rich. Out of a mine of this character it would seem a simple task to sort out a ton of the genuine "dross." Two and one-half tons of ore were extracted in sinking eighteen feet, and a contract has been let to sink sixty feet. The owners of the Blue Bird also contribute several beautiful specimens, taken from the tunnel, at a depth of eighty feet from the surface. These are of silver, and greatly resemble some of the best of Cerro Gordo ores, with perhaps a little more color. Scott Broder and Mr. Cutter are now working the Blue Bird, while Mr. Jack is in town, suffering from snow-blindness.

The Stage Changes.

The northern stage left this morning, under the new arrangement—and as a consequence our northern patrons will fail to get their papers as usual. We feel somewhat disposed to do some cussing at these perpetual changes, necessitating a change of publication day also, in order to reach subscribers in season. Oh, for the days of daily communication and daily papers! But there is a crumb of comfort in the fact that the Lone Pine and Cerro Gordo stage will run tri-weekly, as then there will be a chance for important legal notices, advertisements, etc., to arrive here some other time than just an hour after the week' edition is run off. We would respectfully propose to Billy Wilson that he runs his stage out of Aurora the day he now runs his pony, and thus enable Mr. Dexter to make his connections and keep on the same time as formerly run.

The San Carlos Company.

Mr. H. G. Hanks, the well known assayer and chemist of San Francisco, is in town, having been engaged in surveying the San Carlos property, and looking after that interest generally. He expresses himself as having great confidence in the mineral wealth of this country generally, and particularly the mines on the opposite side of the river. The last run of the San Carlos mill, now so long idle, was made on 30 tons of ore from the Romelia, one of the company's mines, and resulted in a net return of $64 per ton; and it is but a fair conclusion that mine and mill must become paying property if rightly handled. The company are taking steps to procure a United States patent, and work upon the mine will be resumed. Mr. Hanks is among the many who left this country in the dark days of '64 and '65, and seems pleased to note its present prosperity.

Ranch for Sale.

Mr. John G. Schiffer this week advertises a fine ranch for sale, near to town and every way desirable. See notice.

Some Facts.

Our worthy Under Sheriff is still suffering from the ill effects occasioned by our notice, three weeks since. We hold that whenever any person in this Republic, from President down to Under Sheriff, assumes for a consideration to perform certain duties for the common riff-raff the common riff-raff hold the right in reserve to judge of the manner in which these duties are performed. In the exercise of this right, a certain act of the Under Sheriff has for months been pretty severely criticised. Subsequent occurrences brought the matter into further notice, with an additional charge of culpable negligence. On the strength of this we alluded to his manner of doing business in terms altogether too mild had the perfectly common reports on which they were founded been literally true. We done what we believed to be our duty at the time, just as we will do in similar future occurrences, and for which no word of apology is due or offerred to any man. We had, apparently, perfectly good reasons for the implications, as we afterwards had, on an immaterial point, for its correction, and for a full explanation on which the only matter of serious import was based. We became satisfied in our mind, and hoped to satisfy our readers, that this report of month's standing, was not true in fact. To do this was just as much our duty as was the other, and no more, and as in the first instance, we have no apology to offer any man. So far from injuring anyone, we done the very thing to set at rest or bring to proof a matter of serious importance to an officer who had direct regard for his oath of office which was directly impeached in public reports, the truth or falsity of which ought to have been established long before. We have no hesitation in repeating that we believe the Under Sheriff tried to do his duty in that matter, and in that belief we do not intend any farther reference to it, nor would it have been noticed now only for the reason mentioned in the outset, by reason of which we are led to expect untold misery through the withdrawal of much patronage hitherto given to this institution, besides material encouragement from former patrons of The Independent towards the establishment of another paper here that won't damage reputations. Now, as the encouragement of all kinds of public benefits is part of our duty and principles, we will make a better offer in support of the proposed enterprise than any of these gentlemen dare to. We will contribute every dollar of profits that has accrued to this paper from its inception down to the present time. Will the Under Sheriff make a similar offer or anything like it?

WILSON BUTLER,
Register.

Convicted and Sentenced.

Wm. King, whose trial on the charge of horse stealing has occupied so much of the attention of the public for the past week or two, has received his sentence and starts for the State Prison to-morrow. The case was given to the jury last Saturday, and after being out some six hours they returned a verdict of guilty, coupled with a recommendation to the utmost leniency of the Judge. The following Monday was set for the hearing of a motion to arrest judgment, and another day or two was consumed in arguing for a new trial, on the ground of errors, illegal drawing of Grand Jury, etc., which points were overruled or denied, the prisoner coming up for sentence on the 29th ultimo, receiving a term of two years at hard labor in the State institution at San Quinten.

The Jefferson and Front Interests.

It is understood that the owners of these celebrated lead interests in Cerro Gordo, Belshaw & Beaudry owning the Jefferson and the O. L. S.-L. Co. the Front, have so arranged it that both mines will be worked through the Buena Vista tunnel, which belongs to the former gentlemen. We believe it is claimed by the Swansea company that the Front covers the immense body of lead known as the White & Williams strike, recently sold with the Jefferson mine.

Windy.

Old Boreas has been on the rampage for several days past—all owing doubtless to the fact that the barometers at the Post are out of order. As illustrating the force of the wind a friend told us the other day that a piece of square, heavy timber which was lying on the ground at right angles to a big pile of lumber, was picked up and thrown clear over the boards. Query—what became of the boards?

Firm Changed.

The old stand-by firm of D. Cohn & Co., merchants, has become Harris & Rhine, the latter gentleman having purchased the interest of Mr. D. Cohn, who, we understand, is about taking his leave of the valley. The heartiest well-wishes of hosts of friends will go with him.

The Site Selected.

The Masons have accepted the lot proffered them by the town proprietors, situated on Edwards street, just south of Judge Hanson's residence. We have not heard whether any bids for the building of their hall have been accepted or not.

Monthly Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of Independence Engine Co. No. 1 takes place at the Sazarac Saloon next Monday night, at 7 o'clock. We hear that important correspondence relative to the purchase of an engine will come up.

Boarding House for Sale.

A rare opportunity is offerred for some one who "knows how to keep a hotel," or any other man with a little enterprise, to step into a paying business at Cerro Gordo. See Mackay's advertisement.

New Express Agents.

Messrs. Harris & Rhine, successors to D. Cohn & Co., have received their commission as agents of Wells, Fargo & Co., at this place, bearing date of March 20th.

Mine Sold

Mr. J. A. Creaser has purchased the Kearsarge mine, Hot Springs District, from J. O. Wheeler. I is a valuable mine, but we are not authorized to give the consideration.

Hot Springs Ore.

On the 26th ultimo some 30,000 pounds of ore from various mines in Hot Springs District, Mono county, were started southward to the Swansea works.

Lumber Contract.

Smith & Engle have contracted to deliver two hundred thousand feet of lumber at the Eclipse mill, and hauling has already commenced.

Election.

The annual election for District Recorder comes off at Cerro Gordo to-day.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Man as a Barometer and Thermometer. Science has failed to invent any apparatus as sensitive to atmospheric changes as the human frame. It is therefore of vital importance to guard it against the effect of variations in the weather, and experience has demonstrated that Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters is the best medicine for this purpose at present known. If taken as a protection against the disturbing influences of sudden alternations of heat and cold, it will certainly prevent the bowel complaint, fevers, bilious disorders, rheumatic affections and throat diseases, arising from these causes.

Impannelling Juries.

Questions alternately by the Court, the State's Attorney and the defense as usually answered by "an intelligent juror:"

"Are you opposed to capital punishment?"

"Oh yes—yes sir."

"If you were on jury, then, where a man was being tried for his life, you wouldn't agree to a verdict to hang him?"

"Yes, sir—yes I would."

"Have you formed or expressed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused?"

"Yes, sir!"

"Your mind, then, is made up?"

"Oh, no—no it ain't."

"Have you any bias for or against the prisoner?"

"Yes, I think I have."

"Are you prejudiced?"

"Oh, no not a bit."

"Have you ever heard of this case?"

"Think I have."

"Would you decide, if on the jury, according to the evidence of mere rumor?"

"Mere rumor."

"Perhaps you don't understand; would you decide according to rumor, or evidence?"

"Evidence."

"If it were in your power to do so, would you change the law of capital punishment, or let it stand?"

"Let it stand."

The Court—"Would you let it stand or change it!"

"Change it."

"Now which would you do?"

"Don't know, sir."

"Are you a free-holder?"

"Yes, sir; oh, yes."

"Do you own a house and land, or rent?"

"Neither—I'm a boarder."

"Have you formed an opinion?"

"No, sir."

"Have you expressed an opinion?"

"Think I have."

The Court—"Gentlemen, I think the juror is competent. It is very evident that he has never formed or expressed an opinion on any subject."
—Louisville Courier Journal.

A Dutchman

Who in a fit of passion was swearing terribly, was reproved by a deacon, who chanced to overhear him. "Why do you swear so, Hans?" said the deacon, "don't you know that it is very wicked?" "Yaw, I knows it pese wicked." "Do you know," said the deacon, anxious to sound the depth of his religious teaching, "do you know who died to save sinners?" "Yaw," said Hans, "Cot died to save 'em." "Not God, exactly, Hans, but the Son of God." "So!" exclaimed Hans, a new light breaking in upon him; "vos it one of de poys? I tinks all de vile it vos de old man."

—A traveler, fatigued with the monotony of a long ride through a sparsely settled region of the country, rode up to a boy busily engaged in trimming and dressing out a sickly looking field of corn, and relieved the oppression of his spirits thus:

"My young friend, it seems to me your corn is very small."

"Yes, daddy planted the small kind."

"Ah, but it appears rather yellow, too."

"Yes, daddy planted the yaller kind."

"From appearances, my lad, you won't get more than half a crop."

"Just half, stranger—daddy planted it on halves."

The horseman proceeded on his way, and has not been known to speak to a boy since. He considers them bores.

—Two travelers having been assigned to the same bedroom in a crowded hotel, one of them, before retiring, knelt down to pray, and confessed a long catologue of sins. On arising from his knees he saw his fellow traveler, valise in hand, going out of the door, and exclaimed "What's the matter? what's up?" "Oh nothing," was the reply, "only I'm not going to risk myself with such a scamp as you confess yourself to be!"

—A darkey was caught by the Memphis police recently walking through the upper part of the Navy Yard, carrying a coil of clothes-line in his hand, on one end of which was a nice sucking pig, just fit for roasting. John when asked where he got the pig, said that "hit was jis a follerin' him, and he hadn't the faintest idee whar it came from."

—"Let us go to Mr. Simpson's wedding, my dear," said a newly-married wife to her husband. "Oh, no; let us stay at home; it will be a dreadful bore." "But, my dear, you must remember Mr. Simpson attended your wedding." "So he did" (grimly); "I had forgotten that" (revengefully) "I shall be there."

—A young lawyer of Philadelphia wrote to an old limb of the law, near Chicago, "Is there an opening in your part of the country that I can get into?" Answer, "There is an opening in my back yard, about thirty feet deep, no curb around it. If that will suit, come on!"

—It was once observed to Lord Chesterfield, in the course of conversation, that man is the only creature endowed with the power of laughter. "True," said the earl, "and you may add, perhaps, that he is the only creature that deserves to be laughed at."

—A colored mail carrier in Virginia was shaken by a man for kicking his dog. "Look a-here, massa," said he, "you'd better be keerful how you shake this chile I cos when you shakes me you shakes the whole of the United States; I carries its mails."

MUSICAL.

PATENT ARION PIANO.

A Few Reasons WHY THE ARION PIANO IS Superior to All Others.

THE ARION PIANO-FORTE HAS GREATER Power than any other Piano Forte manufactured.

It Will Stand In Tune Longer,

And in its mechanical construction it is more perfect, and therefore, more durable than any instrument constructed in the usual modern style.

The arrangement of the Agraffe, the manner of stringing, the peculiar form and arrangement of the Iron Frame,

Supersedes all Others.

The use of a bar (which is part of the Iron Frame), on a line with the heavy steel stringing, gives

Great Strength

Where most needed, and in this respect all other Pianos fail.

The construction of the WREST PLANK, into which the Tuning Pins are inserted, is such that it is impossible for the pins to become loosened, or the Wrest Plank itself to split, as is too often the case in other Piano Fortes.

The Extraordinary Evenness

Throughout the entire scale, the excellent Singing Quality, the

Length and Purity on Vibration,

All go to prove what we claim, viz.: that the

Arion Piano Forte

Is the BEST INSTRUMENT Manufactured.

THE PATENT

Arion Pianos

ARE USED EXCLUSIVELY IN THE

American Conservatories of Music, Of New York City.

THE MOST SEVERE TEST A PIANO CAN RECEIVE IS CONSTANT USE IN A CONSERVATORY.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

It affords me much pleasure to give you, in these few lines, a very sincere testimonial for the Piano Fortes of your manufacture. We have now used the "PATENT ARION PIANOS" in our Conservatories for a year, and have had a fair opportunity of testing their durability during that time. The Pianos have been played upon almost constantly, from morning until night, and a Piano must indeed be a good one when it will bear such constant use without showing signs of defection. As for REMAINING IN TUNE, it outrivals any Piano known to me.

Their peculiar sweetness of tone in the treble (as compared to other Pianos with the ordinary metal agraffe arrangement), is so striking that I have had pupils remark, while taking their lessons, that although they had at home what they supposed to be one of the best makes of Pianos, still the treble was very wiry toned compared with the "ARION."

What makes them still more desirable is their uniform volume of tone, which enables an Artist to perform a composition in its true character.

In total, I can conscientiously endorse all that is claimed by the ARION PIANO-FORTE COMPANY for their superb instruments, as I consider them superior to any other make.

Congratulating you upon the great success you have obtained in the manufacture of so perfect an instrument, I remain yours,

Very truly,
HENRY SHROEDER,
DIRECTOR.

New York, September 3d, 1870.

We want first class and responsible agents in every city and town where we have not already appointed them.

We Have Just Published

Our Annual Illustrated Pamphlet, which contains a full description of the interior construction of the PATENT ARION PIANO FORTE, and all the other leading Pianos of the principal makes; illustrated with cuts, thus contrasting the ARION with all other first class Pianos, and proving

WHY AND WHERE

Our Pianos are superior to any in the market.

Our pamphlet contains engravings of all the different styles of instruments that we manufacture, giving a full description of each, so that a person can select the style they may desire to order, with the assurance that they will receive just as good a Piano as if they were in our warerooms to select it. We have sold over FIVE THOUSAND Pianos, many of them being shipped great distances, and we have never yet received the first complaint. As we give a written guarantee with every Piano we manufacture, for five years, the purchaser runs no risk.

☞ Don't fail to write for our pamphlet which we mail free, and when you write state what paper you saw this notice in. ☜

N. B.—We caution the public from purchasing a cheap Piano which has recently been put in the market, bearing the name "Arion." All genuine Arion Pianos bear the name "Patent Arion," and can only be purchased from our New York Warerooms, or our authorized Agents throughout the United States.

All Kinds Of Musical Instruments Supplied.

MEDICAL.

Henry T. Helmbold's COMPOUND FLUID Extract Catawba GRAPE PILLS.

Component Parts—Fluid Extract Rhubarb and Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Juice.

FOR LIVER COMPLAINTS, JAUNDICE, BILIOUS AFFECTIONS, SICK OR NERVOUS HEADACHE, COSTIVENESS, ETC. PURELY VEGETABLE, CONTAINING NO MERCURY, MINERALS OR DELETERIOUS DRUGS.

H

THESE PILLS ARE THE MOST DELIGHTFULLY pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts, magnesia, etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the FINEST INGREDIENTS. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear miraculous to the weak and enervated, whether arising from imprudence or disease. H. T. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar coated Pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. THE CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated. Price Fifty Cents per Box.

E

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

HIGHLY CONCENTRATED COMPOUND

Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla

Will radically exterminate from the system Scrofula, Syphilis, Fever Sores, Ulcers, Sore Eyes, Sore Legs, Sore Mouth, Sore Head, Bronchitis, Skin Diseases, Salt Rheum, Cankers, Runnings from the Ear, White Swellings, Tumors, Cancerous Affections, Nodes, Rickets, Glandular Swellings, Night Sweats, Rash, Tetter, Humors of all Kinds, Chronic Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, and all diseases that have been established in the system for years.

L

Being Prepared Expressly for the above complaints, its Blood Purifying Properties are greater than any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. It gives the complexion a Clear and Healthy Color and restores the patient to a State of Health and Purity. For Purifying the Blood, removing all Chronic Constitutional Diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, and the Only Reliable and Effectual known Remedy for the Cure of Pains and Swelling of the Bones, Ulcerations of the Throat and legs, Blotches, Pimples on the Face, Erysipelas and all Scaly Eruptions of the Skin, and Beautifying the Complexion. Price, $1 50 per Bottle.

M

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

CONCENTRATED

FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

THE GREAT DIURETIC.

Has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given, Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick Dust Deposit, and Mucous or Milky Discharges, and for Enfeebled and Delicate Constitutions of Both Sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruptions on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, etc.

Used by persons from the ages of eighteen to twenty-five, and from thirty-five to fifty-five or in the decline or change of life; after confinement or labor pains; bed wetting in children.

B

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, and excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the blood, etc., superseding copaiba in affections for which it is used, and syphilitic affections—in these diseases used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

LADIES.

In many affections peculiar to Ladies, the EXTRACT BUCHU is unequalled by any other Remedy—as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Sterility, and for all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from indiscretion or habits of dissipation. It is prescribed extensively by the most eminent Physicians and Midwives for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes and all ages (attended with any of the above diseases or symptoms).

O

H. T. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU CURES DISEASES ARISING FROM IMPRUDENCES, HABITS OF DISSIPATION, ETC.

In all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience, and no exposure. It causes a frequent desire, and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, Allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous matter.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found that they have been deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "powerful astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all affections and Diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. Price, One Dollar and Fifty Cents per Bottle.

L

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH

Can not be surpassed as a FACE WASH, and will be found the only specific Remedy in every species of Cutaneous Affection. It speedily eradicates Pimples, Spots, Scorbutic Dryness Indurations of the Cutaneous Membrane, etc., dispels Redness and Incipient Inflammation, Hives, Rash, Moth Patches, Dryness of Scalp or Skin, Frost Bites, and all purposes for which Salves or Ointments are used; restores the skin to a healthy state of Purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principal claim to unbounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a Toilet Appendage of the most Superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, Safety and Efficacy—the invariable accompaniment of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the the EXTRACTS BUCHU, SARSAPARILLA AND CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, in such diseases as recommended, can not be surpassed. Price, One Dollar per Bottle.

The Great Medical Discovery!

Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these tonic bitters have no equal.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar property of acting as a powerful stimulant to the Liver, and all the Viscera and Organs of Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Viscera and Organs.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.

HER LETTER.

BY BRET HARTE.

I'm sitting alone by the fire,
Dressed just as I came from the dance.
In a robe even you would admire—
It cost a thousand in France;
I'm be-diamonded out of all reason,
My hair is done up in a queue;
In short, sir, "the belle of the season"
Is wasting an hour on you.

A dozen engagements I have broken;
I left in the midst of a set;
Likewise a proposal half spoken,
That waits—on the stairs—for me yet.
They say he'll be rich—when he grows up—
And then he adores me indeed;
And you, sir, are turning your nose up,
Three thousand miles off, as you read.

"And how do I like my position?"
"And what do I think of New York?"
"And now in my higher ambition,
With whom do I waltz, flirt or talk?"
"And isn't it nice to have riches,
And diamonds and silks and all that?"
"Aren't it a change to the ditches
And tunnels of Poverty Flat?"

Well, yes—if you you saw us out driving
Each day in the park, four-in-hand—
If you saw poor dear mamma contriving
To look supernatrally grand—
If you saw papa's picture as taken
By Brady and tinted at that—
You'd never suspect he sold bacon
And flour at Poverty Flat.

And yet, just at this moment, when sitting
In the glare of the grand chandelier—
In the bustle and glitter befitting
The "finest soiree of the year"—
In the midst of a gazade Chambery,
And the hum of the smallest of talk—
Somehow, Joe, I thought of the "Ferry,"
And the dance we had on "The Fork;"

Of Harrison's barn, with its muster
Of flags festooned over the wall;
Of the candles that shed their soft lustre,
And tallow on heads dress and shawl;
Of the steps we took to one fiddle;
Of the dress of my queer vis-a-vis;
And how I once went down the middle
With the man that shot Sandy McGee;

Of the moon that was quietly sleeping
On the hill when the time came to go;
Of the few baby peaks that were peeping
From under their bed clothes of snow;
Of that ride—that to me was the rarest;
Of—the something you said at the gate;
Ah Joe, then I wasn't an heiress
To "the best paying lead in the State."

Well, well, it's all past; yet it's funny
To think, as I stood in the glare
Of fashion and beauty and money,
That I should be thinking right there
Of some one who breasted high water,
And swam the North Fork, and all that,
Just to dance with old Follins bee's daughter,
The Lilly of Poverty Flat.

But goodness! what nonsense I'm writing!
(Mamma says my taste still is low),
Instead of my triumphs reciting,
I'm spooning on Joseph—heigho!
And I'm to be "finished" by travel—
Whatever's the meaning of that—
O, why did papa strike pay gravel
In drifting on Poverty Flat?

Good night—here's the end of my paper;
Good night—if the longitude please—
For maybe, while wasting my taper,
Your sun's climbing over the trees,
But know, if you haven't got riches,
And are poor, dearest Joe, and all that,
That my heart's somewhere there in the ditches,
And you've struck it—on Poverty Flat.

Ethics of the Bar.

The Chicago Courier in remarking upon the controversy now going on between David Dudley Field of the New York bar, and Samuel Bowles of The Springfield Republican concerning the provinces and limitations of their respective professions, lays down the following principles of law:

One of the most practical questions in the entire controversy is this: May a lawyer choose his own client? To this, with certain limitations, the lawyer may reply, most certainly not.

He will tell us that from the earliest days of Anglo-Saxon polity, it has been the fundamental principle of our liberty, that no man, however vile his cause, or infamous his character, shall be condemned unheard. And it must not be forgotten that the lawyer is not only the counsel of any client whom he may happen to represent, but that he is an officer of every court in which he practices, as much as the judge himself. The theory and doctrine of advocacy have grown up together with our common law system, and the defects of one are mainly the defects of both. The principle of natural justice, and of natural ethics, that no man shall be condemned unheard, has long been considered the bulwark of our liberty; and at all events for it the lawyers are in no sense responsible. The establishment of the principle was the fruit of a popular revolution, in which the lawyers held a very conservative position. Such a hearing premises a court, and a court premises its officers, among which its counselors are not the least. Another principle of our fundamental policy is that every man arraigned for trial is presumed to be innocent. Guilt must be established, in civil as well as in criminal cases. The vilest criminal has the legal right to sift every item of evidence brought against him to test its truth, its legal and logical admissibility, to cross-examine, and to reason upon the evidence to the jury. Every juryman is compelled to swear "well and truly to try this cause, and a true verdict give according to the evidence." The jury must confine their attention to the evidence. Although the guardians of public morality, the jury may in no case go beyond the evidence. And, further, no man can be compelled to criminate himself, or to supply to the court any deficiency of legal evidence.

Such is an outline of our legal system. No man may be condemned unheard; every man is presumed to be innocent; and a verdict may only be rendered in accordance with evidence produced in court.

A SHORT REPLY TO "FACTS."

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

I will admit that the probable results of woman's enfranchisement may lead to quarrels through man's selfishness and desire to control the ballot in the hand of his wife, and even then, domestic broils would be much elevated above the ordinary subjects of disagreements.

The number of women contented with domestic servitude with no other aspirations than to be upper servants without pay, are becoming less and less; and women are beginnining to see and feel that there are higher objects in life than merely marrying for a home to be kitchen drudges or parlor dolls.

The woman politicians and rulers in history will compare very favorably with the men rulers of the same times, and several of them even surpassed their male compeers in the management and wisdom of their governmental affairs, of whom the Queen of England is a living example.

That women, like men, should in their first efforts to use a larger liberty, produce discord, and re-actionary movements, is not at all to be wondered at; but the true uses of liberty can only come to an individual or a nation by the practice of its requirements. One could not be supposed to be a good swimmer who had never been in the water.

There is one point that I would like to be enlightened upon which "Facts" assumes to know to a dot, for he says, though it is evidently a quotation, "In the natural organization of the social world, the respective duties of the sexes are perfectly defined, and can never trench one upon the other in any important particular without results incompatible with the best interests of both."

With the latter part of the clause, I perfectly agree, but no doubt from an opposite stand point than from which he views it; but I wish to know how it is that if the natural organization of the world is so perfect, why and by whom its natural rights of representation (not by proxy) has been and is denied to more than one half the people—the constitutionally declared electors on account of sex?

A right not used is a duty neglected; and each individual is responsible to the natural laws of life and happiness for the non use or misuse of every duty to family, society and the State; neither can one sex legislate justly and wisely for both.

A word or two on the effete idea that "if women vote they must fight." Right here, is where men show the greatest ignorance of women, and their true mission in life, for it is nothing less than to cause wars to cease, and to prove the pen mightier than the sword; and that this duelling between nations shall no longer be called "a code of honor," but these international affairs and difficulties be referred to arbitration before elected judges of both sexes, composing a National tribunal; since all wars, no matter how much blood has first been shed, have to be brought down to diplomacy at last; and it is now the demand of this age when right is to govern instead of might. So you can see that women are not going to fight and by their votes, far more powerful than words, they will try and prevent men from killing each other, every one of whose lives has cost her so much of pain and tears.

Woman know better the cost of life and thus they are made to suffer most by the demoralizations of this legal murder—war!

As for Eve she deserves to be honored (if there ever was such a person) for obtaining knowledge under such threatened penalties, the same being the case still; and like her we prefer to know for ourselves and risk the consequences of doing for ourselves what is right and a duty that men cannot do for us. The Postal Cards.

The postal cards, about which so much has been said of late, are made of stiff card paper, about three inches by two, of convenient pocket size, with a stamp and a line for direction on one side, the other side being left for communications to be written either in pencil or ink. The facility and cheapness of the system will be noticed at once. It is true that there can be no privacy in the message thus sent on an open card, but a large amount of business passes through the post which does not require this. Anything of sufficient importance to require secret communication is worth the trouble and cost of an envelope, or if necessary, a cypher system can be agreed upon by correspondents, which will answer the desired purpose. As a convenient medium for communication, and an advance toward reduced postage, it appears worthy of trial.

Alaska Ivory.

The San Francisco Bulletin has seen a very remarkable specimen of elephant ivory lately brought from Alaska. It is seventeen inches in circumference, by about five inches in diameter. It is stated by reliable authority that millions of pounds of this fossil ivory is to be found in the peninsula of Alaska. The ivory is of a very fine species, and what speaks most highly for its superiority is the fact that manufacturers of billiard balls prefer it for their use. For other purposes it is equally valuable. The ivory is worth a dollar a pound in the San Francisco markets.

American Newspapers.

The number of newspapers published in English-speaking America is about 5,319. It is difficult to state with exactness, for they spring up and die by hundreds during every year. Delaware has only 13, and New York 806. New England has the most newspapers in proportion to its population, and the country journals have the largest average circulation being about 1,000 copies weekly. In New York and Pennsylvania they will average about 700; in the valley of the Mississippi proper, about 350; and in the South, about 250. There is about 550 dailies, varying in circulation from the neigborhood of 200 daily to 100,000. New York is the great center of newspaper commerce. There is 32 dailies in that city—six in German, two in French, one in Scandinavian, and the rest in English. Seven of these dailies are known as "the New York Associated Press," and supply all the rest of the country with news they sell. They print 112,000,000, sheets annually, and receive $2,500,000 from advertisements, There total receipts are about 5,600,000 dollars. The other 25 dailies print 110,000,000 sheets annually, and their receipts are about 3,100,000 dollars in all. So it will be seen that the New York press alone has an income of 8,700,000 dollars, contributed by the public for the purpose of knowing the news of the day. The other periodicals of the city, semi-weekly, weekly, monthly and quarterly, issue 156,000,000 copies during the year, and their total receipts are about 17,000,000 dollars. Philadelphia is next after New York in number of dailies, of weeklies, and of other periodicals, and also prints the greatest quantity of sheets in a year. —N. Y. Times.

Interesting to Antiquaries.

The Arizona Miner speaking of the Chino valley in that territory, says:

"Everything goes to prove that the valley in question was once occupied by hundreds, perhaps thousands, of those semi-civilized Indians who once held sway here, and who, no doubt, were overshadowed, murdered, and driven out by Apache Ishmaelites. In it are numerous springs of cool, clear, pure water, from which flows sufficient fluid to irrigate thousands of acres. Overlooking this water, on beautiful knolls, are the ruins of dwellings, once occupied by that ancient people we have before alluded to. One of these "ruins" was recently dug into, by Mr. Banghart and others, and Ed. W. Wells who has just returned to Prescott from visiting friends in the valley, informs us that human bones of immense srze were exhumed, with much painted pottery, paint, etc. We have not the dimensions of the bones found, but Mr. Wells assures us that they were much larger than those of any man of our day and generation.

A Railway Company in a New Light.

The North Pacific Railroad Company is deserving of great credit for the wise and liberal policy it has shown in connection with its first effort to build a city. Kalama, the name given to the new city on the Columbia river, is so far untarnished by the sale of intoxicating liquors. We believe it is the settled policy of the company to sell no lot without excluding from the property-holder the right to make or sell ardent spirits on the premises. On the other hand, every possible encouragement is given to the cause of education and religion. Lots, half blocks, and even blocks, are freely appropriated for the establishment of schools, parsonages, and churches for each denomination that makes application.—Pacific.

Returned.

Deputy Sheriff Bryant has returned from Temecula, after an unsuccessful search for Buckskin, the Tejunga murderer. He reports no trace of the villian to be found, although he may still be lurking among the mountains in that vicinity. This failure gives additional weight to the report from Havilah published in yesterday's News.—Los Angeles News, March 25.

—A Michigan woman has written a letter to the Legislature, advocating the restoration of capital punishment in that State, and asking to be appointed State excutioner. Her husband wants a divorce.

LITIGANT PAPER FOR INYO COUNTY,

CHALFANT & PARKER

JAS. E. PARKER, | P. A. CHALFANT

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.;

Saturday, April 8, ...1871.

THE PERILS OF CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.

A remarkable case showing the danger of trusting implicitly to circumstantial evidence, has just been concluded in Toledo. Nearly three years ago, Robert Sharp was found dead with shot and slugs in his brain. A man named Harrington, who had been seen on intimate terms with the deceased, was arrested for the murder. The testimony was wholly circumstantial, but so skillfully "worked up" by the detectives, that Harrington was convicted and sent to the Penitentiary. His lawyers had become interested in the case, and although Harrington was a poor man, they determined to fight his cause to the end. After a long and arduous struggle through the District and Supreme Courts, an order for a new trial was obtained, and the trial has just been closed.

The main point in the evidence on which he was convicted were the apparent correspondence of the shot in the body of the dead man with that in a shot-bag belonging to Harrington; the correspondence of pieces of a newspaper found near the scene of the supposed murder, and assumed to be part of the gun-wading, with a torn paper in Harrington's residence and a piece in his vest pocket; and that the motive for the murder was to be found in the alleged fact of Sharp having come to Toledo with several hundred dollars of money, which Harrington knew and that no one else was so intimate with Sharp. On the second trial it was rendered doubtful whether there was similiarity in the shot. It was clearly proven that the pieces of paper alleged to have been picked at the scene of the murder were not there at the time of finding the body, nor for a day or two afterwards, and the inference was unavoidable that they were put there by the detectives to aid them in "working up" the case against Harrington.

It was also clearly proven that Sharp was destitute when he arrived in Toledo, and that Harrington was doing his best to aid him in procuring employment. To crown all, an alibi was clearly and satisfactorily proven. Harrington was declared innocent, and the jury voluntarily gave him a letter signed by every member, repeating in emphatic terms their belief of his entire innocence of any knowledge of the supposed murder, and bearing testimony to his uniform good character. The public sentiment unanimously coincided with this verdict. The former employer of Harrington immediately took him back into his service.

It causes an unpleasent shudder to reflect that a perfectly innocent man, of good character, suffered two years of degrading punishment, and narrowly escaped an ignominious death, for a crime of which he knew nothing. It is another warning against implicit trust in wholly circumstantial evidence, and a protest against the devices used by unscrupulous detectives in "working a case" against one they choose to suspect.

Political.

Elections will take place during the coming month in Connecticut and Rhode Island. On Monday April 3d, in Connecticut, a Governor and other State Officers and members of Congress was chosen; and on Wednesday, April 5th, in Rhode Island, State Officers and members of the Legislature were voted for. In Connecticut the Republican candidates for the principal positions were Marshall Jewel for Governer, and Julius L. Strong, Stephen W. Kellogg, Henry H. Starkweather and George Coffin, for Congress, the first three having been members of the Forty-first Congress. The Democratic candidates were James E. English for re-election as Governor, and Alfred R. Goodrich, John Kendrick John W. Steadman and William H. Barnum for Congress, the gentleman last named having been a member of the Forty first Congress. In Rhode Island Seth Padleford, the present incumbent, is the Republican, and Thomas Steen, the Democratic, candidate for Governor.

Crop Prospects.

The Los Angeles News says, notwithstanding the unfavorable season the aggregate crops of Los Angeles county will undoubtably exceed those of last year. Improved modes of agriculture are responsible for the result.

SELFISHNESS.

"L. H." in "A short reply to 'Facts'" —which may be found on the first page of this issue—is willing to admit that woman's enfranchisement may result in discord, through man's sefishness. This is the boldest claim for feminine perfection that has met our observation. That the worst half of the human family should alone be possessed with this most prominent attribute is something new. However, this charge may only apply in a political sense; the little domestic infelicities, often culminating in dissolutions of matrimonial co partnerships; the neighborhood contests for supremacy, ranging from the kitchen to the village choir, with attendant heart burnings and jealousies; the irreconcilable differences and uncompromising spirit that now actuate rival women suffragist organizations—all these and other similar troubles only to be socially considered, that part for which the fair sex are responsible being nowise indicative of what might be looked for in political contests.

We are told in this communication that the number of women contented with domestic servitude &c, are daily becoming less and less. That has ever been a chronic complaint and doubtless will be till the end of time or until the original transgression is fully atoned which universal suffrage can never effect. Nothing but the lack of inclination (we don't say lack of ability), has for a century at least ever barred womens' advancement in the fields of art, science and literature; considering their educational advantages, how meagre is the list of those who have lifted themselves above "domestic drudgery." Would success be any more marked in the "filthy pool of politics?"

We do not dispute the administrative ability of women as rulers in exceptional cases, but the living example referred to can not be instanced as a notable example. The present Queen of England is accorded a high place in the world's estimation, not as a powerful or talented ruler, but as an exemplary wife and mother, virtues so rare and therefore remarkable in such exalted stations.

We assure "L. H." that the "evident quotation" with which we are credited is not a quotation in word or sentiment, nor any unmarked line that we have at any time made use of in this connection as an argument; it is quite possible we have made use of platitudes, as the subject in all its bearings has been a matter of so much discussion, but if so, unwittingly, since we claim no intimate knowledge of the question from what others may have said. Want of both space and time prohibits even an allusion to each of the several points offered by "L. H" at this time.

We should think the distinctions spoken of in that "quotation" were sufficiently obvious without elaboration. In the nature of things since the beginning it would not be a practicable thing to reverse the order of domestic economy. Women could not successfully buffet the rough out door world, nor the clumsy administration of household duties by the other sex be a success. In the natural co-operation of members of families, as well as communities, the duties of each are clearly defined. The good policy of this rule cannot be questioned, and under it the respective duties of husband and wife are so well defined that no interference one with the other can be safely tolerated. In his out door experience and struggle with the world the husband is the first to become acquainted with and be affected by the laws of the land. On him the responsibility falls and from his wider field of observation, natural talent being equal, he is the better judge of matters of state which may affect the welfare of the little society he represents. But one plan can be carried out, though different ones may be proposed by equally interested members of the society. The choice should rest with that one best qualified by circumstances to choose. The cause of discord, no matter how elevated can never remedy evils growing out of it. Criminations and recriminations would be no less fatal to happiness, whether originating from the right to cast a vote for President or the proper manner to wash a dish or plant a hill of corn That an exciting political contest could be harmoniously maintained in family circles is belied in the experience of all The object to be gained in either case would not compensate the loss of the main object of life, and such inevitable contests cannot be carried on without a display of selfishness on both sides.

We have nothing in the history of either sex that would lead us to place the least possible faith in "L. H.'s" Utopian schemes of peace conventions composed of both sexes. The Medicis, Elizabeths, Bloody Marys, Joan of Arcs, Charlotte Cordays of former times—the blood thirsty denunciation and acts of females in very modern wars, who as a class were foremost in advocating war, and the last to yield down to the viragos, the component part of every city mob, all forbid faith in the notion that woman as a class are any less bellicose than the other sex. That peace conventions argument won't stand the test.

LETTER FROM CERRO GORDO.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent]

CERRO GORDO, March 30, 1871.

MESSRS. EDITORS: Perhaps you with with many others think that most of the people of this altitude and latitude sign their names with a saw buck: thus accounting for the dearth of contributions to your paper from this locality. Such, however, is far from being a correct version of the case. We have quite a number of very good scribes, in our merchants and saloon keepers, especially the latter, for it is no uncommon thing after a crowd of the boys have solaced themselves at the bar, to hear one of the number modestly say "those are mine John," or "Dan," as the case may be, which suggestion requires no further explanation on the part of the practical gentleman, who immediately resorts to the slate and pencil or other blotter. Our businessmen also, have clerks and time keepers who don't keep their accounts by cutting notches on a stick.

We are a busy and prosperous people, having no time to parade our doings before the public. There is, however, such a marked change in the general tone and character of affairs in our midst of late, that I can not refrain from giving you a few items.

CERRO GORDO

Has shaken off the chains of lethargy that bound her, and is animated with new life and energy.

Improvement is the order of the day. Lots that were heretofore considered valueless are being sought after eagerly.

Houses to rent are daily inquired for, and none to be had, Building sites are being graded preparatory to receiving the appropriate tenements. Our enterprising townsman, Mr. John Simpson, has the ground graded, and part of the lumber on hand for the construction of a large two story hotel. Such an institution has long been needed, and would amply pay the investment if properly conducted.

LUMBER.

Building would be carried on much more extensively and rapidly if lumber and shingles could be obtained for the purpose; generally people who have goods for sale take them to market Why don't some of the saw mill men of Inyo county start a lumber yard in Cerro Gordo, and keep an assortment of building material on hand at reasonable prices? It would certainly pay. Mill men where are you? We are paying from $100 to $125 per thousand, and should we rake and scrape the town over could not procure enough decent lumber to construct a respectable dog kennel.

WATER.

The Cerro Gordo Water Company, have commenced making repairs upon their water pipes. They are at present working seven men, with fair prospects of soon having the water flowing into town, a desideratum of valuable importance to our animal kingdom, both biped and quadruped.

BULLION.

The quantity of silver-lead bullion being manufactured from the ores in and around Cerro Gordo, and shipped to San Francisco, is almost incredible. Mr. V. Beaudry's furnace since October last, has turned out 7,222 bars of bullion weighing 301 tons, of an average value of $250 (minimum) in silver per ton, equal in the aggregate to $75,250. Running time of the furnace 72 days, or an average of 100 bars per day. The lead in the bullion considerably more than pays the freight to San Francisco. Mr. M. W. Belshaw's furnace has produced about the same quantity per day during the same period as Mr Beaudry's but has been in more constant operation, hence a larger pile of bullion in the same number of months.

THE SWANSEA

Or O. L. S. L. Company's works, situated near the eastern shore of Owens Lake under the efficient management of Mr. James Braby, the gentlemanly Superintendant of the company, has not in the meantime been idle, though your correspondent has no present means of knowing the yield of these works.

POTOSI WATER & MINING TUNNEL.

This tunnel company, formed a short time since for the purpose of driving a tunnel from the Lower Town to the Upper Town of Cerro Gordo a distance of about 3,000 feet, have commenced work in earnest, working one shift at present, but intend putting on three shifts of 8 hours each, very soon. The enterprise is one of importance and an early accomplishment of the work, and profitable result it is hoped will crown the efforts of the company.

LEAD, LEAD, LEAD!

To those from a distance who may now have any fears as to the lasting character of our lead mines, I have but to say come and see; we charge nothing for the sight, and feel a just pride in exhibiting our native wealth The vast bodies of ore now uncovered in the mines of Messrs. Belshaw & Beaudry and the O. L. S. L. Company's, beggars description

Want of time forbids a lengthy account at present, but will try and.... [send complete letter next time.—EDS]

CITIZEN.

Steam Navigation Company No More.

To day will be made a complete transfer of all the barges, and all other property, except money assets, hitherto in use by the Steam Navigation Company, to the legal representatives of the California Pacific Railroad Company. The details of operations in the future are not yet matured, or at least can not be made public at present. Meantime the boats will continue in their present routes. Not in this whole country has there ever been such an energetic corporation as the one whose dissolution we now record. Formed March 1st, 1854, with a capital stock of $2,500,000 and dissolving to day it will have been in active operation seventeen years and one month. The original Board of Trustees included Major Hensley, Captain J. Whitney, R. M. Jessup, Captain Hope, Captain Lisle, Major John Bensley, and General Redington. Of the original Board only the two last survive to assist in the final settlement of the affairs of this great corporation. During its existence, whatever may be charged by its enemies, it has done more to develop and encourage the interior commerce of this State and contribute to the welfare of the people than any simular combination that may be hereafter formed. It has expended vast sums in river improvements and in encouraging all branches of home industry by the building of boats and giving employment to thousands of persons of all degrees. To the appeal of charity its managers have never turned a deaf ear, and to benevolent institutions the company have been uniformly generous' At present neither time or space permit that such notice can be made of this admirably managed and famous company as it deserves. Wherever the news of its dissolution shall go, there will be thousands, who recalling past memories of travel on its boats, will learn the fact regretfully. To the veteran agent, General Redington, the traveling community by water owe a debt of lasting gratitude While he has had the assistance of able coadjutors in the conduct of the line to his controlling mind is largely due the succes of the company and the safety of the hundreds of thousands of passengers and tons of merchandise, as connected with this end of the route. —Sac. Union, April 1st.

Consternation in Paris.

From The Sacramento Union of April 1st we clip, the following important news from France. Dates to March 21st:

The Commune deliberate privately. The following is divulged: An Executive Committee of seven is appointed. The Commune is divided into nine sections—Finance, War, Justice, Safety, Subsistence, Education, Labor, Foreign and Municipal. The names are obscure except Ingles, Pyat, Flourens, and Delescluze.

A Times letter says the situation in Paris is critical. There are apprehensions of secret prescriptions. Everybody is whispering the word "guillotine."

A Standard special from Bucharest says the people threaten to demolish the hotel of the German Consul. Infantry and Artillery protect Prince Charles' palace.

It is said the Germans will occupy Paris immediately to save the downfall of Theirs. The Commune's proclamation predicts a universal Republic.

The Marseilles insurrection is dying Lyons is quiet.

A World cable from Paris 31st says all is consternation. The watch-word of the Commune is "Death to the rich! Death to the landowners! Death to the priests!" Decrees confiscating the church property have been prepared. A denunciation is expected hourly, and many persons have been arrested. The guillotine will soon be erected. The inmates of many houses have been marked "good for the guillotine" Drafts on the treasury are not paid either in Paris or Versailles.

A World cable dispatch from Paris says the Government has completed arrangements for moving against Paris. The troops will move simultaneously with the Germans along the line by Montmartre and Besey. Learning this the Commune have resolved to march on Versailles to night, with thirty thousand National Guards, via Montrouge, where the infantry line is stationed. Overcoming or fraternizing with these, they will proceed to Versailles and disperse the Assembly. New decrees issued by the Commune make the workmen wild with delight.

Great Fire.

Truckee City, over on the Central Pacific Railroad, forty five miles above Reno, was almost entirely destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. One hundred and twenty buildings were burnt, and a child of Mr. Hill proprietor of the Kennebec Hotel, was burnt to a crisp. Burckhalter & Sisson and Wallace & Co. lost nothing but the woodwork of their buildings, which was fully insured. Canovan's blacksmith shop was destroyed. All Chinatown was burned. The Central Pacific Railroad freight house was burned to the ground, and a number of other business houses; loss very heavy. The town has received a very severe blow. A portion of the buildings burned were lately put upon the site of the ones burnt in January.—Gold Hill News, March 31st.

Concerned About Us.

As every county in California except Mono, has contributed a candidate or two for Governor, we call upon that county to send down a name at once. A. B. Elliott's would do, if no better could be found.—Virginia (Nev.) Enterprise.

Inyo is probably meant. The fact is, that the people of this county propose attending strictly to their own business —and we suggest that The Enterprise follow the example.

Owner Wanted.

Very many letters find their way to the Dead Letter Office through sheer carelessness in writing the superscription. By the last mail a letter found its way to this office directed to "Independence, Inyo county, Cal."—not a word else. At a glance it was opened, supposing it for The Independent. There is no means of determining for whom it is designed, only that it is dated at Lynn, Mass., and addressed to "My Dear Daughter." Now Lokleitems would inform the writer that he won't do for a good nor a dutiful daughter to anybody, and insists that he (or she) is entirely mistaken. However, the letter closes with a request to "Kiss little Abe for me." Compliance is inconvenient, on account of scarcity of little Abes. The signature is illegible; but possibly some one may recognize in it a letter from a relative or friend, and if so, they will please call and get it—no other word has been read. Some idea of the amount of business done at the natural goal of this—the Dead Letter office at Washington—can be gathered from the following table for the month of February: Ordinary letters received, 212,423; local or drop letters, 39,200; held for postage, etc., 34,445; returned from hotels, 1,360; having fictitious addresses, 5,901; registered letters, 6,693; returned from foreign countries, 5,680; foreign letters, 12,875; returned to writers, 135,632; valuable letters (containing $8,713 85), 2,295; containing photographs, 2,706.

The First, Perhaps.

By reference to a somewhat extended account of the operations of the Eclipse company which we give this week, it will be seen that a narrow-guage railroad is soon to be in course of construction, to connect that mine with the mill now building. It would be something to boast of if this county should claim the honor of putting to a practical test the first one of these roads, which are now projected by the dozen all over the coast. The way it looks now, if outsiders beat us in establishing a narrow-guage, they must bestir themselves. But some means to get in and out of the country must be had, and one of these roads seems to be the solution of the difficulty, and the great desideratum.

Religious Intelligence.

Rev. A. Clark informs us that he has labored in his allotted field 47 weeks; has traveled 3,739 miles; preached 132 sermons and delivered 74 lectures and addresses; has attended 134 prayer and other meetings and visited 332 families and individuals; has distributed 2,590 pages of tracts and 16 Testaments. From the people within his circuit he has received $378 98, and from the American Baptist Home Mission Society $362. For the better accommodation of the George's Creek congregation a change in the time of meeting is designed, of which due notice will be given.

Important Movement.

Elsewhere will be seen a notice inviting proposals for the running of a tunnel 150 feet in length on the Union mine. This is one of the ledges owned by the old Union company, and not sold with the other property to the Eclipse. It is situated about two miles south of the latter mine, and the tunnel formerly run upon it is to be extended into the ledge for prospecting purposes. Thus the old companies are beginning to resume work upon their long idle mines—a gratifying state of affairs.

Too Sweet.

We have received, with the special request to publish in this week's paper, a gushing epistle from one "darling" to another "darling," which contains the word "love" 85 times, and has only 75 repetitions of "darling" on the two sheets. Oh! If the writer will give us his or her dear darling's name and address, we will, with the greatest of pleasure, take the trouble to forward it to—the stove.

Personal.

We received a call from Mr. A. J. Lockwood, an old Nevada sage-brusher and Legislator, in company with I. W. Hunt, of Lone Pine. The former gentleman has been up to Cerro Gordo, looking at the mines and furnaces. He seems to be greatly pleased with the appearance of things, and will probably make a permanent stay of it.

Saturday Mornings.

The changes of stage time necessitates our running off at least the northern edition on Friday night, in order to make the mail connections. So that henceforth our paper will contain home news up to Friday night only, and papers will be delivered on the following morning. Advertisements and notices must reach us by 3 o'clock Friday afternoons.

Blown off the Grade.

Yesterday a fine carriage belonging to Charles Van Gorder, Esq., was left standing for a few moments at the Kearsarge company's office, at the mill. A gust of wind came along which threw it off the road down towards the canyon, but with no further damage than the breaking up of one wheel.

Snow.

All day yesterday, and at times for two for three days previous, the heavy clouds on the mountains told of snow storms visiting that region. It has been slightly zephyrous in the valley, the wind coming from all directions, without any system whatever.

For Sale.

H. C. Morse offers desirable town property for sale, at low figures. See his advertisement.

How it Works.

Woman suffrage recently took a singular turn in a town in Iowa. The gallant Registers of the town of Clarendon decided in favor of female suffrage, and placed on the rolls the names of all the women in the place who had reached the proper age. By this action, to all appearances, the battle was gained. But mark the untoward result. Not only did "several gentlemen, not liking this movement, erase the names of their wives"—that is of a piece with the old masculine opposition—but—and here's the rub—many ladies came forward and struck out their names also, of their own free will and without compulsion. So general, in fact, is this ignoble indifference to freedom among the female population of Clarendon, that on the day of election no woman appeared to claim her rights of citizenship at the polls, and the men "had it all their own way."

THE ECLIPSE.

The Mill, Mine and Improvements.

In company with another Bohemian, Lokleitems promiscuously deposited himself in a buggy and started over to the Eclipse mill, to witness the first

STEAMING UP

Of the engine, which occurred Monday last, April 3d. Arriving about noon, we found the steam up and all ready to turn loose, but adjourned to Superintendent Tregellas' residence in order to discuss dinner with that gentleman and his lady, and the Secretary, Mr. H. D. Scoones and lady. With a refreshed "inner man," we repaired with the party to the mill, where the engineer was standing with his hand on the valve-gear, waiting for the word to turn on steam.

THE ENGINE

Is of 60-horse power, made by Harvey & Co., at Hayle, Cornwall; the single cylinder is 24 inches in diameter, 36-inch stroke, and seems of massive strength and power. It is fed by a boiler 30 feet long, a sort of double arrangement, the inner of which is the furnace, conducting the heat a distance of 30 feet in the center of the surrounding water. Its diameter is 3 feet 6 inches, extending back 8 feet in this size, and from thence forms a flue. The outer or boiler proper has a diameter of 6 feet 6 inches. The whole affair was brought from England in sections, and put together here. It is solidly "set" in stone and brick, and is really the most substantial work in the mill connected with the machinery. The foundations of the engine itself are by no means what one would expect, considering the long time occupied in putting them in place and the money which must have been expended. Instead of being imbedded in masonry, it is set unnecessarily high on timbers, piled up block fashion, which must have cost nearly as much as the best of stone, of which the mountain, not four miles distant, is composed. The end of the main engine shaft opposite from the piston rests in its journal upon eight or ten blocks of timber, piled up to a highth of about seven feet, no one of which is more than four feet long. We made a close examination of these foundations, but a mere glance would satisfy any one that the engine can not long run and do its work without great danger and possibly disastrous breakage.

IT STARTS.

With all hands intently watching, the throttle-valve was thrown open, and steam turned into the cylinder for the first time. The piston moved slowly for a few inches, and stopped square "on the center." Seeing the difficulty, a party threw their weight upon the heavy fly-wheel, and started her in motion. With the exception of a similar attempt to start while in the same position, the engine run splendidly and was kept in motion the balance of the day, working perfectly with about 10 pounds of steam. Cheers and beverages were indulged in, while we mosied around to examine

THE STAMPS, &c.

The feature of the mill. They are six in number, and involve the principle of compressed air force. The battery frame is of heavy cast iron, compact and very strong. What might be called the cam shaft is a very heavy brass casting, so infernally crooked that, as it gyrates, no two stamps—the shafts of which are geared directly on it—can be in the same position. Near the lower end of the stamp shafts, or pistons, are brass cylinders, one on each. The tops of these are bored with small holes; and it is claimed that air is so compressed and utilized as to serve as an additional power. The six stamps are calculated to do the work of 24 of the ordinary pattern, each dropping 150 times per minute. From the rock breaker above, the ore goes to and is crushed in the battery; from thence the pulp passes over a series of copper plates into four vibrating tables, each moving six inches 100 times per minute, the bottoms of which are so constructed as to bring into effectual contact the quicksilver and particles of metal, and should save all the gold. Inside the present building, and in awkward proximity to the engine and its machinery, are 9 Knox pans, which next receive the ore. From these it goes into settlers and next to a concentrator. Finally, from these the tailings pass down to and over a pit—which, we learned, contained the battery at the time the present Manager took charge of the works—into reservoirs prepared to receive them. On the dump of the mill and in various places around it, are piled up 150 tons of ore, while 500 cords of wood is placed just where it ought not to be—if convenience in using it is to be considered. A great many other things we found to be equally out of place, and the whole must have been a hundred times worse under the former arrangement of the mill. But outside of the fact of moving the battery, the present officers made no mention whatever to us of anything being formerly out of position. Compared with scores of quartz mills with which we are familiar, the entire appurtenances are, or were at least, sadly out of proper relative position; and, taken altogether, greatly flavoring of what Washoe stockholders would call "mismanagement."

THE MINE.

Accompanied by Manager Tregellas, our exploring reporter and his friend made their way to the mine, of which there is a different story to tell. It is located on the main range of the Inyo mountains, 6,500 feet above the level of the sea. The ledge crops out boldly and perfectly distinct every foot of its way from the surrounding "country." The mine consists of 8,100 feet, lying in granite and lime formation, and can be as well opened in twenty places as one. The main shaft or incline is now down a depth of 310 feet, and is sunk directly on the ledge, which dips at an angle of only 35 degrees. At 100 feet from the surface 70 feet has been run northward; at the 160-foot level 163 feet of drifting has been done, in which it is found that a cross-course has broken the ledge. A side drift of 40 feet eastward was just striking the ledge again as we examined it. At a depth of 185 feet a drift of 33 feet southward discloses the best of ore. At the 220-foot level a drift is running to connect with another shaft some sixty feet distant, for ventillation purposes, all the way in pay ore. Although presenting a fine appearance all the way down, the bottom of the main shaft appears even better than for a space 30 feet above. Each of the stations are provided with easily adjusted turn-tables, and the mine throughout shows that it has been worked systematically and by good miners. Throughout, the ledge is shining with argentiferous galena ore in its regular veins, side by side with the bodies of dull red gold rock, and the amount of

ORE IN SIGHT

Is absolutely prodigious. Only general estimates can be made on a scale so large, but it is perfectly safe to say that there is now rock enough in sight, without another foot of prospecting, to keep the present steam mill in steady operation for five years. It embraces three characters, in combinations entirely unwarrantable, in our opinion. First the gold ore, and then the rich silver-bearing "metal," naturally intermixed with sufficient galena to form a good flux for smelting. The different ores are found in distinctly separated bodies down to the 220-foot level, from which point the gold rock seems predominant. The average width of the entire ledge is seven feet, with but little waste.

HOW THE ORE IS HANDLED.

It is taken from the mine by a wire-rope whim, which runs cars up and down the double track of the incline. It is then dumped down a natural shute in the rough, steep canyon, which operation is three times repeated, when it reaches a three-rail tramway of 640 feet, at the bottom of which is the dump for loading teams. About 25 car loads of ore are hoisted per day; the canyon is now filled with no less than 1,000 tons of ore, and on the dump is 150 tons of the silver rock.

WILL IT PAY?

The Union company extracted from the 160-foot level 500 tons of ore, which worked by simple process at their mill $26 per ton, the tailings assaying $100 per ton, all gold. A lot of 50 tons netted $33 50 per ton—the whole unassorted. Fine gold can be seen in most of the rock, while the other class of ore—the silver—will average $250 assay per ton. Certain ones have made out that this ore was worth over $2 000 per ton "average," the very finest specimens being picked to obtain said "average." The cost of reduction even by the present cumbersome and costly arrangements can not exceed $14 per ton, and the margin for profit is evident. We were taken through the mine by the Superintendent, accompanied by the able Foreman, Mr. John Tamblin, neither of whom failed to answer any inquiry of "our reporter."

We now come to speak of the

VAST IMPROVEMENTS

Now under way by this enterprising, wealthy company, the general importance of whose operations have never been fully appreciated by this community. Commencing at the mine, preparations are being made for the erection of a

SMELTING FURNACE,

To work on precisely the same principle as those of Cerro Gordo. Contracts for the excavation of rock for a site have already been given; fire brick have been ordered from San Francisco, and the engine formerly used at the mill is being made ready and will be put in position at the shaft as soon as possible. This will be used for the double purpose of hoisting ore and propelling the fan for the blast furnace. Water will be brought in pipes from the company's spring in Black canyon, 4,000 feet distant, which is 100 feet above the mine, and furnishes a large quantity of water—sufficient to fill a 3-inch pipe. The necessary wood has also been contracted for. The track from the shaft is to be extended around the rocks for 1,500 feet, where the ore will be dumped down a shute of rocks to a narrow

RAILROAD,

Twenty-four inch guage, three and one-half miles in length. Cars of a capacity of 3,000 pounds each will be placed thereon, with an engine of ample power to draw up thirty of these cars. The grade runs the loaded trains down. Placing the cost of transporting large quantities of ore over this road at a maximum figure, it will not exceed 35 cents per ton. Considerable of the wood now on hand at the steam mill will be used for ties, and we believe the light iron rails are now purchased. At a point a short distance above the old Ida mill, a is to be erected. A contract of 200,000 feet of lumber for the purpose has been given. The stamps are of the old style, 10 of the old Union mill stamps and 12 from the Ida mill (which property the Eclipse company have purchased) are on hand, and there are 20 more now on the way from San Francisco. These work will be propelled by the cheaper and better means of

100 STAMP MILL

WATER POWER,

Being supplied by a ditch from a point on the river nearly five miles above. The exact length of this ditch is 4 miles 2,680 feet. The fall obtained is 28 feet, a 4-foot turbine wheel receiving the water, and the quantity carried will give 150-horse power. At this date there are nearly two miles of the ditch completed, and work is being pushed at a satisfactory rate.

THE COMPANY.

At this point it is perhaps proper to speak of the company itself. It is an English company, incorporated there under title of "Eclipse Gold Mining Company (Limited)," with a capital stock of £100,000, divided into 100,000 shares, with a par value £1 each. The shares now on the English market rate at 30 per cent premium at the London Stock Exchange. Inquiries are made for the stock in this country, but it is not obtainable. They are the most extensive and powerful mining association now organized in Europe, owning heavy mining interests in Brazil and elsewhere. The sum of (nearly) $500,000 is to be expended here if necessary; the purchase and working of other mines besides the Eclipse being contemplated. The present mine was purchased from the Union company March 12, 1870, and possession taken upon the same date of the following month. The sum of $150,000 was paid for the mine and mill and $40,000 have been expended in erecting the steam mill described, and in developing the mine. We can make no estimate of the immense sums to be expended in the extensive improvements now under way, but as the stamps start up during the following week, it is fair to assume that some of the "grand cash" expended will soon be returned.

THE MANAGEMENT

Of this large interest now falls upon Captain Henry Tregellas, a Mining Engineer of great information and long experience, of whose superior judgment in mining matters there can be no question. The mill now building, the tramroad and the smelting furnace, to be run on the rich, inexhaustible ore supplies of the mine, must certainly bring large and permanent returns; and if our journal reached any of the stockholders, we would undertake to tell them a fact patent to any observer—that the financial success of their immense enterprise is as certain as the coming of time.

The Mysteries of the Feminine Toilet.

The other day I heard of an incident which shows that even men of society do not understand all the mysteries of the feminine toilet. A gentleman, who devotes a large part of his time to the society of ladies, and who beleives himself a connoisseur in all that pertains to them, was much annoyed by observing that a fair friend of his, favorably known for her style of elegant dressing, would insist, when the weather would allow it, upon wearing an old shawl devoid of any claims to beauty or good taste.

The gallant endured this for a long while. He walked up Broadway and Fifth avenue, and rode in the park with his friend, and often looked at the odious shawl in a way that he thought would convince her of its unfitness for so elegant a women as herself.

She did not take the hint, however, but continued to display it on every possible occasion. He lost patience at last, and said to her one day:

"May I be permitted to enquire why you will wear that miserable old shawl all the time? It ruins your dress. You look so exquisitely dainty otherwise that I cannot comprehend why you will deform yourself with such a rag as that. It has nothing to recommend it; and I believe if you were to throw it off in the street nobody would pick it up."

The bright eyes opened with surprise, and a strange expression fell across the pretty face.

"You are jesting are you not?" the lady asked. "You do not really dislike my shawl do you?"

"I never was more serious in my life. I thoroughly detest this thing which you call a shawl."

"Well then, I'll inform you that this is a camel's hair shawl; and, though I think it in very bad taste to mention prices, it cost $3,000 at Stewart's, and is one of the finest ever brought to this country."

The young man was astounded; but his taste was correct.

Editing.

Most people think the selection of suitable matter for a newspaper the easiest part of the business. How great an error. To look over fifty exchange papers daily, from which to select, the question is not what shall, but what shall not be selected, is no very easy task. If every person who reads a newspaper could have edited it we should have less complaints. Not unfrequently it is the case that an editor looks over his exchange papers for something interesting and finds absolutely nothing. Every paper is dryer than a contribution box, and yet something must be had—his paper must be out and something must be in it, and he does the best he can. To an editor who has the least care in what he selects, the writing he has to do is the easiest part of his labor. Every subscriber thinks the paper is printed for his own benefit, and if there is nothing that suits him it must be good for nothing. As many subscribers as an editor has so many tastes has he to consult. One wants something smart and sound. One likes anecdotes, fun and frolic, and his next door neighbor wonders that a man of sense will put such stuff in his paper. Something spicy comes out, and the editor is a blackguard. Next comes something argumentive, and the editor is a dull fool. And so, between them all, the poor fellow gets the worst of it. They never reflect that what does not please them, will please the next man; but they insist that if the paper does not please them, it is good for nothing, and stop it immediatly.

—As soon as the Congressional chaplain closes his appeal to the Throne of Grace, there is a clapping of hands all over the floor. It is the way the members have of calling pages to their side. Every Congressman begins his day's labor by giving an order to a messenger; hence the clapping is universal and uproarious. "Well that beats me," said an elderly gentleman in the gallery, with mud on his boots which looked as though it had been brought from the other side of the Potomac: "I didn't see anything in that prayer worth cheering."

—The sun weighs seven hundred and forty times the combined mass of all the planets which encircle around him; so that when we regard the energy of his attraction, we still find him a worthy ruler of the planetary scheme.

—Sydney Smith said, regarding the unnecessary consumption of food: "According to my own computation, I have eaten and drunk between my tenth and seventieth year, forty-four wagon loads more than was good for me."

—A man stopping his paper wrote to the editor: "I thinks folks ottent to spend their munny for papyer, mi daddy didn't and everybody sed he was the intelligentest man in country and had the smartest family of boiz that ever dug taters."

—The Iowa Voter says that a Knoxville physician was called to attend an infant whose mother had dislocated its shoulder by lifting it up suddenly by one arm. The Dr. remarked that this was the fourth case of the kind he had met in his practice.

—A dutiful son of Detroit has killed sixty-seven of his neighbors' cats to get money to buy his mother a set of false teeth. He has made a quiet neighborhood where once was a howling wilderness

—"I will be in fashion, if I dye for it!" said the ambitious belle, whose locks were not of the ruling tint; and dye she did.

—How to consume time—eat dates.

MUSICAL.

PATENT ARION PIANO.

A Few Reasons WHY THE ARION PIANO IS Superior to All Others.

THE ARION PIANO-FORTE HAS GREATER Power than any other Piano Forte manufactured.

It Will Stand In Tune Longer,

And in its mechanical construction it is more perfect, and therefore, more durable than any instrument constructed in the usual modern style.

The arrangement of the Agraffe, the manner of stringing, the peculiar form and arrangement of the Iron Frame,

Supersedes all Others.

The use of a bar (which is part of the Iron Frame), on a line with the heavy steel stringing, gives

Great Strength

Where most needed, and in this respect all other Pianos fail.

The construction of the WREST PLANK, into which the Tuning Pins are inserted, is such that it is impossible for the pins to become loosened, or the Wrest Plank itself to split, as is too often the case in other Piano Fortes.

The Extraordinary Eveness

Throughout the entire scale, the excellent Singing Quality, the

Length and Purity on Vibration,

All go to prove what we claim, viz.: that the

Arion Piano Forte

Is the BEST INSTRUMENT Manufactured.

THE PATENT

Arion Pianos

ARE USED EXCLUSIVELY IN THE

American Conservatories of Music,

Of New York City.

THE MOST SEVERE TEST A PIANO CAN RECEIVE IS CONSTANT USE IN A CONSERVATORY.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

It affords me much pleasure to give you, in these few lines, a very sincere testimonial for the Piano Fortes of your manufacture. We have now used the "PATENT ARION PIANOS" in our Conservatories for a year, and have had a fair opportunity of testing their durability during that time. The Pianos have been played upon almost constantly, from morning until night, and a Piano must indeed be a good one when it will bear such constant use without showing signs of defection. As for REMAINING IN TUNE, it outrivals any Piano known to me.

Their peculiar sweetness of tone in the treble (as compared to other Pianos with the ordinary metal agraffe arrangement), is so striking that I have had pupils remark, while taking their lessons, that although they had at home what they supposed to be one of the best makes of Pianos, still the treble was very wiry toned compared with the "ARION."

What makes them still more desirable is their uniform volume of tone, which enables an Artist to perform a composition in its true character.

In total, I can conscientiously endorse all that is claimed by the ARION PIANO-FORTE COMPANY for their superb instruments, as I consider them superior to any other make.

Congratulating you upon the great success you have obtained in the manufacture of so perfect an instrument, I remain yours,

Very truly,
HENRY SHROEDER,
DIRECTOR.

New York, September 3d, 1870.

AGENTS WANTED.

We want first class and responsible agents in every city and town where we have not already appointed them.

We Have Just Published

Our Annual Illustrated Pamphlet, which contains a full description of the interior construction of the PATENT ARION PIANO FORTE, and all the other leading Pianos of the principal makes; illustrated with cuts, thus contrasting the ARION with all other first class Pianos, and proving

WHY AND WHERE

Our Pianos are superior to any in the market.

Our pamphlet contains engravings of all the different styles of instruments that we manufacture, giving a full description of each, so that a person can select the style they may desire to order, with the assurance that they will receive just as good a Piano as if they were in our warerooms to select it. We have sold over FIVE THOUSAND Pianos, many of them being shipped great distances, and we have never yet received the first complaint. As we give a written guarantee with every Piano we manufacture, for five years, the purchaser runs no risk.

☞ Don't fail to write for our pamphlet which we mail free, and when you write state what paper you saw this notice in. ☜

N. B.—We caution the public from purchasing a cheap Piano which has recently been put in the market, bearing the name "Arion." All genuine Arion Pianos bear the name "Patent Arion," and can only be purchased from our New York Warerooms, or our authorized Agents throughout the United States.

All Kinds Of Musical Instruments Supplied.

COMPOUND FLUID Extract Catawba

GRAPE PILLS.

Component Parts—Fluid Extract Rhubarb and Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Juice.

FOR LIVER COMPLAINTS, JAUNDICE, BILIOUS AFFECTIONS, SICK OR NERVOUS HEADACHE, COSTIVENESS, Etc. PURELY VEGETABLE, CONTAINING NO MERCURY, MINERALS OR DELETERIOUS DRUGS.

H

THESE PILLS ARE THE MOST DELIGHTFULLY pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts, magnesia, etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the FINEST INGREDIENTS. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear miraculous to the weak and enervated, whether arising from imprudence or disease. H. T. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar coated Pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. THE CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated.

E

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

HIGHLY CONCENTRATED COMPOUND

Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla

Will radically exterminate from the system Scrofula, Syphilis, Fever Sores, Ulcers, Sore Eyes, Sore Legs, Sore Mouth, Sore Head, Bronchitis, Skin Diseases, Salt Rheum, Cankers, Runnings from the Ear, White Swellings, Tumors, Cancerous Affections, Nodes, Rickets, Glandular Swellings, Night Sweats, Rash, Tetter, Humors of all Kinds, Chronic Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, and all diseases that have been established in the system for years.

L

Being Prepared Expressly for the above complaints, its Blood Purifying Properties are greater than any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. It gives the complexion a Clear and Healthy Color and restores the patient to a State of Health and Purity. For Purifying the Blood, removing all Chronic Constitutional Diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, and the Only Reliable and Effectual known Remedy for the Cure of Pains and Swelling of the Bones, Ulcerations of the Throat and legs, Blotches, Pimples on the Face, Fryspelas and all Scaly Eruptions of the Skin, and Beautifying the Complexion.

M

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

CONCENTRATED

FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

THE GREAT DIURETIC,

Has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given, Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick Dust Deposit, and Mucous or Milky Discharges, and for Enfeebled and Delicate Constitutions of Both Sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, etc

Used by persons from the ages of eighteen to twenty five, and from thirty five to fifty five or in the decline or change of life; after confinement or labor pains; bed wetting in children.

B

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, and excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the blood, etc., superseding copaiba in affections for which it is used, and syphletic affections—in these diseases used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

LADIES.

In many affections peculiar to Ladies, the EXTRACT BUCHU is unequalled by any other Remedy—as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schurrus State of the Uterus, Leucorhœa or Whites, Sterrility, and for all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from indiscretion or habits of dissipation. It is prescribed extensively by the most eminent Physicians and Midwives for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes and all ages (attended with any of the above diseases or symptons).

O

H. T. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU CURES DISEASES ARISING FROM IMPRUDENCES, HABITS OF DISSIPATION, ETC.

In all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience, and no exposure. It causes a frequent desire, and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, Allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous matter.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found that they have been deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "powerful astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all Affections and Diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing.

L

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH

Can not be surpassed as a FACE WASH, and will be found the only specific Remedy in every species of Cutaneous Affection. It speedily eradicates Pimples, Spots, Scoroutic Dryness, Indurations of the Cutaneous Membrane, etc., dispels Redness and Incipient Inflammation, Hives, Rash, Moth Patches, Dryness of Scalp or Skin, Frost Bites, and all purposes for which Salves or Ointments are used; restores the skin to a healthy state of Purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principal claim to unbounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a Toilet Appendage of the most Superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, Safety and Efficacy—the invariable accompaniment of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the the EXTRACTS BUCHU, SARSAPARILLA AND CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, in such diseases as recommended can not be surpassed.

The Great Medical Discovery!

Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the combined properties of all the best Bitters of the world, yet free from the objectionable qualities of all. They are a mild stimulant, containing no alcohol or intoxicating substance whatever.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

A RACE FOR LIFE.

BY MRS. VAN CLEVE.

I close my eyes and recall an evening some forty-two years ago, when, in one of the stone houses near Fort Snelling, which was our house at that time, a pleasant company of officers and their families were spending the evening with my parents. The doors were open, for the weather was warm, and one of the officers, Captain Crugor, was walking on the piazza, when we were all startled by the sound of rapid firing very near us. The Captain rushed into the house much agitated, exclaiming: "That bullet almost grazed my ear!" What could it mean? Were the Indians surrounding us then?

Soon the loud yells and shrieks from the Indian camp near our house, made it evident that the treaty of peace, made that afternoon between the Sioux and Chippewas, had ended, as all these treaties did, in treachery and bloodshed. The principle men of the two nations had met at the Indian Agency, and in the presence of Major Taliaferro, their "White Father," had made a solemn peace treaty. In the evening, at the wigwam of the Chippewa chief they had ratified this treaty by smoking the pipe of peace together; and then, before the smoke of the emblematic pipe had cleared away, the treacherous Sioux had gone out and deliberately fired into the wigwam, killing and wounding several of the unsuspecting inmates. The Chippewas, of course, returned the fire, and this was what startled and broke up the pleasant little party at my father's house.

The Chippewas sought refuge and protection within the walls of the fort, commanded at that time by Col. Josiah Snelling, from whom it was named. They were kindly cared for. One, a little girl, daughter of the old chief, excited much sympathy, and I cannot forget the interest I felt in her, for she was but a year or two older than myself, and it seemed to me so cruel to rathlessly put out her young life. She lingered but a few days in great agony, and then God took her out of her pain.

Meanwhile our Colonel, a prompt and efficient officer, demanded of the Sioux the murderers, and in a very few days a body of Sioux were seen advancing toward the fort, as was supposed, to deliver up the criminals. Two companies were sent to meet them and recieve the murderers at their hands. Strange to say, although they had the men, they refused to give them up. Our interpreter, I cannot recall his name, stepped out from among our soldiers and said:

"If you do not yield up these men peaceably, as many leaves as there are on the trees, and as many blades of grass as you see beneath your feet, so many white men will come among you, burn your villiages and destroy your nation."

A few moments' consideration, a few hurried words of consultation, and the guilty men were handed over to our troops. The tribe followed as they were taken into the fort, and making a small fire within the wall, the condemned marched round and round it, singing their death songs, and then were given up to be put in irons and held in custody until time should dertermine how many lives should pay the forfeit; for it is well known that Indian revenge is literally a life for a life, and the Colonel had decided to give them into the hands of the injured tribe, to do with them as they would.

Some weeks passed, and it was found that five lives were to be paid for in kind. A council of Chippewas decided that the five selected from the prisoners should run the guantlet, and the decision was approved.

Back over the lapse of years I pass, and seem to be a child again, standing by the side of my only brother, at the back door of my father's house.

The day is beautiful, the sun is so bright, the grass is so green, all nature is so smiling, it is hard to realize what is going on over yonder by the graveyard, in that crowd of men and women. For there are gathered together the Chippewas, old men, women and children, who have come out to witness or take part in this act of retributive justice. There are the blue coats, too, and various badges of the United States uniforms, for it is necessary to throw some restraint aronnd these red men, or there would be wholesale murder; and borne on the shoulders of the young men, we see the form of the wounded, dying chief, regarding all with calm satisfaction, and, no doubt, happy in the thought that his death, so near, will not go out unavenged. And there stand the young braves who have been selected as the executioners; their rifles are loaded and locks carefully examined and all is ready when the word shall be given.

There, too, under guard, are the five men who are to pay the forfeit for the lives taken so treacherously and wantonly.

Away off, I cannot tell how many rods but it seems to us children a long run, are stationed the Sioux tribe, and that is the goal which the wretched men must run to for their lives.

And now all seems ready, and we stand on tip-toe, while the ball and chains are knocked off, and the captives are set free. At a word one of the doomed men starts, the rifles with unerring aim are fired, and under cover of the smoke a man falls dead. They reload, the word is given, and another starts with a bound for home; but ah! the aim of those clear-sighted blood thirsty red men is too deadly; and so one after another until four are down.

And then the last, "Little Six," whom at that distance we children readily recognize from his commanding hight and graceful form; he is our friend, and we hope he will get home. He starts, they fire, the smoke clears away, and still he is running; we clap our hands and say, "he will get home;" but another volley, and our favorite, almost at the goal, gives a spring into the air and comes down—dead! I cover my face and shed tears of real sorrow for our friend. And now follows a scene that beggars description. The bodies, all warm and limp, are dragged to the brow of the hill. Men who, at the sight of blood, become fiends, tear off the reeking scalps and hand them to the chief, who hangs them around his neck. Women and children, with tomahawks and knives, cut deep slashes into the poor bodies, and scooping up the warm blood with their hands, eagerly drink, then growing frantic, they dance and sing their horrid scalp songs, recounting the deeds of valor on the part of their brave men, and telling of the Sioux scalps taken at their last horrid feast, they leave the mutilated bodies festering in the sun.

At nightfall they are thrown over the bluff into the river, and my brother and myself, awestruck and quiet, trace their hideous voyage down the Mississippi to the Gulf of Mexico. We lay awake that night, talking of the dreadful sight we have seen; and we try to think what the people of New Orleans will say when they see those ghastly upturned faces; and we talk with quivering lip and tearful eyes of "Little Six," and the many kind things he has done for us, the bows and arrows, the mocauks of sugar, the pretty beaded moccasins he had given us; and we wished that he could have run faster, or that the Chippewa rifles had missed fire. And we sleep and dream of scalps and of rifle, war-whoops, and frightful yells, to wake up wishing it had been a dream.

Next day the daring chief sat up in bed, painted himself for his death, sung his death song, and with those five fresh bloody scalps about his neck laid down and died, calmly, peacefully, in the hope, no doubt, of a welcome home in those "happy hunting grounds," prepared by the "Good Spirit," for all those Indians who are faithful to their friends, and will avenge themselves upon their foes.

A few years ago, I told this story to another "Little Six,"—"Old Shakopee," as he lay with gyves upon his legs in our guard-house at Fort Snelling, awaiting execution for the most numberless cold-blooded murders, perpetrated during the dreadful massacre of 1862. He remembered it all, and his wicked face lighted up with joy as he told me that he was the son of that "Little Six," who made so brave a run for his life; and showed as much pride and pleasure in listening to the recital of his father's treacherous conduct, as the children of our generals will some day, as they read or hear of deeds of bravery or daring their fathers have done.

A Sailors Dance.

Haven't had any fun with the landlubbers' till Thursday night, at a dance. When I arrived at the cabin found 'em under way on a Spanish dance. Took my station in line with Susan Tucker, fell back and filled, then shot ahead two fathoms—hauled up on the starboard tack to let another craft pass, and came stern to another sail, spoke her, and bore 'round against the sun! and fell in with another sail in ful, chase. Passed twenty sails on another course, and went half across to the shore, dropped astern—fell back—couldn't fill. So let go anchor and hauled up for repairs. Next time I was drawn into the current by a cowtillion, but I didn't make much headway—shot ahead with Betsy Stark, and sailed over to the other coast. Took a turn opposite, ran abreast twice toward another craft, and back astern again—moved around to starboard—passed near the painter's lights, and made sail to berth. Third time ran into port to tune of the tempest, the Yankee tar's favorite. Proceeding along up the coast according to the regular order of sailing, bore ahead rounded to, then passed adversary yard-arm by yard arm, locked astern with the whole squadron in circular order of sailing. Sally Jones all the time manœuring and making signals when under full sail. Finally anchored after a heavy squall.

Wintering in the Clouds.

If one would enjoy with a keener relish the comforts of his cheerful fireside, or the genial temperature diffused from his "register" in the corner of his parlor, let him attempt to realize the situation, during the prolonged winter, of the party hibernating above the clouds on the top of Mount Washington in New Hampshire. This elevated peak, 6,300 feet high, is a favorite resort of tourists in the summer, but no one has ventured to spend the long winter months upon its exposed and isolated summit until the present season. A party of scientific men have been found ready to brave the rigors and dangers of a winter's fearful exposure, so that they might make observations that would be of practical value to agriculture and commerce. Careful preparations for protection and comfort were made, apartments lined with felt, and stored with coal and provisions, and supplied with books and scientific instruments, having been fitted up in the new railroad depot, and not in the Tip-Top House or Summit House, as has been supposed by some.

The daily bulletin from this highest telegraph station in the world, is full of peculiar, often of thrilling interest. On several occasions the velocity of the wind has been reported at over fifty miles an hour; sometimes it has reached 80 miles, 92, 110, and even 120 miles an hour. The thermometer has often been below zero, and during one of the fiercest gales it fell to 59 degrees below zero, which, taken with the terrific wind, caused the severest weather, probably, ever experienced by mortal men. The showers of frost and ice across the summit during these high winds are represented as fearful. The building, though securely fastened by three chains running over the top and fixed in the solid rocks, and braced by heavy timbers, and coated with ice and frost from two to three feet in thickness, quivers and creaks and rattles in the blast like a ship in a storm.

They are noble men who thus brave the rigors and perils of a more than Arctic winter in the interest of science. Surely those are no less worthy of commendation who have voluntarily encountered similar exposures and privations in the interest of religion.

Methodical Printer.

The New Orleans Picayune tells a story of a printer, who, when his fellow workmen went out to drink beer during the working hours, put in the bank the exact sum he would have spent had he gone out to drink. He kept to this resolution for five years. He then examined his bank account and found that he had on deposit $521, 86. In the five years he had not lost a day from ill health. Three out of five of his fellow workmen had in the meantime became drunkards, were worthless as workman, and were discharged. The water-drinker then bought out the printing office, and went on enlarging the business, and in twenty years from the time he began to put by his money he was worth $100,000. The story, whether new or old, teaches a lesson which every young mechanic should lay to heart.

Montezuma.

Rich discoveries are being made in the Montezuma district. Some of the accounts given us are so extrordinary that were it not for the reliability of our informants we should be disposed to look upon them as gross exaggerations. Veins four feet thick, the ore of which, without sorting, will work $500 per ton, sounds rather incredible; but this is told us nevertheless, by gentlemen lately arrived from Montezuma, who are perfectly sincere in their statements. The mill of Messrs McGlew & Dawley is doing first-rate. A large lot of bullion was brought here by Mr. McGlew. Everything from that quarter has a healthy appearance.—Reese River Reveille.

CROP PROSPECTS.

In all that portion of the State south of Sacramento, and on the San Juaquin river particularly, the prospects for a crop in the present season are gloomy in the extreme. Though considerable rain has fallen in all those portions of the State, the drying north wind has prevailed much of the time. In many localities, after the grain was sufficiently grown to be almost certain to make a good crop, a few days of this destructive wind utterly destroyed it. Live stock are already suffering for want of food, and it is probable that many will perish.

From the misfortunes of others, our own farmers shou'd derive a lesson of contentment, and be more than thankful that it is in their power to produce fair crops—even if a little extra labor is involved—independent of the accidents of wind and weather, such as are so fatal to prosperity in fairer portions of the world. Parties who have recently witnessed the dreary prospects elsewhere, say that those of this section ought to be truly grateful in their possessions and surroundings. With good lands, fair crops and markets, a fine climate, and every reason to expect a busy, prosperous future in the surrounding mining interests, and consequently to all other branches of business—with all these in favor, who among us would exchange homes with those of the frosty, tornado-stricken regions of "the States," or the dried up, starving plains along the Pacific?

CONGRESSSIONAL GAME LAW.

Time's wonderful changes never received a more marked illustration than by the introduction of a bill in the House of Representatives prohibiting the indiscriminate slaughter of buffaloes along the line of the Pacific railroad, and providing for the preservation of the bison, which under the present system of wanton destruction would soon be exterminated. The author of this game preserving article, McCormick of Arizona, informed the House that in passing over the Kansas Pacific railroad last Winter, a train was snowed in, and for ten days the only food of about one hundred passengers was buffalo meat, and had this not been at hand they must all have starved. It is in view of the probable recurrence of circumstances of the same character for years to come that, as a measure to preserve those animals, the bill was suggested and will be supported. When the idea of a Pacific railroad was first broached in Congress a quarter of a century ago, the opponents of the "improvement" insisted that no railroad could ever be maintained on the plains for a single week, because of the herds of buffaloes that would trample tracks and sleepers out of place and deep down into the soil and now, before the Pacific railroad has been an actual fact three years, it is necessary to protect the buffalo that he may serve as food to the passengers crossing the continent over the very road that his vast and roaming herds were to render an impossibility.

FIGHTING ABOUT PARIS.

A terrible battle began in the fields outside of Paris on the 5th instant lasting all of that and the following day. The slaughter was frightful. The insurgent National Guard who began the fight were defeated by the Government troops. In the city terror reigns supreme. The churches and houses of aristocrats are being pillaged, and the priests imprisoned. The Commune has forbidden the holding of a meeting called in Paris to promote measures of reconciliation. The only hope of France is in German intervention.

There are dates from Lima, Peru, to March 22d. The recent freshets did immense damage. The losses are estimated at $8,000,000. The Government is giving assistance to many sufferers, whose homes and possessions were swept away. The storm was the heaviest experienced for thirty years

Governor Geary has called out the militia to quell a miners' riot at Scranton, Pennsylvania. A strike for higher wages caused the riot, during which much property has been destroyed.

Last Sunday quite an earthquake shock was felt in San Francisco. At different times lately shocks have been noticed in Virginia city, Nevada.

A GOOD MOVE.

We are in receipt of a copy of the Constitution and By-Laws of an organization known as the "Bureau of Mines and Mining Statistics of the Pacific Coast," of which J. Berton, is President, and E. P. Hutchins, Secretary. The object of the Bureau is explained in Article 3 of the Constitution, as follows:

The business of the Bureau shall be conducted by a Board of seven Directors, three of whom may be the legal representatives of foreign nations accredited to the United States and resident on the Pacific coast. And it shall be their duty, when requested so to do, to examine or cause to be examined, the title and character of all mining property that may be laid before them for that purpose, and report the same; which report shall be entered upon the books of the Bureau.

Each county in every State and Territory is entitled to one delegate; the President is empowered to call meetings on ten days' written notice to each Director, and four members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. We can not better explain the manner of its workings than by giving the By-Laws in full.

RULE 1. Parties registering mines or mining property, shall be required to furnish the Secretary with a true copy of the record of the mines or mining property, as recorded in the office of the Recorder in the district in which said mining property is located, or of the County Recorder, as the case may be, which shall be registered in a book kept for that purpose in the office of the Bureau.

RULE 2, Parties desiring mining property examined under the direction of the Board of Directors and a report thereon, shall deposit such sum of money as the Board of Directors may determine to cover all actual expenses of such examination and report, a copy of which shall be furnished, properly certified to by the Secretary, to the party or parties making the application, and the original report shall be entered in a book kept for the purpose by the Secretary.

RULE 3. The Board of Directors shall employ only such persons to examine any mining property as are known as mining experts, or mining engineers, and no report shall be received where it shall be made to appear that the parties making the examination have any interest directly or indirectly in the property examined by them.

RULE 4. No Director of this Bureau shall take part in the examination or adoption of a report thereon, upon any mining property in which he may be interested.

RULE 5. The Board of Directors may fix such fee for registering mining property as they may deem proper and just.

There is not another mining section on the Pacific coast possessing such a vast wealth of minerals that is so little known to the world as this of Inyo county. This is owing mainly to two causes; first, our peculiarly isolated position, and second, the indifference or lack of opportunity of those most interested, to set the real facts before the world. It may be mentioned in proper pride, that though we have a number of well developed and paying mines there are but very few that are in any degree beholden to outside capital therefor; that is, the most of these mines have paid their own way from the start. But to depend on this plan alone, it will require a hundred years to bring our mining interests to that degree of development that an abundance of capital would reach in five. Parties (and there are plenty of them), who own a vast number of feet in different mines can only hope for development of their property or profit to themselves except through outside capital. Without personal effort on the part of owners in this direction but little will ever be accomplished. This Micawber system of waiting for something to turn up will not do. Time—year after year—will come and go, ere anything turns up to the advantage of a great majority of our miners, unless they hit on a better plan than in simply waiting for the world to come to them. The world must have some inducements, and mere incidental mention is not inducement sufficient for capital to come to an out-of-the-world locality like this, under any circumstances, and much less in face of the systematic presentation of facts from the scores of other rival mining districts on the coast, each of which are continually deriving the advantages of capital thus attracted.

The preparations of H. T. Helmbold might be infallible, yet the aggregate profits of twenty generations of Helmbolds, who simply depend on counter sales for the presentation of those articles to the world, would not approach the result of ten year's operations under his plan. Though not at all analogous in their nature, yet the same principle that makes a patent nostrum a success, will do the same for gold and silver mines—that is, take every opportunitity to attract to them the attention of the world. Though not the only method, nor perhaps the best, here, in the proposed operations of this Bureau, a good opportunity is offered for our miners to bring their property directly into the notice of the only persons from whom help of the right kind is to be expected—capitalists on the look-out for investments, who will thus be able to select their field of operations in advance, after which, if the intrinsic merits of the mines warrant, the inconvenience of reaching such isolated localities as our own will be no draw back. We hope some of our miners will give this matter due consideration, and investigate it in detail by calling on or addressing either the President or Secretary in San Francisco.

Woman's Right—To be Fined.

On the 4th instant, during the trial of Mrs. Fair, in San Francisco, before Judge Dwinelle, for the killing of A. P. Crittenden, the following scene occurred in the proceedings:

At the time you bought that pistol had you any idea of using it? A.—Not the slightest, sir; I had no reason to use it (hysterically); I am sure he was the o ly protector I had in the world; I would have never have desired to harm him; if he had been living, gentlemen, when Campbell insulted me here yesterday, he would make Campbell on his bended knees apologize for it.

This bit of by-play was rendered with a truly dramatic effect, and served to bring down the house in cheers and stamping from the lobby, and a number of ladies inside the bar joined in the applause.

The Court—Mr. Sheriff, bring those parties forward who applauded; bring them every one forward and have them sworn.

The Sheriff went on a prospecting tour among the spectators and inquired of a great many if they had applauded, but couldn't find any one to say yes. He spent about ten minutes in this research and th n returned, telling the Judge that he could find no one.

The Court—Well, bring them all forward, and let them be sworn to answer questions.

Mrs. Fair—Judge, perhaps I was to blame; I shou'd not have said what I did; it was not their fault.

The Court—It is not your response; you are not to blame for what they did.

The Sheriff fastened on to and brought forward an unlucky wight, who trembled like an aspen leaf, and whose face was as pale as a sheet. He was sworn and gave the name of Francis M. Hughes.

The Court—Did you applaud, sir? A.—No, sir.

Did you see any one who did? A.—No, sir; I did not.

The Court to the Sheriff—Go and bring some one who did see some one applaud.

The Sheriff whispered to the Judge.

The Court—Bring her forward.

The Sheriff advanced to where Mrs Emily Pitts Stevens was seated taking notes for The Pioneer; he asked her if she applauded. She was loth to reply. Several bystanders asserted that they saw her applaud, upon which she rose to her feet, and advancing toward the bench, said: "Yes, Judge, I did applaud; I didn't know 'twas against the rule of the Court."

The Court—What is your name? A.—Emily Pitts Stevens; I will pay my fine.

The Court—What did you do? A.—I said "Good," and clapped my hand down on the table; didn't know that I must not do it.

The Court—I will fine you $25.

Mrs. Fair (promptly)—I will pay it.

Another lady here jumped up from the side of Mrs. Pitts Stevens and said, "Judge, I applauded too; I stamped my feet."

The Court—I will fine you $25.

Mrs. Fair—I will pay it.

The Court to Mrs. Fair—You will have a good bill to pay if you pay them all.

Mrs. Fair—I don't think these ladies understood it, Judge.

The Court—Well, they will understand it now.

This little episode occupied about fifteen minutes.

Soldiers' Land Warrants.

In answer to an inquiry received a week or two since, as to the right of discharged soldiers to enter public land by soldiers' warrants, we have the authority of The Sacramento Union for saying that no such right exists, except under a clause of the Homstead act. The bill designed to give ex-soldiers the right to enter 160 acres each anywhere upon the public domain failed to pass the Senate. Under the Homestead act any person who served ninety days in either the army or navy during the rebellion and afterwards remained loyal, may enter a quarter section of land, not mineral, of the alternate reserved sections of public land within railroad grants. The effect of this is to give to soldiers and sailors who served during the rebellion the right to enter 160 acres of land, held at $2 50 an acre instead of 80 acres, the maximum amount of this land which others are allowed to enter.

Locomotives as Missionaries.

Brigham Young finds his absolute power over his deluded followers gradually weakening since the opening of the Pacific Railroad. Even the threat of excommunicating those who read the Mormon Tribune does not stay the progress of free thought and independent action. The number of the "rebels" is constantly increasing. Says The Christian Weekly in this connection:

In fact the locomotive does better missionary work than the Jesuit propagandist; it is more a civilizer; teaches a broader humanity and a more catholic religion. Railroad conductors ignore the absurd distinctions of caste. The iron track makes a highway not only for the development of material prosperity, but for the subversion of superstition and the progress and triumph of Christianity. Till within a generation the means of locomotion known in the days of the patriarchs wore still in use. It is but seventeen years since the first railway was begun at Bombay. Though the system is still in its infancy, the lines in operation in India in 1868, carried fifteen million passengers and three million tons of goods.

Lake Tahoe Project.

The San Francisco correspondent of The Gold Hill News interviewed Von Schmidt a few days ago in relation to the San Francisco and Lake Tahoe water project. After considerable pumping the following questions and answers followed:

Question—Will you give me an outline of your plans, Colonel?

Colonel—With pleasure, though they are yet subject to modification. We shall erect a dam four miles down the Truckee, in Squaw valley, and from there run a tunnel through 12,000 feet to the north fork of the American river, use the natural channel of the river for forty miles, and then tap it not far from Auburn, in Placer county. If we extend it from that point to San Francisco we shall lay pipes along the line of the Central Pacific Railroad to some place in Alameda county, make a reservoir there, then bring it over the bay by submerged pipes.

Q.—Are the engineering difficulties of the project considered very great?

Col.—Not particularly so. Crossing the bay is the worst part of it. That will have to be done by driving piles from shore to shore, building a platform on them then jointing the pipe and sinking it like a cable. A floating platform, such as a scow, or vessel of any kind would not do, on account of rising or falling with the tide, which would break the piping. The length of the works from Lake Tahoe to San Francisco will be 159 miles; 5 miles of tunneling, 112 of pipe, and 44 in the beds of the Truckee and American rivers.

The Colonel then referred to a map, and pointed out that fully two-thirds of Lake Tahoe, and some 24 miles of the Truckee were in California, and that consequently Nevada had no jurisdiction. Then, turning to the Act of Congress of July 26, 1866, he read section 9 which inferentially gives a United States title to water when taken for mining, agricultural or manufacturing purposds.

"Nevada," he continued "will suffer no injury by our works, and will have no cause for legal action. We shall commence operations in May, as soon as the snow clears off, and we are assured that there is no reason to fear anything that the Sagebrush State can do to prevent us.

The section of the act upon which Von Schmidt relies reads as follows:

SECTION 9. And be it further enacted, that wherever, by priority of posession, rights to the use of water for mining, agricultural, manufacturing or other purposes have vested or accrued, and the same are recognized and acknowledged by local customs, laws and decisions of Courts, the possessors and owners of such vested rights shall be maintained and protected in the same; and the right of way for the construction of ditches and canals for the purpose aforesaid is hereby acknowledged and confirmed. Provided, however, that whenever, after the passage of this act, any person or persons shall, in the construction of any ditch or canal, injure or damage the possessions of any settler on the public domain; the party committing such injury or damage shall be liable to the party injured for such injury or damage.

Income Tax for 1870.

The New York Evening Post of March 18th gives this synopsis of the revenue laws, as amended in 1870: By the internal revenue law, as amended in 1870, it is the duty of every citizen whose gross income last year exceeded $2,000 to make and render to the assistant assessor of the division in which he lives, a return of his income for taxation on or before the 1st of March. The neglect to do this leaves it in the power of the assessor to make a a return for him according to the best information he can obtain, and to increase the tax fifty per cent. as a penalty for the neglect. The duty of making these returns has been very generally neglected under the expectation that Congress would abolish the tax, but it is now improbable that anything can be done at the present session, and in order to avoid the penalty citizens cannot be too prompt in handling in their returns.

The taxable income of each person is determined by adding together the following items: The wages or salary received for services from any government, corporation or other employer; the rents received from houses or lands; the interest on notes, bond or mortgages, or on money lent on any or on no security; the profits of speculation in stocks, bonds or gold, and those obtained upon the sale of any house or lands during the year which had been purchased within two years preceding; and the dividends on stocks or shares, except that the dividends of corporations which have themselves witheld the tax from stockholders, and paid it to the United States, are not to be included, nor that part of the salary of officers of the United States from which the tax has been deducted at the time of payment, nor any pension paid to a soldier or sailor.

From the aggregate income as thus determined each tax-payer will deduct the national, State, county and municipal taxes paid during the year; the rent of land for cultivation and of premises for business purposes; the rent of the house and rooms occupied as a residence; but not the rental value, if owned by the tax-payer himself; and the amount paid for ordinary repairs but not for permanent improvements.

The remainder of the gross income, after these deductions are made, constitutes the net income for the year; and two thousand dollars are further to be deducted from this amount. The remainder is the taxable income, on which a tax of two and a half per cent. is to be levied and paid. This tax is due and payable on or before the 30th day of April; and a penalty of five per cent. upon the amount of tax, and of interest at the rate of one per cent. per month, is to be levied for neglect to make payment at that time, or within ten days after the collector has demanded the tax.

The returns of income made this year are not to be published; and the officers administering the law are required to keep them secret. Nor is any penalty to be levied for error or neglect on the tax payers part, except after a full opportunity is afforded him to be heard, and to present evidences that he is not guilty of such neglect or error. But there is no provision in the law requiring the Assessor to demand a return, or to notify citizens of their obligations to make their returns. Every man is supposed to know the law, and a failure to obey it is such a neglect as incurs the penalty. It will, therefore, be necessary for tax payers to seek their assistant assessors at once, and tender to them such a statement as we have described.

An Affair of Honor.

A couple of well known individuals, residing at Fish Springs in this county, a week or two since got into a wordy war, in which one designated the other as a liar, and the other, in turn, described his man as a thief. The only way to settle these "hefty" charges was by resorting to the code de honor for mutual satisfaction, and in accordance a meeting was arranged to come off on the following morning. The appointed time arrived, but one of the principals did not. His second did, however, and then and there negotiated for an interest in the matter, challenging his principal's adversary for an encounter. Scene Second opens with the party waiting for the original principal, who this time fails to put in an appearance. The last we heard of the matter, the war-like second was in our office endeavoring to get a "card" published, denouncing his man—the principal who didn't figure in affair No. 2—as a coward, etc. As yet there has been no powder wasted, no surgeon needed, no coroner's inquest upon a cold, demnition, damp, disagreeable body, and consequently no item to employ the pencil of poor, cheerless Lokleitems.

Narrow Escape.

One day last week, as the wind was tearing round indiscriminately, an incipient fire was discovered in a wooden partion in the residence of John Lentell, Esq., just in the rear of his drug store. It had caught from sparks from a loose joint of stove-pipe, and had just broken into a flame when discovered, having been smouldering probably for an hour or two. A bucket or two of water extinguished it, but its timely discovery was indeed fortunate, for once broken through to air and wind nothing could have saved the entire town from ashes. Can such sheer good luck always attend us? Possibly, for a time; but when the devouring flames do break out during the prevalence of our high winds, we will be found perfectly helpless to save the town from destruction, unless steps are taken to procure a fire apparatus. We call upon the Canvassing Committee to tell us what has been done.

Arrival.

By due notice given elsewhere, it will be seen that The Independent establishment has been reinforced by the arrival of a young assistant. The happy senior becomes a convert to the doctrine of woman's rights, and says she shall vote. According to the printer parient, it has already made an impression, and that the form is made up, although for the first few years its case will be principally employed to hold pi. It is now somewhat out of sorts, and crys for more ces. He says it is proof against correction because it is nonpariel, and adds (by way of parenthesis) that, not occupying sufficient space, it needs justifying to properly lift. N. B.—This article has been smuggled in, and all hands are now on the lookout for squalls.

Spring.

For all the valley over, to be seen by any rover, the cattle are lowly lowing, and the willows green are growing; the rose bush slow is blooming, a verdant garb assuming. Grass-covered are the plains, limpid streams flow down the lanes—the new-set trees to irrigate, foliage thereon to reinstate; the eye rests upon those leafy bowers, refreshed by nary April showers. Num'rous pools are on the street, water wasted, lost complete. The birds in merry jubilee, sing from every bush and tree; the tables are loaded with garden truck, and—and right here our machine is stuck.

New Job Office.

Opposition is said to be the life of trade, a maxim which we accept, and so can have no objections to the printing office resently established at Lone Pine. But in sheer self-defense we ask that the proprietors either employ a competent printer, or else put their imprint on their jobs, as we do upon ours. We do not desire to be accredited with any of their work, and with this object in view we give them this notice, advertising the fact that there is such an institution there.

Right Now.

Parties who have received statements of their accounts from this office are earnestly requested to pay the same at once. Now is the appointed time, as we have large quantities of paper, ink, and material to pay for; besides, if all hands will pay up, we will give you a larger, and better and greatly improved paper for the second volume—the first is drawing to a close.

At the Fort.

Slight shocks of earthquake are reported as having been noticed at Camp Independence last Wednesday and Thursday. It is probable that there was a succession of slight tremors, extending over the days mentioned, as no two accounts exactly corroborate as to the time. We await reports from the Earthquakopolis with the greatest interest.

Stage Line Changed.

We have it that the Southern stage line, from Visalia here, has been sold by Mr. Thoms to a gentleman formerly agent for the same whose name we did not learn. The line is said to be good property, the stages running full both ways, down and back from Lone Pine.

Fire Meeting.

As will be seen by due notice given elsewhere, a special meeting of the Engine company has been called for next Monday night. It will be well for every member to attend, as it is about time something was being done, if we intend to do it.

Opposition.

It is authentically stated that a party is now engaged in fixing up a stage team and wagon to run as an opposition line between this place, Lone Pine and Cerro Gordo.

Cerro Gordo.

Several items of interest will be found in our letter from Cerro Gordo this week. Our Lone Pine correspondents seem to have "chopped." What's the matter?

Garden Seeds.

Attention is called to the notice of J. B. Rowley, which sets forth the fact that he has now on hand a choice variety of garden seeds. Go and get some and—plant them.

Re-Elected.

Judge J. A. Hannah, former incumbent, was elected to the office of Recorder of Lone Pine District, at the election held at Cerro Gordo on the 1st instant.

Shocking.

A slight earthquake is reported to have been felt in this place about 10 o'clock on last Wednesday.

LETTER FROM CERRO GORDO.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

CERRO GORDO, April 11.

MESSRS. EDITORS: The quiet of our camp is seldom disturbed by startling events, such as are chronicled by the press of large cities, such as elopements, for instance—except by foot-pads, who occasionally elope with a saddle, or some other portable piece of furniture. One important reason, if no other existed, suggests itself to my mind, i. e. our ladies being of rather contented dispositions, probably do not see clearly how they could better their respective conditions, and hence prefer to endure their present evils (if they have any) than to "fly to those they know not of." They are strong minded enough to attend to their own proper affairs, and let the lords of creation attend to theirs.

THE MINES

Are yielding up their treasures of wealth handsomely. The Front mine is turning out 10 tons of rich galena ore per day, with only a few men at work. Messrs. Belshaw & Beaudry are taking out 30 tons per day through the Buena Vista tunnel, making 40 tons per day to the two companies, both delivering their ore through the same tunnel. The Ygnacio mine, in the Lower Town of Cerro Gordo is being worked again. The Omega tunnel, worked by Messrs. Simpson, Hoffman & Brady, situated near Belshaw's furnace, is being driven ahead rapidly. At present writing it is in over 700 feet, and the owners expect soon to be taking out ore. The silver mines on the east side of the mountains are looking well, and yielding up their rich treasures handsomely. The Oceola company have let their tunnel by contract to William Bastion, who expects soon to tap the ledge. Bill is an experienced miner, and seems to be gifted with good luck, as some would call it, in taking contracts and pushing them to completion. It was Bastion and a comrade of his, William Jenkins, who took hold of the Buena Vista tunnel (at a time when stormy clouds were hanging over the heads of the then owners, Messrs. White & Williams), and drove it into ore—he and his companion taking the chances of getting their pay out of the mine. The result is well known. Some might call it good luck; but a more appropriate way of expressing it would be good judgment, backed by a strong will and muscle. The Friendship mine, owned and worked principally by Messrs. Devlin & Co., is turning out a fine quality of ore. The Wittekind company have not got in with their tunnel yet, but the enterprising owners are pushing their work vigorously, and can not fail of success. The San Lucas tunnel is progressing favorably, as is also the tunnel of Mr. Anderson and others, situated near the San Lucas mine.

You may expect good reports from here as soon as these tunnels are into the ledges. Lone Pine district will make a good record for herself during the coming season, especially Cerro Gordo and vicinity.

BULLION.

There is now on hand at the two furnaces of this place between 5,000 and 6,000 bars of bullion, and the furnaces still manufacturing.

More anon. CITIZEN.

School Election.

An election of Trustees of Independence School District is announced to take place at the school house on April 30, between the hours of 12 and 4 o'clock. If Lokleitems was called upon to express his opinion on the matter he would recommend that the old Board be supplanted by men with a contingent interest in such things, who will carefully examine the accounts and transactions of their predecessors. The present incumbents are aspirants for re-election, and it well behooves American citizens to carefully guard their interests by opposing them. Fealty to principle is also requisite and party interests must not be lost sight of. "To the victors belong the spoils," but as they have enjoyed the public pap, shelve them. Amen! If we were a voter, and not an unregistered Chinaman, we would cast our ballot for Messrs. B. P. Tasker, P. W. Bennett and W. P. George. Selah!

Deep Spring.

A private letter from Mr. J. B. Hiskey, of the mill at Deep Spring Valley, under date of April 10, received yesterday, says: "We have the furnace completed and fired up, and will be in full blast in a few days. Will start the mill to-morrow. I worked 800 pounds of Paul's tailings through the pan without roasting and got about 60 ounces of amalgam; it is as good 'truck' as I ever took out of Washoe. How is that for high?" The same correspondent adds that bullion shipments from that rich district will soon commence.

Lager Beer.

The Pioneer and Germania Breweries, at this place and Lone Pine, are making preparations to furnish unlimited supplies of the most palateable lager to everybody during the coming Summer. This is an important home industry, the establishmen under charge of Baron Louis at Lone Pine being one of the best in the county, while Joe's establishment in this place is no small potatoes. Read their poetical advertisement.

Blacksmithing.

Uncle Abe Parker notifies the farmers and everybody else that he is well prepared to do every class of blacksmithing, repairing etc., from the lightest horseshoe to the heaviest wagon work. We can indorse "Uncle Abe" as a square business man and good advertiser and his (seven) benign countenance and liberal ways are so well-known that indorsement by us is super fluous. See his ad.

Hymenial.

As the subject of the following notice is to become a citizen of this county, we quote the following from The Gold Hill News, of April 8th:

Quite a fashionable and high-toned wedding came off in Virginia City last evening at the elegant mansion of the bride. Bishop Whittaker married General J. B. Winters to the beautiful and accomplished widow of the late Judge A. W. Baldwin. From an old bachelor who was present, we learn that the happy couple, during the solemn and sacred marriage ceremony, surrounded by a large and fashionable party of invited guests, presented one of the most beautiful scenes that he ever laid eyes upon. (The aforesaid "bach" is now "on the marry" himself, and was looking around Slippery Gulch to-day to see who would have him—being tall, handsome, warm-hearted, etc.) About an hour after the marriage the happy couple left the gay and festive scenes of their beautiful mansion and in an elegant carriage and four started from Virginia City for Reno, to take the cars over the mountains to the balmy and sweetly perfumed air of the green valleys of California, to roam amid the sweets of love and bliss in their new and happy condition of life.

The Erie Fight.

The New York Tribune of March 29th expresses itself as follows:

Litigation has carried Erie into deep water. The English stockholders have forced it from its own particular dung-hill in Judge Barnard's Court, and now grapple it in the United States Circuit Court, before Judge Blatchford, where Jay Gould and Fisk, Jr., will doubtless find they cannot carry it so loftily as heretofore. They have already resorted, in order to delay a conclusion, to the extrordinary demurrer that not enough complainants appear against them, and insist on involving Commodore Vanderbilt, Richard Schell and others, who have just beaten Erie in its own Courts, on the present issue. The case is still on in this Court, but judgement in another for $35,000 has been enforced by the Sheriff of Orange county, who has seized a large amount of rolling stock and other property of the road at Port Jervis. The natural result of such reverses as Gould and Fisk, Jr., have encountered of late have been suggested by us on former occasions. The end is not hard to see, and astute business men suspect that it is not far distant.

A New Apple.

I have just received a dozen apple trees from a noted nursery at Beaver Dam, Wisconsin. They came postage paid in one package, in fine order for transplanting, and are of one year's growth from the graft, which was inserted below the surface of the ground. I mention this fact because I believe it to be the finest variety known, and some of your readers might be pleased to know where it can be obtained. It is called the Tetopsky apple, and originated in Asiatic Russia. It is the earliest variety of which we have any knowledge, besides being remarkable for its beauty and excellence, unrivalled for the early market, and not excelled for table and other use by any other summer apple. It is slightly sub-acid and of an aromatic flavor, very juicy and a prolific bearer. It is also called the "Poor Man's Apple," and may be obtained any time within the next two months, or in October next. I would urge upon our settlers, the most of whom manifest a commendable interest in the culture of fruit, the importance of procuring trees of the most valuable kinds. It is no more trouble to raise good than poor fruit, and infinitely more satisfactory and profitable. The price of these trees is only six dollars a dozen. Address J. Gould. I can recommend him as a gentleman of strict integrity, prompt and reliable.—Solomon W. Jewett in Kern County Courier.

Notoriety Seeker.

Sol Hews Sanborn, an eccentric old batter of Medford, Mass., has made one of the oddest of wills, and, anxious to enjoy the notoriety of it in his lifetime, has published it. He gives his body to Prof. Agassiz and Dr. O. W. Holmes to be placed in the museum of anatomy at Cambridge. But he wants two drum heads made of his skin, on one of which shall be indelibly written "Pope's Universal Prayer," and on the other the Declaration of Independence; and on these drum heads shall be beaten the national air of Yankee Doodle at the base of Bunker Hill monument annually at sunrise on the 17th of June. The parts of his body useless for anatomical purposes are to be composited for a fertilizer "to nourish the growth of an American elm, to be planted or set out on some rural public thoroughfare, that the weary wayfaring man may rest, and innocent children playfully sport beneath the shadow of its umbrageous branches, rendered luxuriant by my carcass."

Salt for Ague.

The following appears as a leading editorial in The Cleveland Herald:

We wish to give a very simple remedy for fever and ague and wish to emphasize it by saying that it has, to our knowledge, proved very efficacious. It is simply common salt. A teaspoonful taken in water, and a teaspoonful deposited inside each stocking next the foot, just as the chill is coming on. That's all there is of it; but knowing that it has been very efficacious in "breaking" the chill and perfecting a cure, we put it in our editorial columns, where no humbug remedy shall ever find a place, if we know it.

—A good story is told of himself by a season ticket holder on the Boston and Maine Railroad—a wide-awake, jolly, generous, joke-loving gentleman, liberal in his religion. Riding in a horse car a short time since with the Catholic priest of his village, who had been active in trying to induce his flock to become temperate, he familiarly addressed him in language something as follows: "Father——you are doing pretty good work just now—I don't know but you are doing as much good as all the other clergymen in town." The priest quietly replied that he was doing what he could to improve his people. "I'll tell you what it is," continued the gentleman, "I've been thinking of attending your church, but was afraid it would cost too much to get all my sins pardoned." "Oh," said the priest, "we can manage your case; when we have a very large contract we make a liberal discount!"

—The following lines were lately received by a young lady of Anaheim, accompanied by a boquet:

Accept this bokey from a feller,
Who oft has heard the kannon beller:
Has listened to the fifes a tooten,
And helped to do a heap of shooten;
Has seen the war-clouds dark arise,
Like fifty buzzards when they flies;
Who is much bigger than his dad,
And wants to marry—mighty bad.
—Gazette.

—John Randolph was once on a race course, solicited to bet by a stranger, who said, "Smith here will hold the stake."

"Just so," replied the descendant of Pocahontas, "but who will hold Smith?"

—A woman's rights newspaper is abont to be established in Paris. The men having failed to maintain order, the women will now try it.

—The way to speak and write what shall not go out of fashion, is to speak and write sincerely.

—Always pray for patience; every day will bring something that will call for its exercise.

—Why must a line drawn by a pen be always on a slope? Because it's an ink line.

—She who can compose a cross baby is greater than she who can compose books.

—Praises are valuable only when they fall from lips that have the courage to condemn.

—An acre of land has been sold in the city of London for $3,000,000.

—Buffalo meat is selling in Kansas City at five cents per pound.

MUSICAL.

PATENT ARION PIANO.

A Few Reasons WHY THE ARION PIANO IS Superior to All Others.

THE ARION PIANO-FORTE HAS GREATER Power than any other Piano Forte manufactured.

It Will Stand In Tune Longer,

And in its mechanical construction it is more perfect, and therefore, more durable than any instrument constructed in the usual modern style.

The arrangement of the Agraffe, the manner of stringing, the peculiar form and arrangement of the Iron Frame,

Supersedes all Others.

The use of a bar (which is part of the Iron Frame), on a line with the heavy steel stringing, gives

Great Strength

Where most needed, and in this respect all other Pianos fail.

The construction of the WREST PLANK, into which the Tuning Pins are inserted, is such that it is impossible for the pins to become loosened, or the Wrest Plank itself to split, as is too often the case in other Piano Fortes.

The Extraordinary Evenness

Throughout the entire scale, the excellent Singing Quality, the

Length and Purity on Vibration,

All go to prove what we claim, viz.: that the

Arion Piano Forte

Is the BEST INSTRUMENT Manufactured.

THE PATENT

Arion Pianos

ARE USED EXCLUSIVELY IN THE

American Conservatories of Music,

Of New York City.

THE MOST SEVERE TEST A PIANO CAN RECEIVE IS CONSTANT USE IN A CONSERVATORY.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

IT affords me much pleasure to give you, in these few lines, a very sincere testimonial for the Piano Fortes of your manufacture. We have now used the "PATENT ARION PIANOS" in our Conservatories for a year, and have had a fair opportunity of testing their durability during that time. The Pianos have been played upon almost constantly, from morning until night, and a Piano must indeed be a good one when it will bear such constant use without showing signs of defection. As for REMAINING IN TUNE, it outrivals any Piano known to me.

Their peculiar sweetness of tone in the treble (as compared to other Pianos with the ordinary metal agraffe arrangement), is so striking that I have had pupils remark, while taking their lessons, that although they had at home what they supposed to be one of the best makes of Pianos, still the treble was very wiry toned compared with the "ARION."

What makes them still more desirable is their uniform volume of tone, which enables an Artist to perform a composition in its true character.

In total, I can conscientiously endorse all that is claimed by the ARION PIANO-FORTE COMPANY for their superb instruments, as I consider them superior to any other make.

Congratulating you upon the great success you have obtained in the manufacture of so perfect an instrument, I remain yours,

Very truly,
HENRY SHROEDER,
DIRECTOR.

New York, September 31, 1870.

AGENTS WANTED.

We want first class and responsible agents in every city and town where we have not already appointed them.

We Have Just Published

Our Annual Illustrated Pamphlet, which contains a full description of the interior construction of the PATENT ARION PIANO FORTE, and all the other leading Pianos of the principal makes; illustrated with cuts, thus contrasting the ARION with all other first class Pianos, and proving

WHY AND WHERE

Our Pianos are superior to any in the market.

Our pamphlet contains engravings of all the different styles of Instruments that we manufacture, giving a full description of each so that a person can select the style they may desire to order, with the assurance that they will receive just as good a Piano as if they were in our warerooms to select it. We have sold over FIVE THOUSAND Pianos, many of them being shipped great distances, and we have never yet received the first complaint. As we give a written guarantee with every Piano we manufacture, for five years, the purchaser runs no risk.

☞ Don't fail to write for our pamphlet which we mail free, and when you write state what paper you saw this notice in. ☜

N. B.—We caution the public from purchasing a cheap Piano which has recently been put in the market, bearing the name "Arion." All genuine Arion Pianos bear the name "Patent Arion," and can only be purchased from our New York Warerooms, or our authorized Agents throughout the United States.

CRAPE PILLS.

Component Parts—Fluid Extract Rhubarb and Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Juice.

FOR LIVER COMPLAINTS, JAUNDICE, BILIOUS AFFECTIONS, SICK OR NERVOUS HEADACHE, COSTIVENESS, ETC. PURELY VEGETABLE, CONTAINING NO MERCURY, MINERALS OR DELETERIOUS DRUGS.

H

THESE PILLS ARE THE MOST DELIGHTFULLY pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts, magnesia, etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the FINEST INGREDIENTS. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear miraculous to the weak and enervated, whether arising from imprudence or disease. H. T. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar coated Pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. THE CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated.

E

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

HIGHLY CONCENTRATED COMPOUND

Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla

L

Being Prepared Expressly for the above complaints, its Blood Purifying Properties are greater than any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. It gives the complexion a Clear and Healthy Color and restores the patient to a State of Health and Purity. For Purifying the Blood, removing all Chronic Constitutional Diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, and the Only Reliable and Effectual known Remedy for the Cure of Pains and Swelling of the Bones, Ulcerations of the Throat and legs, Blotches, Pimples on the Face, Erysipelas and all Scaly Eruptions of the Skin, and Beautifying the Complexion.

M

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

CONCENTRATED

FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

THE GREAT DIURETIC,

Has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given, Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick Dust Deposit, and Mucous or Milky Discharges, and for Enfeebled and Delicate Constitutions of Both Sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, etc.

Used by persons from the ages of eighteen to twenty five, and from thirty five to fifty five or in the decline or change of life; after confinement or labor pains; bed wetting in children.

B

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, and excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the blood, etc., superseding copaiba in affections for which it is used, and syphilitic affections—in these diseases used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

LADIES.

In many affections peculiar to Ladies, the EXTRACT BUCHU is unequalled by any other Remedy—as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Sterrility, and for all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from indiscretion or habits of dissipation. It is prescribed extensively by the most eminent Physicians and Midwives for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes and all ages (attended with any of the above diseases or symptons).

O

H. T. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU CURES DISEASES ARISING FROM IMPRUDENCES, HABITS OF DISSIPATION, ETC.

In all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience, and no exposure. It causes a frequent desire, and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, Allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous matter.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found that they have been deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "powerful astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all Affections and Diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing.

L

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH

Can not be surpassed as a FACE WASH, and will be found the only specific Remedy in every species of Cutaneous Affection. It speedily eradicates Pimples, Spots, Scoroutic Dryness Indurations of the Cutaneous Membrane, etc., dispels Redness and Incipient Inflammation, Hives, Rash, Moth Patches, Dryness of Scalp or Skin, Frost Bites, and all purposes for which Salves or Ointments are used; restores the skin to a healthy state of Purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principal claim to unbounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a Toilet Appendage of the most Superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, Safety and Efficacy—the invariable accompaniment of its use—is a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the the EXTRACTS BUCHU, SARSAPARILLA AND CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, in such diseases as recommended can not be surpassed.

The Great Medical Discovery!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar property of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion of Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

WOMAN'S SPHERE.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

MESSRS. EDITORS: I am truly thankful for the opportunity to write below the surface of life, to point out to coming generations the errors of this, and the causes which have led the world well nigh to bankruptcy of all honor and faith of man in his brother man, and still less in his sister woman. The agitation of the public mind upon the above subject shows that a new era of social and political life is dawning upon the world; for it is not only agitated in our own free country, but is heaving underneath the despotisms of the Old World. I care not how much argument or objections there may be brought against the subject for the more the better.

I still fail to see the defining line of duties between the sexes, so plainly perceived by my opponent. The true sphere of any person is not determined by race or sex, but by inclination and capacity. In saying that Queen Victoria was more noted as a good wife and mother than as a sovereign, is admitting one of the strongest points in favor of woman's suffrage, as it proves that the highest position in the government of a nation is not incompatible with domestic peace or womanly duties. The false idea that the women must do man's work if they have the ballot, is a part of that masculine logic that tends to darken counsel, as per Job's friend, with words without knowledge; but its effects will be to open up new avenues for female labor and enterprise, and to demand the same pay for the same amount of labor that men receive.

That household is happiest and best ruled, wherein both parents mutually help and consult each other with regard to the interests and government of the children and its domestic economy, which differs but little from political rule and economy, especially when the latter is stripped of its financial mysteries of high protective tariffs and the monopolies of land and railroad and other speculations.

As to the lucid (?) statement of my opponent that "In the nature of things since the beginning it would not be a practicable thing to reverse the order of domestic economy." I leave that for some one else to solve. But is not this being done, according to his idea, by men who are cooks and keep laundrys, etc.? If, as he asserts, the duties of each sex are so clearly defined, how is it that men are found in almost every kind of labor in doors which he says belongs exclusively to women?

It is a wonder how women have ever achieved as much of true greatness in art and literature as they have been denied access to colleges and professions of scientific studies, and remunerative offices and employments—ever told that these were out of her sphere, and that the happiness of the world would be endangered by her attempting to go beyond the household routine of home duties.

I also fail to see why the name of Joan of Arc or that of Queen Elizabeth should be numbered with woman tyrants; but either of those male tyrants, Antiochus, Epiphanes, Nero, Tamerlane or Henry the VIII committed more cruelties in their reigns, it is safe to say, than all the female sovereigns that ever sat upon a throne.

Trying to cure diseases or moral evils by the shedding of blood is being discarded, both physically and metaphysically, since two wrongs can not make a right; and so sure as the law of reason and right is ever to triumph over false theories and brute force, just so surely will all cause of war be settled by arbitration. Justice and mercy will only be truly blended when woman stands by man in all the higher duties of life, as she has been compelled to do in all the lowest and most degrading; and as she has been man's helpmeet and counselor in these lowest conditions of life, why may she not be trusted to help to guide the ship of State, and with her keener sense of harmony help to clense the "filthy pool of politics?"

Women are not all angels, and if they were few would find their mates in this life; but they have rights and duties to perform that are not to be neglected or transferred to others. The highest of these is the rights and privileges of citizen hip, which is hers as well as man's; and nothing short of the social and political equality of the social and political equality of the sexes will restore honor and prosperity to our monopolized Government.

L. H.

P. S. One word more about "man's knowing best how to legislate for the little community he represents," meaning wife and children. How then about those who don't belong to these communities, with numbers fast increasing? Have they no separate interests to be represented?

The facts are, that very little legislation has ever been done for the sole purpose of benefitting "these little communites," for these are often residing in other States than those in which their lawful representative is sent to legislate and help to pass laws often opposed to woman's highest aspirations and interests.

L.

My First Experience in Journalism.

BY MARK TWAIN.

I was a very smart child at the age of thirteen—an unusually smart child, I thought at the time. It was then that I did my first newspaper scribbling, and, most unexpectedly to me, it stirred up a fine sensation in the community. It did indeed, and I was very proud of it too.

I was a printer's "devil," and a progressive and aspiring one. My uncle had me on his paper (The "Weekly Hannibal Journal.") two dollars a year in advance—500 subscribers, and they paid in cord-wood, cabbages, and unmarketable turnips), and on a lucky Summer's day he left town to be gone a week, and asked me if I thought I could edit one issue of the paper judiciously. Ah, didn't I want to try! Hinton was the editor of the rival paper. He had lately been jilted, and one night a friend found an open note on the poor fellows bed, in which he stated that he could no longer endure life and had drowned himself in Bear Creek. The friend ran down there and discovered Hinton wading back to shore! He had concluded he wouldn't. The village was full of it for several days, but Hinton did not suspect it. I thought this was a fine opportunity. I wrote an elaborately wretched account of the whole matter, and then illustrated it with villainous cuts engraved on the bottom of wooden type with a jack knife—one of them a picture of Hinton wading out into the creek in his shirt, with a lantern, sounding the depth of the water with a walking stick. I thought it was desperately funny, and was densely unconscious that there was any moral obliquity about this publication. Being satisfied with this effort, I looked about for other worlds to conquer, and it struck me that it would make good interesting matter to charge the editor of a neighboring country paper with a piece of gratuitous rascality and "see him squirm!" I did it, putting the article into the form of a parody on the Burial of "Sir John Moore"—and a pretty crude parody it was too. Then I lampooned two prominent citizens outrageously—not because they had done anything to deserve it, but merely because I thought it was my duty to make the paper lively. Next I gently touched up the newest stranger—the lion of the day, the gorgeous journeyman tailor from Quincy. He was a simpering coxcomb of the first water, and the "loudest" dressed man in the State. He was an inveterate women-killer. Every week he wrote lushy "poetry" for The Journal about his newest conquest. His rhymes for my week were headed "Mary in H—l," meaning Mary in Hannibal, of course. But while setting up the piece I was suddenly riven from head to heel by what I regarded as perfect thunderbolt of humor, and I compressed into a snappy foot-note at the bottom, thus: "We will let this thing pass, just this once; but we wish Mr. J. Gordon Runnels to understand distinctly that we have a character to sustain, and from this time forth, when he wants to commune with his friends in h—l, he must select some other medium than the columns of this journal!"

The paper came out, and I never knew a little thing attract so much as those trifles of mine. For once The Hannibal Journal was in demand—a novelty it had not experienced before. The whole town was stirred. Hinton dropped in with a double-barreled shotgun early in the fore noon. When he found that it was an infant (as he called me) that had done him the damage, he simply pulled my ears and went away; but he threw up his situation that night and left town for good. The tailor came with his goose and a pair of shears; but he despised me too, and departed for the South that night. The two lampooned citizens came with threats of libel, and went away incensed at my insignificance. The country editor pranced in with a war whoop next day, suffering for blood to drink; but ended by forgiving me cordially and inviting me down to the drug store to wash away all animosity in a friendly bumper of "Fahnestock's Vermifuge." It was his little joke.

My uncle was very angry when he got back—unreasonably so, I thought, considering what an impetus I had given the paper, and considering also that gratitude for his preservation ought to have been uppermost in his mind, inasmuch as by his delay he had so wonderfully escaped dissection, tomahawking, libel, and getting his head shot off. But he softened when he looked at the accounts and saw that I had actually booked the unparalled number of thirty-three new subscribers and had the vegetables to show for it, cord-wood, cabbage, beans, and unsaleable turnips enough to run the family for two years!

—A Connecticut lawyer, who wished to cross the river on the ice, was told that it would be entirely safe to make the attempt if he crawled over on his hands and knees. Anxious to go, he humbled himself accordingly, and had laboriously got half way across when he was overtaken by a man driving along leisurely in a buggy. The rapidity with which he assumed an upright position was startling to the driver.

—A traveling piano-player undertook to whip an Illinois editor, and when he got through he had only one ear for music.

Pre-emption

We give the following as of interest to people of this section:

WASHINGTON, March 28th, 1871.

A. A. Sargent, House of Representatives, Sir: Referring to your letter of the 20th instant, inclosing a copy of joint resolution No. 21, approved March 3d, 1871, extending time for payment of pre-emption claims upon unoffered lands, I have to state that instructions under the same will be communicated to the several district land officers in due order.

Very respectfully,

WILLIS DRUMMOND, Commissioner.

REVOLUTIONARY FRANCE.

Why is France revolutionary? Haven't they had misfortune enough yet to appreciate a peaceful government? Is it the gold of Bonaparte or Orleans that causes the arched elements of Parisian society to fight "for an idea," that "idea" being "Paris is France, and the red faction of Paris is the true sovereign of the people?"

The existence of a Republic is impossible as long as the dissatisfaction of individuals can place the life of prominent citizens in jeopardy. Yet to-day, not one of the truest and best tried patriots of France is safe from the fury of a mob that sets every human or divine law at defiance.

They have a government legally elected. They have a parliament which represents the best elements of French society as well as the worst, but in which the better elements predominate. The duty of this government is a plain one. The country lacks one thing above all others. This one thing is "Order." To re-establish order individuals must forget themselves and only think of the state.

This is the result of the baneful policy which, since the days of Louis XIV, has tried to make Paris the capital of the world, and more particularly France. The head grew to an enormous size, while the body wasted. There is to-day an almost irreconcilable opposition between the elements of Paris and those of France. It is because the National Assembly represents in its majority, the people who live outside of Paris that the mob of Paris refuses to submit to its law. And yet, what can they gain by thus opposing the lawful government of the people? Nothing, absolutely nothing. Surely it would be madness to believe for a moment that a minority should rule the majority. It would be the worst kind of despotism, recalling the times of the terrorism in 1792-4.

The revolution in Paris means nothing more or less than this, that the dictates of Paris must be accepted by the rest of the country, in spite of parliament and of established law.

Meanwhile the process of restoring peace and order to disturbed France will be immensely more difficult than it otherwise would be. France is a rich country, and it resources so considerable that the industry and energy of its people would soon make good the losses Franoe has suffered. All that is necessary to enable them to do so is order, and the reign of law; but it seems as though the mob of Paris likes neither the one nor the other.

Permanent peace seems to be impossible in France and for France, as long as the present enormous disproportion between the influence of the capital and the country continues. It is only by the extension of education beyond Paris, and by the gradual growth of time, self-denying patriotism, that the country may hope to gain peace at home and abroad. If there was real patriotism in Paris, every hand and every eye would be anxious to guard and protect the legally chosen government. It is to be hoped that this government will be strong enough to gain by force what it cannot gain by an appeal to the patriotism of the turbulent elements of Paris.

An Eye to Business.

A Washington correspondent tells a story of a member of the Forty-first Congress, whose constituents have kindly allowed him to retire to private life, who during his whole term of Congressional service never drew a dollar's worth of stationery, but instead took a money allowance under an existing rule. But it would not do to neglect his constituents, and he could not correspond with them without writing material; so at an early hour every morning he made a tour of the House, picking up all the loose sheets and scraps of paper from members' desks and transferring them to his own. The same member manifested an exalted appreciation of the value of the Agricultural Department, and was liberal in his drafts upon the seed repository. Upon one occasion he sent in a single order for $1,300 worth of seeds.

Rain.

The heaviest rain storm of the season occurred in Tulare county April 6th. It inspired a hopeful feeling among all classes of residents. About the same date there was quite a sprinkle in Los Angeles that will materially improve the feed, it is said.

THE WOMAN QUESTION.

"L. H" comes up manfully in support of her cause as may be seen by reference to the first page. There is a little lack of courtesy, we will remark en passant, in the continued assumption (by implication at least), that the remarks used in these columns in opposition to the views advanced by "L. H." on this question are to be accredited to some "incog" opponent. Our leading editorial column is not the place to look for communications from other parties, and if anything appears therein that may be dignified as "argument," the editors, whose names appear at the head of the paper, are alone responsible and to be credited therewith.

"L. H." says truly that "the true sphere of any person is not determined by race or sex, but by inclination and capacity." Had women the inclination, as many of them certainly have the capacity, the pages of history would not be so barren of great deeds of females. It is absurd to charge their meagre showing to lack of opportunity or educational advantages or other causes due to statue law. If not admitted to colleges designed for males, their facilites for obtaining a complete education are nowise inferior to those of the other sex, if we are to judge by the number of high grade seminaries there are to be found through out the length and breadth of our land.

The very highest educational talent of the country is to be found managing these institutions, and if the pupils are not benefited thereby it is not for the want of facilities. In a very great majority of cases it is the want of purpose or determination, inclination or ability that prevents them from deriving the full advantages offered—their acquirements are looked upon as only a means of display and not as practicable means with which to battle for fame or fortune. There are notable exceptions to this rule—women who, though not of the "strong minded," that have an ambition to elevate themselves above the too common frivolities engendered by a superficial education. In every institution of learning attended alike by by both sexes, females are quite as proficient in mastering their studies as the other sex. That they do not reap equal future benefits therefrom is wholly due to the laws of nature, and not of man. Women are universally admitted to be better teachers of the young than men, yet we do not recall the name of a single one who ever attained a high degree in the calling. The reason is a natural one, and due to one of the "clearly defined duties" that "L. H." fails to see. For instance, it has been and now is a well founded complaint that the best paid and best qualified lady teachers can not be relied upon to retain her position any great length of time, because natures' laws (or is it man's?) prompts them to accept their natural destiny in the sea of matrimony. Herein again comes the "text." In the performance of her "clearly defined duties,"—but a small portion of which can be shifted upon men's shoulders—for the best portion of her life she can have neither the power or inclination to maintain a situation even as a teacher of a school much less of a nation. Would the privilege of brawling in elections, of being locked up with men of every caste for days and nights in jury rooms, of displaying her forensic talent in the halls of justice and legislation—would these and other similar involved rights and duties compensate a true mother for the necessary neglect of children and home duties? Her natural instincts would lead her to care for home and children first, though a nation crumbled. Perhaps, though, these duties, to some of which every voter is liable, are to be performed by those who have no family ties to interfere.

At present the unmarried female has equal rights, under the law, with her male compeer, save only a certain political right. With this exception it is custom and not statute law that circumscribes her privileges—that makes distinctions in the prices of labor, etc. Will our correspondentspecify any law, that a husband can or does make inimical to the rights of his own family? As law is general in its application, if not subversive to the rights of his own wife and daughters, how can he make laws that will not affect them as well as others? "L. H." in the allusion to those historical females, mentioned in our former article, makes a deduction not warranted by the facts. Their names were mentioned not as "tyrants," but in proof of the assertion that women in general are no less averse to war and bloodshed than men. As a further proof of this assertion, see in this issue the latest news from Paris. We claim that no persons are to be trusted with the power of making war unless willing and able to assume its responsibilities. Joan of Arc is a notable exception, whose deeds were only remarkable because performed by a woman, and so far as her operations were attended by success only because gallantry prompted men to follow where a woman dared to lead. The King of Dahomey is a practical woman's rights man, his women performing the duties of soldiers—but he does not conquer worlds, nor is his example at all likely to be followed by other powers.

We have not the slightest evidence upon which to base a belief that the human family is any less bellicose in its nature than it was in the days of Joshua. That wars are somewhat less frequent is due only to a higher appreciation of the rights of trade and the dictates of policy.

As to the fact that men are often performing indoor duties popularly ascribed to woman, we can only say that it is for the same reason that prevents woman from assuming the higher duties of outdoor life—that is that these duties are better performed by men. The kitchen of an epicure, be he king or vassal, is never presided over by women. We have no historical female cooks. The reason is that her strength and administrative capacity is not equal to the demands of extended operations, when in less degree, as in every day life, she may and does reign supreme.

Our correspondent will note the fact that part of her private letter appears in the communication as published. This was done through an inadvertancy—but the whole is good and well written, if the doctrines advocated are unsound.

NEWS FROM FRANCE.

The forts about the city of Paris are still bombarding the city. The insurgents are committing every possible excess. The Assembly remains in session at Versailles, and the probabilities are good that the Government will be maintained. General McMahon is in command of the government troops. The women of the city have been invited to organize for defense. The official Journal publishes an appeal from sundry women urging the Guards to fight to the last extremity. As there is no likelihood of foreign intervention, the only hope of France of exemption from the horrors similar to those of 1793 lies in the success of the Government at Versailles. With them lives or dies Republican government in Europe, and all lovers of Liberty must hope for their complete success in this terrible conflict.

The Fair-Crittenden Correspondence

The San Francisco correspondent of The Gold Hill News, says:

There is still nothing talked about but Mrs. Fair. It is Mrs. Fair in the parlors, in the saloons, in the street-cars; Mrs. Fair in the pulpit, in the newspaper, in the lecture room: Mrs. Fair, according to some, the worst of her sex; Mrs. Fair, according to others more sinned against than sinning; here spoken of with Christian charity, there held up as a great moral warning; now her crime extenuated, now denounced—the whole community, in fact, resolved into one monster jury, before which the prisoner is daily tried and daily acquitted or found guilty.

The letters written by Mrs. Fair do not prepossess one in favor of the writer. They are very different indeed to those which she received. True, they speak of love and contain fervent assurances of unalterable, passionate devotion, but somehow or other they have not the ring of true metal, and the reader feels that much of the love is counterfeit and mere verbiage. She seems to have done her best to poison Mr. Crittenden's mind against his wife. All the letters exhibit a blind, jealous hatred of that lady—a hatred so strong as to give some color of probability to the opinion I have heard expressed by several, that Mrs. Fair went on to the ferryboat with the intention of killing Mrs. and not Mr. Crittenden.

I have it on good authority that the testimony to be introduced by the prosecution in rebuttal of many of the points made by the defense will prove amongst other things that when the prisoner fired at Mr. Crittenden, at their rooms in this city, the bullet struck him in the arm and inflicted a serious wound. It will be remembered that Mrs. Fair, in giving her evidence about that episode, said that she only fired to frighten him, and that he was behind her at the time in the hall, some distance away. I believe they will also prove that on another occasion she cut him severely with a knife.

With very few exceptions, the press of the city and interior has strictly observed the well known rule of reserving all comments on a trial in progress until the jury have rendered their verdict. The exceptions to this rule in the city have been The Spirit of the Times and The News-Letter. Boruck's paper had a very bitter article against the prisoner in its Saturday's issue, and The News-Letter followed suit with one equally relentless. Dr. Walker of the Howard street Methodist Church, preached a sermon last night from the text "Thou shalt not kill," in which he made several references to the case, and allusions more or less pointed were made by other city pastors. The trial, it is now pretty certain, will last until Friday.

Arizona News.

We clip the following from the San Francisco Bulletin:

Correspondence dated Sanford, Arizona, March 29th, says: The Apaches attacked the train of Hanna and Stanley, on Sunday, March the 26th, four miles from Agua Frio. A man William Hanna was killed, two wounded, and a herder asleep in a wagon was captured. Twenty-eight mules were run off, and one of the five wagons composing the train was burned. An endeavor to burn the others was frustrated by the arrival of men from another train close by.

Captain Pease, United States Army, with a train of eleven wagons, loaded with Government freight, arrived at Fort Yuma on the 1st inst., making the trip from San Diego in eleven days.

Advices from Wickenburg, Arizona, dated April the 2d, state that on the 1st instant the Indians attacked and captured Jones' wagon train of seven wagons, and upwards of seventy animals. A man known as Dutch Henry, who was with the party, was killed. John Burger and another man, while on their way from People's Valley to Wickenburg, were also attacked. Burger was wounded and his companion killed.

Weather clear and pleasant.

Accident.

As Mr. Voght and his wife were driving in a one-horse wagon, on Los Angeles street, yesterday, the horse took fright, the reins broke, the wagon collided with a post, and its occupants were thrown out upon the brick pavement, in front of the Los Angeles Coffee Mills, into which they were carried, and Dr. Kurtz summoned. He reports their injuries as follows: Mrs. Voght, severe contusion, possible fracture of the skull, and dislocation of shoulder joint; danger of death. Mr. Voght, deep cut on head and bad bruise on hip.—Los Angeles Star, April 8th.

Military Exploration.

Lieut. S. M. Wheeler, of the Engineer Corps, has been ordered to proceed at once and explore a large section of country lying south of the Central Pacific Railroad and embracing portions of Nevada and Arizona. This territory has never been scientifically explored and, as it is believed to be rich in minerals, the report will be looked for with interest.

—"Shall I help you to alight?" said a young gentleman, addressing a bouncing country girl, who was preparing to jump from a carriage in front of his office. "Thank you, sir," sweetly replied the girl, "but I don't smoke."

Fatal Shooting.

We are called upon to make a partial record of a bloody affair, which has disturbed the quietude of our little town. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon of last Sunday, a quick succession of pistol shots started all within hearing to the street. They proved to have been discharged by Joseph G. Payne at Luther A. Wills, four shots being fired, three of which took effect. Wills staggered across the street and fell fainting in an open door-way. Dr. F. C. Smith was immediately called and examined the wounds. He found that one ball had lodged under the right shoulder, and one had passed through the left wrist, neither necessarily fatal. The other entered the abdomen near the navel, from the effects of which he died on the following day, after lingering in great agony some 20 hours. Recovering from his swoon, he remained perfectly conscious up to the time of his death. His deposition was taken by Judge A. C. Hanson. Wills was quite a young man, a native, we believe, of Baltimore, where he has a mother and brother residing. He came here from Los Angeles, and for some time past, up to about a month ago, was in Payne's employ. His remains were taken in charge by Independence Engine Co. No. 1, of which organization he was a member, who gave him that Christian burial accorded by all firemen to a deceased brother. The immediate cause of the unfortunate occurrence related to the ownership or possession of a photograph and some letters. Payne is a well known citizen of this place, being a pioneer of the valley. He has a wife and one child, who are now at San Bernardino, they having gone to that place about six weeks ago. After firing the fatal shots, Payne returned to his shop, near the door of which the shooting occurred, and a few minutes afterward was taken in custody by Deputy Sheriff Goodale. For want of a properly qualified magistrate in this place, he is now undergoing an examination before Justice J. J. Moore, of Lone Pine. We refrain from giving the verdict of the Coroner's jury, and until the matter is legally investigated we forbear details or opinions of the affair. We shall give the entire evidence of the case in due time; the trial is likely to be a protracted one, if the prisoner is bound over.

Arithmetical.

A mathematically disposed correspondent writes as follows: "As education is becoming somewhat popular in Owen's Valley, and as we are having some of the N. S. G.'s fresh from the metropolis of our Golden State, I wish to submit a practical mental problem, and would respectfully ask the performer to return through your columns a mental solution. Problem—When Gen. Steele was before Little Rock, Arkansas, with the 7th Army Corps, he found it necessary to flank the works with Davidson's division of cavalry and assault in front with the infantry, and accordingly ordered several batteries to make an equal division of a quantity of fixed ammunition. The first captain took 72 cartridges and one-ninth of the remainder; the second captain took 144 cartridges and one-ninth of the remainder; the third captain took 216, and so on, each captain taking 72 more cartridges than his immediate predecessor, until the ammunition was all taken. In dividing thus it was found that each battery had an equal number of cartridges. How many cartridges were there, and how many batteries? M. S." The problem is a good one, and worthy the attention of our professional and amateur mathematicians. We are by no means disposed to be critical upon correspondents' letters, but since this writer seems anxious to provoke a contest with, and has made unnecessary reference to, some "Normal School graduates, fresh from the metropolis," we would inquire whether his (or her) orthography is absolutely faultless when "having" is spelled with an "e," and "becoming," "taking," etc., with the same superfluity; "mental" with a final "tle," and when "necessary" is rendered "necissary," and makes "army corps" as an "army corpse?" "Untill" is not the approved method of writing that word, and punctuation is sometimes used to an advantage in composition. The writer omits the usual requirement of his real name.

Made a Nice Fire.

A man working at the water ditch being cut for the Eclipse company, one day recently had occasion to bring a load of hay to camp. Having brought it, he deliberately drove up and pitched the entire load directly on top of the embers of the camp-fire, which he had assisted to build in the morning. His interested comrades watched his thoughtless operations, and soon saw the smoke begin to rise. They saw the non-plussed genius cooly drive off a short distance and sheepishly watch the fire. He said, however, that "it was his own hay; he had hauled it along ways, and he'd be d—d if he hadn't a right to burn it!"

Solemncholly.

A party of animated jokists in Lone Pine, during a general "tight," one night last week reached the very climax of ludicrous absurdity. As the revelers successively succumbed to the comatose influences of "drinking between drinks," they were duly "laid out," with head and foot-stones inscribed "In memory of ——; died April 17th, 1871." etc. On one occasion the victim was followed to his own house, and just as he had been comfortably fixed he revived and observed their operations. He simply remarked, "Go in, boys; a fellow can't get drunk without you think he's dead. You will have your little joke!"

The Eclipse Ditch.

Two miles of the long ditch to supply water for the motive power of the big Eclipse mill is now completed. There is a cut of 100 feet long and 11 feet in depth to make to let the water in from the river, but it is now soaking through this and covers the bottom of the ditch for 3,000 feet. A force of twenty-five men and six teams are now employed. Good headway is made, but things will be rushed still faster when some new scrapers arrive, which are daily looked for.

Company Meeting.

An adjourned meeting of Independence Engine Co. No. 1 will be held at the Sazarac Saloon, on Monday evening next, at 7½ o'clock. Members will take notice, and fail not to be promptly on hand.

Sawyer Wanted.

Messrs. Bell & Bro. advertise for a sawyer, to work at their mill at Big Pine. For anyone understanding the business this is a good opportunity. They also want to hire a young man to work on a ranch.

School Closed.

The school at Bishop Creek, under charge of Mr. M. S. Clark, closed its Winter term last Wednesday. This is the largest district in the county, and has had a full and regular attendance.

LETTER FROM CERRO GORDO.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

CERRO GORDO, April 17.

MESSRS. EDITORS: This morning found the territory in this part of the country robed in a thin mantel of snow. The atmosphere is very bracing, and zephyrs are discoursing frigid music around the house corners and eaves, to the exceeding disgust of all out door human bipeds, who are unfortunate enough to belong to the short-hairs. The rays of Old Sol strike the earth at an oblique angle of nothing "divided by infinity." (See "Problem O," the lights Davies Bourdo.)

FIRE.

Yesterday about 5 o'clock P. M., the alarm of fire was heard, in which steam whistles, bells, triangles and human voices mingled their exciting tones. The alacrity with which our populace repaired to the scene would have done credit to the well-disciplined fire departments of some of our cities. Men came from every point of the compass, out of cabins, shafts and tunnels, from mountain sides and up the canyons, all converging to the center of attraction—the wood yard of M. W. Belshaw & Co., where the fire originated, ignited probably by sparks from the furnace. Picks, shovels and buckets were quickly brought into action, and by a vigorous pitching of wood, shoveling and carrying of dirt, the devouring element was speedily subdued. The scene for about thirty minutes was truly lively; the dirt and wood flying in opposite directions filled the air with darkness, and not unfrequently a pair of eyes with dirt. Fortunately, no damage was done, except the premature transformation of two or three cords of wood into an inferior quality of coal, which was a most lucky escape, considering that a cold wind from the west was blowing a perfect gale.

BELLICOCIOUS.

This morning, between the "we sma' hours" and daylight, the quiet of our town was disturbed by a misunderstanding between a member of one of our banking firms and an ex-banker, during which some choice billing-gate was used, followed by a collision of a head and six-shooter. The pistol don't seem to have been injured much; the head, however, gave way to a somewhat profuse flow of vintessence. The conclusion of the affair thus far was a citation and appearance before his honor, Judge Barrows, instigated by the head against the motive power of said six-shooter, the head loosing again. Such affairs may possibly be necessary, but are certainly illegal, and should be visited with prompt and condign punishment. Such a method of practicing phlebotomy is a relic of barbarism, and savours of bad training or bad habit.

MINES AND TUNNELS.

The Industry tunnel, worked by C. S. Anderson, C. Cole and others, situated near the San Lucas mine, is in a distance of 160 feet, the company commencing no longer ago than the 18th of February. The tunnel is in an excellent locality, and cannot fail in tapping a paying mine; the present indications are favorable of striking ore soon. The Osceola tunnel has struck the ledge at last. The mine is looking well, and good results may be expected. The Wittekind tunnel is progressing favorably, the owners expecting to reach their mine within two or three weeks. The Friendship mine is doing well. The Belmont has maintained her reputation so long that nothing can be said in higher commendation.

NEW STRIKE.

Messrs. George Mendez & Co. have struck a large deposit of ore in the north drift of the San Felipe tunnel, 50 feet from the tunnel, and 30 feet below the level of the same.

THIS DISTRICT

is bound to make her mark, based upon true merit, whether outside capital comes to her assistance or not. Nevertheless, a greater abundance of capital would lubricate the wheels of progress materially, and enable Inyo county to much sooner take position as the banner mining county in the State—a destiny that surely awaits her, sooner or later.

CITIZEN.

NEWS FROM THE SPIRITUAL WORLD.

A Characteristic Letter—That "Affair of Honor."

OWENS VALLEY, April 17.

EDITORS INDEPENDENT: In regard to that bloodless duel recorded in your last issue you lamented over the peaceful result, complaining that Lokleitems could not employ his pencil upon it, and therefore was cheerless.

But wonders never cease. When I received a letter from the second of the second part, and as I was reading how I had bored into the pith of a man's soul and honor, and how he, in a rage of conscious injuries to his trained, sensitive feelings, had challenged me to mortal combat—things came to a full stop. The world seemed whirling around. The Inyo range commenced sinking to the level of the plain; the Sierra Nevadas formed themselves into the most variegated flower garden. I heard a dreadful rapping, and realized that I was in the Spirit Land. My material encasement was resolving itself into its constituent elements, powdered up in the mortar of Nature, to become more useful in time. As this state of things was progressing, I felt myself acquiring Celestial strength, and found myself adorned with a pair of wings, which for want of Celestial nerve, I could only flap occasionally. I saw a light gleaming in the distance, and immediately winged for it. I felt very lonesome, and rested several times to save my feathers, looking on large posters which were floating along, which, in my Celestial spelling, I could not read well. But I was certain from the amount of printing done that Lokleitems' spirit was ahead. I soon met a full fledged spirit, and asked him where he was going, in the best spiritual language I could muster. He told me that he was on his way to Inyo county, as it wanted regulation very much; that there was some spiritual depots there proper media, to conduct the the teachings of the spirits to the outside ignorant, especially to the incredulous editors of The Inyo Independent, who were disturbing the heavenly charity distributed for the valley, and were too gross to inhale the breathings of the spirits. The hosts of the intelligent dead would get Andrew Jackson Davis, who is a Major General of the grand guard that is watching the third sex, to make them behave, and move the paper to another county. (I asked about that third sex business, but he told me my senses were yet too gross and encumbered with original sin, and I would spend a billion of years in the lake of purification before I could have any knowledge of that divine attribute.) I inquired how I got there, and he told me he was not the Recorder, but that I would find out more at the light, just ahead. I soon arrived, and by attractive forces was ushered into the presence of the Recorder, who opened the Book of Fate, and startled my spiritual conscience with a list of my iniquities. I thought it very curious that the writing was constantly going on without any apparent connection with the paper. It was geographically kept, and a great many of the people of the valley had their errors struck off—but still they formed a wonderful array of accounts on the debit side. Poor Lokleitems, like myself, covered an immense amount of heavenly foolscap, and complaints were hourly arriving against him. I asked him how my transition took place. He said it was a most curious death, but done according to natural laws; that I was neither shot nor wounded, but because I had not nerve enough when a good gas boiler had let steam off in my presence, and that I was the tenth man who had been sent to the shades from a defect in the same boiler. He said he would show me the gas department; he would leave me in company with the other nine, and we would all find employment in the gas works of creation. His particular instructions were to be careful about the escape valve, divide the material out fairly, and once in a while give a puff extra, to keep up the variety theory. I soon heard a most curious blending of loud noises, and came upon an immense forest of pipes, running in all directions and joining on to a large bladder. Celestial mathematics told me this was as large as the world itself, and that it drained all the vapor of the burning bodies in space, which was finally converted into matter by inflating earthly beings with it, and thus keeping up that equilibrium so essential to everything. I looked with Celestial optics, and my attention was turned to a large pipe that was bringing freight from Saturn. Soon thunder rolled, lightning flashed and all creation seemed to rage with madness. Saturn's pipe had bursted. "Such a gust of gas," said my informant, "will spoil a good many mortals below, who will consequently be compelled to take in less matter for other bombs; therefore, their craniums are thick, to prevent the high pressure from blowing them to atoms." He said that it was one of these accidents which filled a cranium, and the blowing off of the surcharge had killed ten of us. He now introduced me to the nine, who were so glad to have their number filled out according to the Book of Fate that they commenced flopping their feathers and singing loudly.

This noise awakened me out of the comatose state, and I was in mortal coil again, having hold of the letter. It was not written nor signed in the handwriting of the owner of the signature, but in pirncipal No. 1's hand. It was then 4 o'clock P. M., one hour after I was to meet him "somewhere within three miles of Independence, or be published as a coward." It was impossible for me to receive the letter before, as it was sent to hand by a teamster. The parties knew this must be the case. I first came to the conclusion to treat the felolw with silent contempt, but changed my mind however, as he would try to establish himself as a brave man. I wrote that evening to a friend in Independence, requesting him to call on that terrible man and oblige him in a suitable manner. I would have said nothing abont this matter, but as it has been brought to public notice, please inform any one when they wish to post or publish me as a coward, where they can find me. I will save the expense.

A VOICE FROM THE SPIRIT LAND.

Eclipse Mill.

Last Tuesday the air-stamp battery of the Eclipse mill was started up for the first time, and a considerable lot of rock run through. Its capacity, effectiveness and durability was demonstrated to the complete satisfaction of all present, many of whom were very skeptical as to its success. The stamps operate at the lightning-like speed of 156 drops per minute, dropping 19 inches, and on the present trial reduced 42 tons per day. The mill was started up yesterday for a continuous run.

Driven Out.

Reports reach us that cattle to the value of $25,000 or $30,000 have been driven out of Round Valley and Bishop Creek, into the Summer ranges of Long Valley, in Mono county. This was done just in time to escape being assessed here. It is thought probable, however that the owners will think better of it and return with them.

Improved.

Mr. Thomas Boyce has completed a new house on Edwards street, just south of the Court House. A substantial foot-bridge has been constructed over the creek on that side of the street—which helps appearance and adds to convenience amazingly.

Freight.

Some five or six freight teams have arrived and unloaded in town during the past week. According to the Los Angeles papers, teams are constantly loading at that place for different points in this county.

Excesses in Paris.

A dispatch dated Paris, April 10th reads:

Unless the Germans save us, Paris will soon swim in blood. The Commune hourly grows more desperate and resort to fierce excesses. The Conciergerie is filled with priests and nuns, arrested on warrants calling them "citizens, styled servants of a person called God." Archbishop Dubois was stripped naked and bound to a pillar, and scourged and mocked for hours by a band of 200 "Reds."

Amnesty Bill.

In the House April 10th an amnesty bill passed—yeas, 144; nays 46. The rules were suspended to consider a resolution for the abolition of all internal taxes save those on whiskey, tobacco and malt liquor. The House refused to suspend the rules to act on a bill to confine the sale of the public lands to the pre-emption and homestead settlers.

—The Warsaw New Yorker tells a good story at its own expense. Recently it advertised for a copy of its own issue for July 7, to complete a file, and an appreciative lady subscriber, who carefully preserves her papers, reminded the publisher that he had a patriotic or lazy spasm that week, and skipped one issue that week because of the occurence of the Fourth of July, a circumstance which had entirely escaped his memory.

—The manufacture of reaping and mowing machines has attained such large proportions as to make it one of general interest. The annual production is now estimated at about 125,000 machines. Few facts more clearly demonstrate the immense wealth of the farmers of our country than that they expend each year about $20,000,000 in the purchase of implements of this one class.

—The attendants of the Emperor William say that, despite the many affecting incidents of the war with France, the old monarch shed tears on but one occasion, and that was when Crown Prince Frederick William broke to him the news that Princess Frederica of Holland, the Emperor's sister, and to whom he was greatly attached, was dead.

Thirty Days' Grace.—Should the due date of the premium accidentally, or otherwise, be allowed to pass without payment of the same, the Policy-holder has the privilege of paying it any time within thirty days thereafter, the Policy being held in force during that time.

No Extra Premium for Travel or Foreign Residence.—Persons insured in this Company are permitted, without extra charge of premium, to go to or return from any part of the world, and to reside anywhere excepting between Latitude 34° North and the Tropic of Capricorn.

POLICIES.

The Continental issues policies upon all APPROVED PLANS.

PAYMENT OF PREMIUMS.

Premiums may be paid entirely in cash, annually, semi-annually, or quarterly; or, if desired, one-third may be allowed to remain as a loan on the policy, at interest, until canceled by dividends, or otherwise. The remaining two-thirds may be paid annually, semi-annually, or tri-annually.

DIVIDENDS.

The Surplus of the Company is distributed annually among the policy-holders on the "Contribution Plan," each one receiving the full amount which his policy has contributed to the formation of the surplus.

On All Cash policies dividends apply annually after the second year, and may be used in one of the three following ways:

1st.—To reduce the third and all subsequent annual premiums.

2nd.—To purchase additional insurance, payable at the same time as the original policy.

3d.—To purchase additional insurance payable in case of death within one year.

These dividend additions may at any time be converted into cash for the payment of future premiums. They thus form a large and constantly increasing reserve fund, which may be availed of in time of misfortune and pecuniary embarrassment.

In the case of policies paid up by a limited number of annual premiums, the dividends do not cease with the term of payment, but continue until maturity.

20,375 Members have been obtained since the Company organized, and notwithstanding the hard times so generally complained of all over the United States, the CONTINENTAL has issued 2,774 more policies in 1869 than in the year previous—being an increase of 46 1-5 per cent.

MUSICAL.

PATENT ARION PIANO.

A Few Reasons WHY THE ARION PIANO IS Superior to All Others.

THE ARION PIANO-FORTE HAS GREATER Power than any other Piano Forte manufactured.

It Will Stand In Tune Longer,

And in its mechanical construction it is more perfect, and therefore, more durable than any instrument constructed in the usual modern style.

The arrangement of the Agraffe, the manner of stringing, the peculiar form and arrangement of the Iron Frame,

Supersedes all Others.

The use of a bar (which is part of the Iron Frame), on a line with the heavy steel stringing, gives

Great Strength

Where most needed, and in this respect all other Pianos fail.

The construction of the WREST PLANK, into which the Tuning Pins are inserted, is such that it is impossible for the pins to become loosened, or the Wrest Plank itself to split, as is too often the case in other Piano Fortes.

The Extraordinary Evenness

Throughout the entire scale, the excellent Singing Quality, the

Length and Purity on Vibration.

All go to prove what we claim, viz.: that the

Arion Piano Forte

Is the BEST INSTRUMENT Manufactured.

THE PATENT

Arion Pianos

ARE USED EXCLUSIVELY IN THE

American Conservatories of Music,

Of New York City.

THE MOST SEVERE TEST A PIANO CAN RECEIVE IS CONSTANT USE IN A CONSERVATORY.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

It affords me much pleasure to give you, in these few lines, a very sincere testimonial for the Piano Fortes of your manufacture. We have now used the "PATENT ARION PIANOS" in our Conservatories for a year, and have had a fair opportunity of testing their durability during that time. The Pianos have been played upon almost constantly, from morning until night, and a Piano must indeed be a good one when it will bear such constant use without showing signs of retection. As for REMAINING IN TUNE, it outrivals any Piano known to me.

Their peculiar sweetness of tone in the treble (as compared to other Pianos with the ordinary metal agraffe arrangement), is so striking that I have had pupils remark, while taking their lessons, that although they had at home what they supposed to be one of the best makes of pianos, still the treble was very wiry toned compared with the "ARION."

What makes them still more desirable is their uniform volume of tone, which enables an Artist to perform a composition in its true character.

In total, I can conscientiously endorse all that is claimed by the ARION PIANO-FORTE COMPANY for their superb instruments, as I consider them superior to any other make.

Congratulating you upon the great success you have obtained in the manufacture of so perfect an instrument, I remain yours,

Very truly,

HENRY SHROEDER,

DIRECTOR.

New York, September 3d, 1870.

AGENTS WANTED.

We want first class and responsible agents in every city and town where we have not already appointed them.

We Have Just Published

Our Annual Illustrated Pamphlet, which contains a full description of the interior construction of the PATENT ARION PIANO FORTE, and all the other leading Pianos of the principal makes; illustrated with cuts, thus contrasting the ARION with all other first class Pianos, and proving

WHY AND WHERE

Our Pianos are superior to any in the market.

Our pamphlet contains engravings of all the different styles of instruments that we manufacture, giving a full description of each so that a person can select the style they may desire to order, with the assurance that they will receive just as good a Piano as if they were in our warerooms to select it. We have sold over FIVE THOUSAND Pianos, many of them being shipped great distances, and we have never yet received the first complaint. As we give a written guarantee with every Piano we manufacture, for five years, the purchaser runs no risk.

☞ Don't fail to write for our pamphlet which we mail free, and when you write state what paper you saw this notice in. ☜

N. B.—We caution the public from purchasing a cheap Piano which has recently been put in the market, bearing the name "Arion." All genuine Arion Pianos bear the name "Patent Arion," and can only be purchased from our New York Warerooms, or our authorized Agents throughout the United States.

All Kinds Of Musical Instruments Supplied.

MEDICAL.

Henry T. Helmbold's COMPOUND FLUID Extract Catawba GRAPE PILLS.

Component Parts—Fluid Extract Rhubarb and Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Juice.

FOR LIVER COMPLAINTS, JAUNDICE, BILIOUS AFFECTIONS, SICK OR NERVOUS HEADACHE, COSTIVENESS, ETC. PURELY VEGETABLE. CONTAINING NO MERCURY, MINERALS OR DELETERIOUS DRUGS.

H

THESE PILLS ARE THE MOST DELIGHTFULLY pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts, magnesia, etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the FINEST INGREDIENTS. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear miraculous to the weak and enervated, whether arising from imprudence or disease. H. T. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar coated Pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. THE CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated.

E

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

HIGHLY CONCENTRATED COMPOUND

Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla

Will radically exterminate from the system Scrofula, Syphilis, Fever Sores, Ulcers, Sore Eyes, Sore Legs, Sore Mouth, Sore Head, Bronchitis, Skin Diseases, Salt Rheum, Cankers, Running from the Ear, White Swellings, Tumors, Cancerous Affections, Nodes, Rickets, Glandular Swellings, Night Sweats, Rash, Tetter, Humors of all Kinds, Chronic Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, and all diseases that have been established in the system for years.

L

Being Prepared Expressly for the above complaints, its Blood Purifying Properties are greater than any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. It gives the complexion a Clear and Healthy Color and restores the patient to a State of Health and Purity. For Purifying the Blood, removing all Chronic Constitutional Diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, and the Only Reliable and Effectual known Remedy for the Cure of Pains and Swelling of the Bones, Ulcerations of the Throat and legs, Blotches, Pimples on the Face, Erysipelas and all Scaly Eruptions of the Skin, and Beautifying the Complexion.

M

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

CONCENTRATED

FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

THE GREAT DIURETIC,

Has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given, Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick Dust Deposit and Mucous or Milky Discharges, and for Enfeebled and Delicate Constitutions of Both Sexes attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, etc.

Used by persons from the ages of eighteen to twenty-five, and from thirty-five to fifty-five or in the decline or change of life; after confinement or labor pains; bed wetting in children.

B

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, and excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the blood, etc., superseding copaiba in affections for which it is used, and syphilitic affections—in these diseases used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

LADIES.

In many affections peculiar to Ladies, the EXTRACT BUCHU is unequalled by any other Remedy—as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Sterility, and for all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from indiscretion or habits of dissipation. It is prescribed extensively by the most eminent Physicians and Midwives for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes and all ages (attended with any of the above diseases or symptoms).

O

H. T. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU CURES DISEASES ARISING FROM IMPRUDENCES, HABITS OF DISSIPATION, ETC.

In all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience, and no exposure. It causes a frequent desire, and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, Allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all poisonous matter.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found that they have been deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "powerful astringents," been tried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all affections and Diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing.

L

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH

Can not be surpassed as a FACE WASH, and will be found the only specific Remedy in every species of Cutaneous Affection. It speedily eradicates Pimples, Spots, Scorbutic Dryness, Indurations of the Cutaneous Membrane, etc., dispels Redness and Incipient Inflammation, Hives, Rush, Moth Patches, Dryness of Scalp or Skin, Frost Bites, and all purposes for which Salves or Ointments are used; restores the skin to a healthy state of Purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principal claim to unbounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a Toilet Appendage of the most Superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, Safety and Efficacy—the invariable accompaniment of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the the EXTRACTS BUCHU, SARSAPARILLA AND CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, in such diseases as recommended can not be surpassed.

The Great Medical Discovery!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Read for a Circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion of Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Viscera Organs.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

"Only a trifle!"
Young man pray reflect,
Ere you aim that sure blow
To your own self respect.

"Only a trifle!"
O husband, O wife,
These same little trifles
Make up our whole life!

Fond mother so true,
These trifles have gendered
Heart troubles for you!

A trifle too young,
Or a trifle too old;
A trifle too warm;
Or a trifle too cold;

A trifle too soon,
Or a trifle too late—
All or any of these,
May decide our own fate!

SUT LOVINGOOD'S DADDY. ACTING HOSS.

We take the following from The San Francisco Industrial Reformer, which paper is reviving the immensely popular "Sut Lovingood Stories," which had their run about fifteen years ago.

"Hole that ar hoss down to the yeath." "He's fixing for the heavings." "He's a spreadin his tail feathers tu fly. Look out, Laigs, if you ain't ready tu go up'ards." "Wo, Shavetail." 'Git a fiddil; he's tryin a jig." "Say, Long Laigs, raised a power of co'n didn't you?" "Tain't co'n, hits redpepper."

These and like expressions were addressed to a queer looking, long legged, short bodied, small headed, white haired, hog eyed, funny sort of a genius, fresh from some bench-legged Jew's clothing store, mounted on "Tearpoke," a nicked tailed, bow necked, long, poor, pale sorrel horse, half devil, and enveloped in a perfect net-work of bridle, reins, crupper, martingales, straps, surcingles, and red terreting, who reined up in front of Pat Nash's grocery, among a crowd of mountaineers full of fun, foolery, and mean whiskey.

This was Sut Lovingood.

"I say you durn'd ash cats, jis keep yer shuts on, will ye? You never seed a rale hoss till I rid up; you's p'raps stole yer own shod rabbits or sheep wif borrowed saddles on, but when you tuck the fus' begrudgin look jis now at this critter, name 'Tarpoke, yu wer injoyin a sight ove nex' tu the bes' hoss what ever shell'd nubbins ur ever toted jugs, an' he's es ded es a still wum poor ole 'Tickytail!

"Wo! wo! Tarpoke, yu cussed infunel fidgety hide full of hell fire, can't you stan' still an listen while I'se a polishin yer karacter off es a mortul hoss tu these yer durned fools?

Sut's tongue or his spurs brought Tearpoke into something like passable quietude while he continued:

"Say you, some of you growin hogs made a re-mark jis' now 'bout redpepper. I jis' wish tu say in a gineral way that eny wurds cupplin redpepper an Tarpoke tugether am durn'd inturnal lies."

"What killed Tickeytail, Sut?" asked an anxious enquirer after truth.

"Wy nuffin, you cussed fool; he jis' died so, standin up et that. Warn't that rale casteel hoss pluck? Yu see he froze stiff; no, not that adzactly, but starv'd fust an' froze arterards, so stiff that when dad an' me went tu lay him out an' we push'd him over he stuck out jis' so, (spreading his arms and legs,) like ontu a carpenter's bainch, an' we had tu wait ni ontu seventeen days fur 'im to thaw afore we cud skin 'im.

"Skin 'im?" interrupted a rat-faced youth, whittling on a corn stalk, "I thot yu wanted tu lay the hoss out."

"The hell you did! Ain't skinin the natral way ov layin out a hoss, I'd like tu no? See a yere, sonny, you tell yer mam tu hev you sot back jis' 'bout two years, fur et the rate yu'se a climbin yu stan's a pow'ful chance tu die wif yer shoes on, an' git laid hoss way, you dus."

The rat-faced youth shut up his knife and subsided.

"Well, thar we wer—dad, an' me, (counting on his fingers), an' Sall, an' Jake, (fool Jake we calls 'im fur short), an' Jim, an' Phineass, an' Callimy Jane, an' Sharlottyann, an' me, an' Zodiack, an' Cashus Clay, an' Noah Dan Webster, an' the twin gals, (Castur an' Pollox), an' me, an' Catherin Second, an' Cleopatry Antony, an' Jane Barnum Lind, an' me, an' Benton Bullion, an' the baby, what ain't named yet, an' me, an' the Prospect, an' mam herself, all lef in the woods alone, wif out ara hoss tu crup wif."

"Yu'se counted yersef five times, Mister Lovingood," said a tomato-nosed man in ragged overcoat.

"Yas, ole Still-tub, that's jis the perporshun I bears in the famerly fur dam fool, leavin out Dad in course. Yu jis let me alone, an' be a thinkin ove gittin more hoops ontu yu. Yus leakin now; see thar." Ha! ha! from the crowd, and "Still-tub" went into the doggery.

"Warnt that a devil's own mess ove broth fur a 'spectabl white famerly tu be sloshin about in? I be durned ef I didn't feel sorter like stealin a hoss sumtimes, an' I speck I'd a dun hit, but the stealin streaked in the Lovingoods, all run tu durn fool, an' the onvartus streak all run tu laigs. Jis look down the side ov this yere hoss mos' tu the groun.' Dus yu see em?

"Well we waited, an' wished, an' rested, an' plan'd, an' wished, an' waited, again, ontil ni ontu strawberry time, hoping sum stray hoss mout cum along; but dorg my cats, if eny sich good luck cums wifin reach ove whar dad is, he's so dod dratted mean an' lazy, an' ugly an' savidge, an' durn fool tu kill.

"Well, one nite he lay awake till cock-crowin a-snortin, an' rollin an' blowin, an' shufflin, an' scratchin his sef, an a whisperin at mam a heap, an' at breakfus' I foun' out what hit ment. Says he, 'Sut I'll tell yu what we'll du: I'll be hoss myself, an pull the plow whilst yu drives me, an' then the "Ole Quilt" (he meant that fur mam,) an the brats kin plant, an' tend, ur jis let hit alone, es they darn pleze; I ain't a carein.'

"So out we went tu the pawpaw thicket, an' peel'd a rite smart chance ove bark, an' mam an' me made the geers fur dad, while he sot on the fence a lookin at us, an' a studying pow'rful I arterards foun' out, he wer a-studyin how tu play the kar-acter ove a hoss puffectly.

"Well the geers becum him mitily an' nuffin wud du 'im but he mus hev a bridil, so I gits a umbreller brace—hit's a litil forked piece ove squar wire bout a foot long, like a young pitch-fork, yu no—an' twisted hit sorter intu a bridil bit snaffil shape. Dad wanted hit made kurb, es he hedn't work'd fur a good while, an' said he mout sorter feel his keepin, an' go tew ravin an' cavortin

"When we got the bridil fix'd ontu dad, don't yu bleve he sot in tu chompin hit jis like a rale hoss, an, tried tu bite me on the arm, (he allus wer a mos' complikated durned ole fool, an' mam sed so when he warn't about). I put on the geers, an' while mam wer a tying the belly ban' an' a-strainin hit pow'rful tite, he drapt ontu his hans, sed 'Whay a-a 'like a mad hoss wud, an' slung his hine laigs at mams hed. She step'd back a littil an' wer standin wif her arms cross'd a-restin em on her stumick, an' his heel taps cum wifin a inch ove her nose. Sez she, 'Yu plays hoss better nur yu dus husban.' He jis' run backards on all fours, an' kick'd at her agin an'———an' pawd the groun wif his fis.

"'Lead him off tu the field, Sut, afore he kicks or bites sumbody,' sez mam. I shoulder'd the gopher plow, an' tuk hole ove the bridil. Dad leaned back sulky, till I sed cluk, cluk wif my tounge, then he started. When we cum tu the fence I let down the gap, an' hit made dad mad; he wanted tu jump hit on all fours hoss way. Oh' geminy! what a durned ole fool kin cum tu if he gins up tu the complaint.

"I hitch'd 'im tu the gopher, a watchin him pow'ful clost, fur I'd seed how quick he cud drap ontu his hans an' kick, an' away we went, dad leanin forard tu his pullin, an' we made rite peart plowin, fur tu hev a green hoss, an' bark geers; he went over the sprowts an' bushes same as a rale hoss, only he traveled on two laigs. I wer mitily hope up 'bout co'n; I cud a'mos see hit a cumin up; but thar's a heap of whisky spilt twixt the counter and the mouf, ef hit aint got but two foot tu travil. 'Bout time he wer beginin tu break sweat, we cum tu a sassafrack bush, an tu keep up his kar-acter es a hoss, he bi'jed squar ntu an' thru hit, tarin down a bull ho'nets nes' ni ontu es big es a hoss's hed, an' the hole tribe kiver'd 'im es quick es yu cud kiver a sick pup wif a saddil blanket. He lit ontu his hans agin, an kick'd strait up onst, then he rar'd an' fotch a squeal wus nur ara stud hoss in the State, an' sot intu strait runnin away jis es natral es yu ever seed any uther skeer'd hoss du. I let go the line an' holler'd Wo! dad wo! but you mout jis es well say Woa! tu a locomotum, or Suke cow tu a gal.

"Gewhillikins! how he run: when he cum tu bushes he'd clar the top ove em wif a squeal, gopher an' all. P'raps he tho't thar mout be anuther settilment ov ball ho'nets, an' hit wer safer tu go over than thru, an' quicke' dun eny how.

Every now an' then he'd fan the side ove his he'd fust wif wun fore laig an' then tuther, then he'd gin hisself a roun-handed slap what sounded like a waggin whip ontu the place whar the breechbands teches a hoss, 'bout es fas' an' es hi frum the yeath es ever eny gopher wer kerried I'll swar. When he cum tu the fence, he jis tore thru hit, bustin an' scatterin ni ontu seven panils wif lots ove broken rails. Rite yere he lef the gopher, geers, close, clevis an' swingletrees, all mix'd up, an, not wuf a durn. Mos' ove his shut staid ontu the aind ove a rail, an' ni ontu a pint ove ho'nets stop'd thar a stingin all over; hits smell fooled em. The balance on em, ni ontu a gallun, kep' on wif dad. He seem'd tu run jis adzactly es fas' es a ho'net cud fly; hit wer the titest race I ever seed, fur wun hoss tu git all the whippin. Down thru a saige field they all went the ho'nets makin hit look like thar wer smoke roun' dad's bald hed, an' he wif nuffin on the green yearth in the way ove close about im, but the bridil, an' ni ontu a yard ove plowline sailin behine, wif a tired out ho'net ridin on the pint ove hit. I seed that he wer aimin fur the swimin hole in the krick, whar the bluff am over twenty five foot purpendiculer to the water, an' hits ni ontu ten foot deep.

"Well tu keep up his karacter es a hoss plum thru, when he got tu the bluff he loped off, ur rather jis kep on a runnin. Kerslunge intu the krick he went. I seed the water fly plum abuv the bluff from whar I wer.

"Now right thar, boys, he over-did the thing ove actin hoss tu the scribe wer what he wer arter; fur thars nara hoss ever fouldid durned fool enuf tu lope over eny sich place; a cussed muel mout a dun hit, but dad warn't actin muel, tho' he orter tuck that karacter; hits adzactly sooted tu his dispersition, all but not breedin. I crept up tu the aidge, an' peep'd over. Thar wer dad's bald hed fur all the yearth like a peeled inyn, a bobbin up an' down an' around, an, the ho'nets sailin aroun tuckey buzzard fashun, an' every onst in a while one, an' sumtimes ten, wud take a dip at dad's bald hed. He kep' up a rite peart dodgin onder, sumtimes afore they hit im, an' sumtimes arterard, an' the water were kivered wif drownded ball ho'nets.—Tu look at hit frum the top ove the bluff, hit wer pow'ful inturestin, an' sorter funny; I wer on the bluff mysef, mine yu.

"Dad cudent see the funny part frum whar he wer, but it seemed tu be inturestin tu him frum the 'tenshun he wer payin tu the bisiness ove divin an' cussin.

"Sez I, 'Dad, if yu's dun washin yersef, an' has drunk enuff, less go back to our plowin, hit will soon be pow'rful hot.' Hot—hell!' sez dad, 'hit am hot rite now. Don't (an onder went his head) yer see (dip) these cussed (dip) infun—(dip) varmints arter me?' (dip) 'What,' sez I, 'them ar hoss flies thar, that's nat'ral, dad; yu ain't raley fear'd ove them is yu?' 'Hoss flies! h—l an' (dip) durnation!' sez dad, 'theyse rale ginui—(dip) ball ho'nets, (dip) yu infunel ignurant cuss!' (dip) 'Kick em—bite em—paw em—switch em wit yure tail, dad,' sez I.—'Oh! soney, soney, (dip) how I'll sweeten yure—(dip) when these (dip) ho'nets leave yure.' Yu'd better du the leavin yursef dad,' sez I. 'Leave vere! Sturn yu d—n fool! How (dip) kin I, (dip) when they won't (dip) let me stay (dip) atop (dip) the water even.' 'Well dad yu'l hev tu stay thar till nite, an, arter they goes tu roos' yu cum home. I'll hev yer feed in the troft redy; yu won't need eny curryin tu nite will yu?' 'I wish (dip) I may never (dip) see to-morrer, ef I (dip) don't make (dip) hame string (dip) outer yer hide (dip) when I dus (dip) git outen yere,' sez dad. 'Better say yu wish yu may never see anuther ho'net, ef yu ever play hoss agin,' sez I.

"Them words toch dad tu the hart, an' I felt they mus' be my las, knowin dad's onmollified nater. I broke frum them parts, an' sorter cum over yere tu the copper mines. When I got tu the hou,' 'Whar yer dad?' sez mam. 'Oh he turned durn fool, an' run away, busted every thing tu cussed smash, an's in the swimin hole divin arter minners. Look out mam, he'll cum home wif an angels temper; better sen' fur sum strong man body tu keep him frum huggin yu tu deth. 'Law sakes!' sez mam; 'I know'd he cudent act hoss fur ten minutes wifout actin infunel fool, tu save his life.'

"I staid hid ontil nex' arternoon an' I seed a feller a travelin.' Sez I, 'How do do mister? What wer agwine on at the cabin this side the crick, when you passed thar?' 'Oh, nuthin much, only a pow'ful fat man wer lyin in the yard ontu his belly, wif no shut on, an' a 'oman wer a greasin ove his shoulders an' arms outen a gourd. A pow.ful curious, vishous, skeery lookin cuss he is tu b'shure. His hed am es big es a wash-pot, en he hasn't the fust durn sign ov an eye—jist two black slits. Is thar much small pox roun yere?' 'Small hell!' sez I, 'no sir.' 'Been much fightin in this neighborhood lately?' 'Nun wuth speakin ove,' sez I. He scratched his head—'Nur French measils?' 'Not jist c|ost,' sez I. 'Well, du yu know what ails that man back thar?' pJist gittin over a vilent attack ove 'am fool,' sez I. 'Well who is he eny how.' I ris tu my feet and straiched out my arm, an' sez I, 'Strainger, that man is my dad.' He looked at my laigs an' pussonel feeters a moment, an, sez he, 'Yas, dam et he aint.'

"Now boys, I haint seed dad since, an' I dusent have much appertite tu see 'im fur sum time tu cum. Less all drink! Yere's luck tu the durned old fool, an' the ho'nets too.

LITIGANT PAPER FOR INYO COUNTY,

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY

CHALFANT & PARKER

JAS. E. PARKER, | P. A. CHALFANT

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

Saturday, April 29.....1871.

OUR INVENTION.

The proprietors of this paper have just invented and manufactured a machine designed for printing superscriptions upon newspapers in wrappers. In consideration of its simplicity and cheapness of constuction, together with its perfect action and effect, we are constrained to believe it to be an invention of real merit and value, and accordingly have taken steps to secure a patent. With this machine we can print any address on a single thickness of news or wrapping paper up to the thickness of three or more newspapers in wrapper prepared for the mail, thus greatly facilitating the preparation of an edition for the mail, besides obviating all difficulties due to illegibly written superscriptions. Our subscribers will note the fact that their papers in future will have their names printed either upon margin or wrapper, and can thereby judge something of the working of our mailer.

The Christian Weekly.

We are in receipt of the first number of a very fine appearing paper bearing this title. The intent of the paper is indicated by the title, but in character it is a marked improvement on the usual heavy, sombre style generally pertaining to religious journals. Its bright typographical appearance, cheerful miscellany and numerous fine illustrations need only to be seen to be appreciated by readers of every class. Published by the American Tract Society, New York, to whom orders may be addressed, or to D. M. McLeod, agent, 757 Market street, San Francisco. Price, $2 per annum.

"Morton House."

Appleton's Journal is now running a story with the above title. We have read this story up to the last chapter that has appeared with great interest, and doubt not we shall to the end. We must say, however, that the drawing of the principal characters, to judge from the opening chapters, are better suited to the aristocrats of the Middle Ages than the simplicity of American life, even of the South. In addition to this story the usual highly interesting style of The Journal is sustained throughout.

Railroad Matters.

We learn from The Bulletin that a party of Eastern capitalists have decided to build, if it shall be found practicable, a narrow guage railroad from San Francisco down the coast to Santa Cruz, San Luis Obisbo, Santa Barbara, San Buenaventura and Los Angeles, and thence to the Colorado river. A surveying party of about twenty persons, under E. N. Robinson, Civil Engineer, started from San Francisco a short time since to survey the route. The road will keep close to the beach all the way down to Los Angeles so that but little grading will be required.

An Affecting Court Scene.

The Memphis Sun relates the following concerning a death sentence by Judge Flippin of Tennessee, upon a former school mate. The Judge spoke as follows:

"Samuel H. Poston, this is one of the saddest eras in my life. Our parents and their children knew each other. We grew up together, went to the same school, the same church, and played on hill and in valley the same innocent games in boyhood. Years have passed since then. Our roads in life have diverged. You now stand convicted of a great, a capital crime, and I, as the minister of the law, have imposed upon me the painful duty of passing upon you the sentence of death. Were it consistent with my official duties, 'I would that this cup could pass from me.' But I cannot shrink from the performance of this sad official requirement, and must not, and will not in the future, though other victims may fail to avenge a violated law. It is, therefore, the sentence of the Court that you be remanded to the county jail of Shelby county, the place whence you came, to be there securely kept until Friday, the 20th day of May next, when you will be taken by the Sheriff of Shelby county, between the hours of 10 A. M. and 3 P. M., within one mile and a half of the court house of said county, and there be hanged by the neck until you are dead; and may God have mercy on your soul."

When Poston was called, both he and the Judge were very much moved. Poston shook like an aspen leaf, and had to grasp a chair for support. At the conclusion of the sentence Judge Flippin was in tears, as was also nearly all the large crowd gathered there. It was a most affecting scene, and will ever be remembered by those who witnessed it. It was a surprise to all to know the relation that had existed Judge Flippen and Poston, and it must indeed have been a sad thing for Judge Flippin to consign to death a playmate of his early boyhood days.

THE TEXAS AND NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

Work on the Northern Pacific railroad is progressing rapidly, some three hundred miles (from Duluth to the Mississippi), being already completed on the Eastern end, and the first twenty-five miles on the western being under contract. Of the Texas Pacific for the past few weeks we hear but little, though in view of the great interests at stake, and of the character of the men identified in its management, we have no doubt this great work will be pushed rapidly to completion. In common with all portions of the Pacific coast we have a general interest in the progress and completion of both of these roads, but especially in the Texas Pacific. Though at the nearest point reaching only within 150 miles of this locality, it is certain to have a vast and beneficial influence upon our future prospects.

We are told that the country through which this road will pass is one highly favored by nature, with a mild climate, untold mineral wealth, and for the greater part, a generous soil.

The agricultural and mineral wealth which this road will develop is incalculable, while the general commercial advantages of the line will prove of corresponding importance to the public.

The effect of this road in respect to Mexico will be to draw to this country the productions and trade of the northern states of that republic, and it is fair to presume to make these states a part of our own country. Trade is a potent revolutionizer, and railroads exert a mighty influence upon the direction and destiny of states and nations. This Southern Pacific railroad will frighten the ghosts of superstition and ignorance from northern Mexico and the savages from our own territories, supplying their places, eventually, with enlightened, industrious people, who will make the great southwest one of the most productive portions of the hemisphere. Such a population on our southern and southwestern frontier will give us another Texas as a territorial acquisition in that quarter, and may lead to the ultimate absorption of all Mexico.

The Northern Pacific road will effect a similar result in the northwest, by first giving great value to a vast and fertile region, and then bringing it under the flag of the great republic—the wings of the American eagle, which are now being spread wider than ever before, from north to south, as that aggressive bird "heads" toward Asia in quest of the rich commercial prey of that fabled source of wealth. Winnipeg and the Hudson Bay country and British Columbia on the right, and Mexico on the left, are destined to be overshadowed by those mighty wings, and through the agency of these two great trans-continental railroads.

Meanwhile, however, it is sufficient to contemplate the effects of these roads upon the territory we already possess, which, without them, would remain comparatively unproductive forever. The cotton, sugar, fruits and minerals resulting on the one hand will be equaled by the cereals, lumber and minerals on the other; and without clashing in their interests, these two great thoroughfares of travel will practically co-operate to develop and enrich the country while profiting their projectors, or proprietors, and enabling millions of Americans to provide homes for themselves, and estates for their posterity. Whatever may be said against subsidizing railroads in general, there can be no doubt that it is a wise policy for the Government to favor such grand and benificent enterprises as these. Posterity will smile—we trust not sneer—on reading the arguments of the present against aiding in the construction of these great highways to the Pacific, and will rank those who now use these arguments with those who opposed giving aid to Columbus, and those who carped about the expenses of the revolutionary war.

The High Commission.

A Washington dispatch says the British High Commissioners received dispatches from their Government approving the treaty recently made by the High Commissioners for the settlement of the Alabama claims question. Full details of this treaty are as yet unknown, except to a few persons who have close official relations with the President, and one of these is authority for the statement that the treaty provides for a fixed Commission to examine and pass upon the validity of all claims presented, and that the Emperor of Brazil is to be the arbitrator. This much it is said can be made public without a violation of confidence. As to the treaty in general it is pronounced very favorable to the United States, at leaft as favorable as can be negotiated now or for a long time to come.

NEWS ITEMS.

San Francisco dates to April 21st state that Cook, for the defense, would not conclude his plea for Mrs. Fair before noon the following day (Saturday), and that Byrne would probably not finish argument before Monday, but as the defense had nearly worn out the jury, it was expected he would be as brief as possible.

According to the report of the Board of Canvassers, April 21st, of the late election in Connecticut, English has a majority of 25 votes. The total vote was 94,959. Errors in certain districts to be canvassed by the Legislature, will it is thought, cause a tie vote between English and Jewell. The Republican Lieutenant Governor and Treasurer are elected; the contest for Secretary of State and Controller resulted in a tie. The choice, in consequence, will devolve upon the Legislature, which is Republican.

The Republicans carried the Springfield (Illinois) city election, and also one that occured under the new territorial organization in the District of Columbia; in the latter their Delegate to Congress received 4,000 majority.

The Apaches continue their outrages in Arizona, one of the latest being the capture and destruction of the mail stage and murder of the driver, Mark Robin, formerly of Iowa. Letters from Wickenburg say the quartz lode, from whence came immensely rich deposits of placer gold near the summit of Weaver mountain, discovered in '63, and sought after many years, has been found at last. It is represented to be 100 feet wide and richer even than the Vulture.

The late rains over this State have greatly improved the crop prospects. In some localities where otherwise, crops would have been a total failure, the indications are now good for nearly a full average yield. The feed however, and especially in the southern counties, was past redemption, so that flocks and herds will all have to be driven elsewhere for pasturage.

Several barricades have surrendered with prisoners and cannon captured at Neuilly. The latter were presented to Thiers, who congratulated the troops. The Prussians require to know the number of French troops arriving daily.

PARIS, April 20th.

The Commune has issued a manifesto saying Paris is once more laboring and suffering for the regeneration of France. She demands the local encouragement of producers. She does not aim at a dictatorship. She desires decentralized unity of the country. The document pronounces compromise with the Versailles Government impossible, and closes with an appeal to France to disarm the troops now threatening the capital.

VERSAILLES, April 20th.

Thiers, in a circular to the Prefects of Departments, announces the capture of Asnieres. He declares the end of criminal resistance to the Government is approaching.

Sensible.

The State of Wisconsin has abolished the Grand Jury system. The act takes effect on the 1st of July next. This is a somewhat doubtful experiment, and the people of other States will look for its results with great interest.

Buckskin Again.

TEMECULA, San Diego Co., March 31.

EDITOR STAR: Permit me to address you these few lines. About the 14th ult., Mr. B. S. Bryant and three other men came to this place to take Buckskin Frank. After a hunt of about six days they returned to this place, saying Buckskin could not be found, and the next day they left for Los Angeles. Last Sunday, the 25th ult., Mr. Thos. A. Case came to this place, and said he had met Mr. Jose M. Pico, who lives near San Luis Rey. Mr. Pico told him that Buckskin Frank was camping about ten miles from that place with two other men; from looks of things it seems they were hunting bees and honey for the San Luis Rey market. Again, Buckskin was seen about eight miles from this place, by Don Leon, an Indian I live in hope when these few lines come before the people, some one will come again and give Buckskin another hunt. Yours truly.

Look Out for Them.

On the 17th of February last, O. K. Smith, of San Louis Obispo County, left home with his team, and has not since been heard from. It is now generally believed that he was murdered, and his animals run out of the State. They are described as follows: Two fair sized strawberry roan mares, bearing the brand of K in a circle, or "Circle K;" one a little darker than the other. No other brand. Gentle to work or ride. Any person seeing such horses are requested to write to Z. B. Smith, Cambria, San Louis Obispo County, California.

That Problem.

We have received several solutions to the problem which appeard in our last issue. It is a difficult mattter to correctly represent the different operations by ordinary characters in general use, but those used will doubtless be understood. If our student friends are sufficiently interested in these matters to cont nue their contests (friendly, let us hope), we will supply our establishment with a font of fractions and algebraic signs. "Army Blue" sends us solutions, and we give the following as his "Mental Method," saying: "I enclose you herewith answer to problem appearing in The Independent of last week. This is not from a N. S. G., but one wearing the emblem of Uncle Sam—a "high private in the rear rank." It was not deemed necessary to go further than our garrison to solve this little problem. After the first captain took 72 cartridges, there remained a certain number. Of this number he took one-ninth, consequently leaving eight-ninths to his successors. If the second captain had taken one-ninth of these eight-ninths, he would have taken eight-eighths, but he first took 144; therefore the second captain 144 plus eight-eighths less 16—sixteen being one-ninth of 144. Subtracting the 16, we find that the second captain took 128 plus eight-eighths of the aforesaid number. And the first captain took 72 plus one-ninth of said number. One ninth being nine-eighty-firsts, we find by subtraction that one-eighty-first of the number is equal to 56, and 81 times 56, or the whole number, to be 4536. The 72 which the first captain took added to this gives 4608, the whole number of cartridges. As the first captain took one-ninth of 4536 plus 72, he took 576; each of the other captains took the same amount. 4608 divided by 576 gives the quotient 8, the number of batteries." An "N. S. G." arrives at precisely the same conclusion by a similar process, but it is impossible for us to put in print the written characters. He says: "M. S. seems to be devoting some attention to education, whether from an interest in that subject or merely to find out whether some N. S. G.s who have lately come to this county are able to solve a pet problem, I know not. But fearing that M. S. is waiting for an answer, and perchance may not have interested any one in the subject enough to cause them to hand in a solution, I would respectfully submit the foregoing."

Political.

Mr. J. B. White, who is about establishing himself in business at this place, leaving Cerro Gordo for that purpose, sets the political ball in motion by announcing himself as a candidate for the position of County Clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic County Convention. It is noticeable that politics are beginning to warm up a little; and indeed it is time, for the date of holding the conventions, etc., is not far distant. A very strict party contest for county officers is not probable, it being possible that both parties will neglect making nominations for some of the minor positions where popular men are aspiring on the other side. It looks hardly like politics, though, for a party to leave their candidates unprovided for, and leave places on their tickets unfilled. The good feature about the present out-look is that the best of men will doubtless receive the nominations on both sides—the general desire seeming to be to harmonize parties and get good men into position. We have compiled the following list of candidates spoken of, as a matter of news and interest to our readers: For County Judge—Republican, O. L. Mathews; Democratic, E. H. Van Decar. Sheriff—Republican, T. J. Goodale, Thomas May; Democratic—W. L. Hunter, Frank Hutchison, E. Harrington, C. Mulkey. County Clerk—Republican, Rockwell Loomis, Seth G. Sneden; Democratic, J. B. White, W. L. Moore, I. P. Yaney. District Attorney, A. C. Hanson, Republican, is the only gentleman spoken of in our presence. H. M. Isaacs is mentioned as a probable Democratic candidate for Treasurer. For Assessor, John Westerville and J. L. Garretson, both Republicans, are talked of. Assemblymen—Republican, P. W. Bennett; Democratic, P. B. Curtis. C. P. Whipple is also mentioned as a candidate for the same position. There may be others just as prominently before the people, but we believe the foregoing completes all the names mentioned; if any of the gentlemen named are not aspirants there is no harm done—if they are it is all right anyhow. But they should follow the example of Mr. White, and "show their hands;" it will cost them no more now than later in the canvass.

The Whisky Flat Homicide.

We leaan that Joseph Farrell, who killed Wm. Baxter at Whisky Flat March 25th, has been discharged from custody by a Justice of Mono County, there being no evidence in the case but his own. He claims to have been frightened at the moment by the threatening actions of Baxter, and shot him in self-defense. Just previous, it will be remembered, Farrell had searched his man for $64, which he claimed Baxter had stolen from him, and finding only a four-bit piece he took that. Some say he (Farrell) is crazy. We believe he is now in Palmetto. Baxter lived a short time after the shooting, but said nothing to throw any light upon the subject. He was a native of Grand Gulf, Miss., and about 40 years of age. He was a little fellow, being only five feet and one inch high, of fair complexion and blue eyes. He joined the United States steamer Monocacy at Singapore, March 4, 1867, and got an honorable discharge at Hong Kong, March 12, 1870. He entered as an ordinary seaman, and rose to be a sailmaker's mate and chief quartermaster; he had a ship tattooed on his right arm. A memorandum book found on his body showed that he wrote a beautiful hand, and it contained some fine crayon sketches of scenery in various parts of the globe. The name "Charles Baxter" was written inside a wallet he had containing his papers.

Turning Lathe.

H. C. Morse has just added to the working machinery of his wagon and blacksmith shop a wood and iron turning lathe, which much needed institution, strange to say, is the first one in operation in this place.

Bound Over.

Joseph G. Payne, on his examination before Justice Moore, of Lone Pine, was bound over for manslaughter, subject to the action of the Grand Jury.

A Card—To the Public.

Being of counsel for J. G. Payne, we deem it proper to ask the public to suspend forming any opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused, until the matter shall have undergone a legal investigation. It will be only a few days when the case will be taken in hand by a Grand Jury of the county, and in the meantime we hope we do not ask too much of a fair and generous public to forbear from forming any conclusions upon ex-parte statements.

P. Reddy,
W. P. George,
Of counsel for the accused.

Election of School Trustees.

To-day is the date designated by law for the election of school trustees in all the districts of the State. In this place the polls will be opened at 1 o'clock P. M., at the school house. We very much hope that all our citizens will attend this election, and thus manifest a proper appreciation of the cause of education. If there were no other higher and better motive, the credit of our little town demands that some means should be offered the resident children to obtain at least the rudiments of an education. To have the county town district the only one in the county without a school is a poor showing for its inhabitants, though nine-tenths of them do not have an immediate or direct interest in the matter. The election is, of itself, a matter of small importance, except as a means of giving an expression to the wishes of our people on the main question; and therefore it is to be hoped that every man in this place who may feel that he has any interest in its future welfare and reputation, will not only vote at this election, but otherwise assist in sustaining a school.

"Vindex."

We are in receipt of an ably written communication signed "Vindex," but unaccompanied with the author's real name, for which reason we must decline to publish it. We will state, however, that the course of certain parties who are trying to prejudice the public against the principal in the late unfortunate tragedy is severely condemned, and concludes as follows: "The stringent necessity which drove Mr. Payne to take the life of a human being will be deplored by every citizen whose good opinion is worth having, and adunadversions upon the course which Mr. Payne was campelled to pursue can have no effect other than to forstall public opinion, and prevent a fair and impartial trial. Mr. Payne, as I under, stand, is an old and respected pioneer of Owens River Valley, stands irreproachable in this community as father, husband, citizen and son; and we must have fallen on evil days indeed, if a man must encounter the censure of the public when defending his property, his person and, above all, the sanctity of his family and maritai relations."

Escaped.

Wm. King, whose career of stealing horses, eluding pursuit, accidentally shooting himself, final surrender, conviction and sentence of two years to the State Prison, will be remembered by our citizens, was started for his new residence under charge of a man named Taylor, stage driver upon the southern route. When in or near Visalia he managed to slip the shackels off his wounded leg, and, picking up the loose end, deliberately walked off. The Sheriff of Tulare was out after him when we last heard of the matter, with good chances of retaking him; the Visalia papers will probably tell us more about it when they arrive to-night. We believe that Mr. Elder placed his prisoner in charge of a trustworthy man, and that the escape was effected out of pure cussedness on King's part. But we congratulate the thief, and hope he'll stay loose. It's no justice to turn two men scot free and keep the third one, just because he was lame. That lot of horse thieves panned out rather slim after our citizens took so much trouble to secure them.

Kearsarge.

The im nense improvements at the Kearsarge mine and mill are about completed, and Superintendent Winters will find things in tip-top shape. The tramway will be finished to-day; the turbine wheel is in and ready for motion. Six Wheeler pans have been added to the mill, and on the 5th of May the works start up for all time. There have been some 40 men employed—carrying the work rapidly on; this force will now be transferred to the mine. The workmen pay the highest compliments to the engineering skill and abilities of Mr. I. F. Thompson, who has immediate charge of the work.

Arrivals.

Hon. Theron Reed, District Judge, arrived in town by last Thursday's stage, and will open Court on Monday next, May 1st. Gen. John B. Winters, the distinguished Washoeite, arrived with his lady and attendants last Wednesday, by private conveyance. Mr. I Harris has just returned from a long stay in San Francisco. Mr. Rhine, of the same firm, has also arrived, accompanied by his family. Also the family of Mr. Wood. We believe that all of these intend remaining permanent residents, excepting the Judge, of course.

The Deep Spring Road.

Work is now progressing on the road between Deep Spring and this valley, Messrs. Greenley & Hubbard having taken the matter in charge. These enterprising parties have already made a splendid wood road up the canyon for some eight miles, and they propose to complete it all the way across. They estimate the expense at about $4,000. There is no question but it will be a great benefit to this valley, and it ought to prove a paying property.

Dull.

For the past week or two our town has worn an air of concentrated dullness of the most aggravating description. Lone Piners make the same complaint concerning their generally lively town. Cerro Gordo seems to be just now the only place in the county with much get-up to it, and it is reported as booming.

Board of Supervisors.

The Hon. Board of Supervisors met last Saturday, April 22, and made selection and return of Grand and Trial Jurors for the ensuing year. A regular meeting of that body will take place Monday, May 1st.

Running.

The Deep Spring mill is now in motion, operating very successfully, and getting out good bullion. You bet!

Rambunctious.

A lordly gent of the Piute persuasion day before yesterday turned himself promiscuously loose, bravely pounding up his squaw, burning her wardrobe and kicking up blazes generally around and among his household. He is now decorated with jewels, and is meditating upon the tyranical disposition of white men. Its rather bad to spend the people's money prosecuting the cuss, and the next time he interferes with other Indians employed by our citizens he should be treated to a lead pill. If properly administered it will tend greatly to effect a cure.

P. S. Since writing the above we learn he has met the fate of most prisonrs of this County—Skedadled to the mountains.

To Merchants.

An unequaled opportunity is offered to capitalists of stepping into a large and very profitable merchandising business, in one of the best mining camps on the coast, by Mr. V. Beaudry, who proposes to sell his store and property in Cerro Gordo. This has long been known to be one of the best paying houses in the county, but the proprietor is compelled to sell by reason of failing health. See his announcement.

Conveyancer.

Mr. Albert Mack has received the appointment of Notary Public and that of Commissioner of Deeds for Nevada, for the town of Partzwick, Benton, Hot Springs and the rest of its names. (It might sell one of its names to our town of Snethsigeden). This will prove a great convenience to those residing in that part of Mono County.

Monthly Meeting.

There will be a regular monthly meeting of One's Company, at the Sazarac saloon, on Monday night next—it being the first Monday in the month. Let members make a note of it, and be there at 7½ o'clock, sharp.

Cerro Gordo.

This metaliferous region is steadily going on in its own, peculiar way, and piling up bullion bricks, with which to astonish the outside barbarians. Work on the broken water pipes is progressing, and the "scace" liquid will soon be conducted to town.

Bullion Shipment.

During the week ending Saturday the 22d instant, there were shipped from the Furnace of Mr. V. Beaudry, at Cerro Gordo, 1,225 bars of bullion, weighing 84 pounds each.

May Day.

Next Monday is May the 1th. Our poetical machine is busted. Who proposes to celebrate? Which would you rather do or go a fishin'?

SPECIAL NOTICES.

"The wind is tempered to the shorn lamb," otherwise the delicate organization of women could never bear up under the severe trials which it is her lot to endure. As a means of sustaining her strength, and bringing her safely through the difficulties and dangers of which she is by nature the heiress, no medicine ever prescribed is comparable to Dr. Walker's Vegetable Vinegar Bitters. In all derangements of the female system it restores regularity, and promotes physical vigor and mental repose.

The War Indemnity of Two Hundred Millions.

[From The Manchester Guardian.]

A correspondent sends us the following: "Figures fail to convey to the mind an adequate impression of this enormous sum, and we can form but a faint idea of what £200,000,000 really is without practically illustrating it. £200,000,000 in sovereigns would weigh 1,569 tons. To convey this sum we should require 3,138 carts, each loaded with half a ton of the precious metal, or 63,735 sovereigns. Let us horse these treasure carts, and arrange that a space of six feet shall intervene between each cart; from the head of one horse to the head of the next would be a space of 20 feet, so that we have one unbroken line of carts of nearly 12 miles in length. If we load railway wagons with the coin, and place in each wagon 10 tons weight of sovereigns, we should require four trains of 40 carriages each. Let us pile these sovereigns one upon the other, and we shall build a column more than 197 miles high: or in other words, if we fix the base of the column at Manchester and the column were to fall, it might scatter its golden compliments in the streets of Bristol and about the suburbs of Bath. If these 200,000,000 sovereigns are placed upon the ground, and arranged in one continuous and unbroken line, each coin touching its neighbor, we shall have a golden girdle nearly 2,754 miles long, equal to the coast line of England, Wales and Ireland. If we place 21 sovereigns in a row, we shall find the length of the line to be 18 inches. Let us place these rows of 21 in close order, each row as well as each coin touching its neighbor, we shall find the last row more than 131 miles distant from the first—that is, we shall be able to walk upon a pavement of sovereigns 18 inches wide which extends from Manchester to Worcester, or if we take another route, from Manchester to within a few miles of Bedford. Let us again collect these coins, and place them together on the ground in the shape of a square. The sides of the square will be 367 yards long, and the golden pavement will cover nearly 28 acres—space enough for several thousands of soldiers to maneuver upon. Allowing the sovereigns to be one sixteenth of an inch in thickness and to occupy a space forty-eight fifty-fifths of of an inch in thickness, we shall require a room 10 feet high, 10 feet wide and 63 feet long in which to pack the 200,000,000; and it will employ a cashier 17 years, 44 weeks, four days, three hours and 26 minutes to count them, if he counts on an average 100 a minute, and is employed six hours daily on the 311 working days of the year.

A Wonderful Surgical Operation.

A young lady, the daughter of Mr. Isaiah Thomas, of New Castle, Delaware, received a severe injury in the face about four years ago, from the effect of which her lower jaw-bone had grown perfectly solid and immovable. Her front teeth had to be removed to enable her to receive nourishment, which had to be injected mostly in a liquid state. The inconvenience of this arrangement and the total loss of speech rendered life almost intolerable, and her case was laid before eminent surgeons of Philadelphia. After mature deliberation two of them, Doctors Charles D. Green and J. Gilbert, undertook an operation which has scarcely a parallel on the annals of surgery. The jaw-bone was sawed off below each socket, kept in motion till healed, and a new and artificial joint was the result. It is said she can now open her mouth as well as ever, and can eat and talk without difficulty.

A Sensible Proposition.

A bill is now under consideration before the Wisconsin Legislature, which is not without positive merit, and must commend itself to the thoughtful consideration of law makers. It provides that whenever eleven jurors, impaneled to try any civil or criminal action, shall agree upon a verdict, such agreement, duly announced in the Court, shall be taken and held to be the verdict of the whole jury. The New York Tribune, in commenting upon this rather novel proposition, says it appeals to the common sense of every body. In this city, as elsewhere, we frequently comment upon the disagreement of a jury simply because one obstinate juror would not coincide in the views of the other eleven, and the wheels of justice are stopped. It is not very difficult at times to secure a single juror, and common sense suggests that the former is wrong and the latter is right.

An Immense Bridge.

The great iron bridge now being constructed over the Mississippi at Hannibal, (Mo), is one of the great works of the present day. The length between abutments is 1,580 feet. It will be eighteen feet wide in the clear, and is intended for both railway and highway travel. With the exception of the piers and flooring the bridge will be of iron throughout. The amount of material to be used is something enormous; 400,000 lineal feet of piling, 1,000,000 feet of timber and flooring, 10,000 tons of rip-rap, 4,000 tons of concrete and 1,350 tons of iron. The structure is to be ready by the first of August, and will cost about $1,500,000.

—A shoddy lady went into Tiffany's and ordered two diamond brooches, "one big and one little one," as she said "one of my daughters is grown up and the other is all but." And she is one of our New York's first families, too.

—A call is made for female rights lecturers among the Chunchos of South America, who won't eat women, insisting that it is not as good as man.

MUSICAL.

PATENT ARION PIANO.

A Few Reasons WHY THE ARION PIANO IS Superior to All Others.

THE ARION PIANO-FORTE HAS GREATER Power than any other Piano Forte manufactured.

It Will Stand In Tune Longer,

And in its mechanical construction it is more perfect, and therefore, more durable than any instrument constructed in the usual modern style.

The arrangement of the Agraffe, the manner of stringing, the peculiar form and arrangement of the Iron Frame,

Supersedes all Others.

The use of a bar (which is part of the Iron Frame), on a line with the heavy steel stringing, gives

Great Strength

Where most needed, and in this respect all other Pianos fail.

The construction of the WREST PLANK, into which the Tuning Pins are inserted, is such that it is impossible for the pins to become loosened, or the Wrest Plank itself to split, as is too often the case in other Piano Fortes.

The Extraordinary Eveness

Throughout the entire scale, the excellent Singing Quality, the

Length and Purity on Vibration.

All go to prove what we claim, viz.: that the

Arion Piano Forte

Is the BEST INSTRUMENT Manufactured.

THE PATENT Arion Pianos

ARE USED EXCLUSIVELY IN THE

American Conservatories of Music,

Of New York City.

THE MOST SEVERE TEST A PIANO CAN RECEIVE IS CONSTANT USE IN A CONSERVATORY.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

It affords me much pleasure to give you, in these few lines, a very sincere testimonial for the Piano Fortes of your manufacture. We have now used the "PATENT ARION PIANOS" in our Conservatories for a year, and have had a fair opportunity of testing their durability during that time. The Pianos have been played upon almost constantly, from morning until night, and a Piano must indeed be a good one when it will bear such constant use without showing signs of defection. As for REMAINING IN TUNE, it outrivals any Piano known to me.

Their peculiar sweetness of tone in the treble (as compared to other Pianos with the ordinary metal agraffe arrangement), is so striking that I have had pupils remark, while taking their lessons, that although they had at home what they supposed to be one of the best makes of Pianos, still the treble was very wiry toned compared with the "ARION."

What makes them still more desirable is their uniform volume of tone, which enables an Artist to perform a composition in its true character.

In total, I can conscientiously endorse all that is claimed by the ARION PIANO-FORTE COMPANY for their superb instruments, as I consider them superior to any other make.

Congratulating you upon the great success you have obtained in the manufacture of so perfect an instrument, I remain yours,

Very truly,
HENRY SHROEDER,
DIRECTOR.

New York, September 3d, 1870.

AGENTS WANTED.

We want first class and responsible agents in every city and town where we have not already appointed them.

We Have Just Published

Our Annual Illustrated Pamphlet, which contains a full description of the interior construction of the PATENT ARION PIANO FORTE, and all the other leading Pianos of the principal makes; illustrated with cuts, thus contrasting the ARION with all other first class Pianos, and proving

WHY AND WHERE

Our Pianos are superior to any in the market.

Our pamphlet contains engravings of all the different styles of instruments that we manufacture, giving a full description of each, so that a person can select the style they may desire to order, with the assurance that they will receive just as good a Piano as if they were in our warerooms to select it. We have sold over FIVE THOUSAND Pianos, many of them being shipped great distances, and we have never yet received the first complaint. As we give a written guarantee with every Piano we manufacture, for five years, the purchaser runs no risk.

☞ Don't fail to write for our pamphlet which we mail free, and when you write state what paper you saw this notice in.☜

N. B.—We caution the public from purchasing a cheap Piano which has recently been put in the market, bearing the name "Arion." All genuine Arion Pianos bear the name "Patent Arion," and can only be purchased from our New York Warerooms, or our authorized Agents throughout the United States.

FOR LIVER COMPLAINTS, JAUNDICE, BILIOUS AFFECTIONS, SICK OR NERVOUS HEADACHE, COSTIVENESS, ETC. PURELY VEGETABLE, CONTAINING NO MERCURY, MINERALS OR DELETERIOUS DRUGS.

H

THESE PILLS ARE THE MOST DELIGHTFULLY pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts, magnesia, etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the FINEST INGREDIENTS. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear miraculous to the weak and enervated, whether arising from imprudence or disease. H. T. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar coated Pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. THE CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated.

E

L

For Purifying the Blood, removing all Chronic Constitutional Diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, and the Only Reliable and Effectual known Remedy for the Cure of Pains and Swelling of the Bones, Ulcerations of the Throat and legs, Blotches, Pimples on the Face, Erysipelas and all Scaly Eruptions of the Skin, and Beautifying the Complexion.

M

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

CONCENTRATED

FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

THE GREAT DIURETIC,

Has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given, Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick Dust Deposit, and Mucous or Milky Discharges, and for Enfeebled and Delicate Constitutions of Both Sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, etc

Used by persons from the ages of eighteen to twenty five, and from thirty five to fifty-five or in the decline or change of life; after confinement or labor pains; bed wetting in children.

B

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, and excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the blood, etc., superseding copaiba in affections for which it is used, and syphilitic affections—in these diseases used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

LADIES.

In many affections peculiar to Ladies, the EXTRACT BUCHU is unequalled by any other Remedy—as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Sterrility, and for all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from indiscretion or habits of dissipation. It is prescribed extensively by the most eminent Physicians and Midwives for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes and all ages (attended with any of the above diseases or symptoms).

O

H. T. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU CURES DISEASES ARISING FROM IMPRUDENCES, HABITS OF DISSIPATION, ETC.

In all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience, and no exposure. It causes a frequent desire, and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, Allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous matter.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found that they have been deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "powerful astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all Affections and Diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing.

L

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH

Can not be surpassed as a FACE WASH, and will be found the only specific Remedy in every species of Cutaneous Affection. It speedily eradicates Pimples, Spots, Scorbutic Dryness, Indurations of the Cutaneous Membrane, etc., dispels Redness and Incipient Inflammation, Hives, Rash, Moth Patches, Dryness of Scalp or Skin, Frost Bites, and all purposes for which Salves or Ointments are used; restores the skin to a healthy state of Purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principal claim to unbounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a Toilet Appendage of the most Superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, Safety and Efficacy—the invariable accompaniment of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the the EXTRACTS BUCHU, SARSAPARILLA AND CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, in such diseases as recommended, can not be surpassed.

The Great Medical Discovery!

Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

☞For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

Railroads Needed in Nevada.

The Carson (Nev.) Register of a late date says:

The great desideratum of Nevada at the present time is a system of railroads comprehending the principal agricultural valleys and mining districts of the State, together with such as may be situated in California, but lying on this side of the Sierra Nevada mountains. Already three narrow-guage railroads are projected—one from Virginia to Reno, one from Palisade via. Eureka to Hamilton, and another from Elko to Hamilton. We do not think it probable that both the latter roads will ever be built, as either would answer the purpose for which the other is intended—save that Eureka would be compelled to team a short distance to the Elko road. We think the actual commencement of the work of construction on the one will be the death of the other. Assuming them to be one road, it can be easily and cheaply extended south of White Pine through Nye and into or through Lincoln county to the Southern Pacific Railroad. This will afford great relief to the many mining districts and to the large agricultural and grazing regions along the route. If the Virginia and Truckee Railroad Company should extend its line from this city to the Central Pacific, it is not probable that the Reno narrow-guage would ever be built. That our local road will shortly connect with the Central seems highly probable, as ten car loads or one hundred tons of iron was shipped from San Francisco a few days since for the Virginia and Truckee Company, which already had on hand a considerable quantity of new iron. When this connection is made, the country south of us, as far south as Cerro Gordo, will begin to look to Carson for supplies, instead of teaming across the Sierra to Los Angeles. A railroad from this city south, hugging the base of the Sierra range, is also much needed, and would probably be a better paying institution than any local road projected in the State, with the exception of that projected by the Virginia and Truckee Company from this city to the Central. The valleys of Walker River, Bishop Creek, Owens River, and others of less note now support a large population, while the mines of Esmeralda and Inyo offer inducements to capital unsurpassed by those of any other part of the coast; and notwithstanding the fact that these mines are now almost inaccessible, capital has found its way there, and extensive mining operations are already being carried on. A single firm at Cerro Gordo ships 300,000 pounds of bullion per month regularly to Los Angeles, a distance of 255 miles. With a railroad at hand to furnish cheap freight both ways, Cerro Gordo district alone would doubtless ship 1,500 tons of freight monthly, to say nothing of the mines of Lone Pine, Kearsarge and Inyo mountains, and those of Esmeralda county. Let us have a railroad from Carson City to the Colorado.

Why She Was Upset.

We were nearing a small skirt of woods, the horses at their best speed I had determined in my own mind that when we reached a particular spot I would pop the question, and so I did, but would you believe? she said no. Just as the word escaped her lips I purposely run the sleigh over a stump Out we went—she to cool her person in the snow, and I to counteract the damage she had given my affections. Her first words after getting into the sleigh were: "Excuse me; I wished to tell you to notice the stump." My wife often refers to the sleigh ride, but to this day she believes it was an accident.—Exchange.

Steam Wagon.

We make the following extract from a letter from F. F. Marx, forwarding and commission merchant at Toano, dated April 14th: "I have now completed arrangements for Thompson's Road Steamers, which are to run between here and Pioche, for the purpose of carrying passengers, express and bullion. This new mode of conveyance will be ready for use in about sixty days, and will no doubt be the advent of a new era in traveling and freighting."—Pioche Record.

A Railroad Lottery.

The Fresno Expositor proposes a lottery scheme in San Joaquin valley to raise money to build a railroad through the valley from some point on the present road to Visalia. All that is required, it adds, "is a few men who do not care for their reputations" to take hold of the enteprise. The Snelling Argus proposes the editor of the Expositor as the man to head the list.

Dunderberg.

A dispatch from Dr. Munckton, received at Carson, states that he had arrived at Washington city, made all the necessary arrangements for working the Dunderberg mine on an extensive scale, and was to leave April 25th for New York. This famous mine is located at Castle Peak, Mono County, Cal., and is principally owned in Carson.—Gold Hill News.

Should Not.

A marriageable lady should not refuse a gentleman until he has offered himself. It makes the gentleman feel awkward.

Mrs. Fair's Picture.

The San Francisco correspondent of the Gold Hill News writes:

"Here's yer correct likeness of Mrs. Fair!" has been a regular street cry for the last few days, but the "correct likenesses" are every one such miserable specimens of the art photographic, and the countenance of the unhappy woman, as limned by the artists, so unlike any thing that ever wore semblance of human features, that the purchaser is in doubt whether the portrait is intended as a joke or a reality. It seems that at the time of the murder Mrs. Lane, the prisoner's mother, with a forethought that if exercised in other matters might have saved her daughter from the present unenviable notoriety, went round to all the photographers and compelled them to destroy all the negatives they had in their possession, and the telegraph was used to accomplish the same object in New Orleans, so that the "correct likenesses" are either imaginary or taken from rough sketches of the prisoner made in the Court room. The Chronicle's portrait yesterday was the most truthful I have yet seen, though it scarcely flatters the original. But anxiety and sickness have made sad havoc with the woman's once fatal dower of beauty, and to look at her now it requires a strong imagination to believe that she was ever the voluptious Circe that those who knew her five years ago represent her to have been.

Women in Court.

The presence of Mrs. Emily Pitts Stevens and a number of other women at the Fair-Crittenden trial has led to a good deal of disgraceful comment by the press. The motives of these ladies, as explained in The Pioneer, are entitled to respect. It is eminently proper that the accused, who is entitled to an impartial trial, and is presumed to be innocent until proven guilty, should have, pending the judicial investigation, the moral support of the presence of representatives of her own sex. To ascribe unworthy motives to the women who have felt it to be their duty to lend her this sort of countenance is most unjust, and to declare that their presence is due to vulgar curiosity or prurient tastes is a coarse insult, which those at whom it is aimed ought not to forget or forgive. The idea that women ought to be too "modest," etc., to listen to the evidence in such a case, is simply the off spring of narrow ignorance and inborn vulgarity. Sensible, practical-minded women are not, and ought not to be such poor, sensitive plants as to be either injured, degraded, or shocked by the knowledge of the common facts and experiences of life. The writer who assumes that they are or ought to be such namby-pamby creatures is either a hypocrite or a fool.—San Francisco Figaro.

Often.

Obituary notices are often unconsciously satirical, as in this, written of an old citizen of Nashville: "He was a most exemplary citizen and Christian. He had been four times married, and died in perfect resignation."

—Some of the fair sex have hearts as glass. Diamonds must be used if one wishes to make an impression.

—True love is nourished by showers of adverse fortune, as are the roses and violets by showers of vernal rain.

—Alluding to chignons, Mrs. Clever said: "A little girl now seems all head." "Yes till you talk to her," growled Clever.

—There is nothing trips a man up so often as his ideal life—the contrast between what he is and what he might be.

—A dog weighing four ounces was recently sold in Boston for $250—just $62 50 per ounce.

—A thousand coolies, it is announced, are to be brought from Asia to work in Portland, Maine.

—The Pope has been suddenly prostrated with an illness which his physicians fear will prove fatal.

—The thirty-seventh man was killed in the Amador mine recently. He fell a distance of 500 feet down a shaft.

—The latest orders issued to New York policemen give them instructions in the etiquette of military salutes.

—Astonishingly rich assays are reported from some of the Utah mines. Quite recent rich discoveries have been made near Provo.

—Lay it down as a rule never to smile, nor in any way to approve, at any trait in a child which you would not wish to grow with his growth, and strengthen with his strength.

—The usual time to put in rye is early in the morning. Some husbandmen, especially those in the city, continue to run it in at intervals of half an hour until bed-time. The practice is only allowable in case of a dry season.

—The whole length of all the railways in the world is about 120,000 miles. The cost of the same was in round numbers ten billions of dollars. Those of Great Britain are the most costly, those of the United States the least so. The railway system of the world is supposed to give employment to over one million persons.

CROWDED OUT.

Owing to the unusual press upon our local columns, an interesting communication, an editorial reply to "Woman's rights under the Law" and several news items are unavoidably crowded out.

AN ELOQUENT EXTRACT.

We make the following extract from the speech of District Attorney Byrne, in the Fair-Crittenden trial, which for telling force and real eloquence has rarely been surpassed. The extract is in keeping with the entire argument of Mr. Byrne, and following the unusually able speech of Judge Campbell on the same side, could scarcely fail to convince any jury, even though the evidence adduced had been much weaker than it was against the defendant in this case. Mr. Byrne said:

There is another point which the doctor (Trask) makes as one of the proofs or products of insanity. He says that this woman was afflicted with insomnia, which, I believe, means sleeplessness. Well, that is one of the most natural things in the world. Why should she not be sleepless? Had she not murdered sleep? How could she sleep? Why, in this wide world she could not have found a lodge upon which she could rest her weary limbs.

"Sleep, that knits up the ravell'd sleeve of care,
The death of each day's life, sore labor's bath,
Balm of hurt minds, great Nature's second course,
Chief nourisher in life's feast."

She can never feel again,

"Glamis hath murdered sleep, and therefore Cawdor Shall sleep no more; Macbeth shall sleep no more!"

Insomnia! The dreams of last night have struck more terror to the soul of Richard than all the substance that ten thousand men, armed and proof, and led on by Richmond. No sleep! The great God of nature has affixed it as one of his penalties; attached to one who unjustly sheds the blood of a fellow-being. No sleep! Why, even when considered physically alone, her nervous system must have been shattered to its very center. Mind might have been dethroned for a moment after the commission of the deed. Why, she carries about with her, and will carry with her—as long as God permits her to tread this earth—she will carry about with her an antidote to sleep; that will only find an end when she herself relinquishes her breath to the God that gave it. Aye? what is the doom of the person who commits this deed, forbidden by both the laws of God and man? This deed, superior in infamy to all other crimes against the human and the Divine command; the one forbidden by the voice of God himself, sounded from Mount Sinai—such a being walks abroad in the community haunted by the spirit of the murdered dead. The man or women wilfully and malignantly murdered and deprived of all the ordinary enjoyment of human life. This is Nature's penalty affixed to the crime while the guilty person lives; in addition to that penalty said to be affixed to it beyond this life, no sleep! Why, she must have been the incarnation of humanity trebled if ever she could sleep after that. Did not the ghost of the murdered Banquo rise before her eyes? Was he not there day and night, in every hour and every place, shaking his gory locks, and bidding her remember that doom which must necessarily be reserved for her hereafter. Her dreams by night, her waking thoughts by day, her every imagination, and all her motives and her impulses must be filled with this dreadful element of the murderer's recollection and future dreadful recompense. And from these haunting thoughts of this terrible assassination she might have vainly sought to escape, until even her cool brain and callous heart was terrified by the terrible companionship. Talk about the woman being crazed, because there was a period of sleeplessness after the commission of the deed! What though she could not sleep upon a bloody grave? Is that proof indisputable that her brain was crazed when she fired so deadly a shot, and when immediately thereafter she gave her perfect reason for the deed. And yet these doctors—Dr. Lyford and Dr. Trask—would give you to understand that they have an undisputable evidence of her insanity when in the City Prison, and when she committed this deed, because of this peculiar state of insomnia. Gracious God! Is it possible that a learned profession, a profession that is to have the cure of the human, as religion has the care of the divine; one of the body and the other of the soul—is it possible that it can be so prostituted as to allow itself to enter the portals of justice and become a witness in behalf of one against whom the most damaging facts have been established; its members taking that profession and prostituting it so as to make it a shield between the law and its proper victim.

Found Guilty.

On Wednesday April 26th the fate of Mrs. Laura D. Fair was placed in the hands of the jury when after an absence of only forty minutes returned a verdict of murder in the first degree. Her counsel have asked that sentence be deferred until the 29th of this month, to give them time to file a bill of exceptions, which may result in a new trial.

GRAND JURY REPORT.

The report of the Grand jury is rather brief, but none the less to the point. This body do nothing more than an acknowledged legal duty in noticing and censuring the legal short comings of officials coming within their jurisdiction. But we doubt the right and condemn the policy of the indiscriminate exercise of this right, if right it is, and especially in summarily stigmatizing parties as connected with an assumed high crime. There is another view of this matter. We will venture the assertion that there was not a man on that jury, and who voted this censure upon T. J. Goodale, but would have made similar remarks and offered similar advice, while listening to the real or fancied wrongs of a friend—wrongs, as recounted, making the blood tingle in the veins and touching the tenderest part of the human heart, and, worst of all, wrongs for which law, all powerful and far reaching as it is, can afford no redress. Law takes cognizance of murder only when a sudden or violent death ensues—but a life may be sapped away in slow degrees by the wrong doings of others beyond the reach of law, and yet be no less a murder. Dangerous as the principle may be to peace and good order in society, yet there are causes similar to those alluded to which might and would justify any person, peace officer or otherwise, in pursuing such a course. It might be justified as the only available means of moral as well as physical personal defense and protection. Possibly the inferences upon which the censured act was based were founded on premises mainly false, but whether true or false, his belief was based upon ex-parte evidence as it were, of the same character—though not of the same kind—upon which this honorable Grand Jury have recorded an act of condemnation, from which there is no appeal. In the same category in this document we find the name of and old man, tottering in second childhood to his grave. If censurable in the degree implied in this report, which virtually makes each a party in a crime the highest known to the law, they are indictable, and should have been, in which case they would have been placed in a situation where vindication would be a possibilty; whereas, as the case now stands, they are condemned unheard. Would any of these jurymen have censured a child and indirectly made it a party to a terrible crime because it did not act with mature judgment and decision at a moment when a near relative was a party in a violent altercation or impending danger? Most assuredly, not a man of them would have done so. Is old age with mental and physical faculties additionally weakened by years of sickness and bodily prostration to be held any more responsible than early childhood?

We claim no acquaintance, except from results, with the law governing grand juries, but we cannot but believe acts of this character are in excess of right and duty. Their jurisdiction should not extend beyond the walls of the court house in judgments of crime, or criminal acts. Otherwise they assume the prerogative of the highest tribunals of the land, varied only in kind and degree of punishment decreed. They assume the right to try, convict and punish, which is a direct violation of the fundamental principle of justice, which accords the right of every assumed criminal to be heard before conviction.

A Daily Paper.

Now the telegraph line is extended to that town, the proprietors of The Eureka Sentinel will, next week, issue daily, as we are informed by Dr. McKenney, who has been for a day or two sojourning with us. We trust the enterprise of Skillman & Co. will be rewarded by ample patronage from those who are interested in the welfare of the thriving young city of Eureka. The Sentinel has been an excellent weekly, and has contributed largely toward the prosperity of the town and district in which it is published, and, as a daily, should be sustained by the material aid of the business community whose interests it subserves. Nothing adds to the importance of a town more than a well patronized newspaper; it is its life and soul, and every one—from the wholesale dealer to the peanut vender—should have all their lines of business through its columns.—White Pine News, April 24th.

We indorse every word of the above paragraph, and rejoice at this proof of the growth of Eureka, and hope our brethern of The Sentinel will never have occasion to repent the step just taken by them. They are assuming a heavy responsibility in quadrupling their expenses, and the citizens of that town ought to see to it that they increase their patronage to something like a fair proportion.—Reese River Reveille, April 28th

And we indorse every word in both of the above paragraphs. Nuff ced.

P. S.—Mr. Sentinel, don't forget your poor relations.

—It is probable that both parties will hold their State Conventions between the 10th and 20th of June next.

WOMAN'S INEQUALITY BEFORE THE LAW.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

MESSRS. EDITORS: My apology for not giving due credit to your editorial reply, is that it lacked that thunder tone that generally comes from the oracular responses from the tripods of the press. I meant no discourtesy whatever, and am thankful to get a hearing in so kind a manner.

I shall not attempt the useless task of convincing any against their will, so I will not repeat or produce arguments in logical detail, which your space forbids, but will at once proceed to show the disability of women under the law.

There is an injustice in this inequality of women before the law that is as deep as the foundation of life, and serves to poison its stream at its source.

Women are taxed and made to obey laws to which she has had no voice in the making or in giving her consent thereto, and this is a violation of the very first principle of law and government, which is based upon the consent of the governed.

Single women are comparatively free, and would be quite so, if they had their full rights of citizenship; it is upon married women that the law bears most unjustly, as in the following most prominent points that I will now specify, from the laws of this State, leaving out references for the sake of brevity.

"A married woman has no right to buy or sell anything without her husband's consent. She is not entitled to a cent of his earnings; if she goes out to work she can not give a receipt for payment except as his agent, and even this even she can not do or receive pay for her own wages, if he notifies the debtor that the money must be paid to him in person." We might almost say that she has no rights that he is bound to respect, and were men generally not better than the laws they make and let stand upon the statute books, women would be virtually slaves.

"A married woman may become a sole trader, but could not get this authority for so doing in her own sphere of housekeeping."

"Upon the death of the wife the husband inherets all the property; on the death of the husband the wife has only half if no children, or one third if there are."

"The wife can make no will unless she obtains the permit of her husband (solo voce, when both are apt to be blind to the future, for there is no love but ought to be), while he can make his will and deprive the wife of all but a small pittance and dispose of the children contrary to her wishes."

"The wife may own separate property which has been given or bequeathed to her before or after marriage, but she can not control it or receive the income but by her husband's consent, only in the case of ownership of property in an incorporated company."

These quotations are but a few of the many unjust laws that bear upon the rights and interests of married women, and these will never be righted until women have the power to help make the laws under which they live, as these are only instituted for the purpose of securing to the people, one and all, life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Permit me to make a few quotations from higher authority than myself, of the opinions of eminent persons upon the duty and right of women to the ballot. Says Henry Ward Beecher: "It is God's growing and best disclosed idea of a true human society, that man and woman should not be divorced in political, any more than they are in religious and social affairs." "Unless woman is led to discharge her duties of citzenship, we shall never be able to perfect human society without her efforts; for, the questions that are to fill up our days are not forever to be money questions; but, how shall work find leisure, and in leisure, knowledge and refinement." I might fill up pages of like quotations, but will give a word from John Stuart Mill: "Manhood suffrage, is national suicide and woman's destruction. Every consideration of patriotism as well as personal safety warns the woman of the Republic to demand their speedy enfranchisement."

Says R. W. Emerson: "The claim now pressed by women, is a claim for nothing less than her share in all. She asks for her property, for her rights, for her vote, for her full share in education and in all the institutions of society, for her half of the whole world and to this she is by nature's laws entitled."

So you may see that there are men as well as women in this great question of the day, and the shafts of ridicule must fall powerless before such deeply thinking minds.

Those who now oppose the cause of woman's political equality, will find ere long, that they are not on the side of justice, truth and right.

I could fill a column with the names of eminent women who were great, not from killing people like Alexander and most of the heroes of history, written by men who could only see a achievements worthy of record in the bloody annals of war. And even in this age of reason and boasted enlightenment the highest positions and fame are reached by wading through blood and the oppression of others.

The cause of women is the elevation of humanity, for her influence will be in the exercise of her full powers as a citizen of the Republic, to place moral worth and principles above wealth and brute force. L. H.

—People who go much into society soon find that it sharpens the intellect, awakens the conversational powers and arouses a keen spirit of observation.

—There is doubtless as many good people in towns as there is in the country, only, perhaps, the good would be better still if they lived in the country.

THE FATE OF PARIS.

The following from The San Francisco Bulletin of April 28th explains the situation in France quite as intelligibly as a half column of telegraphic dispatches:

It is clear from our dispatches that the reign of the insurgents is drawing to a fearful close. Divided among themselves, defeated, hemmed in, with all France against them, and lacking the support of a great part of the Parisians themselves they make a desperate defence to the last, but are sure to be overwhelmed. The Government troops have steadily drawn nearer the ramparts of the city, and their assailing power will soon be increased by the surrender to their hands of the forts held by the Prussians. Already their superior guns outreach those of the insurgents, and have poured a ruinous storm of shell into the city. The stately Arch of Triumph under which the Germans rode during their partial occupation of the city, and which had been carefully protected from their fire by a mask of masonry and lumber during the siege, is now a heap of ruins. The hardships of the siege were light compared to the horror and anguish of the present fratricidal struggle. The picture of anarchy and misery presented by our dispatches, brief as they are, is harrowing. Should the contest be prolonged, hunger is likely to increase its horrors. The insurgent leaders are certainly men of desperate resolution. If they had fought the invader as they do their own countrymen, the defenders of a legitimate, popular and apparently well meaning government, they would deserve honor. But the safety of France, the success of genuine republicanism, demands their defeat at any cost.

From Silver Peak—A Strike.

From Messrs. Graham & Stansbury, just in from Montezuma and Silver Peak, we learn that matters in those two districts are progressing favorably. In Montezuma the new mill of Messrs. McGlew & Darley is supplied with more ore than it is able to work. The discoveries lately made are proving important, the ore in all of them being of high grade, though the veins are not large.

At Silver Peak some splendid developements have lately been made. A lode, called the Lodi, and belonging to Mr. Stansbury, and on which three men have been at work for about two months, is turning out beyond the most sanguine expectations. Two cuts, one sixty and the other forty feet, disclosed a continuous vein averaging four feet in thickness which will mid not less than $150 per ton in gold and silver. With the present small amount of opening Mr. Stansbury feels confident that, with a force of six miners, he could supply the Manhattan mill with as much ore of that grade as it could work. The great drawback of the place is the want of mills, the nearest one running being the Montezuma mill, some eighteen miles distant. This wou'd not prove an insurmountable difficulty, however, as the ore could easily stand the expense of eighteen miles of hauling; but the mill has more of its own than it can work; and whatever custom-work it can do they give the preference to mines of their own district. The only other mill within reach is the forty-stamp mill of the Great Salt Basin Company which has been working the gold ores of Red Mountain. They, too, have more ore than the mill can work. At present the mill is stopped and cannot start until new machinery is procured. The boilers are burned out so badly that no engineer can be found who will take charge of them, and not only this, but other portions of the machinery are worn out. The Company have turned their attention to the developement of their silver veins and are meeting with flattering prospects. They are patenting their various mines, and when they start again will turn out gold and silver bullion in large quantities.—Reese River Reveille, April 24th.

That Mutton.

Mary had a little lamb
Whose fleece was white as snow,
And everywhere Mary went
The lamb would not go.

So Mary took the little lamb
And beat for a spell;
The family had it fried next day—
And it went very well.

Our version of this legendary sheep reads thusly:

Mary had a small sized sheep,
On which she went her pile;
Through its fleece the fleas did creep
As though they liked its style.

Now Mary took it to town one day,
(We know not what she led it for),
And into an ugly place did stray,
Under the nose of an editor.

The editor bright made an item trite,
Of Mary and her little go-et,
And now is it right to murder it quite
By the gushes of ev'ry fool poet?

Oh, heed our request, and give us a rest;
Don't be always giving us more of it,
It a tiresome lamby—if isn't d—me,
You make an infernal bore of it.

☞ NOTICE.—All political notices of whatever nature MUST BE PAID IN ADVANCE. This rule is ABSOLUTE. All Job Work executed at this Office must be settled for on delivery, unless for those having standing advertising accounts.☜

Depose Them.

An operation remarkable for unmitigated "cheek" was perpetrated at this place at the election of school trustees, held on Saturday last. In spite of our earnest warnings, a majority of the old Board of School Trustees of this district were allowed to flagrantly usurp the sacred prerogatives of the ballot box, and re-elect themselves to positions of honor, great trust and enormous emoluments. Acting as self-appointed election judges, they were not content with a respectable majority of the votes, but went so far as to make their election appear unanimous! With a view of avoiding such stupidly bare-faced work as this, and to lend some honor and dignity to the proceedings, we volunteered to act as clerk for the occasion. To this, however, they simply made some remark about not being able to see it. But they received (?) all the votes, consequently their majority is 12. The men who have thus foisted themselves into responsible offices are P. Reddy, W. G. Squires and the senior of this paper. The moral is, never give candidates a show at the ballot-box.

The Problems.

"Army Blue" sends the following explanation of the errors in his solution of the cartridge and battery problem. We gave it precisely the same as written. Writing under date of Camp Independence, April 20, he says: "In Army Blue's solution to problem in yesterday's issue of your paper, it is stated that had the second captain taken one-ninth of eight-ninths he would have taken eight-eighths. Instead of 8-8 it should be 8-81, and so on throughout the solution, wherever 8-8 is inserted 8-81 should be substituted. As my solution was copied by another person and sent to you without my knowledge, I do not know who is responsible for the errors, but I deem it necessary to make the correction, lest 'M. S.' should consider his problem yet unsolved. ARMY BLUE." Mr. M. S. Clark, of the Bishop Creek School, sends an analysis to the question, and desires to return his friend "M. S." the following problem: "If a fish and a a half cost a cent and a half, what will three fish cost?"

Milton School District.

The first month of school, in the above school district, ended on the 28th ultimo. The school numbers 20 pupils. Whole number of days attendance, 385; absence, five; average daily attendance, 19¼. The following is the Roll of Honor, containing the names of pupils, who for meritorious conduct, good recitations and regular attendance, highly deserve the commendation. The names appear in the order of the respective standing of each in the school: Masters Geo. M. Gill and Edward Y. Earl; Miss Carrie Duval, Masters Guy C. Earl, A. D. Gill, Louie Schalten, Frank Varners and Miss Katie Schalten. So says Mr. Geo. H. Hardy, the teacher.

A Liberal Arrangement.

Messrs. Hiskey & Walker, of the Deep Spring Valley Reduction Works, advertise this week that they will crush, sample and assay lots of ore weighing 500 pounds or less, for the sum of $5. By this plan the careful prospector is enabled to ascertain as much about the value of his mine as by paying round figure for getting a ton of ore worked. In addition, they will buy all samples assaying over $100 per ton. Under this encouragement prospecting ought to flourish, and many new mines be discovered and opened.

Arraigned.

Yesterday at 10 o'clock A. M. J. G. Payne was arraigned on a charge of murder, he entering a plea of not guilty. A venire for 60 jurymen has been issued, and the trial is set for Monday next. It is expected the testimony will be voluminous, the greater part of which we design publishing. Meanwhile we earnestly request our readers to withold their judgment or onclusions upon the case.

Vast Wealth.

The Front mine, at Cerro Gordo, in its present hands, has developed into one of the most enormous mines of wealth ever discovered. It is announced and generally believed to be worth $1,000,000. The junior of this country sheet once owned and controlled nearly one-half, or 475 feet, of this mine. He feels like moralizing, and will some day give the history of this mine. Without saying much at present, he thinks d—n it.

Deep Spring.

We give this week the report of the first shipment of bullion from the Deep Spring mill, under the new management. This is the result of the working of a lot of San Juan ore, which was left on the dump of the mill by a former operator as worthless. It assayed $102, and worked up to $81 per ton, eighty per cent. This was done without extra care, and under the disadvantage of having a new, green roasting furnace.

Lone Pine.

We took a spin Lone Pine-wards last Sunday, in charge of a worthy Deputy Sheriff of this county. Lokleitems is of the opinion that town will do; its citizens and citizenesses are full of fun, genuine hospitality and public spirit. When the print shop busts, he proposes to locate down there and try and make an honest livlihood.

Religious.

Rev. A. Clark has made the following appointments for religious services in this part of the county: At the School House at Camp Independence Saturday, May 6th, at 7½ o'clock P. M. At Georges Creek Sabbath, May 7th, at 11 o'clock A. M., and at Independence on the same day, at 7½ oclock P. M.

May Party.

A goodly crowd of folks of the upper part of the county enjoyed a regular, old fashioned May party, on the 1st instant, meeting at the house of Joel Smith, in Round Valley. The affair passed off most pleasantly, winding up with a dance in the evening, in which all participated.

Accident.

A painful accident happened on the 29th ult. to Thomas Morehouse, who resides at Bishop Creek. While out hunting his gun was accidentally discharged, very severely burning his eyes and face.

Trustee Elected.

W. L. Moore was elected to the Board of School Trustees of the Lone Pine district, there being but one vacancy to fill. Dad, was that ballot-box stuffed?

REPORT OF GRAND JURY.

TO THE HON. THE COUNTY COURT, IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF INYO, STATE OF CALIFORNIA: We, the Grand Jury impaneled for the May term, A. D. 1871, of said Court, beg leave to make this our report.

We have examined faithfully into all complaints that have been made to us, and have found one true bill of indictment for murder, which we present without malice, and leave none unpresented through fear.

It appearing in evidence that J. G. Payne tendered his pistol to Henry Payne prior to the shooting of Luther Will, who refused to accept it, and for refusing to do so, or to make any effort to prevent the shooting, we feel it our duty to most severely censure him, the said Henry Payne.

We further find from evidence that T. J. Goodale, prior to the shooting of Luther Will, tendered to J. G. Payne two Derringers and one six-shooter, making the remark, after the shooting, that he (Goodale) would have shot him, the said Luther Will, before now, if it had been his case; for such conduct we most severely censure him, and more especially he being a peace officer.

We have visited the county jail, and find it kept in a proper manner. We would recommend that we have a larger and more secure building for the confinement of criminals.

All of which is most respectfully submitted.

G. M. CLARKE,
Foreman.

Good Printing.

We yesterday furnished 2,400 blank receipts to the Owens Lake Silver Lead Co., at Swansea, to fill an order. They are printed and bound in the most perfect manner, and we ask that parties in need of printing will examine a specimen book at this office before sending to San Francisco or anywhere else.

Delayed.

The Northern stage was some hours behind time last Sunday night, on account of some difficulty about crossing the toll bridge across Owens River, in Bishop Creek district, the stage being refused passage by the owner. We know nothing about the merits of the controversy.

Babbitt Metal.

We have on hand an eighty-pound font of type, which will be sold for Babbitt metal at 50 cents per pound, cash. This is fancy job type, has never been opened, but must make room for later styles.

New Agent.

H. M. Isaacs has been constituted agent for the Aurora and Cerro Gordo stage line. This places the stage and express agency both at the same place—Harris & Rhine's store.

PROTECTION FROM FIRE.

The Cost of Water Works and an Engine System Compared—A Report from a Special Committee to the Fire Company—A Resolution.

TO THE OFFICERS AND MEMBERS OF INDEPENDENCE ENGINE COMPANY, NO. 1:

GENTS—Your Committee, to whom the duty was assigned of investigating the relative probable cost and expediency of certain proposed methods of protection against fire in this place, beg leave to report:

That from the best data obtainable, your Committee find the cost of securing a fair degree of safety from fire in this town of Independence, by means of water pipes, fitted with necessary plugs, hose, etc., as per accompanying Exhibit No. 1, would be much more expensive in the first cost, quite as costly to maintain, much more limited in its field of action and no more efficient where available, than the plan proposed in Exhibit No. 2, which includes fire engine with carriage and hose the same as in plan No. 1. Your Committee deem the construction of suitable fire cisterns as essentially necessary, in case plan No. 2 should be adopted.

In plan No. 1 it is estimated that one half mile of piping would be required to obtain 100 feet pressure at the point of intersection with Edwards street; from said point of intersection, 700 feet additional pipe will be required to extend northward through said street, from which, by means of the estimated amount of hose, a single stream may be made available in subduing any fire within a radius of 500 feet from any one of the four proposed fire plugs. And further, to be effective, an organized hose company would be a necessity.

Under plan No. 2 a well organized company is equally as imperative, but for reasons not necessary to specify in this report, would be much easier to maintain in good and effective working order.

Your Committee would further state that the estimates in Exhibit No. 1 are made for piping of suitable sheet iron, prepared to resist corosion. This pipe, when put in place, would consist of three sections, respectively one-twentieth, one-sixteenth and one-eighth inch in thickness. The first cost of this iron we have probably placed at four or five cents per pound less than its real value; and on the other hand we have perhaps slightly over estimated its weight per foot.

In plan No. 2 the cost of an engine, hose and appurtenances is placed at a figure which, we have good reason to believe, is nearly one-third higher than the actual amount will be—though we have no positive figures upon which to base a lesser estimate.

All of which we respectfully submit to your consideration for further action.

THOS. J. GOODALE,
P. A. CHALFANT,
A. J. CLOSE. } Com.

LETTER FROM LONE PINE.

Political.

LONE PINE, Cal., May 2.

MESSRS. EDITORS: The political cauldron has commenced to seethe and boil. Candidates are dodging across the streets to shake hands with every ranchero that sticks his nose into town—spending their money freely for lager and tangleleg—making pilgrimages to Cerro Gordo to shake the hand of the sturdy miner, visiting every tunnel, shaft and prospect hole, and declaring at each place that they never saw such a good show for a "home stake," "you have got it sure this time," etc.—all for the purpose of panning out a vote.

There are so many candidates in the field that I think they will try and have their names put in your paper at club rates. The Democratic candidates for Sheriff are W. T. Grant, C. Mulkey, W. L. Hunter, Eph. Harrington, Thomas Passmore and Rafael Dias. For County Clerk, W. L. Moore and J. B. White. Moore bought off one candidate, who had secured the Seventh and Eleventh Wards of San Francisco and the Nineteenth Ward of Visalia, which extends to White River. White has secured the delegation from Saline and Death Valleys. For County Judge, Van Decar and J. Alexander. Assembly, Whipple, Curtis, Bell and Lank. Whipple has withdrawn, until he receives an assuiance from his friends that if he is elected they will send him up by the Sheriff, so that he may have a chance to escape. He told me that he wishes the people not to form any opinion about him that would hurt his chances for the office of Roadmater, because he has consented to run for the Assembly.

RUM PUNCH.

For Lead Poisoning.

Dr. P. G. Gelcich, of Lone Pine, has made special study of the dreadful malady of "leading," so common to the furnace men and lead miners of Cerro Gordo, and has met with wonderful success in his treatment of the disease. He claims to have discovered a preventative and certain antidote, and if it is as infallible as the results of its use would indicate, he has really proved himself a public benefactor.

Repairing.

The Roadmaster of this district has notices upon the old Bend City bridge across Owens River, warning teams not to cross except at their own risk. It will be repaired next week.

Recorder Elected.

An election for Recorder of Deep Spring district was held at Hiskey & Walker's mill May 1st. C. P. Littlepage was elected, defeating A. Wayland.

TO THE CITIZENS, PROPERTY HOLDERS AND BUSINESS MEN OF INDEPENDENCE.

We, the undersigned, having been appointed as a canvassing committee by Independence Fire Company No 1, for the purpose of raising the necessary funds to purchase a fire engine and apparatus, would most respectfully solicit the co-operation of the residents of Independence and vicinity.

From searching estimates we find that a good engine, with apparatus complete, can be laid down here for about $1,600—certainly a most insignificant amount, when compared with the loss which would inevitably be sustained should our young and thriving town ever be unfortunate enough to be subjected to the fiery element, with no means of protection.

To business men, and those possessed of homes that are already ornaments to our town we would more especially make an earnest appeal for pecuniary assistance in our present undertaking. The sum required would be but lightly felt by a liberally disposed community, were each and every one willing to step forward and lend a helping hand.

As for the members of the company, we can assuredly state that when supplied with the means of extinguishing fire—should their services be required—they will not be found wanting.

ISAAC HARRIS,
H. M. ISAACS,
T. J. GOODALE,
A. C. HANSON,
THOMAS MAY,
Committee.

Mysterious Circumstance.

As Mr. J. P. McLaughlin was coming down the road yesterday, he observed, when near the Black Rocks, a horseman approaching. When within about one fourth of a mile of each other, this horseman suddenly dismounted and fled. Some hours after, Mr. McLaughlin, on observing that the horse remained as the owner had left him, went in company with another man to investigate the matter. They found that after running about a quarter of a mile the man, whomsoever he may be, had dropped to his hand and knees, upon which he had traveled a quarter of a mile farther, when he again took to his feet. After this in about a mile he was tracked into a creek where all traces were lost. The horse, which stood as the owner had left him with the bridle rein thrown over a sage brush, is described as being a very good one—of a gray color, branded P on the left shoulder and 7 on the left hip; on his back was a saddle, nearly new, a pair of cantinas, coat and pair of pants, all of which, subject to the order of the rightful owner, are now at the Taboose Ranch. No explanation of the singular actions of the stranger has been offered, except on the hypothesis that he is crazy. Any how we should think it the duty of some official to look after him.

The Candidates.

We are authorized to state that our item of last week concerning the candidates out for office was incorrect, so far as it related to P. W. Bennett, Esq., being up for a Legislative nomination. He is not an aspirant for that or any other public office. We have since heard of others being talked of for the various offices, and have learned that some named are not candidates; but the item did not profess to be reliable. The only way to know certain that a person is a candidate is when he makes an official announcement to that effect over his own name.

One Less.

We are out and injured. Baron Louie Munzinger has chopped on us, all on account of our temperance proclivities. He says: "Vat for you no trink my peer? Shust you stop your tam baper; me no read him, if you no trinks. You bet your muck-a-muck!" So we loose (?) a subscriber. In our unselfish innocence of heart, we thought to leave it for others; but he makes enough of the good beverage for everybody.

Announcements.

C. Mulkey, Esq., this week makes formal announcement that he will come before the Democratic nominating convention as a candidate for Sheriff. He will make a good officer if elected. Mr. I. P. Yaney, of Bishop Creek, announces himself as a candidate for County Clerk, subject to the Democratic convention. He is well qualified to fill the position.

Eclipse New Mill.

Forty-two stamps of the battery at the new water mill of the Eclipse company are now in position. Lumber for the structure is being delivered both by teams and by floating it down the river, coming from the saw mills of Tim Lewis and Smith & Engle.

The Masonic Hall.

The Masons of this place commence the erection of their hall next week, on the site selected, just south of the residence of Judge Hanson. Considering the fact that there are but few members of the Order residing here, the building of their hall is something to be proud of.

Tis Well.

A pretty general movement is being made to procure good water by the digging of wells. The plan is opportune, for the starting up of the Kearsarge mill will probably impregnate the waters of the creek with mineral.

Bullion Shipment.

During the week ending Saturday the 30th ultimo, there were shipped from the Furnace of Mr. V. Beaudry, at Cerro Gordo, 1,925 bars of bullion, weighing 161,700 pounds.

Bullion Shipment.

During the week ending Saturday, April 22, there were shipped from the works of the Owens Lake Silver Lead Company, at Swansea, 482 bars of bullion, weighing 39,420 pounds.

Bullion Shipment.

On the 1st day of May, there were shipped from the mill of Messrs. Hiskey & Walker at Deep Spring, Cal., 4 bars of bullion, weighing 530½ ounces, valued at $407 67.

Ornamental.

We are glad to see that many of our citizens are planting trees around their various places of residence or business Good; our streets should be lined with them.

Freight.

Our streets have presented a rushing and business-like appearance all week, from the numbers of big freight teams unloading their cargoes of merchandise.

Potatoes.

"Spuds" are wanted in this market and all over the county. They are at present a scarce luxury, and the first supply will probably sell at good figures.

How Weeds Migrate and Multiply

It is stated that there are now no less than than two hundred and fourteen weeds, which have been introduced into the United States from foreign countries, and principally from England. As a proof of the rapidity with which us less plants are accidentally brought over the seas, it is said that in 1833 there were only one hundred and thirty-seven foreign weeds known in this country. As far back as 1672, a curious little volume called "New England Rarities," gave a list of just twenty two plants which the author considered had sprung up since the English had kept cattle in New England. The author mentions the plantain which he says the Indians call the "Englishman's foot," as though produced by the tread of the white settlers. The common yellow toad flax, it is stated, was originally introduced into the province of Pennsylvania, as a garden flower, by a Mr. Ranstead, a Welshman, residing in Philadelphia, from whom it has derived the name of "Ranstead's weed." In 1858 this weed had overrun the pastures in the inhabited part of all Pennsylvania, and was the cause of bitter complaints from the agriculturalists of that day. Chicken-weed, it is stated, was introduced into South Carolina as a food for canary birds, and in ten years spread for upwards of fifty miles, and now occupies the outposts of civilization. The Scotch thistle is said to have been brought to America by a clergyman, who carried with him a bed stuffed with thistle down, in which some seed remained. Feathers being cheap in the new country, were substituted for the new down which was soon emptied out, and the seeds springing up filled the country with thistles. Another account says some enthusiastic Scot introduced the thistle as an emblem of his country, which soon made itself at home and became a nuisance.

Linseed Tea for Sick Horses.

Linseed tea is not only a valuable restorative for sick horses, but is exceedingly useful in cases of inflamation of the membrane peculiar to the organs of respiration and digestion. It shields and lubricates the same; tranquilizes the irritable state of the parts and favors healthy action. We have prescribed linseed tea in large quantities during the last month for horses laboring under the prevailing influenza; they seem to derive much benefit from it and generally drink it with much rapidity. Aside from the benefit we derive from the action of mucilage and oil, which the seed contains, its nutritive elements are of some account, especially when given to the animals laboring under soreness in the organs of deglutition, which incapacitates from swallowing, becoming prostrated by inability to masticate or swallow more food. linseed tea may be resorted to, and in case of irritable cough the addition of a little honey makes it still more useful. In the latter form, it may be given to animals laboring under acute or chronic disease of the urinary apparatus, more especially of the kidneys. To prepare linseed tea put a couple of handfuls of the seed into a bucket, and pour a gallon and half of water upon it. Cover it up a short time and then add a couple of quarts of cold water, when it will be fit for use.—Exchange.

Cure for Canker.

This disease is very prevalent in this region at certain seasons of the year, and often assumes a very virulent form, especially among children, many of whom die from this cause and its concomitants. It is very desirable therefore that some effective remedy should be known and we believe we can recommend one which will answer the purpose. We have the testimony of a number of people who have tried it and who state that its effects are not only certain but speedy. The article alluded to is simply chloride of potash dissolved in water. This remedy has for some time been prescribed at the Z. C. M. I. for all who have applied for advice there regarding the disease alluded to.—S. L. News.

Cheap Paint.

A cheap paint may be made for outbuildings that will last for years, by taking milk and cement—or "water lime," as some call it—mix and apply three or four coats: any dry color may be added. This will last for years, and by rehewing once in one or two years, a building will look as well as if painted with oil-paint. To put this on, the paint should be stirred constantly, as the finer parts will soon be all used out, and at last you will have nothing but sand. Have a boy to stir it all the time; mix often.—Exchange.

MUSICAL.

PATENT

ARION

PIANO.

A Few Reasons WHY

THE

ARION PIANO

IS

Superior to All Others.

THE ARION PIANO-FORTE HAS GREATER Power than any other Piano Forte manufactured.

It Will Stand In Tune Longer,

And in its mechanical construction it is more perfect, and therefore, more durable than any instrument constructed in the usual modern style.

The arrangement of the Agraffe, the manner of stringing, the peculiar form and arrangement of the Iron Frame,

Supersedes all Others.

The use of a bar (which is part of the Iron Frame), on a line with the heavy steel stringing, gives

Great Strength

Where most needed, and in this respect all other Pianos fail.

The construction of the WREST PLANK, into which the Tuning Pins are inserted, is such that it is impossible for the pins to become loosened, or the Wrest Plank itself to split, as is too often the case in other Piano Fortes.

The Extraordinary Evenness

Throughout the entire scale, the excellent Singing Quality, the

Length and Purity on Vibration.

All go to prove what we claim, viz.: that the

Arion Piano Forte

Is the BEST INSTRUMENT Manufactured.

THE PATENT

Arion Pianos

ARE USED EXCLUSIVELY IN THE

American Conservatories of Music,

Of New York City.

THE MOST SEVERE TEST A PIANO CAN RECEIVE IS CONSTANT USE IN A CONSERVATORY.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

It affords me much pleasure to give you, in these few lines, a very sincere testimonial for the Piano Fortes by our manufacture. We have now one of the "PATENT ARION PIANOS" in our Conservatories for a year, and have had a fair opportunity of testing their durability during that time. The Pianos have been played upon almost constantly, from morning until night, and a Piano must indeed be a good one when it will bear such constant use without showing signs of detection. As for REMAINING IN TUNE, it outrivals any Piano known to me.

Their peculiar sweetness of tone in the treble (as compared to other Pianos with the ordinary metal agraffe arrangement), is so striking that I have had pupils remark, while taking their lessons, that although they had at home what they supposed to be one of the best makes of Pianos still the treble was very wiry toned compared with the "ARION."

What makes them still more desirable is their uniform volume of tone, which enables an Artist to perform a composition in its true character.

In total, I can conscientiously endorse all that is claimed by the ARION PIANO-FORTE COMPANY for their superb instruments, as I consider them superior to any other make.

Congratulating you upon the great success you have obtained in the manufacture of so perfect an instrument, I remain yours,

Very truly,
HENRY SHROEDER,
DIRECTOR.

We Have Just Published

WHY AND WHERE

Our Pianos are superior to any in the market.

Our pamphlet contains engravings of all the different styles of instruments that we manufacture, giving a full description of each so that a person can select the style they may desire to order, with the assurance that they will receive just as good a Piano as if they were in our warerooms to select it. We have sold over FIVE THOUSAND Pianos, many of them being shipped great distances, and we have never yet received the first complaint. As we give a written guarantee with every Piano we manufacture, for five years, the purchaser runs no risk.

N. B.—We caution the public from purchasing a cheap Piano which has recently been put in the market, bearing the name "Arion." All genuine Arion Pianos bear the name "Patent Arion," and can only be purchased from our New York Warerooms, or our authorized Agents throughout the United States.

FOR LIVER COMPLAINTS, JAUNDICE, BILIOUS AFFECTIONS, SICK OR NERVOUS HEADACHE, COSTIVENESS, ETC. PURELY VEGETABLE, CONTAINING NO MERCURY, MINERALS OR DELETERIOUS DRUGS.

H

THESE PILLS ARE THE MOST DELIGHTFULLY pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts, magnesia, etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the FINEST INGREDIENTS. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear miraculous to the weak and enervated, whether arising from imprudence or disease. H. T. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar coated Pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. THE CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated.

E

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

HIGHLY CONCENTRATED COMPOUND

Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla

Will radically exterminate from the system Scrofula, Syphilis, Fever Sores, Ulcers, Sore Eyes, Sore Legs, Sore Mouth, Sore Head, Bronchitis, Skin Diseases, Salt Rheum, Cankers, Runnings from the Ear, White Swellings, Tumors, Cancerous Affections, Nodes, Rickets, Glandular Swellings, Night Sweats, Rash, Tetter, Humors of all Kinds, Chronic Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, and all diseases that have been established in the system for years.

L

Being Prepared Expressly for the above complaints, its Blood Purifying Properties are greater than any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. It gives the complexion a Clear and Healthy Color and restores the patient to a State of Health and Purity. For Purifying the Blood, removing all Chronic Constitutional Diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, and the Only Reliable and Effectual known Remedy for the Cure of Falls and Swelling of the Bones, Ulcerations of the Throat and legs, Blotches, Pimples on the Face, Erysipelas and all Scaly Eruptions of the Skin, and Beautifying the Complexion.

M

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

CONCENTRATED

FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

THE GREAT DIURETIC,

Has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given, Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick Dust Deposit, and Mucous or Milky Discharges, and for Enfeebled and Delicate Constitutions of Both Sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, etc

Used by persons from the ages of eighteen to twenty five, and from thirty five to fifty five or in the decline or change of life; after confinement or labor pains; bed wetting in children.

B

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, and excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the blood, etc., superseding copaiba in affections for which it is used, and syphletic affections—in these diseases used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

LADIES.

In many affections peculiar to Ladies, the EXTRACT BUCHU is unequalled by any other Remedy—as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Sterrility, and for all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from indiscretion or habits of dissipation. It is prescribed extensively by the most eminent Physicians and Midwives for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes and all ages (attended with any of the above diseases or symptons).

O

H. T. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU CURES DISEASES ARISING FROM IMPRUDENCES, HABITS OF DISSIPATION, ETC.

In all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience, and no exposure. It causes a frequent desire, and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, Allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous matter.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found that they have been deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "powerful astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all affections and Diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing.

L

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH

Can not be surpassed as a FACE WASH, and will be found the only specific Remedy in every species of Cutaneous Affection. It speedily eradicates Pimples, Spots, Scorbutic Dryness, Indurations of the Cutaneous Membrane, etc., dispels Redness and Incipient Inflammation, Hives, Rash, Moth Patches, Dryness of Scalp or Skin, Frost Bites, and all purposes for which Salves or Ointments are used; restores the skin to a healthy state of Purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principal claim to unbounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a Toilet Appendage of the most superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, Safety and Efficacy—the invariable accompaniment of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the the EXTRACTS BUCHU, SARSAPARILLA AND CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, in such diseases as recommended can not be surpassed.

FOR SALE.

OUR DRUG BUSINESS, located in San Francisco, Cal. After our best wishes, and expressing our thanks for the liberal patronage we have received for more than twenty-one years, during which period we have been steadily engaged in the Drug business in California, we beg to say in consequence of the rapid growth of Dr. Walker's Cal. Vinegar Bitters, now spread over the United States and countries far beyond, we are necessitated to devote our entire time to said business.

We are the Oldest Drug Firm on the Pacific coast and the only one continuous under the same proprietors since 1849, and have determined to sell our large, prosperous, and well established business on favorable terms.

This is a rare opportunity for men with means, of entering into a profitable business with advantages never before offered.

The Great Medical Discovery!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a mild Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell,

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs,

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

How the Jury Agreed.

The San Jose Patriot of April 28th is responsible for the following:

On the night of the day that the jury in the Mrs. Fair case rendered a verdict the case and the verdict were the subjects of animated discussion in all the saloons and other public places of San Francisco. Two of the jurors in that case happened to be in one of those saloons, sitting quietly and unobserved in a corner, where the verdict was being discussed and the case commented on with much animation. After some time one of these jurors arose and said, "Gentlemen, my friend here and myself were two of the jurors in that case, and I will tell you how it was decided. No one had opened his lips to the other in regard to the evidence or arguments; it seemed to be a sealed subject to us all, and when we retired to make up a verdict, no one juror knew anything of the opinion of his fellow jurors. On entering the jury-room the first thing done was to cut a piece of paper into twelve pieces, and to place a number on each piece from one to twelve. These were put in a hat and drawn, and the slip drawn was the number of the juror. On these slips each juror wrote his finding in the case, and when his number was called put it in the hat. When I wrote my finding, 'murder in the first degree,' I hardly thought there would be another such a finding on any of the slips, but when the slips were all deposited and taken out and read, to my great astonishment it was found that each juror, on the first and only ballot, had voted just as I had 'murder in the first degree.'" We obtained this incident last night from authority we considered reliable.

Traffic on the Suez Canal.

During the month of November last only forty-two ships passed through the Suez canal; but in December the number increased to seventy-two, against nine in the corresponding month in 1869, viz.:—Thirty-nine British, 32,808 tuns register; twelve Turkish, 7,331 tuns; seven Austrian, 5,101 tuns; five Egyptian, 4,000 tuns; six French, 7,770 tuns; one Italian, 508 tuns; one Dutch, 150 tuns; one Portuguese, 987 tuns. For January we have the following:—Forty British, seven French, four Turkish, one Belgian, three Italian, fourteen Austrian, three Egyptian, one Spanish, and one American—the Arizona being the first American merchant-ship that has passed the canal. Thus, from nine ships in December, 1869, we find the movement increased to no less than seventy-two in the corresponding month in 1870, and seventy-four for January 1871, with a revenue for each of these two months of more than $800,000; and it is thought the receipts for February will be more than a million.—American Artisan.

Earnings of the Central Pacific Railway.

The earnings of the Central Pacific Railroad Company in 1870 were nearly $8,000,000 and the increase for January and February of this year indicate that the earnings for 1871 will not be less than from 10,000,000 to 12,000,000, with a net profit of not less than 5,000,000, while the interest liabilities of Company are less than $2,000,000 per annum.—American Artisan.

Unlucky Luck.

The man whose first bet on the race course, whose first deal at the card table, whose first risk at faro, whose maiden lottery ticket, brings money largely into his pocket, is a ruined man at the very instant the world pronounces him "lucky." Any man, especially any young man, who starts out in life with the conviction that money can be better made than by earning it, is a lost man—lost already to society, lost to his family, and lost to himself.

—The new trowel-bayonets, being manufactured at the Springfield armory, are shaped almost exactly like a sharp-pointed trowel, and the dimensions about the same, or much like the spear-heads of the South-Sea Island warriors. The design is not so much for charges as an efficient instrument for skirmishing line, and being furnished with finger-pieces where they are joined to the guns, they can be used to lop boughs or dig holes for picket fence.

—Barnum has again started in the show business, this time on a larger scale than ever. The New York Times says his traveling exhibition, which consist of a museum, circus, and menagerie, all in one, is the most varied and extensive affair of the kind ever got together. It will require 500 men to move it, and the intention of the proprietor is to take it all over the country.

He goes under the auspices of the Smithsonian Institute, there being an appropriation of $20,000 for the expedition. The party is well supplied with instruments, boats, and all that is necessary for a complete and accurate survey and exploration. They intend making a stay of two years.

—The Detroit papers have discovered a new method of driving away the organ-grinders. Every day or two they have a small paragraph like this: "Organ-grinders in Memphis make about ten dollars a day."

CRIMES AGAINST SOCIETY.

The verdict in the case of Mrs. Fair seems to have occasioned surprise in all quarters. This is not from any questions of unproved guilt, but principally because the defendant was a woman, who committed a heinous crime under the inspiration of a distempered imagination, induced, as she alleges, by the weight of her wrongs. The wisdom and justice of this verdict meet with universal commendation, not so much from the nature of the crime, nor through sympathy for her guilty paramour, the victim, but as a proof of the fact that a jury has been found who would not, as a matter of course, accept the flimsy, outrageous plea of insanity as a justification for murder. Had this woman been else than she was—cool, calculating and systematic in her selfish desire to drag down another woman to her own level, and at the same time subvert the first principle of society—had she been a woman wronged in the ordinary sense of the term by the wiles of the seducer, conviction would have been impossible. Neither can there be any justification in the past conduct of her victim; his crime against society was but one remove less than hers, and one that, at times, even blood will hardly cancel. Had the weapon been in the hands of the wronged wife of the deceased and directed at the present murderess, who shall say the act was unjustified? But this verdict was rendered not for murder in fact but murder in intent, a vengeful blow at the rights of society, as well as of individuals.

In the same city a few weeks previous, a murder was committed in the streets which, viewed as disconnected with other facts, was cold-blooded and deliberate. A verdict of not guilty was rendered, and received with every possible demonstration of joy. Why? Because our statute books are incomplete. There are no laws to protect helpless, confiding innocence against a certain class of moral murderers. That is why Dunn, who acted in defense of his sister, was acquitted. The law concerning the taking of life is so explicit that no jury can mistake its meaning. The law does not go beyond the immediate acts, but verdicts do.

THE LOTTERY FURORE.

The originators and managers of the famous Mercantile Library Lottery have indeed heaped a fearful responsibility upon their shoulders, as is shown in the light of transpiring events. In a late number of The Daily Sacramento Union we note no less than seven flaming advertisements of like schemes, glaringly setting forth the indisputable fact that this species of gambling is becoming an epidemic evil, and that laws are no longer held in force or accorded respect; and it appears that the ill-advised, fatal step of the last Legislature in sanctioning the great scheme which has so fertilely propagated its species, has demonstrated that our fundamental law is not even entitled to support, when a clause thereof is rendered absolutely void in effect and is brazenly ignored in principle by simply dubbing barelaced lotteries into white-washed "Gift Concerts."

It is difficult to conceive a system more rotten and wrong in principle than that which lures the masses into the contributing of money to enable a few to set aside prizes, and appropriate the vast remainder as they may see fit. A scheme involving the payment of the national debt might be conducted on the same principle, so far as any capital is required at the start.

Instead of drawing from the Press that dampening condemnation and rebuke which these small-fry lotteries so eminently deserve, papers are found which not only countenance but fan them into flame by advertisements and paid editorial endorsements. We have received advertising orders from the managers of two of these wealth distributing (?) organizations, but must very flatly refuse them, once and for all.

And we would here record our contempt for the journals who so virtuously condemned the mother swindle and now encourage its satellites by acting as their public cappers. But all is fish for their net, and decent consistency may go to the dogs.

Mining Property Sold.

The Reese River Reveille says that an English Company has bought the mining property on Mineral Hill, paying therefor the round sum of $1,000,000.

WOMAN'S INEQUALITY BEFORE THE LAW.

In a communication with the above caption, which appeared last week, L. H., the writer, produces a formidable array of legal quotations in support of the proposition that "women, under the law, are virtually slaves." That there are some apparantly invidious distinctions in law between the sexes and unfavorable to married women particularly, is evident, if viewed in the simple abstract. These distinctions are founded in reason, which means the best interests of society. In great part however, they exist more in fancy than in reality, which may be shown by a slight investigation of the respective privileges of the sexes in law and usage. We will premise that we have not at hand proper references in support of our theory and facts of law, and though dogmatically set forth for the sake of brevity, will undertake to produce legal authority, if required.

One of the strongest arguments made use of by woman's rights advocates, and the first to be noticed in this communication, is "that women are taxed and made to obey laws to which she has had no voice in making, etc., which is a violation of the first principles of law and government." We know of no law whatever that levies a tax upon women. Her property is taxed as is that of every other voting or non voting person—male or female, minor or adult, native or alien—living temporarily or permanantly under our government and requiring protection for person and property. It costs government and communities just as much to maintain needed regulations for the protection of the property of women as it does for an equal amount for the other sex, but with this small property tax her duties to the government, local or national, begin and end. The most onerous duties of citizenship she escapes. She pays no road, no poll tax; performs no jury, no military, no police duty and contributes nothing to have these essential duties performed, unless possessed of property; whether possessed of property or not, her own protection and welfare render these institutions equally important. In fact, with none of the responsibilities of citizenship, she is entitled to many special privileges accorded her in social life, in matters of law and usage, most or all of which would sooner or later be lost to her were she to assume all her so called rights. But of her rights under the law: many offices of trust and emolument are within her reach; previous to marriage her rights and privileges in schools, professions, trade, and commerce and all business operations of life are hers, limited only by inclination and ability.

A woman after marriage still retains her individuality before the law, L. H. and the law (if the expression may be allowed) to the contrary notwithstanding. If possessed, at marriage, of property in her own right it remains in her complete control, except in one particular to be noted hereafter. She can dispose of it by gift, sale or will, wholly regardless of the husband; whatever income, however, accruing from its use must be considered as part of the wealth in common; its management may be delegated to the husband or other person, she, as a wife, not being in law considered competent or entitled to the sole managment or profit, for the reason that, independent of her (legally) unrecognized business capacity, her time should not be devoted exclusively to purely personal objects, even in a limited business partnership where each member is supposed to devote his undivided energies and talents for the common good.

"Married woman are denied the right to buy or sell." In usage their privileges in this respect are restricted only in the degree of her own, or rather her husband's credit and responsibilty, who is always responsible for her acts and debts without express notice to the contrary. The truth of this proposition is well sustained in the experience of many unfortunate Benedicts. Plenty of that kind of testimony may be had. Her wages when living separate and apart are absolutely her own, regardless of the husband; if not living separate and apart her earnings as well as his become part of the common wealth, the law declaring expressly that all property accumulated by a married couple while living together shall be common and equal, and neither party, without the consent of the other, may segregate any portion for other than the common good. She may secure on the death of the husband, (before, under conditions), a $5,000 homestead, irrespective of the liabilities of the "firm." The private property of the wife can not be held for the debts of the husband contracted before or after marriage. These points, though not all that may be brought on that side in opposition to those of our correspondent, will have to suffice for the present, while we take brief a view of the distinctions said to be so favorable to the "party of the first," or rather the cost of his tenure.

The private property of the husband is held for the debts of the wife contracted previous to marriage (and ever after until he's swamped or dead). He can not dispose of the children contrary to the mother's will. He is bound for her maintenance until the dissolution of the bond, and afterwards to give her one-half of all his property, or competent alimony. She is entitled to her half of the common property by will.

Under common law for centuries past, a marriage between two persons sinks or merges them into one, and in law are so regarded. For this reason husband and wife can not contract with each other without the intervention of a trustee, her legal existence and authority being in a degree lost. Chief Justice Marshal in this connection says: "The inability of husband and wife to contract with each other is founded in the wisest policy, and is an essential muniment to the inviolability of the implied nuptial contract and maintainace of the institution of marriage. The complete dependance of the wife upon the husband, and the continual liability of the husband, made so by law, to support the wife, together with the utter incapacity of the parties, by their own free will, to absolve each other from the reciprocal rights and duties which the law of their contract imposes upon them, furnishes powerful motives for the promotion of harmony and peaceful co-habitation in married life." The main point of objection raised by our correspondent and others, is in the fact that in business affairs, under the law, the husband is the sole representative. However obnoxious in the abstract, this rule is founded on the broadest principles of right, justice and good policy. It is a rule that obtains in all harmonious and effective business co-partnerships between men. As partnerships of this character are limited in their natures, the legal rights and liabilities of members are equal, but in usage it is always better that some one of the number should be invested with the ruling power, or to use a gambling phrase, "have the say." This is a law of Nature, manifest in the animal kingdom and the human family; in the latter, it is an equal necessity in every grade of society, from nations down to the smallest sub-division—to the family circle. It is a rule that can not be abrogated without anarchy and confusion. Under law and usage, this ruler in the married relation is the husband. We shall not attempt at this time to show the superior right of the husband to this position, but merely its necessity. In their business transactions with the world, if each is permitted to bargain and sell, sign and receipt and do other similar things independent of each other, there must be an absolute diversity of interests and feeling, and so considered in society, or the latter can have no security against fraud. It is in the power of one to nullify or abrogate the acts of the other; it leaves no binding common interest; it erects two households where there should be but one; two persons bound by no ties except those of convenience; it detracts from the power of each by multiplying the duties of both; it releases the stronger and abler from all obligations of support, protection and maintenance of the weaker; it subverts the marriage into an institution of free-love. It needs no argument to show which sex in these contingencies must be the greatest loser. The laws of nature are obvious and conclusive. Though not so intended, the whole tendency of the Woman's Rights movement as now advocated, tends, we firmly believe, to the results pointed out above. The laws objected to by our correspondent, might as well be marked off the statute books, so far as they now affect all true marriges, for in such there can be no diverse interests, no intervention of law. They are designed for marriages of convenience or those "souls who dream of heaven" but who mistake the attaining means. Under present laws (notably those of Indiana), such irksome bonds may be set aside as those of any other limited co partnership, and the weaker vessel attain perfect equality under the law in all the business relations of life, save the right to vote. Every additional assumption of independent action and objects on the part of woman in the direction now aimed at only tends to lower her, in a moral sense, to the level of men, when her weakness, which is now her strength, must make all the disadvantages hers. It matters not whether from man's innate selfishness or woman's perverseness, the full accomplishment of this movement can not add to woman's well being in any sense.

—A drunken man sprawling on the ground in Paterson N. J., the other night anxiously wanted to know if anybody else had been struck by that earthquake.

"DOUBTFUL"—VERY.

[COMMUNICATED.]

MESSRS. EDITORS: In your issue of April 29th, under the heading "Sensible," you publish that "the State of Wisconsin has abolished the Grand Jury system. This is a somewhat doubtful experiment, and the people of other States will look for its results with great interest."

In reading the above the first question that presented itself to my mind was, does not said law conflict with the Constitution of the United States?

In answer to this question, we will let that document speak for itself, as follows:

ART. V OF AMENDMENTS. Sec. 45.—"No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger."

Again: Article VI (Original Constitution). SECTION 38. "This constitution and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof; and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every State shall be bound thereby, anything in the constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding."

Therefore, it occurs to the mind of your humble correspondent that it would have been more nearly within the purview of astute Legislators' duties, instead of enacting this law, to have spent their time in memorializing Congress to propose an amendment to the National Constitution repealing the clause in that instrument which originated, and under the authority of which, the Grand Jury system was established.

There may be some doubt as to the propriety of abolishing the Grand Jury system, but of the fate of this law there can be no doubt, if our national judiciary does its duty. For that department will surely decide the said Wisconsin law to be void, unless I misjudge. In corroboration of my views, I will quote those of no less a noted commentator than Chief Justice Storey, as follows:

"As the Constitution is the supreme law of the land, in a conflict between that and the laws either of Congress or of the States it becomes the duty of the judiciary to follow that only which is of paramount obligation."

Again: "The power of the judiciary of interpreting the laws, involves necessarily the function to ascertain whether they are conformable to the Constitution or not, and if not, to declare them inoperative and void."

The people of the other States can not properly anticipate much "interest" in the operations of this Wisconsin law; but every patriot and law-abiding citizen should feel solicitous as to whether our national judiciary will allow it to remain unannulled. For the enactment of a law that shall contravene the provisions of the fundamental law of the nation, is a bad precedent. As we are a people who, in legal matters, are governed by precedent (I have sometimes thought too much), if this law remains in force in that State, other States, following the precedent, will enact others of like character, and more and more inhibitory of the Constitution's provisions until it comes to be a mocking farce to quote or refer to that great Magna Charta—the bequest of our fathers!

And in support of this position, I again quote the words of Judge Storey:

"For otherwise" (than following that only which is of paramount obligation) "the acts of the Legislative and Executive departments would in effect become supreme and uncontrollable, notwithstanding any prohibitions or limitations contained in the Constitution, and usurpations of the most unequivocal and dangerous character might be assumed without any remedy within the reach of the citizens."

Consequently, I conclude that this is a dangerous and deprecable experiment. Will some of the practitioners of the legal fraternity point out the errors, if I am not right in my conclusions?

NIMROD,

New Railroad Project.

There is a project on foot, and likely soon to be executed, to connect Chicago, Cleveland and Pittsburg with New York by nearly an air line. The proposed road is to be called the "Continental Railway." It is to be double tracks, laid with steel rails and first class in every particular. It shortens the distance (by present routes 960 miles) to 864, miles which are to be run in 20 hours. Freights are to be reduced two-fifths on present rates.

Cost of Narrow Gauge Roads.

The American Artisan, a very excellent journal, gives among other scientific and mechanical matters of interest, in its issue of April 20, a table of the comparative cost of the different gauge railroads. Including every necessary item of expense, given in detail, each mile of the track ready for the rolling stock will compare as follows:

Cost of 4 feet 8½ inch track.....	$10,377 00
" 3 " 6 " "	6,898 20
" 3 " "	5,794 70
" 2 " 6 " "	5,006 20
" 2 " "	4,051 20

—Near Denver, Colarado, William P. Orchard, who had made $300,000 or $400,000 by mining operations, is reported to have attempted to hang himself recently because he had not money enough to buy his breakfast with.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Not merely to tickle the palate, but to infuse health and vigor into the enervated and diseased system, is the high purpose and sure effect of Dr. Walker's Vegetable Vinegar Bitters. This famous restorative creates no sudden flash of excitement, to be succeeded by increased debility and ten fold gloom. It braces the relaxed nerves and imparts permanent tone and regularity to the whole animal machinery. Dyspepsia, liver complaint, physical prostration, diarrhoea and in fact nearly all complaints that are not organic, yield to its operation.
